The Happenings of the Week in Our Sister Villages.—Newsy Correspondence.

East Genoa.

FEB. 8.—The Ladies' Aid society at Mrs. Sharpsteen's last week was well attended and a pleasant time enjoyed by all. The society will meet at Mrs. Frances Bothwell's Feb. 14.

A. Robinson and J. Walker, both former residents, are reported ill.

Wm. Barber and F. Thayer made a business trip to Ithaca last week.

Mrs. Dimmick has been confined to the house nearly all winter.

Five Corners.

FEB. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. James DeBeamer entertained some King Ferry friends on Sunday.

Mrs. Kate Smith has returned home from Sheldrake.

Aunt Jane Sullivan, as she was commonly called, died at the home of Martin McCarthy on Friday. The burial was at King Ferry.

J. Ni Beardsley is convalescent but not yet able to be out.

George Morrison spent part of last week visiting granges in the northern part of the county, he being the county deputy.

The many friends of Mrs. Oliver Snyder will be grieved to learn of her critical illness.

Little John Stewart is on the sick list.

F. E. Corwin and wife recently entertained friends from Groton City.

Mrs. John Palmer is at Buffalo, attending the embalming school.

A. T. Smith was in Ithaca on business today.

North Lansing.

FEB. 13.—The weather being so changeable causes a good deal of sickness all through the country.

Will Searles has purchased an engine at Cortland and intends running a sawmill.

Lewis Barger attended court at Lansingville last Saturday.

A euchre party at Mrs. W. S. Havens' last Saturday evening.

Quite a large company of young people from here will attend the dance at East Venice the 14th.

Mrs. Mary King of Lansingville was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Alice Spangler, last week.

A Japanese student from Cornell will give a lecture in the Methodist church next Sunday evening. All are cordially invited.

Mrs. Eva Gallagher and son Frank intend to make Groton their home, where Frank has a position.

James Osman from Michigan is the guest of his cousins, Jacob and Chas. Osman.

Mrs. Frank Beardsley and Mrs. Chas. Barger visited relatives in Ithaca last week, returning home Saturday.

Frank Hines and wife are to stay at Rudolphus Miller's this year.

D. F. Ladd and family are moving in with Nathan Williams. Mr. Ladd will take care of the cemetery.

NEWS OF THE STATE

EVENTS IN AND OUT OF THE EMPIRE STATE.

B. Greenleaf of Locke was married to Miss Maude Seeber of Moravia on Friday, the 27th.

State Superintendent of Insurance Francis Hendricks assumed charge of the department on Monday.

It is evident that the stars in their courses are working against Buller, and Boer guns are contributing somewhat to his ill luck.

Chas. J. Hewitt and wife returned Wednesday morning from Topeka, Kan., where they have been spending a few weeks with relatives.—Locke Times.

James S. Caldwell, of King Ferry for violating the excise law, was sentenced on Monday to 90 days in jail. The indictment against him for perjury will not be followed.

Bryan in New Hampshire and Vermont is certainly "in the enemy's country." No Democrat or free silver candidate ever survived an election in those states.

Frank S. Wright as commissioner and a sheriff's jury inquired into the mental condition of Sarah Bart of Fleming, and declared her to be insane. She is possessed of property in the amount of $2,200.

The Brooklyn Daily Eagle has issued a neat guide to Paris and the Exposition, which it sends to all who send a two-cent stamp for it. Those who contemplate going to the Paris Exposition should send for a copy.

The court of last resort has granted a verdict of $3,000 against the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, to Josephine True, for the death of her husband, an engineer, in a wreck at Levanna five years ago.

The jury in the celebrated Molineux poisoning case at New York brought in a verdict late Saturday, of "guilty of murder in the first degree." The evidence was all circumstantial and many people had expected a different verdict.

One of the best cartoons that has come to our notice is in the Syracuse Evening Herald of Saturday. It represents General Buller as the ferryman across the Tugela river. His time table announces "time for round trip—going over 3 days; coming back 10 minutes."

Sunday night the postoffice at Dolgeville was robbed of over $900 worth of stamps and cash. Entrance was effected through a cellar window and the combination of the safe was worked by the burglars, thus giving them an easy job. No clues were discovered.

The Standard Oil company has raised the price of oil to consumers three cents per gallon. We consume 970,000,000 in a year. This means an additional profit of $29,100,000 in one year for Rockefeller and the others. No wonder the company's stock is quoted above 500.

Silas Gallup was before Wm. S. Elder as referee at Lyons Saturday. He was examined to ascertain how much property he had taken and now holds under the "power of attorney" vested in him by Wayne, and what he did with it. Having left some of his memorandum at home, the hearing was necessarily postponed until next Saturday. This is a mighty good thing for the attorneys.

At the end of December, 1898, 27.2 per cent of all the working people in all trades were unemployed. At the end of March, 1899, the unemployed amounted to 18.6 per cent. At the end of June the percentage was 10.9. At the end of September it had sunk to 4.7 per cent, and there has probably been a reduction since. These facts and figures from the annual report of the Bureau of Labor and Statistics of the State and they

The British government pays just $35,000 a year subsidy to the White Star steamship people for the privilege of using the Teutonic in time of war. Under the Hanna-Payne ship subsidy steal, the United States will pay the American line over $350,000 a year for similar privileges in regard to the St. Paul. Why this enormous difference?

Senator Albert J. Beveridge in his famous speech in the United States Senate, told one side of his experiences in the Philippines. The other and more personal side—what he saw and heard of "The American Soldier in the Field," he will tell exclusively in an early number of The Saturday Evening Post, of Philadelphia.

Of all the papers published in the great Empire State not one seems to stand higher in the estimation of the people of Central and Northern New York than the Syracuse Sunday Herald. Consisting of 32 pages, with a magazine section and a colored picture supplement, it is certainly a splendid production. Aside from the general telegraphic news it contains among other features three pages of correspondence, two pages of sporting news, a financial page, a woman's page and a wealth of half tone illustration. That the Herald is extremely popular is evidenced by the fact that its circulation has increased over 7,000 in the past four months.

Sudden Death.

While on his way to Auburn Saturday morning Ephraim Main suffered a stroke of apoplexy and died almost immediately. Mr. Main lived with his wife and three children in the town of Scipio. Saturday morning he started for Auburn with a load of junk. About half a mile south of Wyckoff's Station as he was driving along he toppled over from the wagon seat and fell headfirst between the wheel and the thill. Fortunately the horses stopped.

A short time afterwards Mrs. John Hyatt, who lives some three miles south of Wyckoff's, came driving along on her way to the station. She noticed in the road ahead of her the standing rig but could see no driver. Coming closer she was horrified to see Main caught between the wheels and thills and apparently dead. She hastily summoned Henry Barlow, who lives close by, and when the latter reached Main's side he was dead. With difficulty the body was lifted from its position and laid on the ground beside the road and Coroner Smith of Fleming was summoned. After viewing the remains he decided the deceased came to his death as the result of a stroke of apoplexy. He believed death followed the stroke almost immediately.

The remains were taken to the home of the deceased in Scipio. Main was a man 69 years of age. He was very large of stature and fleshy. He was of a kind, generous disposition and his death will be a source of extreme regret to his many friends who will extend their sympathy to the bereaved family.—Bulletin.

Ingersoll's Shortage.

The committee on county treasurer's accounts of the Board of Supervisors met Saturday morning and received reports from the several examiners who have been investigating the accounts of Charles Ingersoll, to determine the exact amount of shortage, for which his bondsmen are responsible.

The amount of shortage follows: Infant Heir Fund, $3,965.90; Collateral Inheritance Tax, $561.31; Excise moneys, $942.67; County moneys, about $13,800. Total about $19,300.

Tompkins, Cobb and Cobb appeared to represent the bondsmen, some of whom were present. A meeting of the bondsmen will be held on Monday or Tuesday to determine upon Obituary.

