It's only commonsense to make holders with round edges. Corners are always slipping into the contents of the dish or reaching down to the stove to be burned.

Happy Family Reunion.

It would be difficult to find a family who had more cause to be thankful than were the two brothers and sister who together celebrated Thanksgiving day after a separation of 41 years when Mrs. William Meyer of King Ferry entertained her brothers, Daniel W. Gage of New Boston, Mass., and Charles Gage of Kewanee, Ill. The whereabouts of Daniel Gage had been unknown to the family for many years, and only recently were efforts to locate him crowned with success.

The Gage family lived on the lake road about two miles north of Ludlowville some 45 years ago, moving from there to Dunlap, Ill. Two years later the mother died and circumstances were such that it became necessary to separate the children. After they had grown up, the brother Charles and sister (Mrs. Meyer) came East in search of Daniel, but could find no trace of him.

Finally, last September, when the sister, Mrs. Meyer and her husband were touring the Finger Lakes region, they went through Seneca Falls, and Mrs. Meyer decided to make one more effort to locate her lost brother. Through inquiries at the postoffice a grandson of the man who had adopted Daniel Gage was found, and Mrs. Meyer learned that her brother was alive, in the best of health, and living in New Boston where he conducted a lumber business. A letter to him brought an immediate reply, and she learned that her brother was married and the father of four children. Then it was only a step to the Thanksgiving reunion which was so happily celebrated.

Big Trees of State.

Although the Big Tree contest conducted by the New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse was supposed to close the middle of November, definite announcement of the result has been held up pending the checking closely of the measurements of several of the contestants. The list of entries ran over the 100 mark, and some wonderful trees were submitted. So many fine trees were enrolled that honorary mention and special prizes will be offered for several of those which did not win prizes.

The largest number of entries came from the Genesee Valley and the region between Rochester and Lake Ontario. These trees, however, while uniformly large, did not equal in size a few scattering entries from other sections of the state. Long Island seems to have the most noteworthy oaks, and some gigantic pine are reported from the Adirondack region. A gigantic cherry tree was offered from Long Island, with the claim to additional value for historic interest as being the cherry tree which George Washington did not cut with his hatchet. Many historic trees, noteworthy for their associations, though not of record-breaking size were offered.

Returning to India.

Dryden friends have received word that Dr. and Mrs. Hervey D. Griswold, who left for the Pacific coast on Nov. 12 sailed on Nov. 18 on the Empress of Russia from Vancouver, B. C., for India. Dr. Griswold will be engaged in educational work at Serampur for some months before they return to their former home at Lahore. The journey which will occupy about two months will be broken by a stop at Yokohama, Japan, where they will be the guests of Miss Georgiana Baucus, a former Drydenite, who has been for many years doing missionary and literary work in Japan as a representative of the Methodist church. Dr. and Mrs. Griswold are sent out by the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, and are returning to their former field of labor, after a furlough spent in Ithaca and vicinity.

Fire at Groton.

The Corona Inn at Groton was badly gutted by fire early Thursday evening of last week, with a loss which will approximate $25,000. The fire started about 7 o'clock in the rear of the hotel.

Though badly damaged by water and smoke, the front part of the building was saved from the flames. So quickly did the fire spread that practically all of the 35 Corona employees occupying rooms in the building lost their personal belongings.

The loss to the building is $15,000 with $10,000 loss in furnishings and personal property.

A Courtney Memorial.

A memorial to the late Charles E. Courtney, affectionately known among thousands of lovers of intercollegiate rowing as the "Old Man," and who for more than 30 years was coach of the Cornell crews, has been suggested at Ithaca. The Cornell Daily Sun, the university publication, is sponsor for the memorial idea, and proposes that it be established in the form of a suitable boat-house at the Inlet, where the veteran coach trained his famous Cornell crews.

Sells Largest Number of Stamps.

