NEWS ABOUT THE STATE

Paragraphs of the Week's Happenings
Clipped from the Tribune's Exchanges.

Elmer Sears lost a hand on a buzz saw in the Osborne shops at Auburn, Friday.

Charles Moore of Sherburne has received an increase of pension, from $6 to $12 a month.

The Oneida Poultry and Pet Stock association will hold its annual exhibition Feb. 14-17.

Governor Roosevelt will speak at the Chenango county fair to be held at Norwich the first week in September.

Three widows of Moravia have recently died, each leaving a legacy to the Baptist church, which makes it the wealthiest church in town.

Editor Nash of the Weedsport Sentinel, received 17 calls in one day while convalescing from the grip. He fails to state whether his callers were friends or bill collectors.

The judgment of $500 in favor of Dr. E. M. Santee of Cortland against the Syracuse Standard, for slander, has been set aside by the higher court and a new trial ordered, costs to abide the result.

Mrs. Polly Vincent who died at Rome Friday in her 99th year, was a literal "Daughter of the Revolution," her father, Thomas Hubart, having enlisted in the Continental army at the age of 16 and served seven years.

B. T. Miner, a Georgetown fur dealer, lately made an extensive purchase at Gilbertsville, which included 1,600 skunks, 1,500 rats, 240 coons, 50 minks, 80 foxes and a miscellaneous lot. The purchase figured $1-13.44.

There was to have been a law suit yesterday before Justice A. W. Brooks between A. D. Snover of this place and John R. and Francis Myers of Genoa, but on account of non-appearance of the defendants, a judgment was granted for the amount claimed.

—Locke Times.

After a long delay of nearly a year, several vacancies among the higher salaried officials of Auburn prison have been filled. Allen Tupper, formerly kitchen keeper, but who has been acting principal keeper since the death of James Shaw, has been appointed permanently to the position. The birth carries with it a salary of $2,000 a year, which is an increase of $800 for Mr. Tupper.

At the recent meeting of the Madison County Newspaper Association at Earlville Luke McHenry of the Chittenango Times was elected president, W. W. Ames of the DeBuyer Gleaner vice president and J. H. Broad of the Morrisville Leader secretary and treasurer. An interesting paper was read by J. A. Loyster of the Cazenovia Republican on "The Mission of the Country Newspaper and the Outlook for its Future." All of the eleven newspapers of the county are members of the association.

When the Lehigh flyer was passing through Spencer last Thursday night the mail catcher instead of hauling the pouch into the car as it usually does, cut it in two and scattered its contents broadcast. About 1,000 addressed postal cards sent out by S. Alfred Seeley were dropped into a creek near by and other mail was strewn along the track. A valuable letter which Mr. Seeley was anxious to recover and for which careful search was made, was found on Sunday at North Spencer.

The banks have received a few of the new one dollar bills now being issued. It is not speaking extravagantly, to say that it is "easily the handsomest bill the government ever put out. The engraving is clear and distinct, the denomination of the bill is so plainly expressed that it takes but a glance to show what it is, and when the open spaces are so large as to bring out the figures and lettering very prominently. It is a silver certificate, and the treasury seal is in blue ink instead of the proverbial red, which has appeared since bills were made.

Geo. A. Crossman, a well known Cortland man, died from apoplexy on Tuesday morning.

Reuben Rounds, father of John Rounds died Friday at his home south of Moravia. He was more than 80 years old.

C. Stanly Hurlbut, well known in Auburn where he formerly resided, died at his home in Philadelphia on Thursday morning. He was born in Montezuma 39 years ago.

Herbert G. Hudson, auctioneer of Auburn, has sold to Chas. H. Conklin of Fleming, a choice milk farm of 60 acres, located at Port Byron, including 19 dairy cows, good will of business, etc. Price $5000.

A judgment has been filed in the county clerk's office of Swift & Swift vs. Bert Tate for $94.64; defendant liable to a body execution. Also Theodore Hillard vs. Clinton Robinson $47.30, granted by Justice Brooks of Locke.

Albert L. Van Marter, 56 years old died at Moravia Saturday. He moved to Moravia from Aurora 25 years ago. He is survived by a widow and a sister, Mrs. Frank Evans of Groton. The funeral was held on Tuesday with burial at Aurora.

Irving Sherman, who last fall was arrested for "abducting" one of the Bushnell girls, is again in jail charged with disturbing the peace and threatening lives and property. If Sherman would abduct the aforesaid female, he should be delivered from jail and awarded a medal.

Whipple's Rotary Engine.

William N. Whipple, the rotary engine inventor, descriptions of whose engines have been given from time to time in THE TRIBUNE has begun the manufacture of his new pulley engine which he is endeavoring to place on the market.

Mr. Whipple's shops are in Union Springs. He is backed by ample capital, he informed a reporter recently, and a large number of the curious motors are now under construction several of which have been ordered by parties who have witnessed the workings of the machine.

Inventor Whipple has been working on the rotary engine problem for more than twenty years. During that time he has built hundreds of models, most of which have failed to come up to the expectations of the builder.

Experts differ as to the merits of the latest Whipple engine. Some claim that it is a success and solves the mystery of rotary engine construction. Others claim that it is not a practical machine and that it will not develop sufficient power to be of value. People who are not experts and who have seen the engines work believe that they are all right and it is for these people that Whipple is now manufacturing his engines.

Something for Nothing.

We have heard of the boy who wanted to eat his cake and keep it too, but never before of a business man who sold his goods and then gave the purchaser credit for the amount paid. To learn about this send to James Vicks Sons, of Rochester, N. Y., who agree to do this in their Guide. The Golden Wedding edition of Vick's Garden and Floral Guide is certainly an artistic work with its twenty-four pages of lithographed in colors, and nearly one hundred more pages filled with handsome half-tone illustrations, photographed from flowers, fruits, vegetables and homes. While this Guide is really too expensive to give away, they give it with a due bill for 25c. worth of seeds for only 15 cents. Another new feature is the doing away with the old packet of Vegetable Seeds and stating the quantity in each case, the buyer getting more for his money.

Rev. Mr. Carpenter of Aurora occupied the pulpit of our church last Sunday.

The dime social at Richard Clark's last Wednesday evening was well attended. The next one will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fox next week Wednesday evening.

Yes, Genoa needs a railroad and so does Venice Center and it is a shame we cannot have one.

The prospect is that there will be quite a number of changes of residents in this vicinity this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Hudson of Locke were calling on friends in town Sunday.

Mabel and George Beebe who are attending school at Union Springs, were home a few days last week.

Poplar Ridge.

JAN. 31—The directors and patrons of the Poplar Ridge creamery held a meeting last Saturday and will hold another in four weeks. It is quite evident that there will have to be some other arrangements made as there is considerable dissatisfaction.

Allen Landon is spending a few weeks with relatives in Iowa and Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. George Husted were in Auburn Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell entertained a company of relatives the 24 to dinner, it being 58 years from that day since her mother was married.

George O'Connell will occupy Mr. Husted's house and Wm. Mosher will move into his own house.

Dr. Bogardus has purchased the late Anson Culver place where he now resides.

About twenty-five of the young friends of Arthur and Mamie Peckham gave them a pleasant surprise last Thursday evening.

THE PENNY MAGAZINE, New York, which is the lowest-priced magazine in America (20 cents a year) and which is owned by Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, the eminent American orator, wants a representative in this vicinity. It is a good opportunity for one of our ambitious young men or young women. Applications should be addressed to the Subscription Department, THE PENNY MAGAZINE, Temple Court, New York City.

North Lansing.
JAN. 30—Charles Wilcox is convalescing from a serious attack of the grip.

