Use Local Paper.

N. A. Huse of the American Press Association published an article in a recent issue of Judicious Advertising urging manufacturers to obtain the co-operation of country merchants by advertising in local papers. He said, among other things:

"The country newspaper is the advertiser's medium for talking to small town people and the local farmers. If you wish to verify this statement—just ask any traveling salesman and see what they have to say on the subject. If they have visited many small towns they will know that the local paper is the heart of its community. Its columns contain items of interest to every person who reads them, whether in the village or on a farm down the road. Its readers are influenced by its statements and the advertisements it publishes. Through such a medium you can get your merchandise entrenched in this market—which is composed of 58.2 per cent of the population of the country; you will have a gateway into this great fertile field which stands ready and waiting to absorb your product."

Boys' and Girls' Clubs.

With the idea of interesting the children of Cayuga county in agriculture and home making, the junior project scheme has been making steady progress for the past few weeks, and Saturday the men and women who will lead the various clubs of boys and girls were in attendance at the council meeting and school of instruction held in Auburn. Specialists of the State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, and other leaders were present.

In Cayuga county through the co-operation of the Dairymen's League, Pomona Grange and the farm bureau the district school superintendents have become interested in the project and volunteer club leaders are found in the ranks of the rural teachers.

The school superintendents who attended the council and school which was under the supervision of John Olmstead of Port Byron, chairman of the junior project council, were Mrs. Anna M. Kent of Union Springs, Mrs. Mabelle Rodger of Moravia and Howard Murphy of Cato. C. S. Post, president of the farm bureau, and several representatives of the home bureau were in attendance.

The following club leaders were present: Mrs. Kenneth Wood and R. M. Harvey, Moravia; Charles Fitts, Dresserville; Miss Cora Ross and Raymond Currier, Locke; R. C. Wyllie, Fleming; Leo H. Sharp, Cato; S. F. Lee, Weedsport; Raymond D. Richardson, Fair Haven; E. J. Randall, King Ferry, and Mrs. Charles Huff, Sempronius.

The extent of the growth of the project work in the past few weeks is apparent when it is considered that last year only two clubs were in existence, in King Ferry and Weedsport.

Dies at Age of 92 Years.

Mrs. Jane Lowe Anthony, 92, died early Friday morning at the family home, 71 Fulton St., Auburn, after a few days' illness. Mrs. Anthony was in excellent health until Tuesday of last week, when she fell in her home and broke her hip. Because of her advanced age, it was judged best not to attempt to reduce the fracture. Complications set in and pneumonia finally developed, causing her death.

Mrs. Anthony was born in Sullivan county, May 23, 1828. When a young woman she was married to Hicks Anthony of Ledyard and they lived for many years on a farm in that town. Following the death of her husband, Mrs. Anthony moved to Auburn with her daughter, Miss Mary Anthony, three years ago and soon gained a wide circle of friends, including many of the children of her neighborhood. During the World war, she was active in knitting for the soldiers, as she had been during the days of the Civil war. Both Mrs. Anthony and her husband were Quakers.

The funeral services were private and held at the convenience of the family at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles G. Adams, 12 Cayuga St. Burial was made at Evergreen cemetery, Scipioville. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. John E. Price of the Universalist church of Auburn.

Nippon Has Its Salvation Lassies, Too

East may be East and West may be West, but the twain meet under the colors of the Salvation Army. Here one sees evidence of the Army's labors in the "Cherry Blossom" land of Japan. The color of the skin or the slant of the eyes of these Salvation Army officers makes no difference in their purpose and endeavor. The men wear the same uniform as their western brothers, but the women have adapted the Army's garb to the kimono robes of their native land. The pictures give testimony to the work of the Salvation Army in but one of the 66 countries in which that organization has its posts, and Japanese is only one of 40 languages spoken by those who wear the uniform in these scattered lands.

THE U. S. NAVY Passing Through the Canal.

The U. S. S. Wyoming and the U. S. S. New Mexico are shown here passing through the Pedro Miguel locks of the Panama Canal. The electric engines along the side of the locks are called "mules" in deference to their four legged predecessors—they have just hauled the battleship through the locks. If you are interested in mathematics you might figure out how many old style mules it would take to do the job. The Wyoming at the left, is moving out to the lower level, and as soon as the water in the other lock is let out to the correct level the New Mexico will move ahead. This picture was taken from a U. S. Navy flying boat, during the recent trip of the Pacific Fleet to the West Coast. They were royally received at all of the ports along the trip.

CHARGES ARE UNTRUE DECLARES 'LOBBYIST'

Dignified and Frank Reply to Sensational Accusations.

INDUSTRIES UPHOLD DALY.

State Association of Employers Gives Vote of Confidence in Officers and Asserts Right to Al- bany Representation.

Albany—(Special)—Employers of the state, and particularly the members of Associated Industries, Inc., have been greatly stirred by the sensational charges made by the New York State League of Women Voters that a well-financed and active combination, described as "the Daly lobby and propaganda," which was said to be exerting "a powerful and perilous influence" over public opinion and "interfering with open and orderly legislative action on important measures." Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip is chairman of the League. The Daly referred to is Mark A. Daly of Buffalo, General Secretary of Associated Industries, Inc., the active administrative executive of what is said to be the largest and most powerful state association of employers in the country.

Of equal interest to the public is the apparently frank and dignified reply to the charges which was made by Secretary Daly in a statement before the joint session of the Labor and Industries committees of the senate and assembly during the hearing on the so-called "welfare bills," which are part of the Democratic program of Governor Smith. Daly's statement was backed up by a set of resolutions adopted at the annual meeting of Associated Industries, in which the employers assert their right to be represented at Albany and declare their confidence in the officers of the association. The statement and the resolutions tell the whole story.