We copy the following in regard to the death of an old resident of North Lansing, from the Greenville Independent, Greenville, Michigan:

"Mrs. Martha F. Royal was born at East Genoa, N. Y., June 27, 1812. At the age of sixteen years she was converted and united with the Presbyterian church of Genoa. June 20, 1833, she was married to Tillman Bower, and they removed to North Lansing, N. Y. In 1845 her husband died, leaving her with four sons. She was married to James B. Royal in 1848. After his death she removed to Greenville with her son, Dana Bower, in 1888, at whose home she died Monday morning, Jan. 29, 1900. After coming to this city, she united with the Congregational church and was a regular attendant at the morning service as long as health permitted. She was a fond and devoted Christian mother and grandmother. After several weeks of illness she entered into rest, dying as she had lived with a firm faith in her Saviour. She leaves three sons, Henry M. Bower of Montcalm; Dr. Horace L., and Dana Bower of this city, and one sister, Mrs. Sarah J. Divine, of Venice, N. Y.

The funeral services were held Tuesday at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Dana Bower, conducted by Rev. D. E. Hills, assisted by Rev. W. H. Garfield. Her remains were taken to North Lansing, N. Y., her old home, for interment."—Groton Journal.

THE FIGHT ON SATAN

Dr. Talmage Says We Have Lost Many of the Weapons.

A Warning to the Christian Church to Protect Itself Against the Assaults of Unrighteousness and Unbelief.

[Copyright, 1900, by Louis Kloppsch.]
Washington, Feb. 4.

In this discourse Dr. Talmage shows how the cause of righteousness has lost many of its weapons and how they are to be recaptured and put into effective operation: text, I. Samuel xiii., 19-21: "Now there is no smith found throughout all the land of Israel, for the Philistines said: Lest the Hebrews make them swords or spears. But all the Israelites went down to the Philistines, to sharpen every man his share, and his coultter, and his ax, and his mattock. Yet they had a file for the mattock, and for the coulters, and for the forks, and for the axes, and to sharpen the goods."

What a galling subjugation for the Israelites! The Philistines had carried off all the blacksmiths and torn down all the blacksmiths' shops and abolished the blacksmiths' trade in the land of Israel. The Philistines would not even allow these parties to work their valuable mines of brass and iron, nor might they make any swords or spears. There were only two swords left in all the land. Yea, these Philistines went on until they had taken all the grindstones from the land of Israel, so that if an Israelitish farmer wanted to sharpen his plow or his ax he had to go over to the garrison of the Philistines to get it done. There was only one sharpening instrument left in the land, and that was a file, the farmers and mechanics having nothing to whet up the coultter, and the goad, and the pickaxe, save a single file. Industry was hindered and work practically disgraced. The great idea of these Philistines was to keep the Israelites unarmed. They might get iron out of the hills to make swords of, but they would not have any blacksmiths to weld this iron. If they got the iron welded, they would have no grindstones on which to bring the instruments of agriculture or the military weapons up to an edge.

Oh, you poor, weaponless Israelites, reduced to a file, how I pity you! But these Philistines were not forever to keep their heel on the neck of God's children. Jonathan, on his hands and knees, climbs up a great rock, beyond which were the Philistines, and his armor bearer, on his hands and knees, climbs up the same rock, and these two men, with their own swords, hew to pieces the Philistines, the Lord throwing a great terror upon them. So it was then; so it is now. Two men of God on their knees mightier than a Philistine host on their feet!

I learn, first, from this subject, that it is dangerous for the church of God to allow its weapons to stay in the hands of its enemies. These Israelites might again and again have obtained a supply of swords and weapons, as, for instance, when they took the spoils of the Ammonites, but these Israelites seemed content to have no swords, no spears, no blacksmiths, no grindstones, no active iron mines, until it was too late for them to make any resistance. I see the farmers tugging along with their pickaxes and plow, and I say: "Where are you going with these things?" They say: "Oh, we are going to the garrison of the Philistines to get these things sharpened." I say: "You foolish men, why don't you sharpen them at home?" "Oh," they say, "the blacksmiths' shops are all torn down, and we have nothing left us but a file."

So it is in the church of Jesus Christ to-day. We are too willing to give up our weapons to the enemy. The world boasts that it has gobbled up the schools and colleges and the arts and the sciences and the literature and the mighty attempt to get all our weapons in its hand, and then to keep them. You know it is making this boast all the time, and after awhile, when the great battle between sin and righteousness has opened, if we do not look out we will be as badly off as these Israelites, without any sharpening instruments. I call upon the superintendents of literary institutions to see to it that the men who go into the classrooms to stand beside the Leyden jars and the electric batteries and the microscopes and telescopes be children of God, not Philistines.

The Tyndalean thinkers of our times are trying to get all the intellectual weapons in their own grasp. We want scientific Christians to capture the science, and scholastic Christians to capture the scholarship, and philosophic Christians to capture the philosophy, and lecturing Christians to take back the lecturing platform. We want to send out against Schenkel and Strauss and Renan a Theodore Christlieb of Bonn and against the infidel scientists of to-day a God-worshipping Silliman and Hitchcock and Agassiz. We want to capture all the philosophical apparatus and swing around the telescopes on the swivel until through them we can see the morning star of the Redeemer and with mineralogical hammer discover the Rock of Ages and amid the flora of all realms find the Rose of Sharon and the Lily of the Valley. We want some one able to expound the first chapter of Genesis, bring to it the geology and the astronomy of the world until, as Job suggested, "the stones of the fields shall be in league" with the truth, and the stars in their course shall fight against Sissera. Oh, church of God, go out and recapture these weapons!

Let men of God go out and take possession of the platform. Let any printing presses that have been captured by the enemy be recaptured for God and the reporters, and the typesetters, and the editors, and the publishers swear allegiance to the Lord God of truth. Ah, my friend, that day must come, and if the great body of Christian men have not the faith, or the courage, or the consecration to do it, then let some Jonathan on his busy hands and on his praying knees climb up on the rock of Hindrance and in the name of the Lord God of Israel slash to pieces these literary Philistines! If these men will not be converted to God, then they must be overthrown.

Again, I learn from the subject what a large amount of the church's resources is actually hidden and buried and undeveloped. The Bible intimates that that was a very rich land, this land of Israel. It says: "The stones are iron, and out of the hills thou shalt dig brass," and yet hundreds and thousands of dollars' worth of this metal was kept under the hills. Well, this is the difficulty with the church of God at this day. Its talent is not developed. If one-half of its energy could be brought out, it might take the public iniquities of the day by the throat and make them bite the dust. If human eloquence were consecrated to the Lord Jesus Christ, it would in a few years persuade this whole earth to surrender to God. There is enough undeveloped energy in this city to bring all the United States to Christ—enough of undeveloped Christian energy in the United States to bring the whole world to Christ, but it is buried under strata of indifference and under whole mountains of sloth. Now, is it not time for the mining to begin, and the pickaxes to plunge, and for this buried metal to be brought out and put into the furnaces and be turned into howitzers and carbines for the Lord's host?

The vast majority of Christians in this day are useless. The most of the Lord's battalion belong to the reserve corps. The most of the crew are asleep in the hammocks. The most of the metal is under the hills. Oh, is it not time for the church of God to rouse up and understand that we want all the energies, all the talent and all the wealth enlisted for Christ's sake? I like the nickname that the English soldiers gave to Blucher, the commander. They called him "Old Forwards." We have had enough retreats in the church of Christ; let us have a glorious advance. And I say to you as the general said when his troops were affrighted—rising up in his stirrups, his hair flying in the wind, he lifted up his voice until 20,000 troops heard him crying out: "Forward, the whole line!" We want all the laymen enlisted. Ministers are numerically too small. They do the best they can. They are the most overworked class on earth. Many of them die of dyspepsia because they cannot get the right kind of food to eat, or, getting the right kind, are so worried that they take it down in chunks. They die from early and late exposure.

If a novelist or a historian publishes one book a year, he is considered industrious, but every faithful pastor must originate enough thought for three or four volumes a year. Ministers receive enough calls in a year from men who have maps and medicines and lightning rods and pictures to sell to exhaust their vitality. They are bored with agents of all sorts. They are set in drafts at funerals and poisoned by the unventilated rooms of invalids and waited upon by committees who want addresses made until life becomes a burden to bear. It is not hard study that makes ministers look pale. It is the infinity of interruptions subjected. Numerically too small! It is no more the work of the pulpit to convert and save the world than it is the work of the pew. If men go to ruin, there will be as much blood on your skirts as on mine.

