NEWS ABOUT THE STATE

Paragraphs of the Week's Happenings
Clipped from the Tribune's Exchange.

Osborne's shops are working night and day with large orders ahead.

1899 begins a record of disaster, death and crime with great promptness.

Miss Sadie Freese suffered the fracture of a limb in a collision of ice boats at Cayuga Thursday.

Arrangements have been made so that now the Lehigh Valley city ticket agent sells tickets from Ithaca through to Havana and Porto Rico points.

A Cortland merchant recently received the following letter from a man in a nearby town: "Please send me something for a present for a girl worth $5."

A millionaire who died in Boston a few days ago directed in his will that no one owing him less than $3,000 be required to pay. It was an extensive and unexpected Christmas gift.

A man named Gimm won the 24 hour bicycle race at New York this week with 450 miles to his credit. Three other riders were but few inches behind. This is an average of 18 3/4 miles per hour.

The opinion grows stronger that the town meeting is the people's election and should not be merged with state and national issues, by being connected with the fall elections. Let us hold to the old town meeting.

School Commissioner Manchester will hold the following examinations in Moravia the present month: First, Second and Third Grade, January 12 and 13, Training class examinations January 18, 19 and 20; Grade examinations January 26 and 27.

The flag that floated over the famous old Bon Homme Richard during her victorious engagement with the British frigate Serapis on September 23, 1779, has been presented to the government by Mrs. Harriet P. R. Stafford, of Cottage City, Mass.

Sheriff Wood has made the following appointments: John G. Hosmer, under sheriff; Deputy sheriffs—G. M. Hull, Cayuga; M. J. Fink, Cato; P. W. Miner, Locke; George D. Newkirk, Port Byron, also Wallace Anthony of Scioto.

Seneca Falls is probably the only village in the state that can boast of a blind man who keeps the crossings clean. He does the work more quickly and thoroughly than many men who are blessed with first-class pair of eyes.

A Massachusetts court promptly committed an editor to jail for contempt, but we see no indications of a purpose on the part of the Ohio Supreme Court to deal with the officers of the Standard Oil Co. in a similar manner.

Cradley Mix, proprietor of the Dryden House in McLean, died at the Cortland hospital at 2:30 Tuesday last week, as the result of injuries received by being struck by a Lehigh Valley train at the McLean station.

Hobson's example got an Ohio military Chaplain into trouble. Chaplain Life of the 7th Ohio hugged the pretty daughter of Lieutenant Colonel Burch, and now the M. E. church of which he was pastor has put him on trial for unministerial conduct.

New Years day a strange coincidence happened at the boarding-house of A. R. Watkins at Ithaca. Two brothers and one sister of Mr. Watkins, Carl of Wellsboro, Pa., John and Diza of this city took dinner with their brother, it being the first time in their lives that all four had eaten a meal together. Their combined ages amount to 275 years.

E. Bates White, one of the Auburn violin-makers, died suddenly of heart failure last week at the advanced age of 82 years. The deceased was, in his younger days a noted wood carver and violin maker, and many of his instruments are owned and highly prized by some of the leading musicians of the country. Of late years Mr. White had devoted but little time to the manufacture of violins. He resided with his son-in-law, Oscar Dean in Clark street. The remains were taken to Ludlowville for interment.

Thomas Hogan of Auburn and Miss Minnie Stevenson, of Syracuse, were married last Monday in Weedsport.

The Ithaca band has made arrangements to give concerts in Geneva, Auburn and Cortland some time in February.

Rev. W. L. Bates gladdened the hearts of two souls on Wednesday, January 4th, when he united in matrimony Miss Mary W. Main of Leeward and John C. Misner of Venice.

Business of all kinds has, in New York city, gained a momentum that must make the volume of transactions and enterprises in every department of industry loom up tremendously this year. The great city, constituting one-half the state, cannot thrive as it is to thrive in 1899 without the remainder of the state participating in the avails.

The man who is tunneling Pikes Peak to obtain a water supply for Colorado Springs has a contract giving him all the ore he may find en route. As he has now come upon gold rock that assays several thousand dollars to the ton his contract may easily turn out to be one of the most profitable ever known. One result of it is not unlikely to be a general tendency in gold-bearing countries to prospect for water by tunnel rather than to store the surface flow in canyons.

The calendar for 1899 gives these facts: New Year's day is Sunday, social calls must be made on Monday and watch night services may continue into the Sabbath. Washington's birthday comes on Wednesday and Memorial day and July 4th will be celebrated on Tuesdays, Ash Wednesday on Feb. 15, Christmas on Monday, Shrove Sunday is March 21, Good Friday March 31, and Easter Sunday April 2. The new congressmen will assume their prerogatives on Saturday, March 4. May day is to be Monday. This year ends with a Sunday.

A young lady living in a near by township, is the champion girl of the period. In the month of May, last year, she planted three acres of potatoes, and in June and July kept them well and thoroughly cultivated and besides that has done all the sewing and cooking for the family, milked four cows, fed the calves, pigs and chickens, shot three crows, killed four snakes, set the dog on four tramps, attended thirteen dances and four picnics, read nine dime novels, and sat up four nights in the week with her beau, and yet we often hear the question asked: "What is there for a woman to do?"

Once in a while some one asks where the pins go to, not because he wants to know, but because he has nothing else to do. Pins are not however, the only things that disappear and refuse to be accounted for. According to a current piece of information there are 199,900,000 old-style copper pennies somewhere. Nobody knows what has become of them, except that once in a while a single specimen turns up in change. A few years ago 4,500,000 bronze two-cent pieces were set afloat. Three millions of them are still outstanding. A million three-cent silver pieces are scattered over the United States, but it is very rarely that one comes across any of them. Of the 800,000 one-half-cent pieces not one has been returned to the government for coinage or is held by the treasury. If the man who asks where the pins go to hasn't struck a job, perhaps he could devote his idle time to a quest for information as to the whereabouts of these coins.