Scout Tarbell, who is the son of Attorney George S. Tarbell, not only sold a larger number of stamps than any Scout in the state, but according to the report, surpassed the records of 53 Scouts, representing each state, territory and insular possession, with a sale of $77,215.25 worth of stamps.

Better choose that Christmas tree now, and save searching when time is short, and weather more severe.

Auditorium Attractions.

The sensational laughing success "Twin Beds" will be the offering at the Auditorium, Saturday of this week, matinee and night. It will be presented by a capable cast and a new and elaborate production has been provided. A special scale of bargain prices will prevail for both the matinee and evening performances.

Monday evening, Dec. 13, Manager Hennessey will offer the theater-goers of Auburn and the vicinity the biggest musical sensation of New York last season, "Buddies." Mr. Hennessey was only able to secure this attraction by buying it at a cost of $1500 for one performance. It is guaranteed to be a first-class New York company. Through Mr. Hennessey's enterprise Auburn will see "Buddies" before either Syracuse or Rochester. Seats are now on sale and a very reasonable scale of prices has been arranged.

Cayuga County Represented.

Alling-Tilton.

The marriage of Vernon W. Alling of Auburn to Miss Vera M. Tilton of Rochester, N. Y., took place on Nov. 28. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. McGillwin at the M. E. parsonage at Macedon, N. Y., where the bride has been employed as telegraph operator on the New York Central Lines. Mr. Alling is employed by the Lehigh Valley in the same capacity and is at present stationed at Groton, N. Y.

A Yuletide Blessing

By Ralph Hamilton

(C. 1929, Western Newspaper Union.)

CHRISTMAS CHEER was in the air everywhere. The sleigh bells had a special tone for Ned Graham as he sped over the glittering snow homeward bound, the melodious clang of the skates along the river course made perfect music to his enraptured ear, the stars appeared to shine with a new luster—and all for him, he almost fancied, on this the first Christmas eve he could remember where peace on earth, good will to men had a real vitalizing meaning, and himself a part of it all!

Left an orphan at eight, for five years he had been the slave of a miserly old being. Then Victor Wade, a distant relative, and his wife Alice had taken Ned to their humble little home. "You have no children of your own and a blessing will come to you for caring for this poor outcast," the village clergyman had told them, and indeed his words had come true. He nestled down into their hearts and gave them an obedience and love.

And Ned as well shared the shadow that hovered over their lives. Alice was the only daughter of the richest man in Brompton. She had married Wade against the wishes of Martin Brill, who had from that hour shut both of them out of his life.

"He can't treat my dear, good mother that way!" declared Ned sturdily to a chum. "Some day I'm going to let him know how mean he is to the best two people who ever lived."

Mr. and Mrs. Wade had gone to a Christmas entertainment and Ned was speeding homeward full of holiday plans.

Dashing through the gateway Ned came to a sudden halt. A light showed in the parlor, the porch window of the room was open, and plainly visible inside was a rough-appearing man tossing over the packages grouped under the little tree.

"It's a burglar!" gasped the startled Ned, "and stealing our Christmas presents! Hey, you! get out of there or I'll shoot you full of bullets!" and

A Rough Appearing Man Tossing Over the Packages.

Ned ran to the window, drew a revolver from its case and presented it in menacing view.

The intruder turned, dashed from the room into the hall and disappeared. Valiantly triumphant, Ned went back to the parlor, for the first moment noticing a small satchel lying open on a chair. It somewhat thrilled him to observe strange-looking articles of steel within.

"Burglars' tools!" whispered Ned, "and here's a great big wallet stuffed full of papers and bank notes, and right across it is stamped the name of 'Martin Brill' in gift letters. Say! This fellow must have robbed the old man before he came here."

Half an hour later Ned stood in the garden of the Brill home. Gazing into the one lighted room of the place he saw Brill tied to a chair and striving to dislodge a gag in his mouth. He was frantic; he tore his hair; incoherently he babbled forth the visit of a night marauder as Ned released him. "You're the Wade boy, aren't you?" he quavered. "You've done me a good turn. Do another. Call the police."