Let us quit this grand farce of trying to save the world by a few clergymen, and let all hands lay hold of the work. Give us, in all our churches, two or three aroused and qualified men and women to help. In most churches to-day five or ten men are compelled to do all the work. A vast majority of churches are at their wits' end how to carry on a prayer meeting if the minister is not there, when there ought to be enough pent up energy and religious force to make a meeting go on with such power that the minister would never be missed. The church stands working the pumps of a few ministerial cisterns until the buckets are dry and choked, while there are thousands of fountains from which might be dipped up the waters of eternal life. Before you and I have the sod pressing our eyelids we will, under God, decide whether our children shall grow up amid the accursed surroundings of vice and shame or come to an inheritance of righteousness. Long, loud, bitter, will be the curse that scorches our grave if holding within the church to-day enough men and women to save the city we act the coward or the drone.

Again, I learn from this subject that we sometimes do well to take advantage of the world's grindstones. These Israelites were reduced to a file, and so they went over to the garrison of the Philistines to get their axes and their goods and their plows sharpened. The Bible distinctly states it—the text which I read at the beginning of the service—that they had no other instruments now with which to do this work, and the Israelites did right when they went over to the Philistines to use their grindstones. My friends, is it not right for us to employ the world's grindstones? If there be art, if there be logic, if there be business faculty on the other side, let us go over and employ it for Christ's sake. The fact is we fight with too dull weapons and we work with too dull implements. We hack and we maul when we ought to make a clean stroke. Let us go over among sharp business men and among sharp literary men and find out what their tact is and then transfer it to the cause of Christ. If they have science and art, it will do us good to rub against it.

In other words, let us employ the world's grindstones. We will listen to their music, and we will watch their acumen, and we will use their grindstones and will borrow their philosophical apparatus to make our experiments, and we will borrow their printing presses to publish our Bibles, and we will borrow their rail trains to carry our Christian literature, and we will borrow their ships to transport our missionaries. That was what made Paul such a master in his day. He not only got all the learning he could get of Dr. Gamaliel, but afterward, standing on Mars hill and in crowded thoroughfare, quoted their poetry and grasped their logic and wielded their eloquence and employed their mythology until Dionysius the Areopagite, learned in the schools of Athens and Heliopolis, went down under his tremendous powers.

That was what gave Thomas Chalmers his power in his day. He conquered the world's astronomy and compelled it to ring out the wisdom and greatness of the Lord, until, for the second time, the morning stars sang together and all the sons of God shouted for joy. That was what gave to Jonathan Edwards his influence in his day. He conquered the world's metaphysics and forced it into the service of God, until not only the old meeting house at Northampton, Mass., but all Christendom, felt thrilled by his Christian power. Well, now, my friends, we all have tools of Christian power. Do not let them lose their edges. We want no rusty blades in this fight. We want no coultter that cannot rip up the globe. We want no goad that cannot start the lazy team. Let us get the very best grindstones we can find, though they be in possession of the Philistines, compelling them to turn the crank while we bear down with all our might on the swift revolving wheel, until all our energies and faculties shall be brought up to a bright, keen, sharp, glittering edge.

I learn from this subject what a sad thing it is when the church of God loses its metal! These Philistines saw that if they could only get all the

The claim of other cough medicines to be as good as Chamberlain's are effectually set at rest in the following testimonial of Mr. C. D. Glass, an employee of Bartlett & Dennis Co., Gardiner, Me. He says: "I had kept adding to a cold and cough in the winter of 1897, trying every cough medicine I heard of without permanent help, until one day I was in the drug store of Mr. Houlehan and he advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and offered to pay back my money if I was not cured. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured by this remedy and have since always turned to it when I got a cold, and soon find relief. I also recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all medicines." For sale by metallic weapons out of the hands of the Israelites, all would be well, and therefore they took the swords and the spears. They did not want them to have a single metallic weapon. When the metal of the Israelites was gone, their strength was gone. This is the trouble with the church of God to-day. It is surrendering its courage. It has not enough metal. How seldom it is that you see a man taking his position in pew or in pulpit or in a religious society and holding that position against all oppression, and all trial, and all persecution, and all criticism. The church of God to-day wants more backbone, more defiance, more consecrated bravery, more metal. How often you see a man start out in some good enterprise, and at the first blast of opposition he has collapsed, and all his courage gone, forgetting the fact that if a man be right all the opposition of the earth pounding away at him cannot do him any permanent damage. It is only when a man is wrong that he can be damaged. Why, God is going to vindicate His truth, and He is going to stand by you, my friends, in every effort you make for Christ's cause and the salvation of men.

Go forth in the service of Christ and do your whole duty. You have one sphere. I have another sphere. "The Lord of Hosts is with us, and the God of Jacob is our refuge. Selah." We want more of the determination of Jonathan. I do not suppose he was a very wonderful man, but he got on his knees and clambered up the rock, and with the help of his armor bearer he hewed down the Philistines, and a man of very ordinary intellect attainments on his knees can storm anything for God and for the truth. We want something of the determination of the general who went into the war and as he entered his first battle his knees knocked together, his physical courage not quite up to his moral courage, and he looked down at his knees and said: "Ah, if you knew where I am going to take you you would shake worse than that!"

There is only one question for you to ask and for me to ask: What does God want me to do? Where is the field? Where is the work? Where is the anvil? Where is the prayer meeting? Where is the pulpit? And finding out what God wants us to do, go ahead and do it, all the energies of our body, mind and soul enlisted in the undertaking. Oh, my brethren, we have but little time in which to fight for God! You will be dead soon. Put in the Christian cause every energy that God gives you. "What thy hand findeth to do do it with all thy might, for there is neither wisdom nor device in the grave," whither we are all hastening. Opportunities of usefulness gone forever, souls that might have been benefited three months ago never again coming under our Christian influence. Oh, is it not high time that we awake out of sleep?

Church of God, lift up your head at the coming victory! The Philistines will go down, and the Israelites will go up. We are on the winning side. I think just now the King's horses are being hooked up to the chariot, and when He does ride down the sky there will be such a hosanna among His friends and such a wailing among His enemies as will make the earth tremble and the heavens sing. I see now the plumes of the Lord's cavalymen tossing in the air. The archangel before the throne has already burnished his trumpet, and then he will put its golden lips to his own, and he will blow the long, loud blast that will make all the nations free. Clap your hands, all ye people! Hark! I hear the falling thrones and the dashing down of demowlish iniquities. "Halleluiah, the Lord God omnipotent reigneth! Halleluiah, the kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord Jesus Christ!"

WANTS TO BE GOVERNOR.

Judge Carter, of Chicago, Actively in the Field for Nomination by the Republicans.

Judge Orrin N. Carter was born in a log cabin on the banks of the St. Lawrence river, in Jefferson county, N. Y., in 1854. At the age of ten he moved with his mother and brothers to Illinois. They located on a farm two miles north of Wheaton. His father, who was a lake captain, died in Chicago when Judge Carter was one year old.

The judge's early life was a struggle while compelled to work on the farm, he was determined to obtain an education. He attended the common school in winter until 1873, when he entered Wheaton college, being graduated in 1877. To meet his expenses there he taught school and worked as janitor at the college.

ORRIN N. CARTER.
(Chicago Judge Who Wants to Be Governor of Illinois.)

After graduating he came to Chicago and studied law under Judge Tuley and Gen. I. N. Stiles, and was admitted to the bar in 1880. He began the practice of his profession, however, at Morris, Grundy county, with R. M. Wing and S. C. Stow. For six years he was the prosecuting attorney for that county.

In 1890 Judge Carter opened an office in Chicago, and in 1892 was appointed attorney for the sanitary district, holding the office until 1894, when he was elected county judge by 52,000 plurality. It was while he was its attorney that the drainage board secured most of the canal right of way.

Judge Carter is also the real head of the election commissioners, and has charge of the election machinery of Chicago.

In 1881 Judge Carter married Miss Nettie S. Steven, daughter of Allen Steven, of La Salle county. They have two children and live at 1331 West Monroe street, Chicago.

DOGS AS POLICEMEN.

French Officer Has Just Organized an Auxiliary Force Which is Doing Good Service.