The Senate chamber was packed when Mr. Daly made his statement. Mrs. Vanderlip and other representatives of the League of Women Voters sat within a few feet of him when he stated in a loud voice that he represented Associated Industries, "an organization of about 2,200 honorable and reputable business men, both manufacturers and merchants."

Defends Integrity.

"The integrity of these men," continued Mr. Daly, "and my own integrity, as their representative, has been questioned in a public statement printed in practically all the newspapers today, and purported to have been issued by the New York State League of Women Voters. It is my thought that this statement of the League was psychologically timed, as it were, to be uttered as a part of the propaganda calculated to impress the members of this committee and to discredit me, as representative of Associated Industries, which is known to be in opposition to many of the bills set down for a hearing before you today. Associated Industries is not the only organization represented here for the purpose of presenting its side of the case. Labor organizations and organizations of women such as this one which seeks to discredit the industries of this state, and others, have had their fair share of representation in connection with legislation in which they take a special interest. Certain industry has the same right to present its case here that other interests have. I, therefore, feel it incumbent upon me, in justice to myself and to those whom I represent, to make a statement of facts, with your permission, in regard to my work in Albany and in regard to the policy of the Association I represent.

"I desire to say, first, that for six years I have represented Associated Industries in Albany, as the General Secretary of the organization, and that no one else, either directly or indirectly, with the exception of our experts on tax matters, had any authority to represent the organization, nor has it, to my knowledge, been represented by another. If that constitutes a "lobby" then I am a lobby. During that six years I never have, by word or deed, used any furtive, ulterior, invisible or other illegal or illegitimate methods, but have presented the arguments of the people I represent openly and fairly, either for or against proposed laws, and have been content to accept the decision of the legislature or the governor, whatever that decision may have been.

"Maliciously Untrue," Says Daly.

"So far as the statement of the League of Women Voters refers to me or to the people I represent, it is maliciously untrue and I would welcome any investigation or inquiry that would fairly seek the facts. I sincerely trust that this statement will be given the same wide publicity accorded the statement of the League of Women Voters. I regret that the publicity given to the statement of the League has made it necessary for me to dignify it by this denial of the so-called charges contained therein.

"Associated Industries was organized May 1, 1914, with 39 members, and today it has close to 2,200 members. Its schedule of dues is based on the payroll of members and no member can pay into the association more than $300 per year. The average dues per member is slightly more than $30 per year. The payment of dues is the only financial obligation incurred by any member. The association maintains an Inspection Bureau, a Legal Bureau, a Tax Bureau, a General Service Bureau, a Technical Advisory Board and it sends the General Secretary to Albany to follow legislation touching upon business. We employ fifteen people to keep up the work of the association. I give you these facts as leading to the statement that I received yesterday from a certified public accountant who had just finished inspecting our books, that the total annual income of Associated Industries for the fiscal year ending March 1, 1920, was a trifle more than $67,000, which was absolutely all the money the association received, directly or indirectly, and which was approximately $300 less than the actual expense for salaries, printing, traveling, postage and all the other maintenance expenses connected with such an organization.

Our financial statement is no secret; those who issued the League statement today could have had it for the asking. In fact, they could have had any information they might desire concerning Associated Industries if they had asked for it. "The interest of the manufacturers of the state in the League for Americanism never has been any secret. The publications of Associated Industries for many months past have referred to it and commended it and the members of the association were anxious to have it succeed. But, aside from the friendliness that one organization may have for another, there was absolutely no connection between the League for Americanism and Associated Industries, except that certain contributors to the League also were members of Associated Industries. I, personally, have advised with Secretary Babcock, of the League for Americanism, just as I would have been glad to confer and advise with any representative of the League of Women Voters, if we had any interest in common.

His Personal Activities.

"So far as my personal activities go I will merely say that I have worked under the direction of my Board of Directors, which meets bi-monthly throughout the year, and under the direction of the Executive Committee, and that their judgment always has dictated the policies and the activities of the association, and I never have asked any legislator to support or oppose any legislation in any other way than openly and above board.

"From the very beginning of our work we have met with just such appeals to prejudice and suspicion as characterizes the statement of the League of Women Voters. The press of the state, in conformity with its ideas as to what is 'news' and what is not 'news' will not print technical or economic facts such as we have to offer, but seemed willing to give much space to a considerable amount of misinformation disguised by a cloak of a few wellknown and incontrovertible facts. I have no quarrel with the press for this condition which, out of my own experience, I know is forced by public demand.

"In conclusion, Mr. Chairman, I desire to state that I have been directed to appear at this hearing and, as the representative of Associated Industries, oppose the minimum wage commission bill as it is now drafted, oppose the eight-hour day bill and several other bills which are set down for hearing today. But, having taken so much time with this statement, I ask permission to file a brief with the committee giving in detail our reasons for such opposition."

This statement, which is said to have created a very favorable impression throughout the state, was closely followed by the action of the membership of Associated Industries, which adopted the following resolutions, the preamble of which set forth the accusations, and continued:

A Vote of Confidence.

"Whereas, This Association, in annual meeting, having read and considered the statement of the New York State League of Women Voters and the charges contained therein, and with the knowledge that the alleged charges are untrue and unjust and plainly calculated to throw discredit on its proper opposition to measures which the League has supported; therefore be it

"Resolved: That Associated Industries of New York State, Inc., in convention assembled, hereby asserts its right to study and express its views on proposed legislation in this State; to be represented before the legislature by a duly accredited agent who, in accordance with the laws of the State, is registered as a legislative agent; and its right and duty to oppose by all legitimate means the enactment of legislation which it believes to be unwise and detrimental to the best interests of the people of the State and to endorse measures which it believes to be sound and desirable. It further declares its confidence in its officers and all their activities in connection with the work of the Association, which never has been illegal, illegitimate or otherwise subversive of good government or honest intent, and declares that the so-called charges contained in the statement of the New York League of Women Voters are untrue, or mis-statements of fact; and be it further Resolved: That a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Governor of the State of New York and to the members of the Legislature, and that the General Secretary be directed to give all the newspapers of the State, which printed the charges of the League of Women Voters an opportunity to print this Resolution and the statement of the General Secretary made March 23rd, 1920, before the joint session of the Labor and Industries Committees of the Senate and Assembly of the State of New York."

