CLAIMS HE IS CZAR NICHOLAS

Claimant to Throne of Russia
Reported to Be Gathering
Support in Siberia.

SAYS SERVANT WAS KILLED

Present Soviet Government Has Offered 2,000,000 Rubles for Alleged Pretender's Head—Pretenders of Bygone Days.

New York.—A recent dispatch from London brings the information that a man purporting to be Czar Nicholas II of Russia is raising a large following in Siberia. According to his allegations, he asserts that it was one of his faithful servants who was killed in his place by the bolsheviks at Ekaterinburg over two years ago. The present soviet government has offered a reward of 2,000,000 rubles for this alleged pretender's head.

If this man is an impostor another name can be added to the long list of pretenders to the crowns of Europe. In bygone days some were successful in establishing their claims, while others paid the penalty for their false allegations on the guillotine. One of the successful claimants to a throne of Europe proved to be a wise and able ruler.

About 1493 a mysterious stranger appeared in Cork, Ireland, where the people greeted him as the brother of Edward IV of England, but he denied this. They then claimed that he was the son of Richard III, and he denied this too. But at length he admitted that he was the duke of York, one of the two princes whom it was believed Richard III had murdered in the tower of London.

Members of the nobility came from England, and after questioning the stranger they were convinced that he was the duke of York. He then called himself Richard Plantagenet, duke of York, son of Edward IV, and by right of succession Richard IV of England.

Henry VII was then ruler of England, and he did all in his power to thwart the designs of the new claimant to the throne. He succeeded in driving him out of France by forcing Charles VIII to banish him, and he defeated him when he invaded England from Scotland. Richard IV then sought refuge in Cornwall and later marched on London at the head of 7,000 Cornishmen who rallied to his banner, but he was defeated and taken prisoner.

Admitted He Was Adventurer.
It was said that Henry VII obtained a confession from him by torture. He admitted that he was one Perkin Warbeck, an adventurer from Picardy. After several weeks in the public stocks this pretender was executed.

James II became unpopular by favoring the church of Rome, so William and Mary were invited to accept the throne of England, since Mary was the eldest child of Charles II. But a year before they assumed their regal duties it was announced that James' consort was about to present him with an heir. However, a rumor spread that James was about to pass off on the unsuspecting public as his heir a child that was not his own. The birth of Prince James Francis Edward Stuart, who was known in later years as the Chevalier St. George, was witnessed by persons not really believed by the people. The following year James II was forced to flee to France.

Many years later the two daughters of Sir Theophilus Oglethorpe, who was a faithful follower of James II, were overheard by Frances Shaftoe, a seamstress, to remark that James Stuart, the Chevalier St. George, was their brother. One night the queen's infant died of convulsions at Windsor and Lady Oglethorpe brought her son, nine days older, to the castle and he was substituted for the prince.

Oglethorpe's daughters had Frances Shaftoe confined in a French convent when they learned she shared their secret, but she succeeded in sending word to her mother. When it was published that Oglethorpe's son was supposed to be the prince the Chevalier St. George's plans in Scotland failed.

Catherine's Coup.
Immediately after Catharine and Peter III ascended the throne of Russia Catharine had her husband thrown into prison and later executed his death. Five years later a stranger who said he was Czar Peter III turned up in Montenegro. The people of that country were sorely in need of a ruler, so they asked the alleged Peter to lead their armies in battle, and later he took over the reins of government under the title of Stephen the Little. He established courts of law and bettered living conditions throughout the country.

Catharine soon learned that Montenegro was a power to be reckoned with, so she denounced Stephen as an impostor. He was thrown into jail and a representative of Catharine visited him. Presumably they came to some agreement and Stephen was permitted to return to his throne.

New Kind of Rent Profiteer.
Newark.—Police here are on the lookout for a new kind of rent profiteer—the kind who accepts deposits, but has nothing to rent. Scores of anxious would-be tenants complained to the authorities that they had made deposits, ranging from $10 to $20, to a man who strutted around new apartment buildings posing as the landlord.