Elsewhere than in Chicago it appears that the need is felt of more police officers to properly patrol the territory which they are obliged to cover. M. Vanwesmael, the chief of police at Gand, France, has solved the problem successfully without being obliged to increase the number of men. He has organized and has had in use for a number of months a corps of dog police. Formerly it was necessary in some quarters of Gand to let the police travel in couples, as a single man was likely to be attacked and perhaps dangerously beaten. Now the night patrolmen on these dangerous beats are accompanied by a couple of well-trained and formidable dogs, which serve as a sufficient protection to the policeman and at the same time greatly assist in the capture of fleeing criminals. On the other beats the dog is trained to make the circuit of the alleys, while his human companion travels on the street in front. The dogs are trained not to attack unless ordered to do so. There is now talk of adopting the dog police in Paris.

FOUR-FOOTED POLICEMEN.
(Trained to Assist Officers in the Pursuit of Criminals.)

The Upturned Mustache.

The statement that the kaiser's mustache has been trimmed after the fashion of the mustache of Charles I., as depicted in his portraits, has been indignantly traversed by a German monthly. The "upturned mustache" was really invented, according to this authority, at the court of Philip IV. of Spain. Charles I. set the fashion in London, and it spread thence to Belgium, Germany, Sweden and France. Louis XII. was the last monarch who wore this type of mustache till its revival by William II.

German Solidified Alcohol.

The solidified alcohol which a Berlin firm has been sending out in a tin vessel intended to serve as a pocket lamp and stove, is reported to consist essentially of 62 per cent. of alcohol, 20 of soap and 18 of water. A similar product is readily made by dissolving scraped tallow soap in warm alcohol.

WAR OF EXTERMINATION.

Carried On with Unspeakable Cruelty by the Dutch Against the Achinese of Java.

White men turned head hunters—that is the story of another war in the East Indies. It is older than our war in the Philippines, for it has been going on since 1873. The scene of these atrocities is the island of Java, where the Dutch, failing to conquer the brave Achinese, are striving to exterminate them.

To what extent white men can be converted into fiends by prolonged warfare on an inferior race is shown in recent correspondence of H. Van Kel, member of the Netherland states general, who is making a tour of the Dutch East Indies. Here are passages from his letter on the war in Java:

CRUELTY IN JAVA.
(Dutch War of Extermination Against the Natives of Batavia.)

"Cut off their heads," seems to be the watchword of this eternal war. It occurs even in the dispatches of the governor-general.

"I quote his excellency's own language: 'Two Achinese, who continued fighting, though wounded to death, were deprived of their heads.'

"And again: 'Nja Makaa, the rebel chief, was found in a dying condition. Two soldiers cut his head off to make sure of his identity; the head was yesterday presented to me with due ceremonies.'—(Dispatch of September 17.)

"Heads, heads, heads! The government of Batavia is hungry for heads. It raised the premium on Achinese heads to 25 florins. Yet these colonies are administered in the name of a sweet girl.

"Head money is paid only upon the delivery of the corpus delicti, and as parts of the human body quickly decompose in the hot sun our soldiers 'smoke' the captured heads like so many hams, afterwards forcing women and children to carry the trophies in baskets to the next government post.

"Many a time have I met these sorry processions of blood and gin drunk whites urging on by whip and point of bayonet stoic, solemn, proud Achinese women, whose shoulders bled and ached under burdens that contained perhaps the head of husband, father, brother, son or lover.

"Once when 'going' the slums of Batavia, I ran across a Dutch sergeant, who boasted of having personally corralled 126 heads in a single village. I spat in the scoundrel's face."

The busy man who needs rest can find no place so pleasant to visit as the pine woods region of North Carolina. There one finds perfect rest in the newly built up town of Southern Pines, N. C., and he will find a wide-awake group of Northern people who have found the climate particularly healthy and pleasant during the winter months. The healthfulness of Southern Pines and its immediate vicinity is becoming widely known and physicians all over the land are sending their patients that way. For health, pleasure and comfort it is in every way desirable. Buy an excursion ticket to Southern Pines, but do not forget to write in advance to Piney Woods Inn for your accommodations.

Maria Mitchell, who has been called the "Mother of the Stars," when professor of astronomy and director of the observatory at Vassar, was an inspiring teacher, and, in spite of her brusque manner and severity, was adored by her pupils. Every spring, just before the commencement she gave a "dome party" to the girls. Small tables were placed around the large telescope in the observatory, and roses from Miss Mitchell's own garden brightened the atmosphere. Nonsense poems were a feature of these breakfasts, and the astronomer was proud of her skill in writing them. She was not without a keen sense of fun, and in spite of her constant and absorbing studies, as was shown by her dryly consoling observation to an awe-stricken student whom she was leaving on duty in charge of the instruments of the observatory. Looking back at the worried face of the girl, Miss Mitchell said: "And remember, if the chronometer stops and the side-real clock stops, the universe won't stop."

Every locomotive that is built in the west nowadays has the new anti-band attachment. On all the new engines of one railroad are iron pipes extending along the roof of the cab and connecting with the boiler. Through these pipes, without making a perceptible motion, either the engineer or fireman can send, under 200 pounds pressure, a jet of steam and boiling water that would effectually cook anything living that happened to be on the tender or the front end of the baggage car. The diameter of the pipe is one and a half inch, and a single second would drop any man who attempted to stand before it in action. The steam leaves the pipe at a temperature of about 750 degrees hot enough to have the toughest of outlaws cooked tender by the time the train could be brought to a standstill. It is calculated to quell the ardor of those gentlemen who make a specialty of holding up engineers from the tender. Tramps are fighting shy of this railroad.

There was a man in Kansas City the other day who told of the following new scheme he has just worked to beat a railroad. "A friend and myself wanted to come from Omaha to Kansas City. He said to me: 'You buy a ticket only to the first station and I will show you a good trick.' I bought the ticket, as requested, while my friend bought a ticket for the full distance at the regular fare. We took a seat together in the train. The conductor came around, took up the tickets and put a punched train check in my friend's hat, indicating that he was ticketed through to Kansas City. When the conductor got out of sight my friend took his knife and split the card. He put half into my hat and the other into his own. Both 'splits' looked like a regular check, and I came right on through without paying any more fare. We divided the saving, which was more than two dollars each."

"It was in the English class," notes the Louisville Courier-Journal, "and a new teacher had just been employed. She was from the north, and called all the pupils 'Miss,' at which they marveled greatly. On the first day the teacher told her class that she would not give a regular lesson, but each girl should write down all the slang she knew and bring that to the next day's recitation. That was a 'cinch.' Several girls who possessed brothers and the rest who possessed other girls' brothers set them to work. The result was marvelous. When the class was called next day there was not a girl who could not show two closely-written pages of slang expression. The teacher looked. 'Very good,' she said. 'Now translate them into readable English.' They haven't fooled with her since."

A committee of Danish farmers has sent to the princess of Wales 12,000 boxes of choice butter for the British soldiers in South Africa. She has accepted the gift in the name of the sick and wounded and has returned a complimentary message, which concludes with the phrase: "Especially as it is a present from my native country, Denmark."

A note in a Methodist contemporary relates that a deaconess was holding a revival meeting in a church and being entertained in the pastor's family. A little daughter gazed at her curiously and finally, feeling a lack somewhere, she crept to her mother's side and inquired anxiously: "Mamma, where is the brother deaconess?"

A Chicago man shot and killed himself the other day because he feared hyphobia as a result of a dog bite. So-called cases of rabies among human beings are largely the result of imagination. Tens of thousands of people are bitten by dogs every year without serious effects.

The tendency of policemen to become fat is proverbial. Put the thinnest man in a blue uniform with brass buttons and let him march to and fro on patrol duty and he will speedily develop into a ponderous person.

The husband of a woman who is lecturing in Arkansas on "How to Manage a Husband" committed suicide a few days ago. No other cause is assigned for the rash act.

The United States department of agriculture makes many strange excursions in its wide-spread pursuit of information. One of these, recently reported to the secretary of agriculture, is a dietary study of the negroes in eastern Virginia, conducted by H. B. Frissel, principal of the Hampton institute, and Isabel Bevier, professor of chemistry at Lake Erie college. They report that the negroes in that section obtain their living almost entirely from the small tracts of land rented by them, paying their rent in produce, the staple crops being sweet potatoes, cotton and peanuts. Their diet consists of side bacon, fish from the neighboring Chesapeake bay, unbolted cornmeal and milk, though some of the families eat frogs, turtles, and snakes at certain seasons of the year. Their drinking water is obtained from shallow surface wells, which are mere holes dug in the swampy land. The exasperating feature of these studies, says the Chicago Tribune, is the discovery that these negroes, who live upon wet cornmeal, fried side bacon, boiled pork shoulder and stagnant water do not seem to be aware there are such things as microbes, and are fiendishly healthy.