"Say," interposed Ned, "if you'll come with me I'll see that you get your wallet back."

"What—why—come with you—where?"

"To your daughter's home. A funny thing has happened, and if you want your wallet back you've got to go with me there."

Half distracted, fully mystified, Martin Brill consented to the strange proposal. Arrived, Ned told his story, produced the wallet and restored it to its owner.

"Oh! lad, you've won my eternal gratitude!" cried the delighted old man, but paused abruptly, his eyes fixed upon a decorated framed portrait of himself.

"Mr. Wade got the holly for that," said Ned, "and your daughter trimmed it. They do that every year."

Martin Brill sat staring at the portrait, a dim mist crossing his eyes. Ned stole quietly from the room as he heard footsteps on the front porch.

"Sh-h!" he whispered, reaching it. "Mother, you've got a visitor."

"Why, who is it?" asked Alice surprisedly.

"Santa Claus, I'm thinking," was the prompt response—and it was.

ART AND SCIENCE IN TOYS

Playthings for the Kiddies Necessary to the Proper Conduct of Their Society.

WHILE the making of toys is an art that is probably practically as old as the world itself, it has been only within recent years that science has bothered itself about them. Less than half a century ago they were regarded merely as playthings—amusing diversions for children that were by no means necessary to their well-being. Today, however, science insists that there is a well-defined philosophy underlying the use of toys; that they are the tools with which the little ones ply their trade; the paraphernalia necessary to the proper conduct of their society; that dolls, for example, are more to them than the associates that help to entertain them in that they aid them in the attainment of their mental growth by stimulating the natural emotions which must be experienced in later life.

Whether this theory of the scientists is correct or not, the fact remains that children have always had the playthings requisite for their imitations of the domestic life and business affairs of older people; that they have always required their elders to provide them with such inventions, and that, when they could not obtain these toys by any other means they themselves have sought and found objects that might be made to suit their purposes. Even the somnolent middle Ages did not put an end to their pastimes. The toys in which they found diversion may have been more simple, but, as they met the demands of nature, they played their allotted part in the scheme of human development.—Public Opinion.

Ancient Christmas Custom.

Many quaint customs are observed at Christmas time in various English country parishes. In that of Cumnor, in Berkshire, of which the living is a vicarage and the church a beautiful specimen of an old English parochial edifice, all who pay tithes repair, after evening service on Christmas day, to the vicarage where the year is held in duty bound, by a usage centuries old, to regale them with four bushels of malt brewed into ale or beer, two bushels of wheat baked into bread, and half a hundred weight of cheese. Any remnants of this feast are distributed among the poor of the parish after morning prayer the next day.

POOR THINGS
Tramp Birds: They might throw us a few crumbs on Christmas morning.

Traditions of Christmas Festival.

In the records of every nation we find traditions of the Christmas festival, traditions which have been handed down from generation to generation in oft-told tales which thrilled the hearts of the listeners with alternate fear and delight. Sir Walter Scott tells us that they who are born upon Christmas or Good Friday will see spirits, and will have the power of commanding them. He also adds that the Spaniards imputed the downcast looks of their monarch, Philip II, to the disagreeable visions to which this privilege subjected him.

Bring Smiles of Gladness.

It is not so much the thought of receiving the customary holiday gifts which most pleases the fancy, but rather that pleasure the heart derives from dwelling upon joyful surprises it may bestow upon others. To bring a smile of gladness upon another's face is, indeed, a boon more precious than a Christmas gift, and the joy of bestowing can never be equalled by the receiving.

BEATS GASOLINE AT 15 CENTS A GALLON

New Invention Makes Ford's Run 34 Miles on Gallon of Gasoline and Start Easy in Coldest Weather. Other Cars Show Proportional Savings.