The dance at Grange Hall was well attended, over eighty numbers being sold.

Very pretty invitation cards are out announcing a donation visit and supper at Grange Hall Feb. 3, for Rev. P. J. Williams. There will be literary program, a good time and all are invited.

Mrs. Betsy Beardsley who has been ill for several weeks, is still very feeble but the friends have hopes of recovery.

Mrs. Carrie Larne is caring for her aunt, Mrs. Mary Trimmer who has been quite ill.

Edd Lyon and family are preparing to move to East Genoa. They will be missed by their friends here.

Caucus was held at Ludlowville last Saturday by the Republicans and today by the Democrats.

The Literary committee of this place will hold a carpet rag social at their hall here Feb. 10. All are invited to attend. Ladies are requested to bring a ball of carpet rags with their name inside. Supper 15 cents a couple.

The Methodist Society gentlemen are preparing for a social to be held in the near future.

With the wave of prosperity sweeping over the land the farmers are looking for a raise in the price of hay and pork.

Wonderful War Pictures.

The past century has been marked by the perfecting of many wonderful inventions and doubtless the most wonderful of all is the moving picture machine, which first appeared as Edison's Kinetoscope, but which has since been succeeded by other improved and perfected machines, one of the best is said to be the Bioscope, which will exhibit at Academy Hall under the auspices of the Genoa Orchestra on Monday evening, February 13. With this marvelous machine it is made possible for a seated audience to witness a genuine battle scene in full action and hear the roar of the cannon and bugle calls of command. The program will include genuine battle scenes of the Spanish war, taken on the spot by fearless moving picture machine operators, and other interesting and amusing animated scenes, clearly shown, life size, and moving as in life. The Bioscope is enthusiastically praised by the press in places where it has exhibited and the orchestra are to be congratulated on securing an entertainment of this class. Admission 15 and 25c; tickets will be on sale at Smith's.

New Music.

"To-night His Face Is Missing In The Old Home" is the title of a new popular song that is finding great favor with the song loving public. The words and melody are fine. To introduce it, the publishers will mail a copy of this great song and their music roll containing 18 pages of popular music arranged for piano and organ on receipt of 25 cents. Rud Knauer's March "Manila" Two-Step is said to be one of the best marches ever written. Over 1,000 orchestras throughout the country are now playing it. It is published for piano and organ. POPULAR MUSIC CO., Indianapolis, Ind.

THE BEST COUGH MEDICINE.

Every Bottle Warranted.
Knowing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be a medicine of great worth and merit and especially valuable for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, we will hereafter warrant every bottle bought of us and will refund the money to anyone who is not satisfied after using two-thirds of a 25 or 50 cent bottle. GENERAL EAGAN SENTENCED

He Is Doomed to Be Dismissed From the Army in Disgrace.

GUILTY, BOTH CHARGES.

Court-Martial Takes But Forty-five Minutes to Make Up Its Verdict.

No Recommendation for Clemency, It Is Said, But the President Can Mitigate Sentence—Hollaved by Many That It May Be Simply Suspension—Court Had No Other Alternative.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—"And the Court did thereupon sentence him, the said Brigadier General Charles P. Eagan, Commissary General of Subsistence, to be dismissed from the military service of the United States."

This is the closing paragraph of the court martial record of General Eagan, to which Major-General Merritt, the President of the court, and Colonel George B. Davis the Judge Advocate, will attach their signatures.

He was found guilty on both charges—"conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman" and "conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline." Having been found guilty of the first charge, the Court, in accordance with article of war 61, had no other alternative than to bring in a sentence of dismissal.

When the Court adjourned the sentence was not accompanied by any recommendation for clemency, and it is not now considered likely that any such recommendation will be made when the record is formally made. It is still within the power of the President to exercise clemency, and it is believed by many officers that, in view of General Eagan's mental condition, the President may mitigate the sentence of dismissal to one of suspension.

The Court took but forty-five minutes after the close of testimony and arguments to make up their verdict when they adjourned. They then went to the White House to inform the President that the trial had ended.

Infernal Machine Sent Through the Mail.
Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 1.—An infernal machine, instead of poison, was the means employed by the would-be murderer of John E. De Brien, of this city. The police are hard at work on the case, and have hopes of capturing the sender of the package. De Brien is about thirty years old, unmarried and employed in a factory. The infernal machine consisted of a box containing gunpowder, matches and sandpaper, so arranged that when the box was opened the matches would ignite and explode the powder. He became suspicious of the box and hurried with it to the detective bureau.

Arbitrating a Boundary Fight.
Paris, Jan. 31.—After a delay of several years, since the time when President Cleveland aroused both the United States and Great Britain by his warlike message to Congress on Venezuelan affairs, the arbitration commission to settle the boundary dispute between Venezuela and British Guiana met in the room of the French Foreign Office used by the Spanish-American Peace Commissioners. The meeting was only a preliminary one, and an adjournment was taken until May 25, when the regular session will begin. Only three of the commissioners were present—Professor Martens, of St. Petersburg, the umpire; Justice Brewer, of the United States Supreme Court, representing Venezuela, and Justice Collins, representing Great Britain.

An Alibi Witness for Mrs. George.
Canton, O., Jan. 31.—Attorneys for Mrs. George, charged with shooting George Saxton, brother-in-law of President McKinley, will endeavor to prove an alibi, according to a story that has just gained publicity. They claim to have a witness who will testify to standing on the bridge near the scene of the shooting, seeing Saxton ride past on a bicycle and a few minutes later hearing the shots. The witness will also testify that on hearing the shots he started toward the city, which is in a direction opposite to that of the scene of the tragedy, and some distance away, meeting Mrs. George walking toward the scene of the shooting. He is expected to prove that she did not have time to reach the place where she was seen after the shooting.

Died of Tetanus After Vaccination.
Cleveland, O., Jan. 31.—An investigation is being made of the cause of the death of eleven-year-old William Hagengast. The lad was vaccinated at a free dispensary on Jan. 4. His arm was terribly swollen. He was attacked with symptoms of lockjaw and died in terrible agony. Three physicians attended him, but could do nothing for him.

ing for him. The doctor who vaccinated him said he used pure lymph and used antiseptic treatment.

Quay Deadlock Won't Break.
Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 31.—Senator Quay's trial on the charge of conspiracy in the use of State funds in the defunct People's Bank of Philadelphia having been fixed for Feb. 20, it is believed that there will be no election of a successor to the Senator until after the trial. The lines are so tightly drawn here that it is out of the question to hope for a break under existing circumstances.

MILES TO PROVE HIS CASE

Sends Cans of Army Beef to a Medical Museum for Careful Analysis.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—Though the War Investigating Commission tasted and pronounced good the canned roast beef furnished to Major General Miles by Captain Francis C. Bean, commanding Battery C of the Pennsylvania Volunteer Artillery, the commanding general of the army has determined to prove conclusively that it was unfit for issue to troops. He has referred several cans to the Army Medical Museum in this city for careful analysis. The medical officers will not only analyze the meat, but they will analyze the metal that forms the coating of the can. It is believed by General Miles that lead is mixed with the tin, and that a chemical analysis will demonstrate the unfitness of the cans for use. A well-informed officer called attention to the fact that if the cans were left opened by defective soldering the air entering the can would set up fermentation in the beef. Fermentation means the presence of an acid, which, acting on the lead in the can, might have produced a compound injurious to health.

Gets a Chicago Name.

London, Feb. 1.—It is announced that Queen Victoria has been pleased at the desire of Leander J. McCormick, of Chicago, to grant a license for Frederick E. Goodhardt of Hadlow Castle, Tonbridge, to assume the name of McCormick. The Morning Post says: "We believe this is the first occasion upon which a Britisher has added his American wife's name to his own." Mr. Goodhardt is the Conservative candidate for Devonport.

