Mink has been the leading Adirondack fur, pelts selling for $18 to $20, or double the price of last season. The price of the muskrat almost trebled, increasing from $1.65 to $5. ### Eggs May Be Kept Year.

One way in which housekeepers who figure carefully are saving money is by putting down in water-glass a quantity of eggs in the spring when, because of increased production, the price is lowest. Eggs for keeping in this way may be bought toward the end of March, or any time during April and May. They may then be kept successfully for as long as a year. Here are some hints on egg preservation from the state college of agriculture at Ithaca:

Only absolutely fresh eggs should be preserved. If there is any doubt as to the freshness of the eggs, they should be candled. Dirty eggs, or eggs that have been washed, should not be used. Washed eggs will not keep because the protective coating has been removed by the washing, and dirty eggs will become tainted in flavor. Infertile eggs rather than fertile eggs are better for preserving.

If one uses the commercial water-glass, which may be bought at any drug store, three-quarters of a quart of water-glass should be mixed with nine quarts of pure water. Water that has been boiled and then cooled is preferable. The mixture should be stirred until the ingredients are thoroughly mixed. A water-glass in powder form has been put on the market. This is satisfactory for use if directions are followed. A clean stone jar is the most suitable container. One eight-gallon jar is sufficient for fifteen dozen eggs; this quantity will require the amount of solution just prescribed.

Guernsey Breeders to Organize.

The Guernsey breeders of Cayuga county will gather at the Osborne House in Auburn Saturday to organize a Guernsey club. Arrangements for the meeting were made by the Farm Bureau, and a committee of well-known Guernsey cattle men of the county. Already one of the leading counties in New York state for Guernsey cattle, it is expected that the organization of a club will do a great deal toward building up more and higher class herds throughout this section.

The meeting will be called at 12 o'clock (U. S. standard time) with a luncheon in the palm room; followed by an address by A. L. Onsrud, representative of the Guernsey Cattle club of America. Election of officers, adoption of a constitution and other routine business will be taken up following the explanation of the principles and aims of the Guernsey clubs by the national representative. Cayuga Guernseys more famous and profitable, will be the slogan adopted by the breeders at their Saturday meeting.

The committee of breeders which has sent the announcement of the meeting to dairymen of the county is Charles Hornburg, S. W. Morgan, E. D. Crocker and W. A. Alexander. Farm Bureau officials will aid the breeders in getting their club organized and under way.

MEET THE DE VEYRA FAMILY!

They Are Putting the Philippines on the Map in Washington

Hon. Jaime C. de Veyra, Who Has Just Been Re-elected as Philippine Commissioner to the U. S.

Mrs. Jaime C. de Veyra. She is Doing Important Work for Her People in America.

THE CHILDREN OF THE PHILIPPINE COMMISSIONER.

The Baby of This Group Speaks Three Languages—Visayan, Spanish and English.

Permit us to present the De Veyra family.

The Hon. Jaime C. de Veyra is the Resident Commissioner from the Philippine Islands to the United States and has just been elected to a second term of three years. As Resident Commissioner he has a seat on the floor of the American Congress, the privilege of taking part in debates, although no vote.

Commissioner de Veyra has an interesting wife and four bright Filipino kiddies. The De Veyra family, individually and collectively, constitutes the best argument as to the tact and capabilities of Filipinos that the Philippine Islands have in Washington.

The commissioner is a 100 per cent Filipino, a Visayan, and is one of the foremost leaders of the party in power in the islands. During American occupation he has been successively governor of his province, member of the Philippine legislature, cabinet member and executive secretary of the islands.

Like many statesmen of the Philippines, he was originally a newspaper man. He was one of the founders of El Nuevo Dia of Cebu, the first Filipino paper published advocating Philippine independence. The paper came under the censorship of General McIntyre, and on the appearance of the first number the editors were left in the singular position of seeing every prominent article blue pencilled.

Mrs. de Veyra, like her husband, is a "live wire" in the Philippines cause. She is the best known Filipina in America. She is an interesting public speaker and is constantly giving illustrated lectures at women's clubs and other gatherings. Mrs. de Veyra is a publicity bureau all in herself and has put the Philippines on the map, so far as the women folk of Washington congressional circles are concerned.