Just Where and How Is the Money to be Spent?

A businesslike Answer to a businesslike Question

THIRTY denominations cooperating in the Interchurch World Movement have budgeted their needs. No business could have done it more scientifically.

They have united to prevent the possibility of duplication or waste. At least a million dollars will be saved by the fact that thirty individual campaigns are joined in one united effort.

Each denomination has arranged its budget under six main heads:

- 1 FOR THE CHURCH'S WORK AT HOME. A score of times come under this head. Consider only one. Five and a half million people in the United States cannot even read and write the English language. Who is to carry forward this vast work of Americanization if the church does not?
- 2 FOR HOSPITALS AND HOMES. Every year thousands of men and women seriously ill are turned away from Church hospitals because of lack of room. The children's homes are compelled to turn away more children than they can receive.
- 3 FOR HIGHER EDUCATION. Of the 450,000 American students in institutions of higher grade, one-half are in institutions founded and supported by the Churches. Many of these institutions have had no great endowment campaigns, but their needs are just as pressing as the needs of larger schools; and you have only to read their list of alumni and alumnae to measure the value of their contribution to America.
- 4 FOR RELIGIOUS TRAINING. At least 12,000,000 children and young people under 25 years of age are entering American life without any religious training at all. Remembering the faith of Washington and Lincoln, do you think that America will continue to produce Washingtons and Lincolns if faith dies out of the hearts of its youth?
- 5 FOR THE CHURCH'S WORK ABROAD. Influenza came first from the Orient thirty years ago; nearly all plagues are Oriental plagues. So long as China has only one physician to every 400,000 people the Orient will continue to be a menace. So long as one-third of the babies of India die before their second year our babies are not safe. A Christian doctor or teacher sent abroad is working for America as truly as though he worked at home.
- 6 PREACHERS' SALARIES. The preacher is called the "forgotten man," and well he may be. Eight out of ten preachers are paid less than $20 a week!

Each denomination has its own detailed budget, and will administer its own funds. Your pastor has copies of the budget; examine them for yourself. In the week of April 25th-May 2nd you will be given your opportunity to help. You can do it with the full satisfaction of knowing that every dollar of your gift has its post assigned to it in advance.

Every dollar for better America and a better world. When your church calls on you give—and give with your heart as well as your pocket-book.

The Thrice-A-Week Edition OF THE New York World IN 1919.

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No other Newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price. The value and need of a newspaper in the household was never greater than at the present time. We have been forced to enter the great world war, and a mighty army of ours is already in France fighting great battles and winning magnificent victories. You will want to have all the news from our troops on European battlefields, and 1919 promises to be the most momentous year in the history of our universe. No other newspaper at so small a price will furnish such prompt and accurate news of these world-shaking events. It is not necessary to say more. THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the Genoa Tribune together for one year for $2.25. The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.50.

WATCHES AND BANK VAULTS

Why Safe Receptacles Occasionally Have a Bad Effect on the Stored Timepieces.

Overseas men who left their watches along with other valuable articles in bank vaults have in many instances found their timekeepers erratic or entirely useless on their return.

"Magnetized," the watch expert would say when the timepieces were taken to the repair shop. When a watch is magnetized the hair spring contracts and does other unseemly things, and the watch runs only casually if at all. Watch repairers say they can demagnetize a watch in a little while and it will be just as good as ever.

But why should a bank vault cause this magnetizing? That's the odd feature of it, for frequently the very factor that makes the watch's repository a safe one puts it "on the Fritz" as far as usefulness goes. A watch is magnetized when some electric current is near enough to have an effect. And usually the electric current that does the work is the current that operates the bank's burglar alarm.

HIS SCHEME DIDN'T WORK

This Colonel Evidently Was Wise as to the Foxy Ways of His Junior Officers.

In the regular army it is one of the customs of the service, when at a regular army post, for the junior officers to call upon the senior officers. To comply with this custom without making the calls, the junior officer frequently waits until he knows the senior officer is away and then calls at his home and leaves a card. One night when I was stationed at a post in Texas, I saw the colonel down town and on my way home stopped at the colonel's quarters and put my card under the door. I was just leaving the porch when I noticed a car at the gate and on closer inspection I noted that the colonel was in the car and was awaiting me at the gate. He laughingly said: "Kind of late to make a call, isn't it, Lieut.?" This became one of the colonel's best stories, and to say that I was more than once embarrassed would be putting it mild. —Exchange.

How Our Troops "Got Across."

During our 19 months of war more than 2,000,000 American soldiers were carried to France. Half a million of them went over in the first 13 months and a million and a half in the last six months. The highest troop-carrying records are those of July, 1918, when 306,000 soldiers were carried to Europe, and June, 1919, when 364,000 were brought home to America. Most of the troops who sailed for France left from New York. Half of them landed in England and the other half landed in France.

Why Nuts Are Valuable Food.

Nuts can and do take the place of meat in the diet with beneficial results, and they are bound to be in great demand at good prices in the future, says the American Forestry Magazine, which is campaigning for the planting of nut and fruit trees along the roads of New Hampshire being built to honor the war.