FOR SALE—Two good Jersey cows. Inquire of Matthew Brink, Genoa.

NEIGHBORHOOD VILLAGES

The Happenings of the Week in Our Sister Villages.—Newspaper Correspondence.

North Lansing.

JAN. 9.—Mrs. Charles Bacon has been on the sick list.

Mrs. Charles Wilcox is quite ill. Hugh Shaw will move into the house with Mrs. Mary Trimmer in March.

Ed Bolles intends to move to East Venice and set up a blacksmith shop. W. S. Havens spent Thursday with his mother at Ludlowville.

Mrs. Ira Osmun is visiting her sister, Mrs. Angeline Osmun.

Another dance to be held at Grange hall soon.

Installation of Grange officers Saturday evening last.

The Masons will hold a banquet at Grange hall, Jan. 13.

There will be a three weeks' vacation in our school.

Miss Sue Boyer visited at Mrs. Will Smith's, Lansingville, last week.

Miss Lettie Lane spent two weeks with her sister, Miss Emily Boyer.

Bert Luce has been very ill of pneumonia. A council of doctors was held on Saturday last and it is hoped he will recover. There seems a little change for the better.

A child of Daniel Krotts will be interred in the North Lansing cemetery on Monday.

Forks of the Creek.

JAN. 10.—Mrs. Emily Snyder is quite ill.

Al Lyon and family of East Lansing visited at Geo. Boyer's a few days since.

The people of this vicinity feel considerably relieved since they have learned that what at first seemed a bold robbery on the premises of Geo. Ellison proved to be only a practical joke. After Mr. Ellison had been convinced that a big hole had not been made in his corncrib, he ordered the cigars to be set up.

Chas. East and family visited friends at East Genoa last Sunday.

The carpet rag sociable at Will Boyer's last Friday evening proved to be the greatest social event of the season. Dudley Alexander did credit to the craft of auctioneers by getting high bids on the balls. A large sum was realized which will go toward getting a new library for the district school. Miss Wood, the teacher, had a fine literary program prepared which was highly entertaining. A sumptuous repast that would satisfy the most fastidious epicure was served. About 70 people were present.

Cards are out announcing a party at Peter Hall's the 16th, which will be given in honor of Miss Mary's sixteenth birthday.

Ledyard.

JAN. 8.—Nearly every household has been visited by the prevailing malady, in some instances whole families being prostrated at once.

J. W. Corey has become a welcome resident of this place, having rented Mrs. Wilbur's place on the corner.

H. C. Willis has been in Auburn the past week attending court there.

A number from this place take a free ride to Auburn tomorrow. That justice may be meted out to the liquor sellers is our fervent wish.

Uncle Charles Avery is in very feeble health; we wish him a speedy recovery.

Two of our most esteemed young people have left us to join the matrimonial ranks and become residents of other towns.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Parry are convalescing, also Mrs. A. Pardon have had a hard wrestle with the grip the past week.

Mrs. C. T. Lisk and son visited her mother last week, who is in very poor health.

Erma Hill is the guest of Anna Lisk.

Lansingville.

JAN. 2.—School in this place has closed for two weeks' vacation.

Many people in this vicinity are sick with hard colds or old time la grippe.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Helen DeVoll of this place and William Tate of Venice at the home of the bride Jan. 11th.

Mrs. C. Dates was called to Genoa by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Holden, who is very sick with pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dean entertained friends at their home last Monday. Among the guests was Mrs. Eugene Slocum of Michigan.

Series of meetings are being held at the M. E. church with good attendance.

Fire Corners.

JAN. 10.—Hardly enough snow yet for good sleighing.

Extra meetings are being held in the church this week.

Seth Jewell is able to be out again after his illness.

G. J. Morrison is on the sick list.

Mrs. Frank Reaves of Cortland is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Palmer.

Miss Mary Griswold of Groton is a guest at F. F. Corwin's.

C. H. Corwin made a business trip to Auburn to day. Also Almon Dean.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Hunt and children of Levanna spent a few days recently with relatives in town.

Ira Rowland of Moravia spent the holidays at home.

Mrs. Wm. Coon died on Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Carter. Funeral Wednesday at the church at 2 p. m. Rev. Terwilliger officiates. She leaves three daughters, Mrs. Wm. R. Hunt, Mrs. Alvord of Cortland and Mrs. Carter. Mrs. Coon was dearly beloved by all and her place can hardly be filled.

When you have eaten too much, or when you suffer from any form of Dyspepsia or Indigestion, remember that Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. It cures the worst forms of Dyspepsia. J. S. Banker.

Think for a moment! If you intend to have an auction, secure the services of J. A. Hudson, the popular auctioneer, of Sherwood, N. Y. All calls promptly attended to; telephone connections.

Poultry Wanted.

Mrs. A. Chaffee will buy all kinds of poultry delivered at her residence at Forks of the Creek after Oct. 15.

FURS WANTED.

I am in need of a few thousand skunk and will pay up to Jan. 10, '99 for nice prime skins No. 1, $1.50; No. 2, $1.00; No. 3, 50c; No. 4, 25c. Highest prices for all other kinds. 6c. paid for No. 1 cow hides. F. E. PIERSON, West Groton.

LOOKING OVER

The entire field of science, nowhere has there been such progress as in the science of optics and the fitting of glasses. Our success in this line is due, in a measure, to the fact that we embrace every new, magniflorous idea, employ all the latest instruments, as well as constantly seek to originate new methods of excellence that will in any way aid us in the practice of our profession.