"I find that the Filipino people have been much misrepresented in the United States," says Mrs. de Veyra. "I do not mean to infer we are perfect, for we are not. My people have most of the defects, I suppose, that other humans have, but at the same time we are far from the people that many Americans have been made to believe. Not only are we a Christian people, but our race has a history that we are not ashamed of. Throughout the Philippine Islands the people are now working earnestly to improve themselves and their conditions so they will be prepared to take over their own affairs. We all love America for giving us a chance to help ourselves and for having promised us our independence, which is one of the dearest desires of the entire citizenship of the islands."

To American women whose ideas of Filipinos have been founded on Sunday supplement descriptions of wild tribes, Mrs. de Veyra's gentle manner and evident culture have been a revelation. She is sought by women's clubs because of her charming manner as an impromptu speaker on the subject nearest her heart—the women of her country.

At a recent Washington gathering she gave in perfect English a concise account of the work of a woman's club in Manila which supplies milk to the babies of the poor and trains mothers to care for their young children. She told of another woman's club which has branches all over the Philippine Islands and which maintains day nurseries for the children of the working women, provides Christmas cheer for the lepers, the insane and the convicts, and gathers data to influence legislation for the benefit of Filipino women and children.

The four little De Veyras, shown in the picture, having attended the public schools in Manila, slipped right into the same grades in the schools of Washington. Even little Mary, the baby of the family, speaks three languages—her native tongue, Spanish and English.

RETURN OF ROADS PLEASES FARMERS

Urge Policy to Insure Best Service at Lowest Cost Consistent With Fair Returns.

OPPOSE NATIONALIZATION.

Representative Agricultural Organizations and Rural Press State Farmers' Attitude Toward Railroads. Want Private Operation.

Private ownership of the railroads under a policy of government regulation which will insure the best possible service at the lowest cost consistent with fair returns on money invested in them is favored by representative farmer organizations throughout the country. This policy also is supported generally by agricultural newspapers, which state emphatically that the farmers are opposed not only to government ownership of railroads, but also to all nationalization plans.

In a letter to the members of the United States Senate T. C. Atkeson, Washington representative of the National Grange, which is said to be the largest organization of its kind in the world, representing more than 1,000,000 farm owners in the United States, states that the agricultural interests of the country approve of private ownership of the railroads and further declares that persons purporting to speak for the farmers in support of government ownership are neither farmers nor representatives of any considerable number of farmers.

Favor Private Operation.

"The Grange," says Mr. Atkeson, quoting the official action of his organization, "approves of the general principles of railroad legislation now pending in Congress to return the railroads to their owners, to bring about the reorganization of the railroad companies into strong systems with capitalization based on actual value, and to create a control commission which may enforce the superior interest of the public to that of any other interest in the operation of railroads as common carriers and effectively protect the public against exploitation or injustice."

Many state and sectional agricultural organizations take a similar stand. Immediately after the National Grange expressed its attitude toward the railroad question the American Farm Bureau, meeting in Chicago, voted for private operation, and the National Farmers' Congress, in session at Hagerstown, Md., voiced like sentiments. The New York State Federation of County Farm Bureau Organizations and the Indiana Federation of Farmers went beyond that and joined the Grange in repudiating the alleged farmer representatives in Washington, who said they spoke for an "overwhelming majority of the farmers."

Urge Reasonable Returns.

The railroad policy favored by the New York State Federation of County Farm Bureau Organizations was stated in the following resolution:

"Whereas, There have been conflicting statements published regarding the attitude of farmers upon the question of the future ownership of railroads; therefore be it

"Resolved, That the New York State Federation of County Farm Bureau Associations, representing 70,000 members, in annual session at Syracuse, N. Y., December 19, 1919, hereby indorses the action of the American Farm Bureau Federation in urging Congress to promptly return the railroads to their owners under such conditions as will insure reasonable returns on the value of the property and reasonable rates of transportation throughout the country."

Views of Farmer Papers.

The American Agriculturist states editorially that the farmers are "dead set against" the "scheme to enmesh the farmers in the web of radicalism." The Pennsylvania Farmer, discussing the general demand for private operation of the railroads, says: "It is especially true of farmers, in spite of the declaration of a few would-be leaders to the contrary." The Stockman-Farmer adds:

"Farmers almost unanimously approve the return of the railroads and the express companies to their owners. The reason is that farmers, as well as other business men, want service of these institutions, and they cannot get such service under public operation as they can get under the operation of corporations, which have a direct financial interest in performing it."