GOOD WILL ONLY DIVIDENDS FROM SALVATION STORE

A RELIEF SUPPLY DEPOT

MENDING GARMENTS

No; the Salvation Army has not gone into the wholesale grocery business. The picture shows merely one of the Army's relief stations. It is just like scores of others scattered through the cities and towns of the country at strategic points where quick relief can be given in emergency cases.

Not limited in their stock to groceries only, these Salvation Army relief depots carry clothing, underwear and other necessities for men, women and children. It is the aim to have at hand for immediate distribution food and clothing for any kind of a case of need. More than 700,000 destitute persons were served temporary relief from these stations last year.

And Salvation Army relief departments are systematic as well as sensible. The industrial department gears neatly with the relief department. In the industrial homes the broken down relics of humanity are put to work rejuvenating broken down household goods—chairs, tables, beds, benches—and shoes and other wearing apparel. It is a 50-50 proposition, for the down-and-outers are reviving their faith in themselves and in God at the same time they are repairing the furniture and other articles. They get back too, their courage. The Salvationists tonic them up with honest encouragement and sympathy. They go back into industry, valuable to themselves and to the nation.

What becomes of the remade furniture? Families in distress obtain it at the Salvation Army relief departments. Because the relief work dovetails with the industrial department the Salvation Army is able to supply improvident families with household goods at absurdly low prices or without any charge at all, according to the circumstances.

THE GENOA TRIBUNE

Published every Friday and entered at the postoffice at Genoa, N. Y., a second class mail matter.

Friday Morning, Apr. 23, 1920

George P. Stevens.

The death of Geo. P. Stevens occurred at his home near this village shortly after midnight, Thursday night, April 15, after an illness of two weeks, with pneumonia and complications. Although not in good health for several months, Mr. Stevens had been able to be about the house, until two weeks before his death. He had just passed his 78th birthday.

The deceased was born in the town of Genoa, April 10, 1842. On Dec. 8, 1863, he was united in marriage with Miss Harriet Charnley at Providence, R. I. Three years later they came to Auburn to reside. Thirty years ago, the family moved from Auburn to Venice, and in 1910 to the present home.

Four children were born of this union—two daughters and two sons. The sons died some years ago, and the death of Mrs. Stevens occurred in 1910. Surviving are the two daughters—Mrs. Clarence B. Kenyon of Venice and Miss Alice E. Stevens of Genoa. He also leaves one brother, Matthew Stevens of Groton, and four grandsons—Floyd, Earl, Leslie and Howard Kenyon.

Funeral services were held at the home on Monday at 12 o'clock, Rev. L. W. Scott of Auburn officiating. Further services were conducted at Bradley Memorial chapel, Auburn, at 3:30 o'clock, with burial in Fort Hill.

A number of relatives from Venice, Groton and vicinity were in attendance at the funeral.

Expired at Table.

The following account of the death of Rev. M. G. Henry, a former pastor of Genoa Presbyterian church, has been received from Chapel Hill, N. C., under date of April 2:

"Rev. Matthew George Henry, father of Dr. G. K. G. Henry, of the faculty of the University of North Carolina, died here suddenly yesterday at the age of 81. He was sitting at the dinner table with his son's family, apparently in good health, when he was stricken and died within a few minutes.

Funeral services were held here this afternoon and the body was sent to Geneva, N. Y., for burial beside the body of his wife, who died six months ago.

Mr. Henry was a clergyman in the Presbyterian church, with record of long and faithful service behind him. He was born in Nova Scotia, near Grand Pre, in 1839 and studied at the Presbyterian college at Halifax. He served as clergyman for long periods at Clyde and at Shubenacadie, both in Canada, and in Genoa and Palmyra, in New York. Ten years ago he retired from active service and last fall he came to Chapel Hill to live with his son, Dr. Henry, of the Latin department, and his daughter, Miss Eleanor V. Henry, who is a trained nurse.

Three other children survive him, J. G. Henry, of Geneva, N. Y., J. K. Henry, of Vancouver, B. C., and Mrs. R. W. Cooke, of Pittsburgh."

Clean-Up Week.

In a letter to mayors, village presidents and boards of health, Dr. Hermann H. Biggs, state commissioner of health, has designated the week beginning April 26 as annual Clean-Up week.

Calling attention to the fact that general cleanliness is an outward indication of sanitary cleanliness, the commissioner emphasizes the necessity of impressing the citizens of each community with the date and purpose of Clean-Up week in order that the large amount of filth and rubbish which has accumulated during the winter may be collected and properly disposed.

Genoa Presbyterian Church Notes.

Rev. W. B. Brock of Auburn will supply the pulpit next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock, and will conduct the communion service. Sunday school immediately following this service.

Mr. Helm preached two excellent sermons last Sunday, and there was a large attendance of the congregation at the morning service. At a short conference of church officials and the pulpit committee with Mr. Helm, the latter agreed to come to this church, as pastor, for three months. At the end of that time, if satisfactory arrangements can be made, it is expected Mr. Helm would remain indefinitely. This seems to be the only arrangement which can be made at the present time. Mr. Helm will be able to take up the work as soon as he graduates from the seminary which will be May 6. He has already been ordained to the ministry.

At the evening service, the Baptist congregation and pastor were present.

EXPENDITURES OF
SALVATION ARMY
SHOW $13,257,552

Commander Evangeline Booth
Makes Public Annual Home
Service Fund Accounting.

EXPANSION OF WORK IN ALL DEPARTMENTS NOTED

Popular Organization's Budget for 1921
Totals $10,000,000—Details of Figures for 1919 and 1920.