AWFUL CONDITIONS IN INDIA

Worst in 45 Years, Says a Baptist Foreign Missionary Society Report.

New York.—Economic conditions in India now are the worst in the last 45 years, according to a survey by the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, made public here. The report, prepared by Rev. W. L. Ferguson, describes a state of "unrest, with political and social disorders such as India has not known for centuries. If ever."

"Conditions in south India have squaled the worst ever known to the inhabitants of that poverty-stricken country," it continues. "Our mission stations, besieged day and night by throngs of hungry people crying for food, were able to offer but slight aid, the appeal was so great. Men and women, through sheer weakness, staggered about like drunken people. Suffering was intensified by lack of drinking water, while an epidemic of cholera took great tolls of human life."

"Our missionaries provided relief to the best of their ability, and for months over a hundred children without protection, food or clothing were fed and sheltered at the Baptist compound at Soorjapett. Famine camps set up by the government often fed as many as 5,000 at a time."

"Historic old shade trees were stripped of all foliage to provide fodder for the cattle. In ordinary times the lopping off of a single branch of one of these would have been considered a crime."

He Dropped Her Hand When the Bear Growled

New York.—A young man and a young woman were walking along Ferris avenue in White Plains holding hands and talking of the future, when they heard something grunt and say, "Woof! Woof!" behind them.

"A pig!" said the young woman. "How funny a pig should be out at night!"

But it didn't sound to the young man like a pig. He turned and looked and saw a big black bear ambling along not more than ten feet behind them. Both he and the young woman went home without further comment.

Since that time at least five persons have complained to the White Plains police that the bear has interrupted their wanderings along Ferris avenue. The animal appears to operate along Cemetery road also. The first two or three nights the bear was alone, but three people told the police that the animal had a couple of little ones along. Plenty of tracks have been found.

GALVESTON IN SECOND PLACE

Ranks Next to New York in Total Value of Shipments to Foreign Countries.

Washington.—Galveston, Texas, took second rank among ports of the United States in the value of exports during the fiscal year ended last June 30. The total value of its foreign shipments as given by the department of commerce was $598,239,227, or nearly double those in 1919, and greater by three times than those in 1918.

Nearly half of all the exports from the whole country were sent out of New York, the value being $3,383,638,588, or $180,000,000 greater than the exports the year before and nearly $1,000,000,000 more than those in 1918.

New Orleans ranked third with a total of $589,409,222, or $100,000,000 more than during the year before. Philadelphia was fourth with $449,091,705, or $40,000,000 less than the year before. Baltimore was next with $338,961,433, or $24,000,000 more than the year before. Savannah, Ga., ranked next and ahead of Boston, with $311,171,389, or double the 1919 total. Exports from Boston were valued at $281,614,919, or $16,000,000 more than the year before.

Exports from Norfolk and Newport News were valued at $228,008,288, or more than double those in 1919. San Francisco was slightly ahead of the Virginia ports, with $233,654,733, as was Seattle, with $228,186,694.

CLOSE SHAVE FOR BARBERS

Riderless Motorcycle Smashes into a Pittsburgh Tensorial Parlor and Works Havoc.

Pittsburgh.—The usual Saturday night crowd was in Frank Dodd's barber shop when there was a terrific crash of glass and a snorting motorcycle shot across the room and stopped with a bang against the water cooler. One man dashed into the street with his face covered with lather and a towel draped over his shirt front. Most of the others were stunned into inactivity. Later it was ascertained that a negro, unable to make his new motorcycle behave, had fallen off just outside the barber shop. The machine kept right on going.

Terrapin Found Sixty-One Years Old.
York, Pa.—A terrapin, which, according to the date cut on the bottom of the shell, is more than sixty-one years old, was found a few days ago by James L. Zellers, at Stewartstown, this county. The date is 1859 and the initials L. Z. The letter correspond to those of his grandfather, Levi Zellers, who often cut dates on terrapins.