FREIGHT LEAST H. C. L. EXPENSE

Director General Hines Says Railroad Transportation Costs Are Lowest in History.

NOT CAUSE OF HIGH PRICES.

Freight Advances Compared With Rise in Value of Goods—Transportation Cheapest Thing Public Buys. Charges on Some Articles.

Data compiled from authoritative sources shows that railroad freight rates are the least factor in the cost of living. Although the proportion of the total cost of goods that can be charged to transportation is not known with statistical accuracy, it is estimated that the average transportation cost of things produced in this country is a very small percentage of their total cost to the consumer.

Freight Cost 2.4 Per Cent of Total.

In a letter to Representative John J. Esch, chairman of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the Southern Pacific Company, points out that in the last five years the value of goods increased on an average of $63 a ton, while freight charges advanced only 60 cents a ton.

In five years, he explains, the average value of freight carried by the railroads increased from $56 to $119 a ton. The cost of carrying this increased from $2 to $2.80, paid to the railroads. In 1914, he adds, 3.6 per cent of the total cost of the goods was spent for transportation. In 1919 only 2.4 per cent was spent.

"In other words," Mr. Kruttschnitt writes, "only 80 cents out of $63, or 1.3 cents out of every dollar of increase in value of commodities in 1919 was caused by increased freight charges. The responsibility for the remaining $62.20, or 98.7 cents out of every dollar, must be sought elsewhere. It was not caused by freight rates."

Rates Lowest in History.

Comparison with transportation charges in other countries shows that in no other country of the world is transportation furnished at so low a cost as in the United States. Compared, too, with the cost of other goods and services today, railroad transportation is the cheapest thing the public buys. It is sold for less than the cost of production, considering all the elements of cost.

In a statement on this subject to the New England Bankers' Association Walker D. Hines, Director General of Railroads, said:

"I think it is a fair statement that at the present time, despite the increases which have taken place in freight rates, a ton of steel or a ton of coal, a bushel of wheat or the unit of any other commodity has to pay for transportation a less percentage of the price of that commodity than ever before in the history of the country."

Charges on Some Articles.

Before the war a suit of clothing from one of the Chicago factories, selling from $50 in a retail shop, was carried from Chicago to Los Angeles for 16½ cents. The suit of clothes now retails at $50 or $60, but the freight rate on that 2,265 mile haul has increased only 5½ cents, while the price of the goods has gone up $20 or $30.

The 22 cents does not cover all the transportation cost in a suit of clothes, the transportation charge for carrying the wool from the ranches and the cloth to the clothing manufacturer and other minor carrying costs enter into the consideration, but the final transportation charge is the principal one, and the other charges add only a few cents more.

New England shoes are shipped from Boston to Florida at a cost of less than 52-8 cents a pair. This is an increase of only one cent over the pre-war rate. The railroads also carry beef from Chicago to New York for a charge of about two-thirds of a cent a pound. Typewriters are carried from New York to St. Louis for 66 cents. A $150 phonograph is carried by freight from New York to Atlanta for $2.85. A grand piano is carried clear across the continent for $39 and in carload lots for $28.

These are typical freight rates, and they make it plain that American railroads give the lowest cost service in the world.

Even with a very considerable increase in rates to make the roads self-supporting, transportation will still be the cheapest thing the public buys.

How would YOU like a raise like this?

—and for 34 Years Work.

THAT is the kind of increase in salary the minister has received. His living expenses have risen just as fast and as far as yours.

But he is paid on the average just 52 cents more per church member than he was paid 34 years ago.

The Minister Never Fails You

Every officer of the Government with a war message to deliver appealed to the ministers first of all.

But 80% of the ministers receive less income than government economists figure as a minimum for the support of an average family.

When hospitals need money they enlist the support of the ministers—and receive it.

But when sickness visits the minister or the members of his family they must be treated in a charity ward. His pay is less than a day laborer's.

8 out of every 10 ministers receive less than $20 a week—about half the pay of a mechanic.

We Pay Him Half the Wages of a Mechanic

And of these pitifully inadequate salaries, how much do you contribute? Nothing if you are outside the church; an average of less than 3c a day if you are a church member.

All of us share in the benefits of Christian ministers to the community. They marry us; bury us; baptize our children; visit us when we are sick. In their hands is the spiritual training of the youth.