Rev. Myron W. Reed Dead.

Denver, Col., Jan. 31.—Rev. Myron W. Reed is dead. He was one of the greatest preachers in the West and was mentioned as a successor to Henry Ward Beecher. Of late he made himself talked of as the President of the Utopian colony scheme known as the Debs co-operative commonwealth. At a meeting of the Railway Union he declared himself an Anarchist and said "Jesus Christ was not only an Anarchist but was killed by representatives of the law."

Sanity Restored by Surgeon's Knife.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 31.—Professor Fenger, in Mercer Hospital, performed successfully the operation of removing a brain tumor. This is supposed to be the first operation of the kind in the world. This subject was a German butcher named Joseph Sepic, who has been insane for several years, his insanity being caused by a tumor on the brain pressing on the optic nerve. The man's sanity was restored, as was also his proper sight, he having heretofore seen double.

John Kean Elected Senator.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 28.—Both houses of the Legislature cast their ballot for United States Senator to succeed James Smith, Jr. John Kean, of Union County, was elected in both houses, as a matter of course. Kean received 14 votes in the Senate and 37 in the House. Smith got 7 votes in the Senate and 22 in the House.

SENATOR JOHN KEAN.

Train Wreckers Were Foiled.

New Brunswick, N. J., Feb. 1.—The third attempt within three weeks to wreck trains on the Camden and Amboy branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in the vicinity of Jamesburg, has been discovered. Harvey Stonaker, the railroad telegraph operator at Helmetta, was walking along the track toward Jamesburg when he found several heavy ties placed on the track wedged in such a manner that had a train struck them a wreck would have inevitably been the result. Fortunately the operator succeeded in getting the obstruction off, but only a few minutes before a heavy coal train, drawn by a mogul engine, came along.

Dynamite Causes Tremendous Explosion.

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 31.—A powder magazine situated on the meadows four miles from the centre of the city exploded with terrific force, wrecking many houses within a radius of one mile and causing consternation among the inhabitants.

New Haven, Jan. 31.—Windows were shattered, doors forced open and houses shaken on their foundations by the explosion of the powder magazine near Bridgeport, sixteen miles distant. Residents in all the towns near here distinctly felt the shock.

Pilot of the Paul Jones.

New Orleans, Jan. 31.—A careful examination of the body and effects of the man found in the Louisiana marsh, back of Fort St. Philip, proves it to be that of Captain Stutevant, Pilot of the wrecked yacht Paul Jones. He is so altered that his son failed to recognize him and only agreed to the identity when unalterable objects about his father's person were shown him.

Santiago's Vultures Put Out of Business.

Santiago, Jan. 31.—The health of Santiago was never better than it is now. Only one death has occurred within the city limits during the last five days. Nothing approaching this immunity is recorded in the history of the city. The vultures, which were formerly the city scavengers, are starving, and now pounce upon cats and small dogs—a circumstance very significant in illustrating the changed sanitary conditions.

He Helped Chicago Spread.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Jacob Forsyth, the millionaire landowner of the Calumet region, who not many years ago counted as his vacant lots much of the land where now stand the towns of Whiting, Colehour and East Chicago, and the cities of South Chicago and Hammond, died at his city home, 1915 Michigan avenue. He was 78 years old. An attack of grip was the cause of death. Mr. Forsyth owned at one time 16,000 acres of land in this now populous district, the growth of which was due largely to his activity. At his death he was the owner of over 6,000 acres. He was a native of Ireland, but had lived in Chicago almost fifty years.

All Here for Gold.

New York, Jan. 31.—Hotel-keepers are profiting heavily by the big stock boom on Wall street, and expectant guests have been turned away in great numbers this week. Heavy patronage is not unusual at this time of the year, because of visiting commercial men, but in the rush at present there is a remarkable percentage of investors—people who bring money in their pockets and want to plunge into finance. Hotel safes have become deposit vaults for more currency than they were ever built to contain, but none has yet been reported to have collapsed under the pressure. Telegraph operators are all day in constant communication with Wall street and every lobby has become a branch of the Stock Exchange.

Platt's Maiden Speech.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Thomas C. Platt, of New York, made his maiden speech in the Senate. It was directed against Senator Vest's anti-expansion resolution. The fact that Mr. Platt has been three years in the Senate and had never before made a speech served to draw one of the largest crowds of the sessions. It was not expected that the Senator from New York would establish a new record for legislative eloquence, but the mere fact that he was the controlling factor of the Republican party in New York caused him to be listened to with the strictest attention.

For Librarian of Congress.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The fight for the post of Librarian of Congress, made vacant by the death of John Russell Young, has begun at the White House. Two candidates were presented on the President's attention. Senator-elect McComas, of Maryland, presented Geo. Alfred Townsend, and Senator Platt of New York, urged that Thomas G. Alvord, who has been Librarian Young's chief assistant, be named. H. B. McFarland, of this city, a newspaper man, received many endorsements for the place, while Secretary Long is strongly urging Representative Barrows, of Massachusetts, for the place.

Cuba's New Postoffice.

Washington, Jan. 31.—The postal service in Cuba is being vigorously pushed under the direction of ex-Assistant Postmaster-General Rathbone, and military postal stations in connection with the New York City Postoffice, with money order and register facilities, have been ordered established at seven more of the large towns. These are Placetas, Santo Domingo, Sagua la Grande and Calbarien, in Santa Clara Province; Batabano and Jucaro, Havana Province, and Santa Cruz, Puerto Principe Province. These make thirty-five military postal stations there in all.

Cubans to Fight Franchise Grab.

Washington, Jan. 31.—The Washington members of the Cuban Junta left for New York to meet their colleagues of that city in order to arrange a programme against the franchise grabbing now going on in Cuba. It may be stated authoritatively that the franchisees granted by Secretary Alger and Gen. Brooke prior to the municipal elections in all cities and towns of the island will be repudiated.

THE delights of an evening spent around a well-lighted reading table are not half understood. An illustrated magazine with its wealth of illustrations, its stories of adventure and love, its descriptions of travel which carry you to the remotest ends of the earth, and its instructive articles for young and old—these are the first requisites for your own enjoyment and the entertainment and proper education of your children.

To secure for you the best and most interesting of the great illustrated magazines at the lowest possible price has been the aim of the editor of this journal. That we have succeeded we leave our readers to judge. A special contract recently entered into with The Cosmopolitan, which seeks to become better known in this neighborhood, has enabled us to offer you a year's subscription to the greatest of the illustrated magazines together with a year's subscription to this journal.

Both Together One Year for Only $ 1.85

In this way you secure your own home paper and an illustrated magazine at a price that is only about a fourth of what some of the illustrated magazines sell for. For three years The Cosmopolitan has undisputedly claimed that it reached the largest clientele possessed by any periodical, daily, weekly or monthly, in the world. It was The Cosmopolitan which sent Julian Hawthorne to India to let the world know the real horrors of famine and plague. It was The Cosmopolitan which established at its own cost a great Free Correspondence University which now has over 20,000 students on its rolls. It was The Cosmopolitan which offered a prize of $3,000 for the best horseless carriage and prizes for best plans for public baths, and best arrangement of sewer and pipe systems for cities. It was The Cosmopolitan which set the presidents of great schools and universities seriously discussing the defects of existing educational systems. It is The Cosmopolitan whose enterprise is always in the lead in advancing the world's civilization.

LOOKING OVER

The entire field of science, nowhere has there been such progress as in the science of optics and the fitting of glasses. Our success in this line is due, in a measure, to the fact that we embrace every new, MERITIOUS idea, employ all the latest instruments, as well as constantly seek to originate new methods of excellence that will in any way aid us in the practice of our profession.