New York, April 12.—Expansion and advancement in every department of Salvation Army work as a result of the 1919 Home Service Fund are shown in a full accounting of that fund just made public by Commander Evangeline Booth at the National Headquarters of the organization here. The financial statement, which is of January 31, 1920, shows total expenditures throughout the country up to and including that date of $13,257,552, with a remainder on hand for the four months to May 31, of $910,140.

Details of the statement disclose that the sum of $1,441,185 was expended up to January 31, for the maintenance of 939 corps and outposts in all parts of the United States. This item includes rentals of halls and their maintenance, salaries of 1,800 officers, the expenses of work for children and young people, the cost of all local relief work of whatever nature, and such incidental expenditures as postage, printing, stationery and the like.

In the period covered by the report the sum of $1,688,429 was expended by thirty-four provincial and divisional headquarters for fresh-air farms and camps, comprehensive relief work of a special nature amongst the poor, the sick and the distressed. These headquarters are charged with the oversight and direction of all corps and similar activities in their jurisdiction as well as the extension of Salvation Army effort to unoccupied fields and localities. Hence, this item includes also salaries of executive officers, of clerical and other employees, necessary traveling expenses, postage, the cost of advertising, publicity and a portion of the expenditures incidental to the organization of the financial campaigns.

Details of Expenditures.
Other items detailed in the report include the sum of $621,099, representing administrative and other expenses borne by National Headquarters in New York and Territorial Headquarters in Chicago; $187,309 represented the cost of operating and maintaining 25 rescue homes and maternity hospitals, a general hospital and one for children, 3 children's homes and 11 slum settlements and nurseries; and $400,000 apportioned according to the 1919 budget for the pension fund for aged or disabled officers.

Most significant, as indicating the remarkable advancement made by the Salvationists during the past year as a result of the 1919 Fund contributed by the country, are the lifting of mortgages to the amount of $1,881,193 and the outlay of $7,038,834 for new buildings and additions, making a total of $8,919,528.

Hitherto demands upon the Salvation Army's efforts have been so much greater than its income that it has labored under a tremendous indebtedness, its officers have been reduced to part pay year after year, and the organization has been handicapped in its operations.

Not All Mortgages Liquidated.
Only a part of the mortgage indebtedness was paid off last year, however; the increased demands upon the Army everywhere in the country being so great that increased and new facilities for hospitals, rescue homes and other Army institutions called for the outlay of more than $7,000,000. Army officers hope that the response to the 1920 Home Service Appeal will be such as to permit of the wiping out of much of the remaining mortgage indebtedness, provide for the maintenance of the organization's established activities and make urgently needed extensions and development possible.

The 1919 balance sheet shows the following:

	Expenditure To Jan. 31.	Reserve To May 31.
For support of corps activities	$1,441,185.15	$447,235.48
Maintenance of 34 provincial & divisional hdqrs.	1,688,429.82	297,133.93
Maintenance of national & territorial hdqrs.	621,099.94	63,474.09
Maintenance of institutions for women and children	187,309.75	102,297.09
Pension fund	400,000.00
Mortgages and properties	8,919,528.42
Total expenditures for eight months	13,257,552.91	910,140.59
Reserve for four months	$10,140.59
Grand total (Amount contributed in 1919)	14,167,693.50

The Army's 1920 budget, asking for $10,000,000, calls for $4,000,000 to carry on its evangelistic and relief work in 1,000 separate centers; $3,000,000 for relief work among the poor, sick and unfortunate, work for mothers and children, and other social work under provincial and divisional headquarters; $250,000 for the maintenance of national and territorial headquarters; $400,000 for rescue homes, nurseries, hospitals, slum posts and other institutions for women and children; $150,000 for the retired officers' pension fund, and $2,200,000 for the liquidation of mortgages and the acquiring of new properties made necessary by the Army's 1920 extension program.

U.S. NAVY

With the Fleet

When you can look out over the stern of a big dreadnaught and see a line of regular he-ships following in battle formation, you just can't help swelling up and letting out a couple of man-sized roars. A fair sea, a good breeze, and a line of battleships making fifteen to twenty knots, present the most inspiring sight any man can ask on this earth. Living with such experiences turns boys into men, gives them a grip on life, makes real stuff of them. They work hard, they play hard, and we know that, if necessary, they can fight hard. Learn about your wonderful Navy. Be proud of it. It is respected by every country in the world. And it is yours; every bit your Navy.

KOREAN TAXI IS A WOMAN

Bearing "Jiggs" Strapped to Her Shoulders, She Transports Loads.

When an American wants to travel, he telephones for a taxicab. But in Korea the taxis are "jiggs,"—baskets of wood and bamboo. The front view of the "jiggs" gives the impression of a spreading fan, but in the rear is a platform on which the trunks or other baggage are placed. The children are piled on top of the boxes and the strange moving van bobs away.

Perhaps a boy only fifteen or sixteen years old will play the part of beast of burden, but it is generally a Korean woman who tests her strength to the breaking point as she carries a steamer trunk down the street.

The condition of women and children in foreign lands is a problem to which the new Interchurch World Movement, in which America's Protestant bodies are cooperating, has been asked to give special attention. To this end, schools and social centers are to be established at various points throughout Korea, while a central union college also is to be staffed and equipped at the expense of the churches of America.

WILL PROTECT PUBLIC INTEREST

Bill to Put Teeth into the Anti-Monopoly Law Now Before the Senate.

TO STOP PROFITEERING.

Proposed Law Gives Every Citizen the Right to Petition the Court for an Injunction Where the Employer and Workmen Get Together to Boost Prices.

Albany, April 12.—A practical effort to break the "endless chain" whereby wages are advanced to meet the high cost of living and the cost of living is increased by the boost in wages is being made at Albany. One step in this direction is to "put teeth" into the anti-monopoly statutes which are incorporated in the General Business Law, sections 340 and 341.