We are All Profiteers at Their Expense

Part of the Interchurch World program is this—a living wage for every minister of Jesus Christ; an efficient plant, and a chance to do a big man's job.

If you want better preachers, help to pay the preachers better. It's the best investment for your community—and for your children—that you can ever make.

Here's indisputable evidence that the Filipino people have been Americanized! The great American game of baseball is the rage in the islands. Baseball is played from one end of the archipelago to the other, and, as in other branches of athletic sports, some classy players have been developed.

CRIMSON CLOVER
CROP IMPORTANT

Special Interest Attaches to Plowing Under Green Manure and Saving of Seed.

PREPARE WELL IN ADVANCE

Material Must Be Given Chance to Become at Least Partially Decomposed Before the Following Crop is Planted.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

May is the month when a large part of the crimson clover crop in the Southern States may be harvested. Special interest attaches to the plowing under of the green manure crop and the saving of the seed, the first because of the high price of fertilizer and the second because of the high price of seed. Whenever use is to be made of the crop, preparation should be made well in advance of the harvest season, and special thought should be given to the crop which is to follow the crimson clover. Plow Crop Under.

Crimson clover, like any green manure crop, should be plowed under at least two weeks before the following crop is planted. If planting is made on the freshly turned mass of leaves and stems, the results are likely to be worse than if no green manure had been used. The green material must be given a chance to become at least partially decomposed, and the soil bacteria must have an opportunity to remove some of the injurious materials that are formed by organic decay. Usually it is inadvisable to follow a crimson-clover green manure crop with any early-planted crop like cotton or early potatoes unless the land can be plowed by the first week of May. Corn is the crop most commonly used after crimson clover, as it need not be planted until the first of June.

Save Supply of Seed.

There is every reason this year why farmers who are to grow crimson clover next year should save at least enough seed for their own use. Seed production is not a difficult matter and is, indeed, a common practice in many of the Southern States. The only equipment required is some form of seed stripper with which to remove the ripe heads. The seed need not be thrashed or hulled, as in the case of red clover and other clovers, but is often sown in the hull, just as it comes from the field. The seed should be gathered just as the first blossoms are beginning to wither, and harvesting must be completed within eight or nine days, as the seeds shatter badly when thoroughly ripe. Details of the construction of the seed strippers and other matters relating to seed production are discussed in Farmers' Bulletin 646, which farmers are urged to consult.

MAKES A PIKER

Florida Coast Is Infested With Smugglers.

TELL TALES OF EXPLOITS

Liquor Running on Vast Scale Is in Progress—Revenue Officers Have 509
Miles of Coast to Cover—Almost Every One of Thousand Islands in West Indies Group Is Cache for Liquor—Shipped Out and Smuggled Back

Miami is agog today with tales of smuggling that bring memories of the old days when pirates infested the West Indies a century ago, ran the gamut of revenue officers and brought rich cargoes into Florida.

In every club, hotel, restaurant and cafe people are discussing thrilling stories of how Capt. K— or Skipper L— slipped through the net of revenue cutters and landed with a rich cargo. And as these people talk they drink.

They drink cargoes that have been smuggled past the federal authorities. The prohibition amendment didn't stop the sale of liquor in Florida; it merely boosted the price.

It is not difficult to secure a drink of whisky in Florida. It cannot be said that the stuff is sold openly, but a pleasant assurance that you are "all right" and a dollar bill will bring a highball in almost any restaurant.

Sheriff a Wet Sympathizer.
In one county the sheriff is supposed to be in league with the liquor runners. It is said that this sheriff went out with some revenue agents, made an arrest, and left the liquor in charge of a colored man while the smugglers were being arrested. When they returned the colored man and the liquor had disappeared.

"Florida didn't vote to make this nation dry," said one city official when asked about the situation.

So all the smugglers have to face is an ardent staff of government officers.

These revenue officers have more than 500 miles of coast to cover and it is said that almost every one of the thousands of islands in the West Indies group is a cache for liquor. From the Ten Thousand Islands on the west coast of Florida to the Andros Islands of Cuba there are little pieces of land that are used as headquarters by the smugglers.

In Columbus' Footsteps.

On Bemini says, in Nassau, in the Bahama Islands, even on San Salvador, where Columbus first landed, there is whisky. It is purchased from the states, shipped out, and then smuggled back.