A new carburetor which cuts down gasoline consumption of any motor, including the Ford, and reduces gasoline bills from one-third to one-half is the proud achievement of the Air-Friction Carburetor Co., 399 Madison St., Dayton, Ohio. This remarkable invention not only increases the power of all motors from 30 to 50 per cent, but enables every one to run slow on high gear. It also makes it easy to start a Ford or any other car in the coldest weather without previously warming the motor. With it you can use the very cheapest grade of gasoline or half gasoline and half kerosene and still get more power and more mileage than you now get from the highest test gasoline. Many Ford owners say they now get as high as 45 to 50 miles to a gallon of gasoline. So sure are the manufacturers of the immense market that they offer to send it on 30 days' trial to every car owner. As it can be put on or taken off in a few minutes by anyone, all readers of this paper who want to try it should send their name, address and make of car to the manufacturers at once. They also want local agents, to whom they offer exceptionally large profits. Write them today. Advertisement.

GOOD TURNS ON CHRISTMAS

Chance for All to Aid the Friendless in Having Happy Yuletide Season.

REAL purveyors of Christmas cheer may often find a market for their precious wares outside the pale of charity, for all homeless people are not necessarily poor, and neither are all childless homes necessarily unhappy. Housekeepers who are short on homes may combine these two lackings and make Christmas day a merry delight for the grown-ups in spite of these unfortunate conditions.

There is always something peculiarly pitiable in the idea of any one "socking alone" which should appeal to the home-maker without a family, so that this should be the occasion for her to gather in all the bachelor maids and homeless men of her acquaintance and give them a joyful opportunity to "hock together." Even the Scrooges, if she knows any, should be rescued from their lonely bawls of gruel and persuaded to open their shut-up hearts and wear them outside for general inspection, as Dickens says, "For Christmas days to peck at." Therefore, collect six or eight of these birds of a feather who are destitute of near-by kith and kin and make your Christmas feast a center of good cheer for all the charming solitaires you are able to draw within its radius.—Woman's Home Companion.

Good Year for Violets.

Sweet peas have been forced for the Christmas market only for many years past. They must be started blooming before the cold weather begins. Then they will bloom all winter. Daffodils do not get in until February, but almost all the rest of the spring flowers, hyacinths, narcissuses, bayonella, and so on, are on the Christmas counters. Easter lilies, too, though rather cold and white for Christmas, are sold. Violets, are fine this winter, deeply, darkly, beautifully blue. Some mignonette now comes in enormous sprays. There are carnations but the bright red Christmas carnation is the favorite. Holly comes from the hills of Maryland and the south. The wild holly supplies the market and there has never seemed to be any perceptible diminution of the supply. Great quantities of it are purchased by all sorts of dealers, who decorate their stores with it and send out a sprig attached to every Christmas parcel.

SAD FATE

Wooden Soldier: After faithful service in the nursery for a year, I will be cast aside for a new toy this Christmas.

Dumb Animals Remembered.

The noblest observances of Christmas are its charities. In all ages and among all peoples the poor have always been bountifully remembered on that day, and in many parts of England and Scotland even the lower animals are given an extra feeding that they, too, may have cause for rejoicing when all mankind are glad. Many readers will remember Burns' address of the auld farmer to his mare when presenting her with an extra feed of corn on New Year's day. "A guid New Year I wish thee, Maggie. Hae, there's a ripp to thy auld baggie."

To Avoid the Rush.

Soldier, just back from his harvest furlough, to the sergeant—"My father wants to know if I'll get another furlough at Christmas. Here is the picture of the pig that is going to be..."—Fliegende Blätter.

AVOID CHRISTMAS TREE FIRE

Utmost Care Should Be Used in Trimming, Thus Preventing Fatalities in the Homes.