Every new invention excites the word-makers. A few years ago the adoption of the electric chair in place of the gallows for the killing of criminals called forth the ill-formed "electrocute" and "electrocution." After Roentgen made his discovery dozens of attempts were made to construct a word from Greek root to express the process and the result; but popular common sense discarded them all, and Roentgen's own tentative "X-rays" is all that has a vigorous survival. And now Marconi's device for telegraphing without wires is greatly exercising those who would add to an already overloaded vocabulary. "Fleography," "undigraphy," "telieradiography," and other still worse compounds are suggested. The fact is overlooked that "telegraphy" does not signify the use of wires, and is therefore applicable to the wireless system; so that the simple "wireless telegraphy" is exactly accurate. It is, moreover, no more cumbersome than most of the one-word substitutes proposed, and not as cumbersome as some of them. Why not let it stand?

When cowardice is described as a leading feminine attribute somebody makes a huge mistake, asseverates the Philadelphia Times. Women do the most daring things on record—take chances which would appall a man. They may jump at the sight or mere mention of a harmless mouse, but they court death several times a year. It is one of the traits which makes feminine nature so puzzling. I have known women who were timid to a degree, under ordinary circumstances, come forth as heroines under the pressure of occasion. A woman who shudders at the sight of a small cut from which blood oozes will often exhibit a marvelous courage in a shocking accident. It is beautiful to think that dependence can be placed upon the sex in times of need, but I wish that a curb could also be placed upon that species of recklessness which leads us into unnecessary trouble.

An exchange has discovered a new anti-fat remedy. It says: "If you are too fat you can reduce your weight by worrying about that unpaid subscription you owe us."

News comes that W. S. Moore, formerly of Ludlowville now of Candor, has secured a position in the Assembly chamber at Albany for 180 days at $10 a day.

Brigham H. Roberts, the disqualified congressman from Utah, paused in Chicago long enough, on his way home, to declare that "the constitution of the United States has been injured more seriously than I have been." That thought appears to be a favorite consolation to all individuals who have been worsted in a contest with the government. The anti-expansionists are constantly deploring about the violation of the constitution. Probably, when, some day, Aguinaldo is dragged by the scurf of the neck out of his hiding place he will cry out exultingly: "Now, see what you have done to your constitution."

THE EARL OF DERBY.
Recently Appointed Government Censor of British News from the South African Campaign.

Lord Stanley, of Preston, the earl of Derby, the newly appointed censor of British news of the Transvaal war, is the sixteenth of his family to bear the title. The family is descended from the Stanley who figures rather prominently in "Richard III.," and whose defection from the crookback practically decided the battle of Bosworth in favor of Henry of Richmond. The present earl was born on January 15, 1841, in London, was educated at Eton college, and at the age of 17 entered the Grenadier guards. He represented Lancashire constituencies continuously from July, 1865, to his elevation to the peerage in 1886. Under various titles he was lord of the admiralty, financial secretary of war and financial secretary of the treasury. In 1880 he went out of office with his party. In 1886 he was raised to the peerage under the title of Lord Stanley, and in 1888 was appointed governor general of Canada. He was succeeded in 1893 by Lord Elgin. On the death of his brother in 1893 he succeeded to the title and to estates amounting to 69,000 acres, principally in Lancashire. When the Paris embassy fell vacant in 1896 it was offered to Lord Derby, but he declined it. The countess, his wife, is the oldest daughter of the fourth earl of Clarendon. The Stanleys were important officeholders during the reigns of the Plantagenets. The present earl has been made a knight of the garter. His father was thrice prime minister of England. On account of the peculiarly telling nature of his oratory he was styled the Rupert of Debate.

THE VILLAGE NOTES

NEWS PICKED UP BY THE TRIBUNE REPORTERS.

What Has Happened in Genoa During the Past Seven Days—An Interesting Page.

—Talmadge sermon this week.
—J. H. Smith was in Auburn on business Monday.
—Amos Main was a recent visitor at the county capital.
—A. D. Mead visited friends in Locke during the week.
—Supervisor F. A. Dudley was in town on business Tuesday.
—L. W. Atwater and A. E. Holly were in Auburn Wednesday.
—Mrs. Will Smith visited friends in Auburn during the week.
—A social party at Murdock's hall, Venice Center, this evening.
—Henry Murray of King Ferry was in town on business Saturday.
—C. Branch of the Sellen House had business in Auburn Wednesday.
—M. W. Johnson of Farmer, a special Baines law inspector, was in town on business Tuesday.
—Landlord C. E. Bacon and wife of King Ferry were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Hunt Sunday.
—Mrs. Wm. Oliver has been the guest of relatives at Moravia and Auburn the past few days.
—Note the change in C. R. Egbert's ad. this week. Their patronage from this section is steadily increasing.
—Union Springs churches enliven the Sunday evening services with music by an orchestra. Why isn't that a good plan.
—The sugar season is now at hand. "New" maple sugar is already mentioned as having appeared on the market in some places.
—Married, by Rev. H. L. Rixon, at the Methodist parsonage, Moravia, January 21, 1900, Pearl Pendell of Moravia and Edna Booth of Venice.
—Sixty-four tickets were sold at the Alliance valentine party at East Venice Wednesday evening, which number, in view of the rough roads, was a large attendance.
—Cards announce a social party to be given at the Kendall House, King Ferry, Wednesday evening, Feb. 21. Music by Jacobs' popular orchestra. A good time is assured all who attend.
—Our aged and highly respected townsman, A. Coburn, was so unfortunate as to fall down the cellar stairs and bruise his ankle and leg, Friday.—Union Springs Advertiser. Mr. Coburn is improving slowly.
—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Weeks and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Eason and daughter, also Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sisson recently attended a dinner party at W. L. Coggsall's, West Groton.
—E. R. Sherman of Poplar Ridge, who recently purchased the meat market at that place, is erecting a new building upon his lot and will soon have it ready for occupancy. The building will be ceiled with matched pine and is very conveniently arranged. Mr. Sherman will place a cart on the road and give the people of that vicinity a first-class meat market in every respect.
—The concert Friday evening, the third of the lecture course, was largely attended. The company missed the train at Syracuse, which with the other delays and the terrible condition of the roads, made their arrival here (9 p. m.) rather late. They were naturally fatigued and nervous, which condition detracted from the program. The fourth entertainment will be given on Monday evening, March 5—a lecture by Hawks.

—N. G. Arnold of Venice was in Genoa on business Monday.

—James Turney and family have moved back to their farm in Little Hollow.

—John Driscoll will move to Auburn about March 1st, where he has employment.

—Miss Marian Potter left for Glens Falls Monday for an extended visit with relatives.

—Miss Bessie Denson has been very ill for several days past, but at present is much better.

—Mrs. E. M. White of Syracuse has been spending the week at the home of her parents.

—Earl Moe and Miss Louise Shaw of Groton were the guests of Miss Blanch Parker recently.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Welty of Venice Center have been visiting Genoa relatives during the week.

—John Huson continues very low. His recovery is considered doubtful, owing to his extreme age.

—Mr. and Mrs. Will Warren of Hedden's are moving upon the Davis place on South street in this village.

—Mrs. Will Wilkins went to Groton Friday to help care for her little grandchildren, who are seriously ill.

—Miss Florence Wilbur of Ledyard who is attending school at Moravia stopped over Saturday at J. H. Smith's.

—A. Ray Hunt of Auburn was home over Sunday, accompanied by Mr. Simpson, a fellow employee in D. M. Osborne's office.

—Ralph H. Ames has finished his work in THE TRIBUNE office and returned home to DeRuyter, taking in the concert by Sousa's band at Cortland en route.

—W. J. Gorman of Locke will sell his entire livery, stock of farm implements, etc., at public auction on Wednesday, March 7. Over $2,000 worth of property will be sold.

—THE TRIBUNE acknowledges the receipt of an invitation to attend the third annual banquet of the Business Men's association of Ithaca at the New Ithaca hotel Monday evening.

—Cards are out announcing a grand Masonic reception and ball at Snyder's hall, Scipio, Thursday evening, Feb. 22. Music by Jacobs' orchestra and piano. All should attend this party.