Under the law as it stands prosecutions are in the hands of District Attorneys whose administration is necessarily subject to political influence. At all events the statute as it stands has become practically a dead letter. Wages may be increased and the profits of the employer also increased while the general public is called upon to foot the bill. In the negotiations between employer and employee the general public has no voice.

A Day in Court.

The amendment to the General Business Law introduced by Senator Law of Westchester adds a new section to the anti-monopoly provisions of the statute which seeks to give every citizen his day in court, his just opportunity to restrain any such combination when it threatens loss or damage to his interests.

Amendment to the Business Law Provided in the Proposed Statute.

§341-a. Any person, firm or corporation shall be entitled to sue for and have injunctive relief against threatened loss or damage by a violation of any provision of section three hundred and forty, when and under the same conditions and principles as injunctive relief against threatened conduct that will cause loss or damage is granted by courts of equity under the rules governing such proceedings. A preliminary injunction may issue pending the trial of any such action to restrain threatened irreparable and immediate loss or damage.

Why the Bill Should Pass.

This amendment was formulated as an answer to a bill emanating from certain labor unions that have taken an extreme position in the opposite direction, seeking to protect rather than to discountenance monopoly. The bill, which was introduced by Senator Carroll of Brooklyn, is vicious and must be beaten.

The amendments contained in the Carroll bill are designed to exempt anything which is done in the name of a labor union from the penalties of the Anti-Trust Law of the state, commonly referred to as the Donnelly law, and from the provisions of the penal code, forbidding agreements, combinations or conspiracies in restraint of trade, and acts injurious to trade or commerce.

In express terms it provides that no person shall be sued, indicted, prosecuted or tried in any court of law or equity of this state for any act in pursuance of any arrangement, agreement or combination with a view to lessening the number of hours of labor or of increasing wages or bettering the condition of workingmen.

Dangerous Provisions.

To the casual observer the Carroll bill would seem to be harmless legislation. To those who look beneath the surface it is evident that it is a dangerous bill. It permits labor leaders to go to any extreme under the guise of increasing wages and bettering the condition of workingmen. Its purpose is to permit labor leaders to dictate to the employers in every industry, as they have already done in some lines, notably the photo engraving trade, the prices which the employers shall charge the consuming public for their goods. And the labor representatives who are working for the adoption of the Carroll bill admit this purpose and declare an intention to force the adoption of similar legislation in every state of the Union, and threaten all who attempt to oppose it.

If this sort of legislation should be enacted these labor leaders, often in combination with the employer, will raise the retail prices of shoes, clothing, articles of the household, farming implements and machinery, building materials, and of thousands of other articles in daily use, the price of which is already high enough.

Experience with labor leaders along the lines of the Carroll bill has already demonstrated that their intention is to raise prices, the increased profit thus derived to be divided between labor and the employers at the expense of an already over-burdened public.

A Concrete Example.

In the photo engraving industry alone, combinations between labor and employers establishing a complete monopoly and fixing prices more than a hundred per cent in excess of the prices prevailing have been put into operation in upwards of thirty cities in the United States. No manufacturing photo engraver can compete with those in the combination or sell at a lower price because under agreements between labor and the employers in the combination, labor will not work for, nor permit to operate, any employer who will not join the combination and sell at the standard scale which the union has established.

The idea is not new. It is the Soviet system which is responsible for present industrial conditions in Russia. Here radical labor leaders would introduce the system under the sanction of the law without the revolution and bloodshed attending upon its application to Russia.

No matter how introduced it will have the same paralyzing effect upon the industries of the country and the patient public. Capital will not be willing under such a system to invest in or support American industries, and will look elsewhere for investment. Prices will increase to levels far beyond the reach of the majority of the people and untold suffering and misery will result.

All this will be directly sanctioned by law if the Carroll bill is passed. By its provisions labor will be permitted to go to any extreme under the guise of bettering wages and working conditions and to create combinations and monopolies, as it has already done, fixing prices and restraining trade, which are forbidden to employers and which if done by employers would draw down upon them immediate prosecution and demands for jail sentences.

The Carroll bill is class legislation of the most dangerous character, designed to permit the undermining and destruction of our American business institutions. The defeat of the Carroll bill is imperative. But defeat alone is not sufficient. The question should be disposed of once and for all. It should be recorded upon the statute books that the people of New York do not want the Soviet system.

The Law Bill.

The bill introduced in the senate by Senator Law in answer to the Carroll bill proposes an amendment to the same sections of the General Business Law making it unlawful for labor to fix the price at which employers shall sell their goods to the consuming public. This bill is necessary for the protection of the public, because the present law against monopolies and combinations is deficient and ineffective as demonstrated by the fact that certain of the radical labor organizations have already applied these Soviet methods to certain lines of industry, one striking example being mentioned above.

The Law bill will tend to keep down the high cost of living. It will prevent labor from throttling the building trade and turning the present intolerable housing situation into a nightmare.

The bill is in the public interest and should be supported by the public. Its passage by the legislature is a duty. Immediate personal demand should be made upon every member of the legislature for the performance of that duty.

Senator Root's Statement.

At the Republican State Convention at Carnegie Hall last February Senator Elihu Root in his memorable keynote address made a statement calling attention to the fact that in every dispute between capital and labor the third party in interest, the general public, had no voice, and urged upon the Republican party the importance of seeing to it that the interests of the public in the result of such disputes was more effectively conserved. Senator Law's bill is a step in the direction outlined by Senator Root as the future policy of the Republican party.

But there is nothing of a partisan character in the proposed legislation for it is also in line with the best thought and highest leadership of the Democratic party.