Last week in Nassau seven ships came to port with cargoes of whisky, bonded whisky from Kentucky and Peoria. The cargoes are removed and the whisky disappears. Any vessel that can travel through the gulf stream is used by the smugglers.

Sometimes the liquor is brought close to the three-mile limit and then anchored to a buoy to be picked up by fishermen later.

Outside Miami there is a series of buoys marking the channel. A party of revenue officers went out to change the markers. Deep in the water, attached to the buoy, they discovered a case of whisky.

In Bemini a sporting club has been organized. It is called the Bemini Rod and Gun club by some, but more often referred to as the "Forty Rod and Gun club." It takes forty minutes to reach Bemini from Miami. Small steamers are chartered daily for the trip. It was in Bemini that Ponce de Leon "discovered" his fountain of youth. The fountain is still flowing.

Whisky can be purchased in Nassau for 11 shillings a quart. In Miami a quart of the stuff can be purchased for $10. The country clubs, the cafes, the hotels, all sell it.

LIGHTHOUSE NEAR END

Famous Landmark of Atlantic Coast in Danger.

Although Henlopen light, one of the famous landmarks of the Atlantic coast, has been badly undermined by the battering of the heavy seas and storm, it was said by shipping men at Wilmington, Del., to be in no immediate danger after a recent storm.

It was believed the light would again weather the storm in safety. A report that the structure was leaning could not be verified, as the telephone wire there was out of commission. Harry Palmer, chief keeper, and three assistants refused to leave the lighthouse. For years the water has been creeping up on the light until it is only 150 feet from the base of the structure at low tide. The foundation of sand and loam is being eaten away by each succeeding storm.

Talk of moving it back has been heard from time to time, but it is always declared the cost was prohibitive. The lighthouse was built by the English in 1764.

Taxing the Millionaires.

Under the new scale of income tax imposed by the recent United States revenue bill every citizen in receipt of $100,000 or more a year must pay at least half of it to the state.

Mr. Henry Ford, for example, is said to have an income of $25,000,000 a year, of which the revenue authorities will claim between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000—a sum sufficient to keep 1,000 families in modest comfort forever.

But even Mr. Ford gets off lighter than Mr. John D. Rockefeller, who is reputed to have an income of $100,000,000 a year. Mr. Rockefeller's contribution to the treasury, it is said, will not fall short of $80,000,000 for the current year—a sum which represents 2,000 times his weight in gold.

The Scheldt River Dispute.

Belgium's demand for Dutch territory on the left bank of the Scheldt, or falling that, the internationalization of the river, has come acutely before the peace conference with the protest of Holland against the transfer of any Dutch interests. Feeling is running quite high along the border and Holland is accusing the Belgian government of sending agents across the frontier for the purpose of influencing the attitude of Dutch citizens along the border in favor of Belgian demands. The peace conference sub-commission is now studying the subject.

The Hard Heart.

George M. Cohan, during a lull in the theater strike, talked about the callous hearts of chorus girls.

"Oh, they've got callous hearts," he said. "I know a broker who proposed to one of them at a roof garden supper.

"Miss Vavasour—Vivian—" the broker said, "my feelings toward you are so tender, so very, very tender—"

"But Vivian Vavasour interrupted him with a hard little laugh.

"Look here, Bill," she said, "it's legal tender I've got to see if we're going to do business."

As Man to Man.

"Doctor, I want to discuss a matter with you," said a man, stopping his medical adviser in the street, "but not in your professional capacity."

"It's listening," said the doctor.

"It's about my liver."

"As a physician I can't discuss your liver except in my professional capacity."

"Hang it all, doctor!" snapped the man. "I don't mind paying you a fee, but I'd like to know what you would do for my liver if it were yours."

—Dallas News.

About the Same Thing.

Smith, the hotel manager, and Jones, a manufacturer's agent, were talking one day about their respective business interests.

"I say," remarked Jones, "how ever do you use such an enormous quantity of pears and peaches?"

"Well," replied Smith, "we eat what we can, and what we can't eat we can."

"Indeed!" said the other. "We do about the same in our business."

"How is that?"

"We sell an order when we can sell it, and when we can't we send it."

Paying the Price of Conceit.

The man who said conceit was at the bottom of every extravagance knew a good deal about human nature. Few men would pay $4 for a tie that did not look as though it cost $4, and the factory girls who buy $300 fur coats on installments out of a salary of $15 per week would care little for such a coat if the only place they could wear it was in an asylum for the blind.