Why Men Believe in God

By REV. JAS. M. GRAY, D. D.

Dean of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

TEXT.—Be still, and know that I am God.—Ps. 46:10.

"God" is one of the commonest words in the English tongue and we all know what it stands for—a personal, supreme being who knows, and wills and acts. He made the universe and he made us. He is all-powerful, righteous, holy and good.

How did we come to know this God and to believe in him? In answering the question, my mind runs back to childhood, for I was brought up to believe in God. But by and by, I experienced God; that is, a crisis came and I prayed to him and he answered me. It was like putting out a little hand in the dark to feel for him and he took it, and pressed it, and led me in the right way.

By and by, I learned more about him. In church and Sunday school, and through the Bible and through what others said.

But this was not enough. I craved for reasons, I asked, I pondered and thus I learned that all men believe in God, a god of some kind. Really there are no atheists.

How came they to believe? The first answer is, Creation, which is an effect and must have a cause. Moreover, there is harmony and order in creation. Lord Kelvin, while walking in the country with Liebig, the great scientist, asked him if he believed that grass and flowers grew by mere mechanical force?

"No more," said he, "than I believe a work of botany describing them could grow in such a way."

In other words, we have not only a Creator, but an intelligent Creator. Indeed, our own possession of mind determines this, because a stream cannot rise higher than its source. If I have a mind and ideas then he who made me must have the same. As Des Cartes, the philosopher, said, "Man's possession of the idea of an infinitely perfect being is itself a proof of the existence of that being."

And then there is the fact of consciousness which make this argument still more real to us. That is, the sense of a spiritual presence and power in nature and in ourselves. As Wadsworth said:

"A sense of something far more deeply interused." Or as the inspired Apostle Paul calls it in Romans 1:20, "The eternal power and Godhead."

It is this power that man worships, and worships as a holy, personal spirit standing over against his own spirit and explaining or accounting for it.

The knowledge of God thus comes to man without reasoning. It is written in his constitution. Even the child or the savage knows what you mean when you speak of God. He thinks of someone who is righteous, and holy and a judge of men.

And it is this consciousness that makes us tremble at the thought of sin because we know that some time, somewhere, we must stand before this Judge and give an account of ourselves.

And this brings before us another thought. If there is such a God as this, and if man, even by his own fault, is in such distress as this will not that God make himself known to man in some other way?

Will he not reveal to him the cause of his distress, and a means of escape from it? Surely a God of love and mercy will do this.

And praise his Name, he has done it! That is what the Bible is, and if there were no other evidence that it is his revelation, the fact that it thus meets man's deepest need were proof enough to satisfy us.

And how does it meet man's deepest need? The answer is in Christ, "whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood." Romans 3:25. How wonderful is that declaration of the inspired Apostle Paul in his letter to the Corinthians, "that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them!"

Therefore, it is the duty and the joy of gospel preachers to put themselves side by side with Paul and say, "Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: We pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God." II Cor. 5:19, 20.

I thus plead with you today, and beg you to receive Christ by faith as your Saviour, and confess him before men as your Lord.

Holy Life.
A holy life is not an ascetic, or gloomy, or solitary life, but a life regulated by divine truth and faithful in Christian duty. It is living above the world while we are still in it.—W. Ham- boldt.

Nothing Impossible.
In the moral world there is nothing impossible if we can bring a thorough will to do it. Man can do everything with himself, but he must not attempt to do too much with others.—W. Ham- boldt.

NEW FALL STYLES

Designers Are Endeavoring to Eliminate Lines Which Will Give Wearer Broad Appearance.

Tea time in fashionable places is a most fascinating hour this time of the year, as we are all tired of sport clothes and this affords an opportunity of seeing something decidedly new in little afternoon frocks, according to a fashion authority.

It is going to continue to be a fall season of light airy colors—cream lace for afternoon wear and black lace for evening wear—quite the reverse of what we have been accustomed to.