Five Reasons Why the Law Bill Should Be Passed and the Carroll Bill Defeated.

1. Under the Carroll bill labor unions may fix the price at which the employer shall sell his merchandise to the public.
 2. Under the Law bill any citizen may restrain such a combination.
 3. Unless the vicious cycle is broken the cost of living will continue to increase without limit.
 4. In the disputes between labor and capital the general public, who always has to pay, is inevitably the victim. The Law bill affords redress. The Carroll bill legalizes monopoly and collusion.
 5. The device of trusting to public prosecutors to protect the public against combinations between labor and capital has proved a dismal failure. Liberal appropriations are squandered with little or no result, but with threats, promises and bluster.
- The Law bill permits the citizen to protect himself by ordinary legal process.
- The efforts of the Socialist party of America and its radical sympathizers to control the labor unions and organize a general strike makes this sort of preventive legislation imperative.

BLACK AND WHITE

Colors Form Popular Combination for Spring Clothes.

Staples Have Always Been Great Favorites in the Wardrobe of Smart Women.

In spite of the decided tendency towards brilliance and gayety in the color scheme of the newest modes, it must be admitted, observes a fashion writer, that an important place is still reserved for that most welcome of fashionable combinations, black and white.

Black has always been a great favorite in the wardrobe of the really smart woman. No trousseau of any description has been complete without the black gown.

The modern interpretation of this indispensable is the chic, cleverly combined black and white. Today we rarely see black without its charming allied color, white. Sometimes the sober uniformity of the black is relieved by a simple touch of white, perhaps a handsome collar, of fine lace, an accordeon-plated ruching, sometimes merely a double-faced ribbon, black and white, serving as a belt, or manipulated in some original manner to form a trimming.

This delightful feature is illustrated in a pretty and simple creation of black satin, whose sole garniture is a tiny ribbon ruching, black, lined in white, which outlines the décolletage, the edges of the wee sleeves, encircles the waist and borders the skirt-hem. The effect of the ruching allows the white to peep out among the black satin folds, without exaggerating the note of color.

Formerly, when one associated black with white, to make a gown, the skirt was invariably of the dark, the blouse of the lighter tint. But now all this is changed. Any fantasy is permitted, on the sole condition that the result be harmonious.

So we may possess the newest idea carried out in a frock—the skirt of white flannel, entirely accordeon-plated, the bodice semi-fitting, casaque shape, of black jersey de sole.

The casaque comes well down over the hips, fitting snugly over shoulders and bust. At the waist-line, however, it is looser, hiding the natural line as much as possible. The fastening in the back is effected by means of a row of small white buttons, and the sleeves are brightened by a bias fold of the white flannel. This frock has the double advantage of being at once the "sport" type and the latest word in smart dress as well.

In the domain of the tailored suit the black and white combination also reserves its place for recognition.

LATE FUR FAD FROM ABROAD

This latest French conceit is a three-piece outfit developed in Algerian red duvetyn trimmed with monkey fur. Bodice is of black and gold brocade, with three-quarter sleeves. Coat is fashioned along new redingote lines with checker collar and sleeve ends of monkey fur. Costume topped by hat of malines with burnt peacock feathers.

Low Waist Line Late Fashion.

The low waist line is the most recent impulse of fashion: sometimes a close-fitting corset is carried to the hip line; sometimes a straight chemise blouse descends below the normal ceinture, dipping decidedly lower in the back than in the front; again the close bodice dips far down in front, while coming barely to the hips in the back and at the sides. One may choose whichever is becoming.

Life in the Dominican Republic.

We have received a most interesting description of conditions, etc., in the Dominican Republic (Santo Domingo) from Mrs. J. Howard Green, formerly of Genoa, who with Mr. Green left here last September to reside there. We give it below for the benefit of our readers:

Central Romana, R. D.
 March 11, 1920.

Central Romana, which is the largest sugar estate on the island, belongs to the South Porto Rico Sugar Co. It has the reputation of being the best laid out plantation, has the largest sugar mill and the best organization of any of the plantations. It is expected that in a short time it will be one of the largest plantations in the world as new land is all the time being opened up.

The plantation is about twenty miles long and has the only standard width railroad track on the island. This extends from the sugar mill at Romana the length of that part of the plantation under cultivation. There are three settlements on the plantation, the largest at the port of La Romana, and the others at Higueral and Guaymate. All are located on the railroad. At Romana, live the administrator, the office men, chemists, factory superintendents, some of the engineers, etc. In Higueral and Guaymate live the cultivation men and some of the engineers. There is a club house at each place. Inasmuch as Mr. Green is a superintendent of cultivation, we are living in Guaymate.

The company furnishes to each of its employees, a house, milk, ice lights and fuel without charge. It has its own ice plant and electric light plants and a chain of stores where we buy our groceries, meat, etc., supposedly at cost.

Most of the houses are stone bungalows, varying little in size or design. They have five or six rooms, not including the bath or the kitchen and servants' quarters which are in the rear.

Servants are a big problem here. I have already had seven different cooks and have never yet found one who could bake anything. These have consisted of two Porto Ricans, two Dominicans, two St. Thomas English negroes and one English speaking negro from Samana, a town on this island. These Samana negroes are supposed to be descendants of a colony of American negroes brought down here by a wealthy man after the Civil war. The Dominicans and Porto Ricans spoke no English at all, but the English negroes are the poorest workers, even worse than the Haitians. My laundress is a Porto Rican and laundry work is the one thing these people can do well, tho' they never use even a washboard and will insist on hanging your clothes on a barbed-wire fence unless you watch them. The only good servant I have secured is a young Porto Rican boy who takes care of the lawn and garden. Labor is not nearly as cheap as I expected. Housemaids, laundresses, etc., get about twenty dollars a month and a good cook sometimes as much as thirty-five or fifty.