Thousands of Americans are dissipating their savings in extravagant purchases purely through conceit. And it is a blind conceit which deceives no one but the extravagant themselves. When a man goes into a store to buy a $6 hat which he can afford and comes out with a $16 hat which has forced him to break into his savings, he does not impress the clerk who sells it or his friends who see him wear it. But he has injured them all and himself also. He has aided to divert production from necessities to non-necessities, he has helped to keep up prices, he has fostered the profiteer and has withdrawn potential capital from possible use in increasing industry. For himself, he has weakened his defenses against old age, sickness and loss of employment and depleted his offensives in the battle for success.

Failure to save is too high a price to pay for the pampering of conceit. The only safety against extravagance lies in economy and saving. Liberty Bonds, Government Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates may not make a flashy show but they are more impressive than any extravagant possession money can buy. They afford protection to savings, future and character and are sure roads to possession of the things really needed and desired.

In spring the housewife's fancy fondly turns to thoughts of greens. The lowly dandelion is one of the earliest and one of the best.

Many a piece of furniture having good lines is reposing in the attic because gingerbread work makes it ugly. A hammer, carefully used, may transform it.

"Our Better Selves"

A wealthy Parisian Beauty, butterfly of fashion, to whose heart leisure and contentment are the dearest things in life, who basks in an atmosphere of luxury and romance, whose every whim is gratified, every vanity indulged in—and a young American aristocrat, aimlessly drifting and idling in the dolce far niente of langorous southern Europe. These two have met and loved—she rich, he almost penniless. Then comes the time when his better self prevails and he goes forth to play a man's part in the world of men. And when the supreme sacrifice is called for she does not flinch from the consequences but willingly, cheerfully, dutifully accepts her burden—renouncing wealth, luxury, and all the material things of life in a supreme effort of self-abnegation for the sake of the man she loves, thus, too, finding her better self. And when the greatest sacrifice of all is demanded of these two, having found their better selves in the turmoil of an upheaved world, they together seek Charon's dark and cross the sombre Styx, hand in hand, heart to heart, lip to lip.

Frank Mayo in the Great Dramatic 6-reel thriller

"The Brute Breake"

When Louis Grantaire inherited a forest principality at the death of his father he determined to clean out the lumber camps, around which an evil name clung like a pall.

At the first camp he found LeBlank, a bully who beat weaker men for the blood-lust of beating, and marked the faces of the helpless with the calks of his boots.

At the second camp was Norres, as bad as LeBlank. At the third was Pierre, worse than both the others together.

Each of these men Louis Grantaire sent beaten out of camp, bruised and sullen.

At the foot of the deadly rapids Louis found a French girl, Annette Bossut. She stood apart and watched a dance at which the rough lumbermen whirled their women violently across the splintering floor.

When Annette refused to dance with Louis, whom she believed to be an ordinary lumberman, he swept her from her feet and forced her to dance with him. She was angered.

The three bullies slunk back into the settlement after nightfall and tried to kill Louis. The girl was against him and his future seemed overhanging by murky clouds.

His triumph over circumstances will be shown at the Gem Theater in "The Brute Breaker," a Universal photodrama of the north, in which Frank Mayo and Kathryn Adams play the stellar roles.

DO IT TODAY

Write your Senator and Assemblyman at Albany to support the Law Bill (Introductory Number 1492) and secure its passage at this session. Do it today. The time is short.

This proposed statute will put teeth into the anti-monopoly law. It provides:

"Any person, firm or corporation shall be entitled to sue for and have injunctive relief against threatened loss or damage by a violation of any provision of Sec. 840 (The anti-monopoly law) when and under the same conditions and principles as injunctive relief against threatened conduct that will cause loss or damage is granted by courts of equity under the rules governing such proceedings. A preliminary injunction may issue pending the trial of any such action to restrain threatened irreparable and immediate loss or damage."

This amendment, if enacted will give relief from combinations that operate to increase costs to the consumers.

It is a step toward breaking the "endless chain" whereby the cost of living is increased day by day.

DO IT TODAY.