THE CURSE, STRONG DRINK.
BY W. H. FISHER.
Oh, help us overturn the curse
That takes from us our boys,
And leads them on from worse to worse,
And robs life of its joys.

The curse, strong drink, oh, who can tell
The sorrows that it brings—
It leads our boys and girls to hell,
And gives them wounds and stings.

'Twere bad enough if only here
It wrought its cruel pow'r—
But in eternity we hear
It ceases not an hour.

The doomed who die, cursed with strong drink,—
The "Good Word" doth declare,— Can ne'er be helped, although they shrink,
And cry out in despair.

Then help them now, (with precious souls),
For whom the Saviour died,
Remove strong drink, and point them all
To Christ, the crucified.

Temperance Arguments—New Style.
Anybody who wishes to base his discussions of the temperance question on facts and figures, as distinguished from morals and emotions, will find a vast store of valuable material, raw or nearly raw, in the twelfth annual report of the Commissioner of Labor. The title of the volume, "Economic Aspects of the Liquor Problem," sufficiently indicates the character of its contents. The Labor Bureau, it is hardly necessary to state, has not been devoting its attention for the past year exclusively to this subject, but by chance none of the other investigations undertaken has reached a point warranting immediate presentation, and therefore Commissioner Wright's report of 275 pages is wholly given up to a single topic.

Of the importance of that topic there can be no doubt, and this assemblage of statistics, at once exhaustive and trustworthy is especially welcome at the present time, when the usefulness of dealing with intemperance in the old way has been generally recognized, and the advocates of sobriety are coming more and more to rely on arguments founded on and addressed to the plainest of common sense.

A large part of the report is taken up with tables supplying information in regard to the production and consumption of intoxicants and the traffic in them. The answer to almost any question likely to arise in reference to these matters can here be readily found, but probably the most interesting, and certainly the most novel part of the book gives the results obtained by addressing inquiries to employers concerning their experiences and practices relative to the use of intoxicants by their employees. Every careful observer of the times must have been impressed by the fact that the present marked improvements in the habits of all civilized people, as regards drinking, has come from the realization by business men of the incompatibility between commercial or industrial success and overindulgence in stimulants. The reform of the employers was effected some time ago, and now that of the employees is far advanced. Already it is a matter of extreme difficulty for an out-and-out drunkard to secure work of any sort, and it daily becomes more difficult for what is called "the drinking man" to do so.

Wise Words From A Good Man.
Governor Buckingham, the good, wise Governor of Connecticut years ago, gave his reasons for being a total abstainer in these words:

"It is safer for me to abstain than to drink. If I should indulge in drink, I am afraid I should not stop at the line which may be called temperance, but should become a slave to the habit, and with others, of stronger nerve and firmer purposes, go down to a drunkard's grave. If I indulge, I am not safe. We talk of the purity and dignity of human nature, and of relying upon our self-respect for security; but there is no degradation so low that a man will not sink into, and no crime so hellish that he will not commit, when he is drunk. There is nothing so base, so impure, so mean, so dishonest, so corrupt, that a man will not do when under the law of sin—of appetite.
Safety is to be found in not yielding ourselves to that law. But if it could be proved conclusively to my own mind that I could drink and never be injured, yet, with my views on the subject, it would be my duty to abstain.
I could not be certain but others, seeing me drink, might be influenced to drink also, and, being unable to stop, pass on the path of the drunkard. My example would, in that case, be evil.
But, I ask, am I my brother's keeper?
Yes, I am responsible for my inaction; and lest it shall be evil, I am under a high moral and religious obligation to deny myself that which may not injure me, but will injure him. If I neither taste, nor touch, nor handle, nor countenance, then my example will not lead others to become drunkards."

Life Saving Vest.
An English inventor has patented a life saving vest to be worn on sea voyages, which is shaped like an ordinary vest and may be worn as such, inflatable pockets being provided, which are filled with air through a mouthpiece carried in the pocket and attached to a tube connected with the interior of the vest.

Mountains of the Monks.
There is a region in Macedonia known as "The Mountain of the Monks," because there are no fewer than twenty magnificent monasteries scattered in the sheltered recesses, or on the tops of the lofty crags.

Percentage of Deaf Mutes.
Seven out of every 10,000 inhabitants of the United States are deaf and dumb.
Of these 55 per cent. are males and 45 per cent. females. The affliction is much less common among colored people than among whites.

Squirrel in Amber.
Flies are not the only thing found in amber. In a big mass of clear amber dredged up out of the Baltic sea there was distinctly visible in its interior a small squirrel-fur, teeth and claws intact.

The sooner a cough or cold is cured with ering colds are dangerous. Hacking cough is distressing. One Minute Cough Cure

Foreclosure Sale.
WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of the money secured by a mortgage dated February 23, 1895, executed by Michael Bruton, of Genoa, N. Y., to Levi Warner, of the same place, recorded in Cayuga County Clerk's office, on March 9, 1895, at 9 o'clock, a. m. in Liber 126 of Mortgages, page 333, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover said money, or any part thereof, and the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the time publication of this notice being $75 74, which is the whole amount unpaid thereon; now, therefore, notice is hereby given, according to the statute in such case made and provided, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and therewith recorded, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described by the subscriber at public auction, on the 15th day of March, 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the front door of the First National Bank in Moravia village, N. Y.

A Pleasant Reception.

When Mr. J. C. Misner of Venice and his bride (nee Miss May Main of Ledyard) returned from Moravia, where they had been to have the nuptial knot tied, on Wednesday evening, Jan. 4, they found a host of friends and neighbors assembled to welcome them. It was a joyous gathering and the spacious rooms resounded with laughter and merriment. Oysters and other refreshments were served during the evening, and at a late hour the company dispersed wishing the young couple a long life and much happiness, and leaving as a memento of their respect and esteem a handsome rocker.