—A large company of friends made a surprise visit at the home of Mr. Byron Hunt in this village Saturday evening last, the occasion being in honor of Mr. Hunt's 52nd birthday. Progressive euchre was played, and the time passed pleasantly for all.

—It is estimated that the Moravia athletic association cleared about $1,000 from their fair and entertainments. If the Genoa ball team could have held a similar entertainment and cleared even $100 it would have been a great help. But it couldn't.

—Notice the change of ad. from G. E. McCarthy, the popular Auburn shoe dealer, on another page. Mr. McCarthy has secured the services of Mr. E. H. Moss, formerly with E. C. Lathrop, who is well known to residents of Southern Cayuga. He will be pleased to welcome his friends at his new place of employment.

Society Notes.

Mr. Bentaro Kamiyama, a Japanese student of Syracuse University, will speak at the East Genoa M. E. church next Sabbath afternoon at 2:30, on Japan, its manners and customs, and its religion. A collection will be taken for his benefit. Don't miss this rare treat.

The Baptist and Presbyterian Churches entertained the Sabbath School Convention at the Baptist church Tuesday afternoon and evening. The afternoon session was somewhat abbreviated, owing to the storm, but the able addresses at the evening session more than repaid those who faced the storm. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Pres., Rev. W. A. Pugsley; vice-pres., Mrs. Eliza Beardsley; secretary, Miss Ella Purinton; treasurer, Mrs. Geo. Ferris. The next convention will meet at Five Corners the second Tuesday in June.

Special sermon at the Baptist church Sunday morning. Subject, "Why Attend Church?" Evening topic, "A Wash Basin." Bible study Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Jessie Mastin. Lesson Luke iv: 16-30. All are invited. Cottage prayer-meeting Thursday evening at home of Mrs. Whitney.

GUERRILLA WARFARE.

To Be Carried On Under Command of Gen. Carrington.

British Officer Hired by Cecil Rhodes to Conduct an Irregular Campaign Along the Borders of Bechuanaland.

Sir Frederick Carrington, major general of the English army, has been released from his Belfast command and is going to South Africa. More or less reliable information states that he will there command a company of "irregulars" to be placed in the field by Cecil Rhodes and the British Chartered South African company. An "irregular" was known during the American civil war as a guerilla, carrying the black flag and showing no mercy. In South Africa he may be a Kaffir, an outlander, a disaffected Boer or any other human material that is willing to fight for pay—a nineteenth century Hessian. If the imperial government has consented to the organization of such a command the kind of warfare that South Africa is to witness in the future may appall the civilized world for its savagery. Carrington is familiar with South African conditions, and ruthless as a soldier.

What the strength of the force of the Chartered company will be no one knows. Cecil Rhodes is bottled up in Kimberley, and what his intentions are is not easy to learn, but he has the wealth with which to pay for the organization of a band of mercenaries, and the English war office has loaned Gen. Carrington to the millionaire to command the force. There are few military men better known from the Cape to the Matabele border than Gen. Carrington, the organizer of "Carrington's horse" and of the now disbanded Bechuanaland border police. His burly form has been seen at the head of his mounted infantry in nearly every town and settlement in the Transkei territories, the Transvaal, Basutoland and Bechuanaland. In appearance he is a splendid figure of a man—built on a large scale, with strong, bold and well-chiseled features, and a mustache whose fullness and length give him an easily recognizable distinction among a group of officers. He is not supposed to be vain, but he is proud of his mustache. It is unique. There is not another like it in the English army, or, indeed, out of Italy. It is the fruit of years of unscissored growth and affectionate care, and it has caused him much envy among English cavaliers as terror to the hairless Kaffir.

SIR FREDERICK CARRINGTON.
(British General Who is to Command a Band of Irregulars.)

He is the son of a country gentleman in Gloucestershire, who sent him to Heltenham college, which he passed through creditably. His first service in the army was as an ensign of the Twenty-fourth foot, now the South Wales borderers. For several years he was instructor of musketry to his regiment, and probably little would have been heard of him but for the rise and fall of the diamond fields in South Africa. This was in 1875. His regiment was then in South Africa and was called out to suppress the rising of the natives at Kimberley. The Twenty-fourth marched from Cape Town to the diamond fields, fighting most of the way and not having an easy time of it. While the infantry had this work it was apparent that cavalry would be more serviceable, and young Carrington was chosen to organize an "irregular" mounted force. He chose his raw material in Kimberley, and when it was ready to act made sharp and bloody end of the rebellious blacks. Cape Colony authorities liked his ways and marked him for greater work in suppressing the native uprising then at hand. Kaffraria was uneasy and the Zulus on the warpath. The Galekas and Fingoes were fighting, and the Galekas eager for a fray. Upon this black mass Carrington, now risen in rank, was hurled, and by 1877 he not only had whipped it into subjection, but entered the Transvaal and assisted the Boers in preserving the integrity of their republic against the natives. Now that he is to go into the field again, it is thought Gen. Carrington will select Bulawayo, as his base and move in, either by the line of the Orange river or by that of the Zambesi.

THE FALSE GUIDE.

Gen. Gatacre Shot Him Through the Body Before He Could Escape.

A letter from a corporal in the Second Northumberland fusiliers gives some graphic details in regard to the disaster at Stormberg, says the New York Post. He says:

"On the night of the 9th our regiment, the royal Irish rifles, two batteries of artillery and the mounted infantry proceeded from Pieters kraal to Moltene, a distance of ten miles. When we arrived it was about nine o'clock, and then we all formed up and Gen. Gatacre informed us that he was going to do a night attack on the Boers' position at Stormberg, and that there was to be no firing and no shouting, and to use the bayonet only. We started off at ten o'clock to march 13 miles to Stormberg, where we hoped to arrive about two o'clock in the morning. We kept marching all night, but never got there. It was broad daylight when we were at the foot of some high, inaccessible rocks, when the guide we had turned to the general and, pointing to the top of the rocks, said: 'There is your position and there is your enemy,' and immediately started to gallop off. But before he had gone two yards Gen. Gatacre shot him twice through the body, saying: 'Man, you have done me, but you are the first to go.' Those are the exact words that were said, because we were told by the general's orderly.

"When the general saw how we were trapped he cried like a child, and said: 'Oh, my poor boys, what have I done?'—so the general's aid-de-camp told an officer."

A DUTCH LIE LETTER.

Novel Means of Avoiding Consequences of Circulating Slandereous Statements.

There was a return to an ancient Dutch custom in the common pleas court at Lancaster, Pa., the other day, when the suit of Abraham A. De Haven against Moses Weller, to recover damages for slander, was called for trial. Weller, says the Philadelphia North American, cut short further proceedings in court and possibly saved himself the payment of heavy damages by agreeing to publish a "lie letter," in which he retracts all of his statements derogatory to the character of De Haven; and such potency has the "lie letter" that, barring certain ceremonial which have got to be gone through with in connection with this peculiar settlement out of court, the public will hear no more of the case. These ceremonies consist of the circulation of the "lie letter" among De Haven's friends, the posting of it on dead walls in those localities where the friends of both men gather most and the reading aloud of the letter by Weller at the next public gathering in the neighborhood.

These "lie letters" were formerly much more resorted to for the settlement of lawsuits in this section of the state than now. They are still in high favor in South Africa, the newspapers of the Transvaal frequently containing these quaintly worded apologies of the burghers for wrongs by word of mouth which they have done their fellow countrymen.

THEY ALL PLAY THE GUITAR.

The Portuguese Are Always Accomplished Manipulators of the Strings.

In Portugal men play upon the guitar as naturally as Yankees whistle. The peasants are universally given to the instrument, chiefly as an accompaniment to the voice. In towns and villages the artisans are often expert guitar players and walk in groups to and from their work, enlivening the journey with music and song. The carpenter who comes to your house to execute a small job brings his guitar with his tools and the blacksmith is a far better performer on the guitar than the anvil.

When Portuguese day laborer or workmen has finished his long day's toil he does not tie him to a wine shop to squander the few cents he has earned; he does not even lean against a post and smoke, nor whistle a stick while swapping yarns with his fellows. If he did not bring his guitar with him he goes straight home and gets it, rests and comforts himself with the music while supper is being prepared. Afterward he spends the evening singing doggerel songs to a strumming accompaniment, tilted back in a chair against his own house wall or on the doorstep of a neighbor.