That song, "In the good old summer time," will be sung with more zest during the dog days of 1920 than it ever was. The man who wrote it will get royalties, perhaps, of which he never dreamed. Then, too, when somebody complains about the heat somebody else will be around who will say, "let it come." This will probably be the prayer of those who had to settle coal bills and shovel snow during this good old-fashioned winter. As to that old-fashioned idea, a little of the new style might be welcomed another year.

Recent investigations by the New York Bureau of Food and Drugs of the Health Department, which disclosed that glue is used in the manufacture of ice cream, also brought to light the fact that there are many lemon pies sold in that city which "never saw a lemon" and other foods bearing names they "don't life up to" in the language of Health Commissioner Copeland. As a result of these disclosures a campaign for the standardization of foodstuffs will be begun by the Health Department at once.

HAD QUIET YEARS

Chief Executives Who Lived Long After Retirement.

Of Them All, the First John Adams Holds the Record, Twenty-Five Years—Wilson the Oldest Since Buchanan.

President Wilson, who was sixty-three years old December 28, is the oldest man to occupy the White House since Buchanan, who entered it at sixty-six and retired at seventy.

Anyone who runs over the history of the presidency will be struck by the use and fall of the age at which presidents have entered and retired from office, and the varying length of time by which they have outlived retirement, remarks the Philadelphia Record. Of the first eight presidents, all but two of whom served two terms each, six retired when past sixty-five, one of them, Jackson, within 11 days of his seventieth birthday. The first Adams retired at sixty-two, Van Buren at fifty-nine. Of these eight, four lived to be past eighty. One passed seventy-eight and another passed seventy-nine. Washington alone of them failed to reach seventy. The first Adams outlived retirement by twenty-five years and Jefferson, who died on the same day with Adams, July 4, 1826, the fiftieth anniversary of independence, outlived retirement seventeen years. Monroe, who retired at sixty-seven, died July 4, 1831.

Since Jackson, no president except Wilson, Buchanan, Taylor and the first Harrison has sat in the White House when sixty-one years old. Of all who have served in that time, ten retired or died in office before reaching fifty-seven, and only two outlived retirement twenty years. Not one lived to be eighty, and only five passed seventy. Polk outlived retirement less than six months, and died at fifty-four, younger than any other ex-president. Few presidents in the last fifty years have lived to see three of their successors, and several have not seen two, though Pierce saw four.

Although the average length of human life in the United States is greater than it was when the republic was young, distinguished public men have hardly shared in the boon of lengthened days. The presidency, indeed, while never exactly what everyday folk call a soft snap, was a far less exacting office in early times than it is today. The Napoleonic war gave Washington, the first Adams, Jefferson and Madison a good many trying hours, but they all had their periods of respite. Washington, wherever he happened to be as chief magistrate, managed to escape now and again to the spacious and dignified quiet of Mount Vernon. John Adams, the first president to occupy the White House at Washington, the domestic arrangements of which appeared "impossible" to his thrifty and orderly New England wife, often returned to the quiet of his home at Quincy. Jefferson found repose at Monticello, and Jackson made the long journey to the Hermitage, where rest awaited his coming.

All of the early presidents were safe from intrusive messages by telegraph or telephone, and they received mail in no masses as now daily pursue a president on vacation. Even Polk could not have been much disturbed by the stammering words of Morse's new-fangled messenger, for it was publicly used for the first time in reporting to congress the result of the Democratic national convention at Baltimore in 1844.

Women Selling Their Jewels.
It seems to be the fashion just now for women with plenty of money and heavily stocked with jewel cases to sell any rich and rare stones that they may possess, not because they need the money but simply because they like the excitement of getting a big figure for articles that they probably seldom wear and certainly do not actually miss.

It is reported that the woman who is now Mrs. Jack Gilliat and was previously the widow of the eccentric marquis of Anglesey, recently went through her jewel chests and collected quantities of old-fashioned, quaintly set gems which she sent off to be sold by auction.

The result was a very satisfactory sum of money that ran well into five figures, with which she purchased a beautiful little estate, where she is indulging in her pet fad of chicken farming.

And He Deserved It.
After a ruthless process of rejection there were five applicants for the post of errand boy left for the head of the firm himself to interview.

It was one of his flippant mornings, and he sought to amuse himself by asking the eager boys puzzling and quite irrelevant questions to test their general knowledge.

"How far away from the earth is the North Star?" was the question he fired at the third shiny-faced youngster.