PEOPLE cannot be too careful in guarding against fire when trimming a Christmas tree, says a correspondent in Good Housekeeping. There have been scores of Christmas tree fatalities in homes and in Sunday schools which a little care might have prevented. The writer once set a tree in a blaze, consuming nearly half of it, tinsel ornaments going with the green branches. A tiny candle had been wired too high, and it took only a few minutes of its brisk heat to char a branch above it and start a flame. A thick portiere was torn from its pole and thrown over the blaze. If it had not been at hand the light window curtains would have caught fire in another minute. Since that Christmas our tree has always been placed in the center of the room, and we have eschewed cotton wool, tissue-paper angels, and celluloid ornaments. First of all, we wire each candle securely in place at the furthest end of a branch which has nothing above it, either fir tree or trimming. Then as the tree is denuded we watch carefully the fast-disappearing candles. Sometimes one of them, nearly burned down, will topple over or be merely a spark of flame, but near to something inflammable and be a menace.

MAKE OUT GIFT LIST EARLY

Thoughtful Shoppers Start Task Several Weeks Before Rush Begins in Busy Stores.

THE buyer who really puts some altruism into her Christmas gifts makes out her list several weeks in advance. If she be a canny somebody she has kept her list of the year before and is able to see what were her gifts the preceding season, and thus avoid the risk of repeating herself. Still more canny is she if she has made mental or written notes from time to time of various articles for which she has heard a desire expressed by friends. Such note taking will greatly lessen her labors.

For it is no light thing to choose Christmas gifts judiciously. The whole secret of their acceptability lies in their appropriateness. Not only must they be appropriate to the person from whom they come and to whom they go, but to the circumstances in which the latter is placed. For an instance, there are few housekeepers who do not welcome an addition of fine linen to their store. But if to a housekeeper who lives plainly in simple surroundings one sends a superb lace-trimmed tea cloth or doilies that throw all her other possessions into the shade, there is an unsuitability about the gift that robs it of much of its charm.—Harper's Bazar.

Teach Value of Foods.

The first laboratory for working out household food problems was installed in Teachers' college, New York city, a little more than ten years ago, says an exchange. The development of science has been extraordinary, the current ideas of the actual value of food in common use have been revolutionized by the work in these laboratories. When the war came, the government accepted without question the results of these investigations and the rations of American soldiers in France were fixed upon them.

One of the most interesting features of the laboratory is a complete flat, including kitchen, dining room, bedroom and bath. Students are selected who need such kinds of food and experimented upon for weeks at a time. In this way, many problems of the utmost importance were solved.

Mrs. Armstrong Dead.

The death of Mrs. Robert Armstrong occurred at her home in Genoa late Saturday afternoon, after a period of ill health covering the past two years. Death resulted from dropsy. During the past summer she had been fairly well, but for the last two months she had been gradually failing, and the end came quietly and peacefully.

Funeral services were conducted at her late home on Tuesday at 1 o'clock. Rev. R. A. Fargo offered prayer and read an appropriate poem, and Stellar Rebekah lodge, of which the deceased was a member, conducted the funeral service of their order. Mrs. Robert Mastin, Miss Ida Mastin and C. J. Foster sang three selections. Burial was made in the family plot in Genoa cemetery.

GIFTS that LAST

Christmas time is here again. I have a stock seldom equalled in quantity in any city and at prices way below city prices, this is not "advertising talk" but FACTS. I guarantee the prices lower for the same quality of goods than any prices obtained in any city.

I have splendid assortments in all the lines I carry, it is worth a trip to Moravia just to purchase a piano lamp. I have a fine line and my dishes, silverware, leather goods, fancy pieces, ivory pyralin, sewing machines, clocks, etc., all make ideal gifts, besides the thousands of smaller things suitable as Christmas remembrances.

Manicure sets, separate manicure pieces in ivory and silver, desk sets, then there is the jewelry, watches from $6.00 up for gold wrist watches. Now let us see you get a good gold wrist watch in any city for $6.00, you cannot do it, then you will realize that you can buy cheaper the same article that you pay so much more for in any city if you come to a reliable jeweler in a smaller town who carries a city stock and owns his store and does the work himself instead of hiring expensive help. Some one has to pay the expensive help and high rent if you purchase the same article in a city, who is it?