A charming frock worn at tea by a blonde miss was deep ecru pussy willow taffeta and an overdress of fish-net lace in cream color. A wide ribbon girdle with immense bow and streamer ends in the back was of wide ribbon in light tobacco brown. The whole dress carried three tones of the lighter shades of brown beautifully blended. The hat worn was one of the newer models, a medium-sized rolling brim. It was a brown duvety, beautifully hand embroidered in several oriental shades. The crown, semi-Tam O'Shanter effect, was of silver metallic embroidery trimmed on one side with a soft bow of glossy brown satin ribbon.

Whether a coat is long or short, wide or narrow at the bottom, or a wrap of conservative rich velvet or any other popular material, the designers are endeavoring to eliminate any lines which will give the wearer a broad appearance.

The majority of suit coats are almost knee length, many unbelted and slightly flaring at the bottom, but not rippled, although a few show pointed insets of contrasting materials.

One suit was most novel, showing a cape instead of a coat. The skirt was made on plain, straight lines, the material being rusty gold-colored duvety, the bottom finished with a five-inch band of the same material in dull delft blue duvety and around the bottom was a band of the gold-colored duvety put on underneath as a facing and it had no other lining. The large draped collar was of the same material as the skirt proper.

Suit collars generally are not as large as last season. The choker types coming in strongly, especially if made of fur, are pulled through a loop, giving a double-breasted effect, but on capes they appear very large and draped quite full, whether made of fur or material.

While set-in sleeves predominate, many are showing the kimono and wrap style. Raglan or semi-raglan with a single seam in the back or front, or one piece are also found. The bell-shape bottoms are not neglected this season.

HAT AND BAG MADE TO MATCH

Large black panne velvet hat; trimming appliqued design of duvety; colors, green, orange, sand and blue. The facing of hat is green duvety and the bag is to match the hat.

FASHIONS IN BRIEF

Jet is much used with tulle. Coat sleeves are often kimono style, wide and long. Ladder stitching is effective on white lingerie blouses. French hats are elaborately trimmed with ribbons and feathers. One of the very popular styles of the coming season is the redingote type dress.

Some of the newest bathing sandals are merely soles, with two sets of bright colored ribbons laced about the ankle to hold them on.

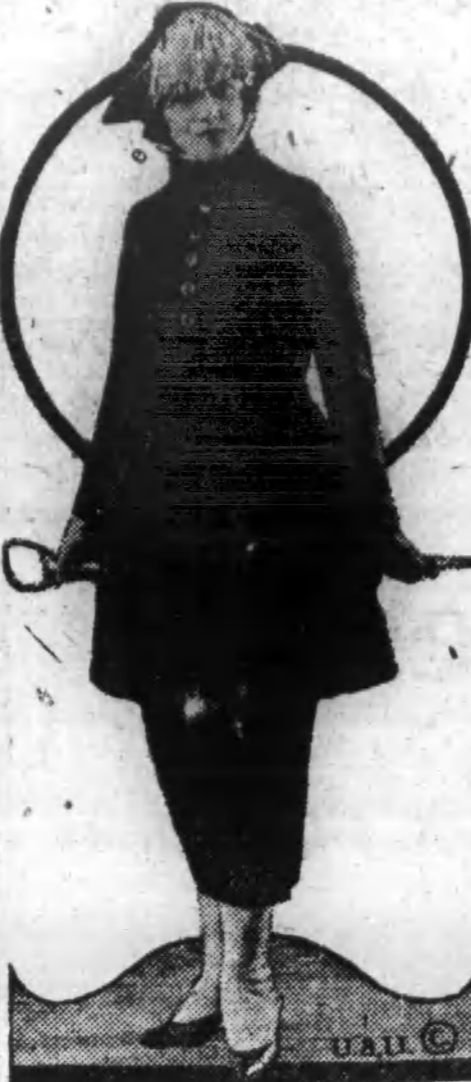

Upon dresses of all varieties which are not subjected to tub cleansing ruffs is used. Satin and serge especially lead themselves to this sort of embroidery.