Venice, January the tenth.

Surrogate's Court.

In the matter of Ada M. Smart, late a minor, an order was entered discharging her guardian.

In the estate of Bridget Colley, of Ledyard, upon filing a bond of $500 letters of administration were issued to Peter McCormick. Andrew Allen and Joseph Painter were appointed appraisers.

In the estate of Hiram W. Shaw, of Genoa, Byron Hunt and Robert Mastin were appointed appraisers.

A Railroad Hearing.

The State Railroad Commission sat at Moravia Tuesday to listen to the application of the Syracuse, Skaneateles & Moravia railroad company to build the proposed line from Moravia to Syracuse. Considerable opposition was made by the N. Y. Central and the Syracuse Rapid Transit Co. and the matter was postponed until January 26, at Auburn.

Here are Great Bargains.

Elsewhere in these pages will be found an important announcement by Mr. E. C. Lathrop. He has inaugurated a special sale of boots, shoes, gloves and mittens at his Auburn store on Saturday morning, January 14. This sale is offered to reduce stock and it will be reduced if low prices will do it, preparatory to taking an inventory. An examination of his stock will prove profitable to everybody in need of goods in his line.

Resolutions.

The W. C. T. U. of Five Corners and West Genoa unite in the following resolutions:

WHEREAS—It has pleased our unerring Heavenly Father "with whom there is no variableness, neither shadow or turning," to remove from us forever our friend and sister, Mrs. Matilda Bacon, be it

Resolved, that in her death we mourn the loss of a life-long advocate of Temperance which secured our respect and affection.

Resolved, that we cherish in loving remembrance the interest she ever manifested in our union, and be subservient to an all wise Providence.

Resolved, that these resolutions be sent to the family of our deceased sister, presented to the GENOA TRIBUNE for publication and entered upon the records of the union.

JAN. 1 (Omitted last week.) Coldest morning yet. Why should not a "white New Years" be an occasion of rejoicing as is a "white Christmas," as the white page of the new year is before us?

There is deep sadness in many homes while the holiday festivities are taking place around us, for many who were here last year are sleeping in their graves.

The sudden death on Christmas morning of the young man near Lansingville sent a shock through the community. Morphine whether taken intentionally or not is a deadly drug and all its kindred should be handled with caution.

Miss Alma Moe of Albany spent the holiday season with her mother.

Miss Mabel Beebe and brother George spent the holiday week at home.

A Non-Treating Club.

A Non-Treating Club has just been formed in Chicago, the members of which pledge themselves not to treat anybody. "In a short time," says The Chicago Tribune, "Chapters will exist in every large city from Maine to California. Five thousand buttons and cards were issued the first few days, ten thousand more buttons have been ordered, and the demand at present is greater than the supply. The organizers and promoters of the club are some of the general and traveling passenger agents located in Chicago."

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK:—To George Edwards, Charles H. Edwards, Joshua Edwards, Allen Edwards, Mary J. Ferrigo.

EMER GREETING: Whereas, E. BYRON WHITTEN of Genoa, N. Y., has lately applied to our Surrogate's Court of the County of Cayuga for the proof and probate of a certain instrument in writing, dated the 1st day of January, 1897, purporting to be the last will and testament of Eber Edwards late of Venice, in said county, deceased, which relates to both real and personal estate. Therefore, you and each of you are cited to appear in our said Surrogate's court, before the Surrogate of the County of Cayuga, at his office in the court house, in the city of Auburn, on the 25th day of February 1899, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, and attend the probate of said last will and testament (and codicil thereto). And those of you who are under the age of twenty-one years, are required to appear by your general guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, you will appear and apply for the appointment of a guardian, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a special guardian will be appointed by the surrogate to represent and act for you in this proceeding.

In Testimony Whereof, We have caused the seal of our said Surrogate's Court to be hereunto affixed.

Witness, Hon. George B. Turner, Surrogate of the County of Cayuga, at the Surrogate's office in the city of Auburn, this 14th day of January, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety nine.

THE VILLAGE MIRROR

What Has Happened in Genoa During the Past Seven Days—An Interesting Page.

—Can you write it '99 every time, now?

—Good cows are excellent property these days.

—Town election candidates are being selected.

—Fay Reese was in Summerhill last Thursday.

—Wm. Oliver is out again after a tussle with the grip.

—E. H. Tift and wife are spending a week in Ithaca.

—E. S. Heaton of Auburn was in town on business Tuesday.

—A large amount of clear 10-inch ice has been harvested this week.

—Miss Lena Gilkey has been quite ill this week. She is convalescing.

—S. Muggleton is slowly recovering from a long and tedious illness.

—D. G. Ellison of Five Corners made this office a pleasant call Thursday.

—A. E. Trea, the Groton jeweler, was with his parents here over the week.

—D. W. Smith is out again having finished a week's contract with the grip.

—Look to your chimneys, or there may be a hot time in town, some night.

—Rev. P. J. Williams and wife of North Lansing visited friends here recently.

—Miss Clara Sellen offers her residence for sale or rent. See notice elsewhere.

—E. S. Muggleton went to Auburn Tuesday where he will work in Osborne's shops.

—Wm. Huson has been a victim of the grip the past few days, but is now out again.

—L. B. Norman who was confined to the house a few days but is on the gain at this writing.

—Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Mead were guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Buck at Groton, last week.

—Bills announce a fox chase at Lansingville today at 1 o'clock. A purse of $10 will be divided.

—And now there is a biscuit trust. For a long time the biscuits of some cooks could not be trusted.

—Miss Maud Bower who teaches the Pine Hollow school, visited with friends here over the week.

—The Genoa orchestra has several new selections in study and will soon have a large list of popular music.