CROSMAN & SWART, Opticians.

IN THE DARKNESS.

As one who, from the house door goes at night—
A stormy night, when clouds drive early;
And, ere he goes, puts out the only light
That, glimmering through darkness on his sight,
Perchance a welcome homeward guide might be;
So from the warmth, the shelter and the love,
Which more than walls or acres make the home,
Turned I away. No star that gleams above—
No guidance such as awkward led the dove—
Can point me back—doomed ever more to roam,
Mad with the awful blackness of the night,
Mad that my ruthless hand put out the light.

The Islands of the Blest.

I have heard it said of her that she made up for an excessive sense of her own sex by being true to all her indiscretions. If she had heard this she would have said: "Any little thing like that"—a derisive phrase she applied equally to a paradox or a powder-puff, accompanying the remark with a glinting smile, the ingredients of which have puzzled even scientists. I studied that smile long and earnestly, with a view of imitation; but I was fain in the end to confess it too subtle for me. There was a white glitter of teeth, a delicious curling of the lips, a swish of the eyelashes, and your heart was gone from you; she has mine yet. I believe I am the only woman that ever loved her—perhaps because it was given only to me to see that other side of her soul which Browning says we all possess. I met her first on board the Scot, when we were both on our way to our Massachusetts homes—she to join her husband in Salisbury, and I to spend a lone season of time with my two brothers in the same town.

She had a manicule box, with dainty silver instruments nesting in soft sky velvet, and the finger nails of those few upon whom she bestowed her friendship she would pinken and beautify, sitting on the deck 'neath a glory of white canvas, with the sunlight dancing in her hair and romping with the rings on her fingers, while the other woman sat alone and made audible and insolent remarks about people who performed their toilet in public.

Mrs. Kniven Kallender would pay them back in fine. "Captain Dean," she would call out in her sweet, shrill voice. "Captain Dean, come and have your nails done. They look as though they haven't been touched since your infancy—as do many others on this boat," she would add with acid emphasis.

She always wore ravishing frocks, was never sea sick, and looked at the women through her eyelashes in a peculiarly aggravating way which commended itself to me. They hated her, but it welded as indissoluble bond between us. She had cultivated what De Quincy called the luxury of contempt, and could curl a woman up with one eye and with the corner of her mouth make a man wish he had never been born.

She was not popular in Salisbury, chiefly because she had a lamp with a red shade in her drawing room where she held court. It cast a rosy glow over all things, and had been the undoing of many men. Under its glowing shadows confidences were poured out like water, and the secrets of Salisbury, private and official, were in Dorothy Kallender's keeping. She knew which men would first gain promotion in the police, what cases were to be called in the courts, and more of the great raid than Exeter Hall knows to this day, with other secrets the breathing of which would have lowered great heads in the dust.

"This lamp, Peter," she was used to say to me, whom she is dubbed, "has helped to lead many a lost soul to higher and better things; also knowledge is power;" and she would stroke it with her hand, and all her rings would smile in the light.

She did not, like so many retired actresses, make a parade of her immense and intense respectability; but she kept certain moods for certain people. For the starched wives of civic magnates and such she kept a droop of the lower lip and a limpid, inquiring eye, answering all remarks with an idiotic but perfectly well-bred "Oh, yes," or rather, "Oh, as," giving the impression that she had been born dull, which was exactly what it was meant to do. Then she complained to me afterwards that they had but laughed in her face.

"You are the only woman in Massachusetts with any sense of humor, Peter," she would say, "and I believe you are a boy."

For the frisky, horsey woman visitor who goes to make up the queer mixtures called society in that far country, she had the same inquiring gaze, but her speech was embellished with a flap. "Yes, we have waded," I heard her replying to a lady of this description who was complaining in a strident voice of the rat and mice nuisance, and she twiddled her hands and twitched her toes like a shy baby. But enter one of the circle of men she was pleased to call her friends, and in which I was also included, and she immediately became most "sweet and sufficient"—a vivid and original personality. She lectured everybody in their love affairs, beginning with me, who had none.

"You expect too much of life, Peter," she would say, though I have never complained. "Look at Kniv and me for instance; we hit it off splendidly. There is not another man in the world who would suit me so well, or for whom I among her glimmering hair. She was wearing what I called her "tragic" gown, a loose tea gown of emerald green satin, with golden dragons vomiting scarlet poppies all over it, and she gossiped casually while I stroked the glossy dragons.

"Peter," she said suddenly, "a certain person is beginning to occupy my thoughts more than is quite cool or comfortable."

"Dorothy, don't talk rot," I said with ghastly juntness. "You're only trying to make me miserable."

"He wears red ties, dear, and says: 'Ain't you coming? What? How can one help caring?'"

For a moment my fears were soothed. Then the doorbell rang and Lyndhurst was shown in. I wonder if a man will ever look at me as he looked at her? It would be something worth living and dying for, I think. I turned to her, and the light behind her eyes as they rested on him shriveled my soul within me.

Soon "the beginning came of the ending." One morning as I sat at breakfast with my brothers, came a little note to me addressed simply to "Peter," as was her quaint fashion. "Come to me," was all it said. I flew, and coming found her on her divan. She was clad in her tragic gown, and her face was heaven-lit like a lustrous sunset, and happier than I had ever seen it. I knew at once what I was to face. I knelt down and kissed her and kissed her again; and then, being a weak fool, I cried all over her face and her lovely gown.

"We are going to-night, Peter," she crooned in a golden voice.

"No, no, Dorothy, darling—never, never! You shall not go."

"We are going to-night, dear," and she stroked my hair; "going together to find those Islands of the Blest."

"No, Dorothy, no!" I moaned.

"Mayn't I have a little happiness?" she asked fiercely. "What has my life been, Peter?" Then, relapsing into an infinite tenderness! "You see, Peter, he cannot do without me—we cannot do without each other."

Later, when I was stonily calm, she told me their plans. They were going to take horses that night and ride for Umtail, getting fresh horses there and a cart to take them to Beira—and then straight home. Once out of the country they were safe.

"But Kniven?" I asked. "He will follow you, and you are not a good rider, Dorothy."

"O, I will ride—I'll ride like the devil," with a little laugh. "And I shall be with him, Peter. Kniven will be away at a billiard match, and we shall get a good start—and he may not follow us."

I thought I knew him better.

In the twilight I saw them off. She went in her riding habit, taking nothing with her, and for the last time I straightened her skirt for her and gave her the reins. Then I took Lyndhurst by the hands, and looking into his eyes cried him to be good to her, to love her all his life, never to let her regret, and he promised with a voice deep with love. They say dark men are as true as men can be. Then when I had kissed her little stockings ankles, and she had said, "Bless you, little Peter, if a wicked woman's blessing can do any good, and good-by," they rode away into the night, and I lay down on my face in the grass with my heart full of the tragedies of life. After a while I stumbled blindly homewards, a wild wish struggling within me that someone would come and take me away too, and that we four—Dorothy, Lewis, the other and I—might all go together and find the Islands of the Blest. As I neared the house a man came into view under a lamp some few yards off. He had a white fury-lashed face, with a mouth set hard and cruel. Then I fainted.

It was only horse against horse, and we came upon them at a farmhouse before they had even got half-way.

I rode out with my brothers, who had loved her too, and the clergyman who buried them. When I had hidden the ugly mark on her forehead with flowers there was nothing to revolt in the sweet calm of her face; but we covered his face all over with them.

And I believe they are forgiven and have found the "Islands of the Blest."

Farm For Sale.