"I'm sorry I cannot give you the exact figure offhand, sir," was the reply, "but on a rough estimate I should say that it is far enough away not to interfere with me running errands."

He got the post.

Japan's Ships.
On August 1, Japan had a total of 1,000 ships of more than 1,000 tons.

ONLY ONE STYLE IN THIS MILLINERY SHOP

TRIMMING A BONNET

A "TRY-ON" IN THE ONE-STYLE BONNET SHOP

There is a millinery shop in New York which guarantees its hats never to go out of style. With every purchase goes the understanding that in five or ten years from now the bonnet bought today will be just as attractive, just as much admired and even more in vogue.

It is the Salvation Army "Millinery Shop," located at 120 West Fourteenth Street, New York city, in which establishment every bonnet which enters the tenement houses, rescue homes, orphanages, nurseries or slum settlements first sees the light of day. And the shop does a rushing business. Three hundred bonnets each week are trimmed, hosed, set out to all parts of the country and started on their mission of spreading cheer and hope to every corner of the United States.

And the Salvation Army is an importer—not the type that sticks the coveted word after its name as a matter of course, but a real one. Every bonnet that graces the head of every Salvation Army lassie came all the way from across the Atlantic for that purpose. The bonnet itself is English, the trimmings are American, and the wearers embrace every nationality in the world.

Many times each week big trucks draw up to the door of the shop and deposit their cargoes of untrimmed hats. At frequent intervals the piquant bonnets, with their long blue streamers, blue ruching and satin folds, leave the establishment bound for years of service in the stumps and bleak spots of the nation. The familiar blue bonnet—shaped like nothing else under the sun—is a symbol of unselfish service in nurseries, hospitals and tenements the whole world over.

FINDING MISSING PERSONS IS NEVER-ENDING TASK

Please Help Find These Missing Persons

The missing persons section of the War Cry

RECORD FILE OF MISSING PERSONS

The Salvation Army, because of its branches in every country in the world, conducts what is probably one of the most efficient of detective bureaus. It is the Bureau of Missing Persons, which sends out daily alarms to all sections in its efforts to find those who have disappeared.

In the United States over 1,000 inquiries for missing persons come into the Salvation Army each year, and in spite of the meagerness of the available information, in spite of the fact that a large proportion of those who are missing do not want to be found, in spite of all the obstacles and hindrances, over 1,000 are located by the Salvation Army each year.

There is the child who runs away from home because the foreboding of cold and hunger are nothing to him compared to the fear of school and teacher. There is the man who finds it easier to desert than to support the family that he thinks is too exacting. There is the woman who feels that the river or the open sea is less terrifying than the hardships of life. For all these and many others the Salvation Army is conducting a vigilant, unceasing search.

And the methods used in finding the delinquents are as varied as the causes of their disappearance. Sometimes an overlooked clue, an old letter of the address of a friend leads to the end of the search. Sometimes a paragraph inserted in the War Cry—the Salvation Army publication, which is distributed in every country in the world—or in other mediums calculated to catch the eye, will bring the missing one home. Sometimes the man or woman hunted goes on for years, only to end to become one of those unsolved mysteries that the world speculates upon for a month or two and then promptly forgets.

CORNELL ROOFING

The roof of a building is equally important as the foundation. You would not construct a faulty foundation with poor and inferior materials. If this is so, why waste expensive nails and labor on inferior roofing.

CORNELL ROOFING is made from rag felt thoroughly saturated with asphalt. CORNELL SLATE SURFACED SHINGLES are coated on the back. The coating on the back is very important as it cements the layers of shingles together thereby preventing the wind from lifting the shingles which in time will crack them.

Don't You See The Advantage?

It requires just as much labor to lay poor inferior roofing as it does to lay the superior kind.

CORNELL ROOFING IS a superior roofing. IF better roofing were made we would sell it. WHEN better roofing is made we WILL sell it. For Sale By

A bill has been introduced in the State legislature that would reorganize the entire Department of Farms and Markets. The measure provides for five members of the Farms and Markets commission, one a woman, instead of one commissioner as at present. The commission would be authorized to fix prices in cases of excess profits or unfair prices for food, fuel or ice. There is said to be little possibility of the bill being passed at this session of the legislature.

Governor Smith has signed the bill appropriating $33,000 for the purchase of the Robinson and Remington farms in Sennett. Rattigan, who presented the bill through Senator Charles J. Hewitt.