—M. J. Beardsley lost a valuable cow on Friday night last. It is his second loss of this kind in four years.

—Several of the Masonic fraternity hereabout attended the 39th convention at Auburn yesterday and today.

—Among the grip victims of the past week are Fred Fulmer and family, Mrs. D. Norman and Mrs. D. E. Singer.

—Mason Metzgar and wife and Duane Jones and wife of Groton recently visited their sister, Mrs. Delos Niles.

—The serial story which has filled a page in THE TRIBUNE for some months ends in this issue. It was a good one.

—Tuesday morning, Wm. McKane died at his home north of Groton of pneumonia. He had been ill but a few days.

—Arthur Nottingham of Groton and Leroy Nottingham of West Dryden were guests of their sister, Mrs. D. E. Singer, this week.

—When you wish to buy or sell, a small amount of money invested in a local ad. in THE TRIBUNE will assist you greatly. Try it.

—John Buchanan was arrested by an officer from Dryden on Tuesday and taken there to face the charge of "jumping" a board bill.

—Any readers of this paper who obtained portraits of Leader when he was here, and who want more pictures, can secure them from the same negatives of Mr. Taber at the gallery.

—A clever up-to-date woman was asked her opinion as to what constitutes a heroine, replied: "It is an educated American woman who does her own housework." Right she is.

—We regret that we have not the space for a very interesting letter from our East Venice correspondent, descriptive of Syracuse, where he passed Christmas with friends.

—Cash paid for eggs at O. M. Avery's.

Paid for this TRIBUNE?

—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Palmer are rejoicing over the birth of a son, Dec. 22d.

—Miss Lillian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McAllister, recently gave a tea party to her young friends.

—Friday evening, Jan. 20, Mrs. Ella Norton Mason will give one of her interesting lectures in the church at Belltown.

—C. F. Whitcomb has accepted a pastorate and will soon leave to take charge of the same. He begins next Monday to close out his stock of goods at his Lake Ridge store.

—There was a coal famine at Lake Ridge and Ludlowville last week; not a pound of coal was to be had at either place, on Saturday. Plenty is expected to be on hand this week, however.

—A large number of Genoa & King Ferry people attended the public installation of Masonic officers at North Lansing last evening. The banquet was furnished by Landlord Spangler, and was of a high order.

David Kinney has Buff Leghorn eggs for sale at reasonable rates per sitting. These fowls are the best for laying known.

—John Booker, well known and honored by a large circle of acquaintances, died at his home north of the village Tuesday, Jan. 10, 1899, aged 82 years and 4 months. Funeral services were held Friday at 1:30 at the Presbyterian church; interment in Genoa cemetery.

—We have received the usual numerous call for calendars this winter and regret that we have thus far been unable to supply the demand. Calendars cost money, and we cannot send them out to subscribers who fail to pay in advance for their TRIBUNE. Next week we hope to mail one to each subscriber who pays in advance.

Cash paid for hides, skins, pelts, cake tallow. Lackawanna Fertilizer and Chemical Co., Moosic, Pa. W. S. Loomis, Agt., Genoa.

—Fred Trumpeter of the Grinnell farm, Levanna, on returning home from Union Springs early Christmas eve, discovered thieves in his hen house. He ran after one whom he found to be Will Knapp. Two others who escaped him were George Whipple and Joseph Landon, all three of the neighborhood of Union Springs.

—In making up your list of newspapers, don't overlook the World Almanac. It costs only 25 cents and is filled with practical and useful facts not found elsewhere. The '99 edition contains a complete history of the war, with figures and facts not found in any other periodical. We are ordering these every week now; send in your order.

Frames made to order at the photo gallery.

—Remember the masque ball at the rink here next Friday evening. It will be the event of the dancing season. The gentleman wearing the most conspicuous costume and the one whose lady wears the handsomest costume will each be awarded the prize of a free ticket. Get a mask at Smith's and make arrangements to attend.

—Some people think they can stop a newspaper when they are in arrears a couple of years by dropping a letter in the postoffice asking its discontinuance or asking the postmaster to do it. No one but a genuine dead beat would do an act of this description. An honest person will go to the newspaper office, settle up and say he doesn't want the paper any longer, and thus he keeps his manhood and the friendship of the editor.

—Mrs. Byron Hunt has a fine line of Sailors and Walking Hats at greatly reduced prices.

—In making new resolutions for the new year make a solemn resolve that you will not gossip, tattle or lie. These three faults are the most contemptible any person can have. They cause trouble, discord, distress and have broken up families. They are besetting but probably not unpardonable sins. Get rid of them and treat your neighbor honestly and squarely; the same to his or her back as to their face. Better that you had a stone tied to your neck and were cast into the depths of the mill pond than to be a pack pedler of gossip and slander.

—Insure your buildings in the Tompkins County Co-operative Company, P. C. Storm, agent.

AT RICH'S, ITHACA,

"MY FATHER'S KIND."

BY WM. E. FISHER.
 My father's kind, indeed he is—
 He never would have done
 The awful deed that brought him here
 Had it not been for rum.
 He loved my mother far too well
 To hit her such a blow—
 'Twas drink that made him do the deed,
 As all the neighbors know.
 They knew him when he was a man Whose acts were kind and true;
 A kindly man—before strong drink
 His brain went surging through.
 Just let him go—he loves us so;
 I know he'll do what's right—
 If you'll but let him come with us,
 We'll keep drink from his sight.
 The children now are left alone—
 The father has gone too;
 But will the great Judge on his throne
 Say that the law is true
 Which legalizes men to sell
 The drink that deed come through?
 *Founded on fact.

A Just and Fearless Judge.