In order to settle the estate of Isaac Judge, deceased, I wish to sell the farm formerly occupied by him, and situated 1 mile south and 2 miles east of Poplar Ridge and containing about 102 acres. This farm is in a fine state of cultivation, and can be purchased at a remarkably low price.

Another Change.

After endeavoring for several weeks to publish a Saturday paper, we find it necessary to return to the old custom of issuing on Friday. The reason we changed from Friday to Saturday was because our New York mail did not arrive until half a day later, and consequently we had to delay our work or print without. We have now arranged matters so that we can publish THE TRIBUNE Fridays as heretofore and at the same time include the matter in question. We regret the inconvenience to which many of our subscribers have been subjected the past few weeks, and hope that there will be no more of it.

THE DEATH of Representative Dingley seems to have thrust honors upon Mr. Payne of this county. He is now chairman of the Ways and Means committee, and it is stated that he will also succeed Mr. Dingley as joint high commissioner—a duty of great importance. Editor Baily, who has insisted that Mr. Payne was a fourth rate man, will doubtless live to see his error, as Representative Payne shows every symptom of being a statesman of the first order.

TOWN MEETING approaches, and the caucuses will be held tomorrow. Some of the offices apparently seek the man, while others are sought for by several men. We predict a majority of votes for the Republicans with one exception, possibly. We suggest that the voters of this and other towns give the excise question careful thought during the coming three weeks.

EVERY day brings developments in support of General Miles' charges that the beef furnished the army was not a fit article of food. Though the scandal has been a grave one, the result will probably be beneficial to the army. General Miles has certainly maintained his reputation.

SENATOR WILCOX, who introduced last Friday a bill to prohibit the sale or manufacture of cigarettes in this state, deserves a medal of honor. It is not probable that the bill can be passed, but his efforts are worthy of recognition.

It APPEARS strange that the people who want to give Samson the credit for what Schley did at Santiago, are the people who do not blame Miles for Shafter's mistakes at Santiago.

Bankruptcy Proceedings.

Henry T. Howe of Genoa was adjudged a bankrupt upon his own petition by Judge Cox on Friday last, and the proceedings have been referred to Referee Wm. Collier of this city. The first meeting of the creditors has been fixed for February 16, at the referee's office. The debts aggregate $10,000.—Auburn Journal.

Mr. Hagin was nominated for supervisor and Charles Wood for clerk at the Republican caucus Saturday last; there was a large attendance.

Austin & Wood are nearly ready to move into their new store; the upper floor is to be finished for a public hall.

It is reported that steps will soon be taken to open the new creek road from this village to the lake. It has been surveyed and recorded in the county clerk's office, and the right of way bought and paid for. The proposed road is $\frac{3}{4}$ of a mile long, and would doubtless prove to be a great convenience.

What is commonly known as heart disease is frequently an aggravated form of Dyspepsia. Like all other diseases resulting from indigestion, it can be cured by Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat. J. S. Banker.

Late to bed and early to rise prepares a man for his home in the skies. But early to bed and a Little Early Riser, the pill that makes life longer and better and wiser, J. S. Banker.

On a Lawyer's Card.

When a certain lawyer of Ithaca left his office the other day he put on the door this notice: "Will be back at 1 p. m."

He had been gone some time when an attorney who wished to see him called. He read the card, pulled out his watch, sniffed contemptuously, wrote something on the card and went away.

It was not long after that when another man came up, read the card, smiled, looked at his watch, wrote something and went away.

Inside of a few minutes a third man arrived, examined the card, added something to the writing upon it and grinned as he walked off. A fourth, fifth and sixth man did the same.

When the lawyer returned at 2:15 o'clock this is what he found written under his promise to be back at 1 o'clock:

"You're a liar by the watch. J. B. M. 1:15 p. m.

"You lie again. G. E. S. 1:25 p. m.

"Amen. D. B. S. 1:30 p. m.

"Ditto. R. M. M. 1:45 p. m.

"That'll do, Ananias. G. B. D. 1:48 p. m.

"Don't let it occur again. J. M. S. 2:10 p. m."

He hasn't.

The sooner a cough or cold is cured with out harm to the sufferer the better. Lingering colds are dangerous. Hacking cough is distressing. One Minute Cough Cure quickly cures it. Why suffer when such a cough cure is within reach? It is pleasant to the taste. J. S. Banker.

The Venice Concert.

We were premature in mentioning last week that the concert at Venice by the Genoa orchestra and vocalists would be given the 18th. The date, we understand, has not yet been settled upon. Bear in mind that there will be a concert, however, and the date will be announced next week.

Calico Carnival.

Consider yourself cordially invited to the correctly conducted and considerably combined calico carnival at the Venice Baptist church parlors on Tuesday evening, February 7. The menu will be in conspicuous courses served in confusing compactness. All ladies are requested to wear calico gowns and to bring half a pound of carpet rags carefully cut; all gentlemen to wear calico ties and bring the thimbles. At the door you will receive a curious calico card that will introduce you to a charming companion for the evening who will assist you in sewing carefully and compactly your collected contribution of carpet rags. Cash and coins collected.

Father and Son in Prison.

Two prisoners, one an old man with long white hair and whose steps betokened extreme age, and the other a young muscular fellow with a quick elastic step, were received at the prison this morning from Tompkins county.—John F. Pierce and son Edgar, farmers, convicted of stealing wheat from neighbors. The elder Pierce, who is 80 years of age, has a sentence of a year and 11 months for burglary third degree and petit larceny; the son, 35 years old, is in for 3 years and 8 months on the same charges.

The scene enacted at their parting in the main hall of the prison made the keeper, familiar as he is with all sorts of crime, wipe away a tear that trickled down his face. This is the first offense of both men and they feel their position keenly.—Bulletin.

AT RICH'S, ITHACA.

IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN

"Dolce far niente—a sweet doing nothing. I shall pin that to the catalogue of memory's pictures painted here."

She looked up at him and laughed. Their eyes met, then parted, and a vague sense of anticipated loss came to him with the realization of her departure.

"You will forget all this. As for me, I will only be one more in your collection," he smiled, evidently a willing victim.

"Collection—of sticks?" she interrogated laughingly.

"You are unkind," he protested.

"You think, then, my remembrance of a charming winter, like pricked bubbles, will vanish into space?"

Her face flushed and a shadow deepened her brown eyes. She caught her breath as she crushed the faces of her gown against her side then she went on:

"We've seen each other every day. If only for a few moments, during nearly two months, meeting with perfect frankness and, I thought, friendship. If it has all been insincere, I shall forget."

"Insincere?" "You have made me care too much. But in the North there will be other interests in your life, crowding me out, until I shall fade into the dim corridors of the past."

She noted the square, strong chin and mouth and the little wrinkles that caught around the smiling eyes. He could thus lightly toss aside the recollection of drives, of winding down shaded country roads which were, he had said, "like a benediction," and the evenings when he sang with delicate intonation and emphasis about "you dear," and "love." All these thoughts pricked her mind. If she could only forget him!

"Really, you seem most insistent to become merely a polka-dot in my memory. Don't you think, even then, I could always spot you?"

"Just if you must; but stay, ah, stay, fair lady, on this perfect day! I promise to do anything—say anything, if you will not go."

"You wax quite poetical," she said, sweetly. "There is the silver moon for the second verse."

"Thanks for the suggestion"—rather stiffly.

"Come; my hostess will think I am lost."

"When a woman will, she will." He reluctantly followed. They walked home through the spicy, fragrant pines, whose melancholy sighing filled them both with an undimmed sadness.

"This must be good-by. I leave on the early train to-morrow, and never see people at the station. It makes me blue."