MORGAN AND JOHNSTON.

Senior Senator from Alabama to Be Opposed by the Governor of His Own State.

the contest for the nomination, says Leslie's Weekly, has already been under way for nearly half a year, and is being waged with a bitterness which has attracted national attention. During the fall of 1899 the two gentlemen traveled over the state of Alabama engaging in joint debates, which thousands of persons flocked to hear. Since then the senator has made some statements to which the governor takes exception and the latter has recently issued a public letter in which he says, referring to these statements: "I regret that you did not make this charge on the stump in Alabama, where I would have had a chance to reply, but waited until you had the shelter of the senate. The charge is not true, and I respectfully demand that you shall retract the same or find one reputable witness to sustain it." Senator Morgan has served several terms in the United States senate. This is Gov. Johnston's second two-years term of office as chief executive. The governor lives in Birmingham, the great coal, iron and steel city of central Alabama.

The Seri Indians and Their Pacific Island Home.

Physically They Are the Superiors of All Other American Aborigines—Unequaled as Hunters and Runners.

[Special Los Angeles (Cal.) Letter.]

UNDOUBTEDLY the least known and the most bloodthirsty and treacherous Indians of North America to-day are the Seris, who live on Tiburon island, in the Gulf of California, and also regard themselves as proprietors of a considerable strip of land south of Papagueria (the home of the Papagoes, in southern Arizona and Sonora) and close to the region of the Yakis, now at war with Mexico. For over 350 years the Seris have been the terror of all white explorers, as for many centuries more they have been the hated foes of all contiguous Indian tribes. By their enemies they are openly charged with being cannibals, but they emphatically deny that they ever ate a human being. Up to the end of the year 1895 they were practically as unknown as they were to Coronado, 350 years ago, but at this later date a scientific expedition under the control of Prof. W. J. McGee, of the bureau of ethnology, visited this dangerous and warlike people and gained considerable information in regard to them. Now and again one may meet with a Seri away from his island home, and this I have done on two separate occasions, and from them gained my first interest in this strange and isolated people. There are many isolated people on the North American continent, as for instance the Havasupais of Havasu canyon, but this is only a comparative isolation. With the Seris, however, isolation is complete. They permit no stranger upon their territory, unless, of course, deterred from ejecting him through fear, and prevented by too great watch-the Indians to guide them, soon placed themselves entirely at their mercy.

Just as the party of Indians and three of the white men started to go to a spot where the Seris professed there was an abundance of game, one of their number came up with a story as simple as it was cunning, that a great turtle was on the shore just around the bend, and that if one of the newspaper men would lend him his gun he would shoot it and rejoin the party in a few minutes. With a faith that proved itself to be his death warrant, one of the writers gave up his gun. This scared the cook and he said he would stay on the lee shore until the party returned. No sooner did he arrive at this determination than one of the Indians made a request for the boat. But the cook's fears led him to insist that before the boat was taken away he be put on board the sloop, and, though evidently against the will of the Indian, this was done.

In the meantime the other poor fellows were unconsciously walking to their fate. The Indian who had the gun made a detour, secreted himself in the bushes, and as the hunting party came by, shot the man who had lent it, killing him instantly. The other man was shot at, but he escaped for awhile, only to be beaten to death with clubs and stones. Now the Indians, possessing both guns and boat, felt there would be no difficulty in seizing the sloop, and, hastily tumbling into the boat, began to row for the vessel. But the cook was on the lookout, and, though he had no gun, picked up a broom-handle and pointed it as if it were a weapon and thus scared off the foes. In the meantime the captain of the boat had weighed anchor and soon the ship was out of reach.

This story I tell exactly as the Seris relate it, for they bragged of their craft and cunning in getting the better of a smart white man who had come to penetrate into the secrets of their homes and life.

Their homes are similar to those of the Yakis and other Indian tribes. They live in clusters—a kind of village or tribal life, in huts or wickiups, built of brush, turtle shells and earth. They Remarkable Hindoo Clock.

The most remarkable clock in the world is owned by a Hindoo prince. In the place of an ordinary dial is a gong, and beneath it, on a metal plate, lie artificial human bones and skulls in a heap, there being a sufficient number to form 12 perfect skeletons. At one o'clock the number of bones forming a single skeleton come together with a snap, the skeleton, by invisible mechanism, springs to its feet, seizes a mallet and strikes the gong once, and returning to the heap falls to pieces again. According to the hour the number of skeletons which rise from the heap varies, and when the whole 12 rise together at noon and midnight the spectacle is said to be most gruesome.

A Convincing Answer.

"I hobbled to Mr. Blackman's drug store one evening," says Wesley Nelson, of Hamilton, Ga., "and he asked me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism with which I had suffered for a long time. I told him I had no faith in any medicine as they all failed. He said: 'Well, if Chamberlain's Pain Balm does not help you, you need not pay for it.' I took a bottle of it home and used it according to the directions and in one week I was cured, and have not since been troubled with rheumatism." Sold by J. S. Banker.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

WHEREAS: Default has been made in the payment of the money secured by a certain mortgage dated the 1st day of April, 1899, and executed by Bernet Riley of the town of Genoa, County of Cayuga, and State of New York, and Maggie, his wife, mortgagors, to Emma S. Whitten of the same town and county, mortgagee, and which mortgage was duly recorded in the Clerk's office of Cayuga County, N. Y., in Liber 119 of mortgages at page 471 on the 2nd day of April, 1899, at 10 o'clock p. m., and whereas, the amount claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice is the sum of $571.45, to wit, the sum of $500 of principal and $71.45 of interest which in the above mortgage is to be unpaid upon said mortgage, and whereas no suit or proceeding at law or in equity having been had for the recovery of said sum of money or any part thereof, Notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and by virtue of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises herein described at public auction at the front steps of the Genoa postoffice in the said town of Genoa, N. Y., on the 8th day of December, 1899, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day. The said premises are described in said mortgage as follows: All that tract or parcel of land situate in the Town of Genoa, County of Cayuga, and State of New York, being part of Lot 5 in said town and bounded on the north by lands formerly owned by Isaac Smith, on the east by east line of Lot 5, on the south by lands formerly owned by Daniel Whitman and on the west by the center of the highway known as North Fairview street, containing two acres and fifty six square rods of land more or less. This being the same premises conveyed to the said Bernet Riley by David D. Putnam and Ter sa M. his wife, and to said Putnam by Simon Parks and Fannie F. his wife, and to said Parks by Charles Davis and Hannah his wife, hereby reserving from the operation of this indenture a strip of land about four rods in width heretofore conveyed to the Railroad Co., and now occupied by them.
Dated Genoa, N. Y., the 24th day of November, 1899.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

WHEREAS: Default has been made in the payment of the money secured by a certain mortgage dated the 2nd day of December, 1875, and made and executed by John Kinney and Ellen, his wife, of the Town of Genoa, County of Cayuga, and State of New York, mortgagors, to Amos Harburt, mortgagee, and which mortgage was duly recorded in the Clerk's office of Cayuga County, N. Y., in Liber 92 of Mortgages at page 74 on the 6th day of December, 1875, at 9 1/2 o'clock a. m., and whereas, said mortgage was on the 8th day of November, 1878, at 11 o'clock a. m., assigned by the said Harburt to Mary Ann Kinney of the said town of Genoa, N. Y., and which assignment was duly recorded in said Clerk's office of Cayuga County, N. Y., in Liber 3 of Assignments of Mortgages at page 526 on the 18th day of November, 1885, at 11 o'clock a. m., and whereas, said mortgage was on the 5th day of April, 1887, sold and duly assigned by the said Mary Ann Kinney (then Co-les) to Amos Main and which assignment was duly recorded in said Clerk's office of Cayuga County, N. Y., in Liber 9 of Assignments of Mortgages at page 390 on the 14th day of April, 1887, at 12 o'clock m., and whereas, said mortgage was on the 17th day of February, 1896, sold and duly assigned by the said Main to J. W. Skinner of the town of Genoa, N. Y., to J. W. Skinner of the same place who is now the holder and owner thereof, and which last assignment was duly recorded in said Clerk's office of Cayuga County, N. Y., in Liber 9 of Assignments of Mortgages at page 365 on the 8th day of December, 1890, at 11 o'clock a. m., and whereas, the amount claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice is the sum of One Hundred Forty-two dollars and sixty cents ($142.60) to wit, $117.74 of principal and $24.82 of interest and which is the total amount claimed to be unpaid upon said mortgage. The whole sum thereby secured and unpaid being due by the terms thereof, and whereas, no suit or proceeding at law or in equity has been brought or other proceedings had for the recovery of said sum of money or any part thereof. Now therefore, notice is hereby given by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and duly recorded therewith as aforesaid and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein and below described at public auction at the time of the Genoa postoffice in the town of Genoa, N. Y., on the 28th day of March, 1900, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day. The said premises are described in said mortgage as follows: All that tract or parcel of land situate in the Town of Genoa aforesaid being part of Lot 15 in said town and bounded as follows, viz: Beginning at the southwest corner of said lot, running thence north on the west line thereof twenty-six (26) chains and ninety (90) links to lands formerly belonging to John King, deceased. Thence east fourteen (14) chains and forty-three (43) links to the center of the old bed of Salmon Creek at a stake six links southwest from an elm tree. Thence southwesterly in the center of the old bed of said Salmon Creek to the place of beginning containing twenty-two acres of land by the same more or less.