The following arraignment upon the license liquor traffic was recently made by Judge Jay H. Boughton, of Colorado, in pronouncing sentence upon a man who had been convicted of a serious crime, committed in a saloon on a Sunday evening:

"The fact is again brought prominently before us, stares us in the face here out of these records in such a manner that we cannot escape it, that this is another crime attributed to the open saloon. I weigh my words well in what I say in this connection, after mature and careful deliberation, and I assume the responsibility for everything I say regarding this infamous business.

"It is a business I know all about; this is a matter upon which I do not have to seek information. It is a fact as plain as the noonday sun, and it is confirmed by all human experience, that the saloon is the hotbed of crime, vice and debauchery; that it cannot live for one single day without dragging boys within its meshes, manufacturing drunkards out of our boys to take the places of older drunkards who have passed beyond the reach of the saloon, or to such a stage where their patronage is unprofitable to the rumrunner. Boys must step up to the bar to take their places. The saloons cannot live without making drunkards out of our boys one single day, any more than yonder flour-mill can run one day in the manufacture of flour without using wheat. This is a consequence which flows directly from the open saloon. People may be shocked at the commission of a crime of this character on the Sabbath-day in a law-abiding community like ours, but they need not be shocked. No intelligent man in this day and age of the world has a right to be shocked at the discovery of such a crime committed within the portals of these man-traps.

"This is the legitimate consequence and fruit of the business; and, as has been developed by the facts in this case, boys are not the only meat this monster feeds upon, it does not stop with boys. Its demoralizing influence reaches every family directly or indirectly. The young girl is not safe from its clutches. And the fact of it having been legalized by the votes of Christian men and women does not render the crimes committed in its name any the less atrocious.

"The facts and circumstances developed during this trial confirm my conclusions in this respect; they are uncontrovertible, and the result cannot be escaped. We see women walking our streets, gaunt with hunger, half-dad and hollow-eyed with misery; children bare-footed, prematurely old, haggard with hunger and brutal treatment; women broken-hearted because of the debauchery of their husbands, fathers, and brothers by this hydra-headed monster, which is created, protected, legalized, and pampered by the laws of a Christian government."—The Outlook.

Beer and Life Insurance.

Very many persons honestly believe that beer-drinking is helpful, and laugh at the idea that it can be in the least harmful. They say that only fanatics and temperance cranks would speak against such an innocent drink as beer. Such persons ought to read what insurance doctors say about it. At a recent convention of the doctors the subject of beer drinking was thoroughly discussed in a scientific way. What conclusion did they arrive at? Is beer good for us to drink, will it strengthen us and prolong our lives? Surely the doctors should know. They said that the habit of drinking beer is injurious and makes persons bad risks for life insurance. Dr. Rogers, of the New York Life Insurance Company, said:

"Recently I had occasion to make some study of what happens among persons engaged in the manufacture of beer, defined generally as brewers. My cases included not only the workmen engaged in the breweries, but also the proprietors of breweries. It is a curious fact that the mortality among the proprietors is about as high as among the workmen, showing that they are all given to copious libations. "The mortality is low among brewers in early years. Up to forty or thereabouts brewers seem to be about as good risks as pretty much anybody else. After forty the mortality rises very high, and I should say that at fifty-five or sixty years of age about three brewers may be expected to die where one average person dies."

So you see, boys, the man who drinks beer takes a financial risk. He is not so good a subject for the life insurance company as the total abstainer.

GEO. CULVER.

The Truth About Vaccination.

In a recent lecture delivered at Rome and reported in the London Lancet, Dr. Bizzozzero made a deep impression by his summing up of the argument for vaccination. He said: Germany stands alone in fulfilling in great measure the demands of hygiene, having in consequence of the calamitous smallpox epidemic of 1870-71 enacted the law of 1894 which "makes vaccination obligatory in the first year of life and revaccination also obligatory at the tenth year." What was the result? With a population of 50,000,000, having in 1871 lost 143,000 lives by smallpox, she found by her law of 1874 the mortality diminished so rapidly that to-day the disease numbers only 116 victims a year. These cases, moreover, occur almost exclusively in towns on her frontier. If it were true, continued Professor Bizzozzero, that a good vaccination does not protect from smallpox we ought to find in smallpox epidemics that the disease diffuses itself in the well-vaccinated no less than in the non-vaccinated countries. But it is not so. In 1870-71, during the Franco-German war, the two peoples interpenetrated each other, the German having its civil population vaccinated optionally, but its army completely revaccinated, while the French (population and army alike) were vaccinated perfunctorily. Both were attacked by smallpox; but the French army numbered 23,000 deaths by it, while the German army had only 278; and in the same tent, breathing the same air, the French wounded were heavily visited by the disease, while the German wounded, having been revaccinated, had not a single case.

Athletes Make Poor Soldiers.
An odd fact developed by the campaign of the Seventy-first is this, at least it seems to be established, that given equal hardships, men in fine athletic training suffer more than men in ordinary condition. Statistics show, in this regiment, that the runners, the jumpers, the crack bicycle riders and the record men generally were readier fever victims than their comrades and gave out sooner in the emergencies of the battlefield. There was Sergeant Meeks, long-distance runner, and "Hub" Smith, a bicycle rider, and Siebold, a winner of running races, and Ott, a sprinter and hurdler, and Private Meeks, another bicycle rider, and Divaniss, a runner, and so on through a long list. Almost without exception these fine athletes fell into illness or utter collapse with the first strain put upon them. They made worse fever cases and sycanter cases than the others, and appeared to nurses and doctors as beyond question that the thorough physical training which these men completed just before the war, in anticipation of the spring athletic games, as a serious impairment of their powers for resisting disease. It is worthy of note, also, that most of these athletes indulged neither in drink nor tobacco.—Leslie's Weekly.

A TEMPERANCE COLUMN.

THE DRINK EVIL MADE MANIFEST IN MANY WAYS.