She stood on the steps with one hand extended. Looking up at the little rebellious curls blown about under the wide, black hat, he felt an irresistible desire to touch them, but only raised her hand to his lips.

"Auf wiedersehen. You have given me many happy days, and I shall always think of you in this lavender gown, the violets of these saucy, reddening feathers—just as you stand. You will surely come back—to us?"

"Perhaps."

Smiling bravely, she went wearily up the steps, then paused. Taking a few of the violets, she kissed them, and turning, called to him. He came back.

Somewhat confused, she pinned them on his coat.

"They really belong to you," she explained.

The moon was hidden, and he did not see how pale she had grown. Coming to her room she took down the graph, softly whispering: "I loved and lost!" Both hands suddenly pressed against her throat, and tears fell blindly unheeded as she sobbed on.

He knew he would miss her. She had been so jolly; always ready for a dance or a ride; knowing his favorite music and songs. Now that was all over. Rummaging through his desk he finally found a little package of notes. Leaning back in his chair, he carefully removed the elastic around them and leisurely read over the lines. Out from the sheets of one fluttered a withered violet. It fell unnoticed to the floor.

In another he found a tiny spray of jessamine. She had worn a garland of it one night. These few he had begged for and had been denied until the next morning, when his request was granted with a few parting words. They had been at the opera, and under the magic of the music he looked into her eyes, startled by their deep intensity. He could see them now. How really dear she was! Ah, well, she would come again.

He replaced the notes, struck a match, carefully held it to a cigar, and unfolded the evening paper.

Black Sea a Poison.

The explorations of the Russian scientist, Andrussov, have established a very curious fact. The black sea, which in some parts has a depth of more than 6,500 feet, is poisoned by sulphuretted hydrogen wherever the water is deeper than 1,200 feet. This accounts for the curious fact that there is no organic life below that depth, excepting, perhaps, some bacteria of very low order, impregnated with sulphur. The causes for this phenomenon are explained by the quick outflow of the fresh water through the Bosphorus, while salt water coming from the Mediterranean enters through a deeper current into the depths of the Black sea. The waters on the surface are, therefore, controlled absolutely by horizontal currents of considerable force, and vertical currents which might carry the noxious gases from the bottom to the surface and fresh oxygen from the surface to the bottom.

at great depths is now so saturated with sulphur gas by the distillation of organic matter sinking to the bottom by reason of its weight that no fish or other living being, which needs oxygen for its organic system, can exist beyond a stated depth.

Dangers Which Are Constantly Hovering Over the U Suspecting.

London fog was never denser than the popular misapprehension of the drink question. Not long ago I was in conversation with a lady, who evidently thought to show me a politeness by asking about the progress of what she called "temperance."

She spoke as one might mention a new orchid she had heard of, but never seen; and by her knee her little boy was clinging, rosy and lusty and fine. "It must be dreadful work," she said, "but I have no personal interest in it, and so I do not keep informed about it; there has never been a drunkard in our family on either side!"

She was a moral somnambulist, wide-eyed but stone blind, walking along the eaves of Tophet with her child. I woke her, as in duty bound, by saying: "Madam, how do you know that this boy will not be a drunkard? My mother was as good and beautiful as you are, and our home was far more beautiful than this of yours; my father's blood ran as pure as any in your husband's family or your own, and they were as loving and as tender and as careful as you can be; but when the natural and honorable griefs and losses of the world had beaten them with many stripes, but left them family pride and an untarnished name and an only son whom their united love clothed upon as with a garment of immunity against defilement, the saloon came and took all; and the only bit of land I own to-day at a midlife of ceaseless labor is a little square of cemetery hillside where they lie with their broken hearts waiting for whatever possible joy may be required to them at the last."

Before I had finished her bosom was heaving with tumultuous breathing, and her eyes were pitiful with unshed tears, and snatching the boy to her heart, she cried: "Forgive me! forgive me! I had not thought!"

I do not speak of this to lay a railing accusation against the careless-seeming, happy people; I know perfectly that the ignoble servitude of Christian people to the saloon parties is due to the lack of thought; but your church has thought, and spoken so that all earth and heaven have heard, and you are thinking now, and must think! Bear with me this once! I do not expect you to feel as I do; you could not without suffering what I have suffered, and I have no enemy and never had one whom I could not spare that, if I could; I am pleading with you for the merest humanity, such as you would show a wounded dog. There is not a cradle rocking—rocking in an American home to-night, but close beside, the drink wolf crouches and grins and waits; there is not a baby man swinging into the lists of life in the royal chariot of his mother's arms, pressed hard and safe against the snowy pillows, but the saloon vulture with bloody beak and claws, and sick of old carrion, flaps its hideous wings above that holiest pageant of the universe, and soars and waits.

Messages and Papers of The Presidents.

A HISTORY OF OUR COUNTRY WRITTEN BY OUR PRESIDENTS.

Edited by the Hon. JAMES D. RICHARDSON, under the Direction of Congress.

It includes all the Inaugural Addresses, Annual Messages, Special Messages, Veto Messages, Proclamations, Executive Orders, including important secret correspondence of the State Department bearing on all National questions in connection with the history of our government from the first administration of President Washington down to and including the Messages of President McKinley.

THE INDEX gives the thread of United States History, every fact verified by the government records, in encyclopedic form, stated clearly and concisely, and refers you to the President's own words: It is truly A NATIONAL LITERARY MONUMENT.

ILLUSTRATED WITH RARE ENGRAVINGS.

These engravings have never before been published. They constitute a complete gallery of Portraits of the Presidents, Government Buildings, Copies of Historic Paintings, etc., etc., all authorized impressions from Government plates.

It bears practically the unanimous endorsement of two Presidents and their cabinets, the Congress, and thousands of other public officials and representative citizens.

WHY THIS ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE.

The original edition published by the Government was far too limited. Thousands upon thousands of applications had to be refused. It was not the intention, originally, to publish a further edition, but on account of the unprecedented demand, Mr. Richardson, who had charge of the work for the government, was able to arrange for a further edition.

The Hon. Ainsworth R. Spofford, of the Library of Congress, has consented to act as General Secretary of the Committee appointed to superintend the distribution of this new and handsomer edition, and to pass upon applications as received.

Any one can make application, but the rules of the Committee allow for but a FEW SETS TO EACH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

This means, of course, that only a few persons in each community can have a set of this great work. Part of the apportionment for almost every district has been spoken for already, so that prompt action is necessary on the part of those who would like to avail themselves of the opportunity.

THE COST IS MERELY NOMINAL.

If a private publisher were to undertake to publish such a work, even if he could gain access to the government records, it would cost not less than a million dollars to produce, and he could not afford to sell it for less than Ten Dollars per volume. There are ten magnificent volumes, averaging seven hundred pages each. The Committee has, however, undertaken to distribute this edition at practically the cost of manufacture and distribution. Applications may now be filed with the Committee on Distribution, and will be passed upon in the order received.

Arrangements have also been made for those WHO WISH TO INVESTIGATE FURTHER before making formal application, so that upon postal card request ample descriptive matter, exhibiting the bindings, engravings and full particulars, will be forwarded, together with rules for making applications.

All such requests, if addressed as below, will receive prompt attention, in regular order.

AINSWORTH R. SPOFFORD, General Secretary,

Committee on Distribution, Dept. Dist. WASHINGTON, D. C.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—On all requests accompanied by a deposit of ONE DOLLAR, as a guarantee of good faith, a set of the books will be laid aside and reserved, pending further investigation, and if you decide within ten days not to make a regular application the amount will be refunded.

PEACE TREATY VOTE FEB. 6.

The Senate Committee Decides to Limit the Time For Debate.