I invite you to my store because I know I can offer you a better, larger stock at lower prices than you will find in the city. Get a SONORA from my splendid line, they are the highest class talking machine in the world, not because I say so, but because they took the first prize over all other talking machines at the World's Fair. That means something. When you purchase a talking machine, come here and buy a Sonora. I personally select every machine I sell. I have other makes, Victor, Edison etc. Come while I have a big line on display.

DECEMBER 5, ST. NICK'S DAY

Children of Holland and France Look for Santa Claus' Visit Early in the Month.

IN THE strict order of things children should have hung up their stockings for Santa Claus on Dec. 5, and rejoiced in his gifts. For it was the feast of St. Nicholas, alias Santa Claus. He has nothing whatever to do with Christmas, and his visit then is an Anglo-Saxon anachronism, which came from America fifty years ago. As their patron saint, children were taught to look to Nicholas for care and protection. To show the reality of his love for boys and girls, parents related that on his eve he went up and down the earth rewarding the good with presents, as he had in his life secretly thrown purses of gold into the rooms of poor maidens through the window. Children were taught to hang up their stockings which parents acting as the saint's deputies filled with sweets, apples, nuts and toys. In England the custom was abolished with the worship of saints at the Reformation, and was re-established in the American guise of Father Christmas in the middle of last century.

But in Holland Santa Claus makes his visit on the right day, Dec. 5. Instead of stockings, the Dutch children place their shoes, with straw in them for the donkey on which Nicholas rides, in front of the fireplace. In the morning good children find presents there, but the shoes of the naughty contain only a birch. The custom is the same in France. In southern Austria, a young man, arrayed as St. Nicholas, in episcopal robes, visits each house and examines the children in their catechism. To those who answer well the saint's attendant angels give fruit and sweets, while demons are admitted to terrorize the careless. On going to bed the children place baskets or dishes on the window sill for his future gifts. Catholic Germany furnishes the transition between the origin of Nicholas and modern Santa Claus. Arrayed as Father Christmas, he visits each home and questions the children as to their conduct. For the good there are cakes and fruit, and for all a lecture. He then asks what presents they would like the Christ-child to bring at Christmas.—London Daily Chronicle.

FOR THEIR CHRISTMAS PARTY

Appropriate Decorations Add to the Zest and Gayety of the Yuletide Festivities.

IF SANTA CLAUS is to be present at the Christmas party supper—and of course he should be invited—he may appear in an automobile, but in order to be quite orthodox he should be driving his eight reindeer through the snow; and therefore the hostess should use a strip of snowy cotton wool plentifully sprinkled with frost for the table center. Purchase a somewhat large Santa Claus; he will be most effective dressed in a brown cloak with scarlet hood and cap. A fancy basket in the form of a wheelbarrow or chariot will answer the purpose for his sleigh, and should be loaded with presents of all kinds. The reindeer, which can be filled with sweets, may be harnessed to the sleigh with scarlet ribbons on which have been sewn a number of tiny bells.

At intervals down the table place boxes of bonbons in the form of Yule logs, with garlands of holly and mistletoe arranged from log to log, the menus to be in banner form, each one being held by a miniature Father Christmas.

A Cinderella scheme for the supper table is pretty. For the center purchase from your florist the wire frame of a coach. Cover it thinly with moss, binding it on with hemp; then cover it with scarlet geraniums, attaching the blossoms to the coach with fine silver wire; harness two milk-white toy horses to it with ribbons to match the geraniums. A smart little coachman and footman must be placed on their respective places, and a doll to represent Cinderella dressed for the ball should be sitting inside.

Appropriate presents to be placed for the children would consist of a slipper filled with sweets for each little boy, and a doll dressed as a fairy in white gauze spotted with silver stars, holding a tiny wand, would delight the heart of each little girl.