The Late Francis E. Willard's Poetical Temperance Pledge—Influence of Public Sentiment Against the Excessive Use of Liquor—Drankards Lose Caste.

We will not buy,
We will not make,
We will not use,
We will not take
Wine, cider, beer,
Rum, whisky, gin;
Because they lead
Mankind to sin.
—Francis E. Willard.

The Cause of Temperance.
The Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which has recently held its convention at St. Paul, had a paper read before it in which the point was made that, while the use of alcoholic liquors had increased materially in foreign countries, it had in the last ten years undergone a sensible reduction in the United States—that is, taking the number of our people into account. The writer of this paper went on to say that as during that time there had been no special agitation in favor of temperance, as there had been no conspicuous instance of applications of prohibition laws, the only reason that could be given for this decrease in the consumption of alcoholic liquors in the United States was the instruction that had been given in the public schools as to the disastrous effects of alcohol when taken as a beverage. It seems to us that this is one of those cases of an entire misconception of cause. To assume that the character of the American people is being revolutionized by this class of instruction in our public schools is wholly ridiculous. We do not say that the instruction is not of advantage, but is of only slight advantage, if for no other reason because it is only attempted in a relatively few localities. Even if it were general, we should doubt whether it would be noticeably effective. The cause for the decrease in the use of alcoholic liquors in this country is one which does not need any anxious seeking, because it is obvious to any one who considers the subject in an unprejudiced manner. It is growth of public sentiment against the excessive use of liquor. In European countries drunkenness is condoned as an offence of slight importance. In the United States it is the exceptional family in which the drunkenness of one of the members would not be regarded with intense horror. There are few social circles that will freely admit a person who is known to be an habitual drunkard, and even a man who occasionally drinks to excess loses caste in all but somewhat shady society. The standard has been set in the upper social classes, and is gradually penetrating down through all of the middle and lower grades; hence the time is not distant when, even among those who now look on excessive drinking with toleration, the excessive drinker will be tabooed as an unfit associate. These social laws and social penalties are infinitely stronger and more binding in their character than any law that a Legislature can enact.—Boston Herald.

A Chaplain's Personal Experience.
Perhaps no one is more competent to write on "Prisons and Prisoners" than Rev. Mr. Horsley. His experience of both has been considerable, and he has devoted much time and attention to the study of crime and its causes. The earlier chapters in the present book deal with prison statistics, education and crime, and so on, and bristle with facts and figures well worthy of the attention of the social reformer. But perhaps the most interesting portions of the work are those in which Mr. Horsley gives an account of some of his personal experiences with members of the criminal class. Here are some particulars of money spent on drink gathered from prisoners who came under his observation. Coal-whipper was once teetotal for nine months and saved $50, and makes from $10 to $20 a week, but spends up to even $5 a day sometimes, on beer for himself and others. Sailor spent $165 in a month on drink, "with nothing to show for it except being here;" once was a teetotaler for eighteen months when a bluejacket, and saved $215. Coachman, old soldier, had $1000 savings, but spent it all in drink between November and March. Man, twenty-eight, began at 6 a. m. with rum, spent $1.75 of his own, then sold a donkey to a sweep for $6.25, appropriated the money, and had only seven cents left at the end of the day. These are but a few typical cases. Teetotalers also occasionally find their way to prison, as Mr. Horsley points out, but he makes the startling statement that "in the absence of the liquor traffic, one police court and one prison would certainly be sufficient for the metropolis."

Ident. Hobson's Temperance Education.
At the recent hearing before the House Committee on Territories, Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, of Boston, speaking of the good results that had come from the enactment of other laws in behalf of which she had at other times appeared before Congress, related an interesting incident in regard to Lieutenant Hobson. She said that after the adoption of a course of systematic instruction in temperance hygiene and physiology in the Naval Academy at Annapolis, in accordance with a law passed through her instrumentality, she visited that institution on the occasion of the graduation of a class, and heard Hobson, who was a member of the class, discuss, as a part of his graduating examination, the damaging effect of alcohol on the human system, and particularly its relation to the performance of a sailor's duty under circumstances of exposure. To the knowledge gained by the instruction given at the Naval Academy she attributed the fact that when the last officer of the Texas going over the rail of the doomed Merrimac at two o'clock on the morning of Hobson's great exploit, turning, asked him: "Shall we send you some breakfast, old man?" Hobson replied: "No, we don't care for breakfast, but send us plenty of"—not whisky, as any officer of the navy would have requested twenty years ago, but "coffee." Mrs. Hunt attributed the clear-headed activity that made the desperate venture of Hobson and his companions successful, to the absence of liquor.

He's a Teetotaler.
He tried everything he could hear of, winding up at an institute, but the drink habit could not be eradicated. One day he said he would try an original experiment on himself. He would take a large bottle with him for a day, and whenever he wanted a drink would pour it into the bottle instead of into his gullet. He denied himself nothing, but went the same old rounds, a glass of rye here, a glass of Bourbon there, beer everywhere, gin when there was gin, and whisky when there was whisky. The day was done the bottle contained a mass of mud, and he looked so unwell and unwell as to feel sure that the man who had taken it had done it for life.—New York Press.

Here's Some Good Advice.

"The family doctor should din it in to the mother's head all of the time, that the health of the children lies in the feet. No child should be allowed to go out into the snow or rain, or when the walking is wet, without rubbers. When children's rubbers cost only 25 or 30 cents a pair, nobody can plead expense as an excuse. Many a fond mother who has lost a child, weepingly lays it all to the inscrutable dispensation of Providence, when the whole trouble was the child had no rubbers."—American Journal of Health.