ON MR. DAVIS'S MOTION.

To Ask $20,000,000 Appropriation to Carry Out Terms of the Treaty.

Plans to Hasten Action—Members of the Committee Say There is No Disposition to Compromise by Amending the Convention—Opposition Vote May Cause Some Delay.

Washington, Feb. 1.—After the usual early routine proceedings, the Senate went into executive session to consider the peace treaty.

In the fifty minutes that the Senate was behind closed doors a general interchange of views on the subject of fixing a day for a vote on the ratification of the treaty followed the announcement by Mr. Davis of the conclusion reached by the Foreign Relations Committee that a vote be taken in ten days. Finally, when Mr. Davis's motion was submitted fixing Monday, Feb. 6, at 2 o'clock, as the time for taking the vote, it was unanimously agreed to.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations discussed the status of the peace treaty and the prospects for ratification and decided to push the debate in secret session as rapidly as possible. The committee authorized Chairman Davis to offer an amendment to the Sundry Civil bill appropriating $20,000,000 to carry out the terms of the treaty, which is to be available when that convention is ratified. Mr. Davis later, during the session of the Senate, gave notice of the amendment.

The committee agreed to accept the offer of the opponents of the treaty for a vote on its ratification after ten days' debate. It was stated by the members of the committee that there was no disposition among them to compromise by amending the convention or to accompany it with a declaration as to the disposition of the Philippine Islands.

It is admitted by the treaty advocates that the opposition at present control a sufficient number of votes to amend the treaty or defeat ratification, the only question being whether or not they would dare to cast the votes in the face of the evident overwhelming sentiment of the country for the legal ending of the war and the inauguration of the Administration's future policy in the Philippines.

$200,000,000 in the Deal.

New York, Feb. 1.—It is asserted that the syndicate of which former Governor Roswell P. Flower is the head has in hand a scheme to control all the transportation facilities of Greater New York. The intention seems to be to absorb the Long Island Railroad and operate it in connection with the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system. This would give the Flower syndicate control of all the railroad and street car systems of Long Island. The total capitalization of all the companies is more than $200,000,000.

Iloilo Has Chosen a President.

Manila, Feb. 1.—Senor Meliza has been elected President of the Visayan States by the insurgents at Iloilo for a period of two years, and has acknowledged his allegiance to Aguinaldo. Several representatives of the Iloilo government have arrived here for the purpose of conferring with the Luzon insurgents.

Ohio Buried in Snow.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 1.—The worst blizzard of the winter is raging in Northern Ohio. The mercury has been hovering around the zero mark for days. Trains from the East are delayed.

Spanish Troops Die on Shipboard.

Madrid, Feb. 1.—The steamship Ems has arrived at Ponta Delgada, Azores, en route for Spain, with 1,989 Spanish soldiers from Cienfuegos. Three died on the voyage and twenty-nine others are seriously ill. The Ems will proceed for Cartagena.

Lays Samoan Troubles to Americans.

Berlin, Jan. 31.—Private letters received here from German business men in Apia place all the blame for the recent disturbances in Samoa on the Americans. They say that the Americans were constantly intriguing with the natives to jeopardize the German interests. Diplomats here assert that the Foreign Office will make vigorous protests in Washington. It is asserted that Chief Justice Chambers has violated the international treaty between England, the United States and Germany.

Gen. Jaudenes Is Under Arrest.

Madrid, Jan. 30.—General Jaudenes, who capitulated at Manila, has been arrested by order of the court martial, which found that Gen. Jaudenes had sufficient ammunition and food to have enabled him to resist longer. The court martial ordered his arrest, whereupon he surrendered himself, stired in mufti and accompanied by his son and several Ministers of State. General Correa confirmed the arrest.

Ireland Not a Peace Delegate.

Rome, Jan. 31.—Archbishop Ireland has had a conference with Cardinal Rampolla, Papal Secretary of State. The Archbishop declared that there was no foundation for the statement that he had been charged to represent the United States at the coming conference regarding the limitation of armaments. The United States, he said, had not yet nominated a delegate.

FRYE FOR EXPANSION.

Tells the Senate Why He Changed His Mind About the Philippines.

Washington, Feb. 1.—Senator Frye, one of the United States Peace Commissioners, explained to the Senate the reasons that induced him to agree to the acquisition of the Philippines. They were:

First—That Spanish authority in the Philippines had been totally destroyed since Dewey's victory on May 1.

Second—That the inhabitants of the Philippines, being divided among themselves, could not yet be entrusted with the responsibilities of the establishment of an independent government.

Third—That if it were permitted to the natives to now attempt the formation of an independent government, they would become the prey of grasping foreign nations until there was some strong hand to restrain outside intrusion.

Fourth—That in the eyes of all civilized nations the United States had assumed certain duties and responsibilities toward the islands when this country destroyed Spanish supremacy there.

Mr. Frye said when he left the United States to go to Paris he was absolutely opposed to the idea of the United States retaining the Philippine Archipelago as a possession.

Agonillo Not a Spy.

Washington, Feb. 1.—Agonillo, the representative of Aguinaldo, authorized the following statement concerning a published report that the Government had intercepted despatches from him to Aguinaldo, in which he advised that the Filipinos would have to fight for their independence and that now was the time to act: "The statement is absolutely false, and is calculated to excite feeling and animosity in this country and to prejudice the Philippine cause. No such telegram has ever been sent by me, and for that reason no such telegram could have been intercepted. The falsity of the statement is shown by the fact that I have cabled my Government to continue the same friendship which was born on the battlefield against Spain. The Philippine people have no wish and no purpose to fight against the Americans unless they are driven to it. Their only desire is to strengthen the bonds now existing."

General Wood to Rule Cuba.

Washington, Jan. 31.—It is announced on excellent authority that the President has decided to remove General Brooke, Military Governor of Cuba, and appoint General Leonard Wood in his place. The change is to take place February 1. General Wilson is reported to be second in command. The news will be hailed with delight by the Cubans, who have not been pleased with General Brooke's stern methods, while they all admire General Wood, who is now Military Governor of the province of Santiago.

Suicide in a Trunk.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 1.—"Professor" Robert T. Rink, Jr., a balloonist, aged twenty-eight, took his life in the same strange manner as that adopted by Miss Ayres at Penn Yan, N. Y., by closing himself in a trunk and then swallowing poison. Rink was in poor health and told his landlady he would like to meet death as had Miss Ayres, of whose suicide he had read.

On a Mission to Gomez.

Havana, Feb. 1.—President McKinley is understood to have empowered Robert P. Porter to arrange for the disbursement of $3,000,000 among the Cuban soldiers. Mr. Porter will probably go with Senor Gonzales de Quesada to Remedios to meet Gen. Maximo Gomez, to persuade the Cuban commander-in-chief to disband his forces and to lend his influence to the United States military administration.

According to figures published here, eighty thousand Spanish soldiers perished, chiefly from sickness, during the last campaign in Cuba.

The Grain Market.

WHEAT.—In the last six days Liverpool has received 533,000 bushels, of which 760,000 bushels were American. Wheat on passage was quoted 3d higher. In the Northwest arrivals aggregated 587 cars, against 323 cars last year, which is a little larger than they have been running. A Broomhall cable mentioned prospects of a smaller Indian crop than last year and a late Chilean crop, but with an average exportable surplus. CORN.—The corn crop has been very largely overestimated and is moving out slowly, as feeders take it very freely for home consumption. Export business is light. The Liverpool market, following wheat's advance, closed 1d net higher. Clearances, however, are small again and show 251,000 bushels decrease from last year. OATS.—There is very little in the speculative market to attract attention and prices rule more or less nominal.