A TYPICAL SERI INDIAN HOME.

fulness from murdering him, and intermarriage with a member of any outside tribe is immediately punished by a cruel and bloody death. Indeed, they slay members of their own tribe with as eager an avidity as the ordinary hunter slays his prey, when any of the rigid and unalterable tribal laws are defied or broken.

And in physique there is no people on the American continent who is their equal. Tall of stature, gifted with phenomenal strength and capable of marvelous endurance, they are singularly attractive to those who appreciate and envy physical prowess. Their women are almost equally strong as the men, and both sexes are runners of extraordinary speed and staying quality. In this regard they are rivaled only by the desert Yuma Apaches and the centuries-trained Hopituh or Moki. In appearance they are, as I have said, tall, with full chests and loins, and, while feet and hands are very large, their arms and legs are long know nothing whatever of agriculture, and, strange to say, seldom eat anything but raw meat, fish, crabs, oysters and clams. In the summer, however, they will eat the ripe berries, mesquite beans, prickly pear and other desert fruits.

When a girl reaches the marriageable age a great feast is held. The maiden is decked in whatever their crude fancy dictates as ornament, her face is painted in several colors, in stripes and dots, and feathers are tied in her hair. Then a great dance and general carnival is held, in which every man present is expected publicly to express his hopes and wishes that the heroine of the feast may grow up in perfect health, soon find a suitable husband and become the mother of a large family of vigorous and healthy offspring.

And yet the women cannot all marry unless polygamy is practiced, for there are more women than men. My informant assured me that polygamy was only practiced by his people because of the superabundance of the female sex, and as soon as the balance of sex was found no man would be allowed to have more than one wife.

Their dress is exceedingly simple, but picturesque. In warm weather it consists of a short skirt made of pelican skin, on which the feathers still remain. When additional clothing is required they use more pelican skins, sewed together with sinew, as many as eight skins sometimes constituting a single robe. These robes are also used to sleep upon and as covering.

In their reed canoes they gracefully skim over the waters of the Gulf of California, and they are very skillful fishermen and hunters. With bows and arrows only as weapons, they succeed in bringing down plenty of game, and turkeys and other wild birds are no strange articles in their larder.

On the island of Tassane, which is not far from the Mexican mainland, although dominated by the Seris, the gray pelican is found in large numbers. The pelican is a sacred bird to the Indians, for he it is who made the first earth, and that, strange to say, is the very island of Tassane. But though the pelican is sacred, the Seri feels there is no violation of the sanctities in killing and eating the object of his worship, and dressing in his well-feathered skin.

With the complete domination of the Yakis by the Mexicans, it is easily supposable that ere long the conflict will be transferred to the Seris, and that they will soon be civilized from off the face of the earth.

AN OLD SERI BRAVE.

and slender. Their skin is black to a marked degree; more so than any other known tribe, and their hair, always worn down over the shoulders, is black and luxuriant.

They are cruel, crafty and treacherous to a degree, as their own relation of the way they tricked and slew two members of a party who visited them clearly proves. There were two newspaper men, a cook and captain of the small vessel in which they sailed from San Francisco to Seriland. Though they were warned of the cunning, treachery and ferocity of the Seris, the San Francisco newspaper men, when they landed on the island for the first

Are They Mormons?

A new church society has been formed in East Pharsalia known as the "Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints." A building has been erected and dedicated, the services having been conducted by Elder R. Elzenhauser of Independence, Wis. It is claimed that the sect was founded at Beloit, Wis., in 1852. Headquarters were established at Plano, Ill., in 1860 and in 1881 they were removed to a town in Iowa. The members of this church claim that they are not in any way allied with the Mormons, but that they are the uncompromising foes of the disciples of Joseph Smith and Brigham Young.

They claim that their church was active in the efforts which culminated in the rejection of Brigham H. Roberts from Congress.

The church building at East Pharsalia cost about $400, and while not a large edifice, is neat in appearance.

The opponents of the church declare that the new society is practically the same as Mormonism and that the members of the organization are mostly people who have never been known to attend any meetings except town meetings once a year. Rev. C. W. Lane, pastor of the Congregational church at East Pharsalia, said in his sermon last Sunday morning: "I believe it the most damnable institution that ever existed in the United States." There is a feeling among the opponents of the society that it should be crushed at the earliest possible time, and by means of the ballot if necessary.

Should the Boers dam the river running through Ladysmith in order to drown out the town the garrison may go to work and build a navy, which is Mr. Bull's strong point.

Farmers, store your butter and eggs with the Locke Cold Storage Company. Hold your products until fall and save the dealers' profits. Write the Company for terms.

TWO BICYCLE MARVELS.

One Weighs 541 Pounds, the Other is a Lad of Seven, and Both Have Good Records.

Joe Grimes, 541 pounds, and Walter McGrath, 41 pounds, have been caught together by the photographer of Leslie's Weekly, who gained a unique and interesting snap-shot. Both Grimes and McGrath are well known to fame. The former, although so heavy, is a traveling salesman. He was once a circus freak, and while with Barnum was called upon to run the engine of one of the special trains. His business is that of an engineer. In his present business capacity he travels the world over, and in a few short years has been around the world twice. His experiences would fill a book, for he does not find traveling comfortable work. Grimes is an active wheelman and says he likes the sport, as it aids him to put on flesh. He is anxious to reach the 600-pound mark, and has been very close to that figure on several occasions. He will add ten pounds' weight in a day, and has been known to lose 20 in the same time. Little Walter McGrath is a son of Capt. McGrath, of the Century Wheelmen of Philadelphia. He is a lad of seven, with the strength of a man, for he has ridden no less than 25 centuries in the company of his father; and two years ago, when but five years of age, he rode from Philadelphia to Indianapolis on his wheel. The same summer he toured New York, rode a century on Sunday and rode back the next day. Last summer he rode to New York, then to Poughkeepsie, and thence across New England to Boston, returning after the national meet a wheel. He has been frequently examined by physicians, who pronounce him a marvel of strength, and not at all injured by his hard work.

A Bad Year for Horses.

Horses are suffering everywhere this year. Pink eye is prevalent in Ireland horse-sickness in South Africa and in America. Some disease is killing off horses in the northwest at an alarming rate. A veterinary surgeon says, the disease is rare, and is caused by eating oats which have been damaged by rust.

Varying Effects of Frost.

Frost has a variety of effects upon different products. Under the same influence eggs will burst, apples contract and potatoes turn black.

Excursion.

PROMINENT LADY PHYSICIAN GOING SOUTH WITH A SPECIALLY CONDUCTED EXCURSION.

Dr. Laura V. Gustin-Mackie of Attleboro, Mass., will within a week or ten days leave New York by special train, with a party of Northern and New England people who are going to Southern Pines, N. C., the famous winter health resort amid the pines, for the purpose of recruiting their health. Dr. Mackie is a specialist in nervous and chronic troubles, and persons who desire to go South this winter to regain health, would do well to correspond with Dr. Mackie, and go South with her party. Trained nurses and competent physicians will be in charge, and it is an excellent opportunity for persons who desire to have special care and the best of accommodation at most reasonable rates as to transportation on their trip and during their stay South.