Paris's New Plaything.
Paris is now to have what is termed a Theatre de la Nature, or scientific playhouse. The stage of the Bodiniere has been arranged for this purpose, and on it will be shown phenomena of the earth, air and sky, as well as episodes in the lives of famous explorers in the most curious parts of the globe. Lectures or conferences are to be delivered in connection with the scenes, and this evidently levels the so-called theatre to the rank of a panorama. The first production billed for the new theatre is the creation of the world, with explanatory words by the politician, Clovis Hugues. The theatre will be open every night, and there are to be matinees on Thursdays and Sundays.—London Telegraph.

Every farmer's wife knows how necessary it is that the milk buckets, pans, churns, and other implements of the dairy, be perfectly clean and free from taint. A common yellow soap that smells of rosin should never be used for washing these. Such soaps are made of materials that you would not use for any purpose. Besides, they are sticky and the soap will get into the cracks and corners and stay there. Ivory Soap is pure, it is well made, and only sweet, clean materials are used. Then it rinses readily.

DYSPEPSIA. GOLD

Geo. S. Scally, of 75 Nassau St., New York, says: "Five years I have been troubled with dyspepsia and dyspepsia, and I came to the conclusion to try your pills. I immediately found great relief from their use; I feel like a new man since I commenced taking them, and would not now be without them. The drowsy, sleepy feeling I used to have has entirely disappeared. The dyspepsia has left me and my rheumatism is gone entirely. I am satisfied if any one so afflicted will give Radway's Pills a trial they will surely cure them, for I believe it all comes from the system being out of order—the liver not doing its work."

BETTER THAN BUTTER

Butterine is. That is, it is better than very nearly all butter. The best butter that can be produced is as good as Butterine. It isn't better. It can't be. And the butter is as good only at the moment it comes from the churn. It doesn't stay any better and Butterine remains on a parity only for a few moments. The butter begins to deteriorate immediately. The Butterine doesn't. Why do you not buy Butterine? You are enjoying other modern masterpieces of science; why not this wholesome and economical one? We want you to try it. And these elements are practically identical. That's why butter can't be better than Butterine. Pure Klondike gold can't be any better than pure Cripple Creek gold. Gold is gold. Certain elements are the same whether in water or Butterine—whether in the milk or the fat of a cow. The difference between Butterine and the best butter is solely in the process of making. The Butterine process is superior and is a guarantee of purity. And with all its merits Butterine costs less than butter—only 15c. per pound. And at this low price we will send it to you express prepaid. 10 lb packages in 1 lb prints. 25 lb packages in 1 lb rolls. 40 lb packages (gold). You are enjoying other modern masterpieces of science; why not this wholesome and economical one? We want you to try it. WILKINS & CO., 208 9th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. F. O. Box 325.

THE delights of an evening spent around a well-lighted reading table are not half understood. An illustrated magazine with its wealth of illustrations, its stories of adventure and love, its descriptions of travel which carry you to the remotest ends of the earth, and its instructive articles for young and old—these are the first requisites for your own enjoyment and the entertainment and proper education of your children.

To secure for you the best and most interesting of the great illustrated magazines at the lowest possible price has been the aim of the editor of this journal. That we have succeeded we leave our readers to judge. A special contract recently entered into with The Cosmopolitan, which seeks to become better known in this neighborhood, has enabled us to offer you a year's subscription to the greatest of the illustrated magazines together with a year's subscription to this journal,

Both Together One Year for Only $ 1.85

In this way you secure your own home paper and an illustrated magazine at a price that is only about a fourth of what some of the illustrated magazines sell for. For three years The Cosmopolitan has undisputedly claimed that it reached the largest clientele possessed by any periodical, daily, weekly or monthly, in the world. It was The Cosmopolitan which sent Julian Hawthorne to India to let the world know the real horrors of famine and plague. It was The Cosmopolitan which established at its own cost a great Free Correspondence University which now has over 20,000 students on its rolls. It was The Cosmopolitan which offered a prize of $3,000 for the best horseless carriage and prizes for best plans for public baths, and best arrangement of sewer and pipe systems for cities. It was The Cosmopolitan which set the presidents of great schools and universities seriously discussing the defects of existing educational systems. It is The Cosmopolitan whose enterprise is always in the lead in advancing the world's civilization.

We now have everything in readiness for the buckwheat grinding. We are able to do better for our customers than any other mill in this section. It will pay everyone who has any buckwheat to grind to bring it to us. We continue to grind wheat by the mill stone process and are doing some nice work in that line. Feed ground any day and every day, and ground FINE. All milling goods constantly on hand, and for sale at lowest prices.

We publish an advertisement of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure in our columns this issue, and wish to say to our patrons that we believe this preparation is worthy of a trial by any person suffering from this agonizing complaint. We honestly believe this preparation will do for you all the manufacturers claim for it. Lodol Dyspepsia Cure is prepared by the well known and reliable firm of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, and from our long experience in a business sense, with this firm as advertisers, we feel safe in saying that they would not place on the market a preparation for the cure of dyspepsia unless they had a remedy of the highest merit, and conscientiously believed it would cure this well known and almost universal complaint. We further add that if this preparation is equal to the other well known remedies which they make viz.—DeWitt's Little Early Risers, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve and One Minute Cough Cure, it will speedily win its way into public favor. We cheerfully and heartily give our personal endorsement to this concern, and the reliability of the goods they manufacture, which have been largely the means of their success, and in writing this voluntary endorsement on our part, we feel that we are simply performing a duty which we owe to patrons.

I want to let the people who suffer from Rheumatism and Stiffness know that Chamberlain's Pain Balm relieved me after a number of other medicines and a doctor had failed. It is the best liniment I have ever known of.—J. A. DODDERS, Alpharetta, Ga. Thousands have been cured of rheumatism by this remedy. One application relieves the pain. For sale by J. S. Banker.