HIS SUGGESTION

"We'll have to economize this Christmas, my dear."
"Yes, but how?"
"I've an idea. Let's give our relatives the same kind of cheap gifts we always give my folks."

Tit for Tat.

The Poet: "May I read you my new Christmas poem?"
The Musician: "Yes, if you'll let me play you my new Christmas cantata."
—Marguerite Blatter.

WHY SHE BELIEVED IN HIM

Kills Two Birds With One Stone—Engagement Ring for Christmas Present.

BEFORE opening the slight Christmas token I have brought you, Miss Clara," said Mr. MacNerve, as he took from his inside pocket a small package and handed it to the young lady in question, "I think it best to acquaint you, in my imperfect way, with the state of my feelings. To come to the point in as brief and practical a manner as possible, sparing you all the unnecessary details, I may as well tell you at once that I love you. From the moment that I first met you I was fully aware that this was inevitable. The more I set my mind against it, the more I struggled to control myself—to be strong—the more hopelessly I became involved. You will naturally ask at once why I should struggle against a passion which is admitted by all to be the source of the greatest happiness known to humanity. But I could not regard the matter in a selfish light. I was done, Miss Clara, because I have doubted all along whether a man in my circumstances had it in his power to make a girl like yourself, who had been reared in such luxury, entirely happy in the new and changed conditions that matrimony leads to. Was it right in me, I said to myself, to jeopardize your happiness by asking you to share the lot of one, who, while his present salary is a fairly comfortable one, is not at the same time prepared to say positively that he will succeed? I have now put the case before you. I know you to be a sensible girl, and one whose intuitions I am sure will lead you aright. After this brief explanation I beg of you therefore to look at my gift, and, if your heart tells you to do so, accept it from the man who loves you above all others."

Hastily breaking the seal the young girl he addressed gazed for a brief interval at the beautiful object that lay in her hand. Then advancing swiftly to where he stood she threw her arms around the neck of the man who had so worthily won her, exclaiming with a glad cry:

"Dearest, how can I doubt you! Any man who is cute enough to kill two birds with one stone by giving a girl an engagement ring for her Christmas present cannot help but succeed!"

CHRISTMAS THINGS FOR BOYS

Youngsters Like Presents That Afford Amusement as Well as Being of Educational Nature.

IT IS to be wondered if the small boy's taste and temperament are really and truly considered when buying gifts that are meant to appeal to his inventive mind, or whether we simply purchase for him some toy or object of entertainment which we in our never-failing judgment think fit that he should have. It happens oftentimes that the boy who would give half his little kingdom for the Humpty-Dumpty circus that some other small youth received as his share from the Christmas pack receives a necktie, a pair of gloves and books, and vice versa. With the host of wonderful inventions for the entertainment and education of childhood, why not study the boy's bent and give him something with which to develop his bent?

One boy, in fact many, would prize a box of tools, and these very desirable outfits may be had in any size desired; another lad of the spirited age of ten or twelve, would like a football and a suit to play in; the mechanical mind just revels over the mechanism of a wonderfully constructed railway, a miniature airplane, or just a simple engine that can be made to run gives hours of pleasure; then there is the popular pushmobile, the wonderful joy everlasting, while snow and ice lasts, sled and ice skates. If the young man is a collector of stamps, large packages of foreign postage may be had, and the nearest approach to attending a moving picture show is to give the boy a postcard projector with which he can have a picture show of his own and invite the other boys if he wants to.

To these few suggestions may be added games, boy scout stories, numerous articles of wearing apparel and possibly a watch, an Indian or some other masquerade outfit, a wigwam and so on through an indeterminate list, but give him something he wants.

CHEAP ENOUGH

She: Now George, I want you to give me something cheap for Christmas.
He: I was going to offer myself.

Impossible to Resist Influence.

"It is quite impossible to resist the sweet influence of the coming holidays and not to feel a thrill of sympathetic delight over that which serves to gladden all mankind. The very air seems to have caught the inspiration of the hour, and so one can fall to perceive, as he hurries through the streets, when Christmas is drawing near."