U. S. MARINES IN PEKIN.

On Guard in Front of the American Legation, and in Tien Tsin Also.

LAND FROM THE BOSTON.

Danger of Revolutionary Outbreak in Peking and Other Cities in China.

United States Government, Like British, German and Others, Apprehensive of Attacks on "Foreign Devils"—Telegrams of Inquiry Sent to Admiral Dewey—Marines Not Likely to Be Withdrawn.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The Navy Department has learned that eighteen United States Marines are guarding the United States Legation in Peking and that twenty-seven marines are guarding the United States Consulate and American interests in Tien-Tsin.

While the Department has no definite information on the subject it supposes that these detachments were landed from the Boston.

It was supposed at the time the Boston went to Taku, at the mouth of the Pei-Ho River, on which Peking is situated, that marines would be sent there. Admiral Dewey had been granted authority to direct the captain of the Boston to send his marine detachment to Peking and other places if the Admiral believed it wise to do so.

At that time, more than a month ago, there was great danger of a revolutionary outbreak in Peking, and this government like the British, German and others, was apprehensive of attacks on foreigners.

The Boston remained at the mouth of the Pei-Ho until several weeks ago and then returned to Manila. The gunboat Petrel, which had proceeded up the Pei-Ho to Tien-Tsin, was withdrawn also.

Admiral Dewey has never notified the Department that United States marines were left in Peking, and the information received came in a round-about unofficial way.

A telegram of inquiry was sent to Admiral Dewey.

The marines will not be withdrawn unless all danger of an insurrection among the Chinese has passed away.

Rival for Chicago Telephone Company. Chicago, Jan. 31.—By a vote of 46 to 13 the City Council voted a fifty-year franchise to the Illinois Telephone and Telegraph Company, whose backers are said to be Chicago packers. This ordinance, if approved, puts in the local field a dangerous rival to the Chicago Telephone Company and reduces the cost to the subscribers of business telephones from a maximum of $175 per annum to $85 per annum, and residence telephones from a maximum of $125 to $50.

The Hour Glass Renovated. We are constantly utilizing some old thing, and with a few slight changes making it over into something apparently new. There is no one who would think of an hour glass or half-hour glass, being new, and yet, equipped with a time card and graduated scale, it certainly takes on a new phase.

By the time the sand trickles through for two minutes, it reaches a height in the bottom glass marked "soft boiled." In another minute, it is on a line with the mark for "medium cooked." In seven minutes the scale registers "well done," and in ten minutes "hard boiled."

However, the good old steady going cook turns the glass over again and lets the egg boil twenty-three minutes, when the yolk is mealy and fit to eat without resulting in indigestion.

Tea Injurious to Some. Tea is found to be very injurious to many people. To ascertain if this is the case, watch your face closely. If the nose and cheeks flush after drinking it, you may be sure that it disagrees with you, and also if you feel indigestion follow tea drinking in the very least degree it should be given up at once and cocoa taken instead.

Curious Jelly Fish. The sea cucumber, one of the curious jelly bodies that inhabit the ocean, can practically efface itself when in danger by squeezing the water out of its body and forcing itself into a narrow crack, so narrow as not to be visible to the naked eye.

One Way to Get a Wife. The editor of the Cynthiana (Ky.) Democrat has adopted a novel means to procure a wife. He advertises thus: The Democrat offers a special premium of $50 for the handsomest and most charming old maid between the ages of thirty and forty-five years, who appears at the street fair. The winner is to become the bride of the editor and promptly return the $50. The entries are to assemble at the Star grocery on Friday morning at 11 o'clock, where they will be entertained by Messrs. Bush, Walker, Blair and Monson until the editor arrives to make his selection. No biting and scratching allowed.

A Fit Subject. The artist stopped suddenly in his walk and studied with interest the abject, misshapen creature who was begging for alms at a street corner. The poor man's legs were bent outward at right angles at the knees, he had a great hump in his back, one arm was only half the length of the other, his lower jaw projected nearly an inch beyond the upper, his hair was fiery red, and his eyes were at cross purposes. "My friend," said the artist, with a glow of enthusiasm in his pale face, "here is a sovereign. Come with me to my studio; I want a model for an art poster."

Waves Faster Than Wind. We have it on the authority of Mr. W. H. Wheeler, who has devoted many years to the study of such matters, that in the bay of Biscay frequently during the autumn and winter in calm weather a heavy sea gets up and rolls in on the coast 24 hours before the gale which causes it arrives, and of which it is the prelude. In this case the wave action, generated on the other side of the Atlantic by the wind travels at a much greater rate than that of the body of disturbed air, and thus gives warning of the coming storm.

Italy is Growing. Italy has had 294 square miles of land added to its territory in the last 70 years by the advance of the delta of the Po into the Adriatic sea. The measurement has been made by Prof. Marinelli, who carefully compared the Austrian surveys to 1823 with the Italian surveys of 1893. The addition amounts to one six-hundredth of the total area of Italy at the earlier date.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK: To George Edwards, Charles H. Edwards, Joshua Edwards, Allen Edwards, Mary J. Perrigo.

SEND GREETING: Whereas, E. Byron Whitten of Genoa, N. Y., has lately applied to our Surrogate's Court of the County of Cayuga, in proof and probate of a certain instrument in writing, dated the 1st day of January, 1897, purporting to be the last will and testament of Eber Edwar a late of Venice, in said county, deceased, which relates to both real and personal estate.

Therefore, you and each of you are cited to appear in our said Surrogate's court, before the Surrogate of the County of Cayuga, at his office in the court house, in the city of Auburn, on the 25th day of February, 1899, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, and attend the probate of said last will and testament.

And those of you who are under the age of twenty-one years, are required to appear by your general guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, you will appear and apply for the appointment of a guardian, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a special guardian will be appointed by the surrogate to represent and act for you in this proceeding.

In Testimony Whereof, We have caused the seal of our said Surrogate's Court to be hereunto affixed.

Witness, Hon. George B. Turner, [Ls] Surrogate of the County of Cayuga, at the Surrogate's office in the city of Auburn, this 11th day of January, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety nine.

WALTER E. WOODEN, Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.

Foreclosure Sale.

WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of the money secured by a mortgage dated February 23, 1896, executed by Michael Bruton, of Genoa, N. Y., to Levi Starnes, of the same place, recorded in Cayuga County Clerk's office on March 2, 1896, at 9 o'clock, A. M., in Liber 191 of Mortgages, page 188 and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover said money, or any part thereof, and the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the first publication of this notice being $181.75, which is the whole amount unpaid thereon; therefore, notice is hereby given, according to the statute in such case made and provided, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and therewith recorded, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described, by the subscriber, at public auction, on the 19th day of March, 1899, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the First National Bank in Moravia village, N. Y.

Said premises are described in said mortgage as follows: All that tract or parcel of land situate in the town of Genoa, N. Y., and being a part of lot No. 31, in said town, bounded and described as follows: Beginning in the south-west corner of lands now (1896) owned by James Low and in the center of the highway, thence west along the center of said highway; thence north along the center of the highway to the north from the first three corners west of the point of beginning, and to lands owned (1896) by Susan and John Mead; thence east along the south line of said Mead's land about twenty rods; thence north along the east line of said Mead's land to land of John C. Leghorn; thence east along the south line of said Leghorn's land to lands owned by said James Low; thence south along the west line of said Low's land to the place of beginning, containing fifty-six acres of land more or less, and being the premises conveyed to said party of the first part by Cornelius Pous and wife by deed dated August 6, 1878, and recorded in Cayuga County in Liber 151 of deeds, page 94.

Hull Greenfield, LEVI STARNES, Attorney, Moravia, N. Y. Mortgage.