The chief forms of recreation for the women of the Central are tennis, swimming, horse-back riding, dancing and playing cards, mostly bridge. The weather has varied but little since we arrived here the last of September. In the morning it is occasionally quite cool and there is always a good breeze during the middle of the day so it is seldom hot. We have had oranges, bananas, pineapples, limes, vegetables, flowers, etc., growing all winter.

This is the busiest season of the year, or "the crop," which lasts from December until May. The soil is very fertile and cane is planted on land which we would not consider cleared, as stumps of trees three or four feet high and all sorts of refuse are left. After the cane is planted all that has to be done is to keep the fields clear of grass until the cane is well up and then let it grow. It is cut by hand and hauled by bullocks to the cane trains.

This plantation is laid out in square fields, of one hundred acres each, separated by "guarda condelas" meaning a "guard from fire." These are strips one hundred fifty feet wide and make it easier to keep a cane fire from taking the next field. Mr. Green has thirty-six of these fields, or three thousand six hundred acres, in the district over which he has supervision. They are opening up and adding one thousand five hundred acres more to this district next year. There are now fifty thousand acres under cultivation and they are opening up as many more. These fields are yielding forty tons of cane to the acre and a ton of cane produces eleven per cent sugar so you see there is really some sugar being produced in spite of its scarcity. The work of cutting, cleaning, planting and hauling the cane is all let out to native contractors. The American Federation of Labor has opened up an office down here and even now there is a strike on among the cane-cutters so you see we are not so very much out of date down here.

The Republic is still under martial rule and we have a marine camp here, one in Romana and several on Central property farther on. There are really bandits here for Mr. Green, who is in the saddle all day, and another young American, met a band of about twenty-two one day. Their chief aim is to steal altho' they will kill occasionally and they particularly hate the marines. No American woman ever rides or goes alone outside of the American district in Romana. Out here we always think it but natural to slip a revolver in your work bag when you go out to spend the afternoon, even tho' you have some one go with you. The Central, about three years ago, when two engineers were killed here by bandits, invested millions of dollars in installing here a police force composed of Porto Ricans who are to protect the company's property and employees. These police are still doing duty here and are stationed everywhere on the company's property.

There are four houses besides the club on this street and ordinarily we have at least five police stationed here. When there is any unusual "scare" we have more with a marine or two to patrol the sidewalk. Mr. Green nearly always has one ride with him and in some parts of his district three. I feel that we are well protected and, for myself, have never had a fear, but one of the first things impressed upon us here is to never under any circumstances take any chance with these people for none of them can be trusted.

The company has its own stock farm, moving picture shows and a perfectly equipped hospital in Romana for the use of the Americans. We have one excellent doctor, his assistant and a trained nurse, all of whom are paid by the company, so medical attention and hospital treatment cost nothing unless it is something for which the company or the climate cannot possibly be held responsible.

They also maintain a private school with an American teacher for the American children. I did not before realize that this letter was acquiring such great length but really living in the Dominican Republic is not half bad and I am sure nearly all of the Americans enjoy it even tho' the salaries paid here may be the greatest inducement for their coming.

East Genoa Study Club Notes.

On the evening of March 26, many club members with their families gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Saxton for the annual election of officers and banquet. At 8:30 o'clock, spreads were laid for the dinner, which was served to about 70 people. Although it was a stormy evening, all present enjoyed the occasion very much, the cheer and joyous spirit prevailing throughout the house entirely excluding the gloom without, for which much credit is due the host and hostess. The meeting of the women's club was called to order by the president, Mrs. M. C. Swartwout. After the yearly reports were given, officers were elected as follows:

Pres.—Mrs. LaMott Close.
 Vice Pres.—Mrs. Arthur Burgman.
 Sec.—Mrs. Chas. Upson.
 Treas.—Mrs. A. C. Cowan.
 Cor. Sec.—Mrs. C. N. Tupper.
 Officers for the men's club are as follows:

Pres.—Frank B. Huff.
 Vice Pres.—Chas. N. Tupper.
 Treas.—Bert R. Smith.
 Sec.—David R. Nettleton.

Mrs. Swartwout expressed regret at leaving the club, on account of her removal from the community. The members of the club also regret her departure and she is greatly missed.

On April 9, Mrs. Edwin Thayer entertained the executive committee and the topic card committee, of which she is a member, at her home. After the meeting, a very fine tea was served.

April 13, the club met at the home of Mrs. LaMott Close for a millinery meeting. Miss French of Cornell was present to give instruction in the principles of hat making, also how to steam and clean materials, etc., and the making of children's hats. Study what is becoming, she said. Dinner was served to the fifteen members present, before the lesson began. It is hoped that Miss French can be present at the dress-making meeting in the near future. On April 16, a helpful meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Upson, with some forty people present. Plans were made for the new year's work and a fine lunch was served.

DO IT TODAY

Write your Senator and Assemblyman at Albany to support the Law Bill (Introductory Number 1492) and secure its passage at this session. Do it today. The time is short.

This proposed statute will put teeth into the anti-monopoly law. It provides:

"Any person, firm or corporation shall be entitled to sue for and have injunctive relief against threatened loss or damage by a violation of any provision of Sec. 240 (The anti-monopoly law) when and under the same conditions and principles as injunctive relief against threatened conduct that will cause loss or damage is granted by courts of equity under the rules governing such proceedings. A preliminary injunction may issue pending the trial of any such action to restrain threatened irreparable and immediate loss or damage."

This amendment, if enacted will give relief from combinations that operate to increase costs to the consumers.

It is a step toward breaking the "endless chain" whereby the cost of living is increased day by day.