WALKING AND TALKING DOLLS

Lifelike Forms Gracefully Step Across the Floor Saying "Mamma" or "Papa."

DOLLS that walk and talk and wink and roll their eyes are Parisian Christmas novelties in toyland. These dolls seem almost human, as they walk in sprightly across the floor saying "mamma" or "papa" just as real children would.

Walking dolls being a new invention, seem wonderful and bring screams of delight from little girls and boys, too, who watch with intense interest every step of the lifelike dolls as they are exhibited in the shops.

The machinery that moves the doll's legs is set in motion by a key that is inserted in the works at the waist line.

The voice is made active by works that are wound with a key.

The eyes move as the body aways from side to side, just as the real children's eyes roll and blink, etc.

CHRISTMAS WEEK IN ENGLAND

Time When Scattered Families Are United and Tender Memories Are Revived.

MANY and great are the changes which have occurred in England since Dickens wrote "A Christmas Carol," but they have not affected the national love for the festival and the determination to preserve unimpaired the traditional warmth and heartiness of its celebration. Christmas week is still the great week of the year for the English people. It is the one week when scattered families are reunited, when tender memories and old associations are revived, when friends greet with a cheery friendliness in striking contrast with the characteristic reserve of the English nature, unobtrusive to those who do not know it well, apparently so distant and unapproachable.

From Wednesday all business will be suspended, not to be resumed till Monday morning. The whole nation will give itself up to good cheer and good fellowship, and for a brief season, all strife and controversy are hushed, and peace, charity and concord reign supreme.

PUSSIE'S REVENGE

LITTLE Pussie White was feeling very unhappy one morning as she sat in the barn door in the sun licking her paws.
Pussie White had only lived at the farm for a short time, and she was much younger than the other pussies, Tabble and Blackie.
The reason Pussie White was so unhappy this morning was because the two older pussies had made fun of her for not catching as many mice as they did the night before.
"Of course, she may in time be able to catch a few more than she does now," said Blackie to Tabble, "but I am afraid this new puss will never prove to be a good mouser like you or me."
Tabble had tossed her head and replied that there were few pussies who could hunt mice as they did. "They may hunt for mice, my dear Blackie," she had said, "but they do not catch smart as they thought themselves to be.

Pussie White had a friend that lived down the road, so she took herself off to tell Peter Dog her troubles.
Peter was a very wise little fellow and very fond of Pussie, for they had played together when Pussie was a kitten, and she had never scratched him as the other kittens had done.
"I think I can help you, Pussie," said Peter. "I am not at all fond of mice, but I am sure I can catch them and tonight if you can manage to keep Blackie and Tabble away from the barn I am sure we can catch mice enough to surprise those two spiteful creatures."
That night when the three pussies were eating their supper in the farmhouse kitchen Pussie White slipped away before the others had finished.
Down the cellar stairs she ran and climbed out of the window where there was an opening for the pussies to go in and out.
When Pussie White went out she managed somehow to knock the board that was fastened on the outside and down it slipped right over the opening.
Some time later when Blackie and Tabble wanted to go to the barn for the night, as they always did, they had to stay in the cellar all night.
The next morning Pussie White did not care for her breakfast and smiled to herself as she heard the farmer's wife say to the other pussies, "I guess Pussie White caught all the mice last night and you two did not catch any, from the way you sat."
But her revenge was complete when later Blackie and Tabble ran into the barn and could not find a mouse, for those that Peter and Pussie White did not catch the night before were frightened and ran away from the barn to live.
Tabble and Blackie did not make fun of Pussie White again, but they never knew how Pussie managed to clear the barn in a single night.

them. Pussie White may in time, as you say, catch a few more mice than she does now—she must learn something from watching two such experts as we are."
And this was the reason Pussie White was so unhappy and as she washed her face she was thinking how she could catch more mice and show Tabble and Blackie that she was just as