A new military model particularly becoming to a brunette has a circlet of ostrich feathers in attractive shades of bronze and green and blue, over which falls a lace veil in tete de negre.

Black marquisette has been successfully introduced as a substitute for chiffon and georgette. One frock of this material is a series of narrow ruffles and plaits which are repeated in blouse, sleeve and skirt.

Belgian coats are trimmed with two-toned braid. Smart hats for children are of tulle and veils.

WITH ONLY SELF-STITCHING

A snugly collared and belted tailleur with no trimming except self-stitching which will hold its own against the more elaborate but not more fascinating models.

BLOUSE IN FAVOR FOR FALL

Popular Garment Promises to Flourish as Never Before—Dresses and Gowns Passé.

Dresses and gowns are utterly passé. But if milady feels that such garments have their place in the fall wardrobe, she must see to it that her one-piece gown is so camouflaged that it appears as a separate skirt and blouse, for fashion decrees that blouses shall flourish as never before in this coming season.

Manufacturers and retailers explain this fad as another broadside at fashion dictating Paris. For Paris has long sniffed at the American invention of separate skirt and waist.

New York women have hailed the blouse year with delight. The avenue shop windows are full of these "uppers" of all kinds and prices. The slip-on blouse continues to be first in popularity, while bolero and tie-back effects are very good. The long tunics and Russian models are in the minority, although this past season effect is partly carried out by the moyen age blouses, which fit the figure like a tight bodice or basque to the hips and then flare out over full plaited or gathered skirt. The old style tucked-in blouses are so completely out of the running that skirts have been sewed to inner camisoles over which the blouse is worn.

The only new blouses that are not worn outside the skirt are the hand-made models of linen, batiste, lawn or organdie. These are adorned with hand-sewn laces, tuckings, hemstitching or drawn work and are to be very popular for morning wear.

Another quaint exception to the over model is the stern 1890 blouse. These are fashioned of heavy silk, tightly fitted to the body and button primly up the center front, way to the ears.

A great majority of the Fifth avenue blouses are fairly opulent with color and material. Their purpose in life is to live up to the rather dull fall suits and coats. Favorite shades are reseda, green, rust and chow-brown, peacock and turquoise blue, mahogany, canary, henna and black and white. The latter combination, especially, is having a heavy run.

"MOLDED FROCK" NEW MODE

Paris Style Originators Plan Smart Attire—Corsets Are Only Slightly Curved.

According to the fashion experts of Paris, the "molded frock" is among the smartest of the new fashions. But by "molded" we do not mean a revival of the "hour glass" figure—that unnatural over-emphasized fashion which made women look as though they had been poured into their clothes and then left to harden. Mme. Magrier, the famous corset maker of Paris, announces that corsets will be "only slightly curved, following the natural lines." And from that we gather that the frocks will tend in the same direction.

And several of these "molded frocks" have already been seen at the opera, worn by the smartest society leaders of Paris. The corsage is straight across the top, supported by a strand of brilliants or perhaps a narrow silver ribbon, and the tissue itself is carried down over one hip in an unbroken line and across the front, with a fold or two of drapery at the left side. The whole effect is exquisitely graceful and has the priceless charm of simplicity.—Harper's Bazar.

Fashionable Fabrics.

Pile fabrics such as duvety, plush and velours abound, and leading colors are gray, brown, taupe, and navy. Novelty color favorites seem to be hectic tomato hue and turquoise blue.

Novelty.

GOV'T OPERATION OUT OF POLITICS

VINDICATES FORMER POLL.

Overwhelming Veto Like That of Year Before From Both Sides of Political Fence.

Washington.—Inner circles of both political parties here are greatly interested in the results of a national poll on the question of government operation among over 5,000 newspaper editors throughout the country. With 98 per cent of these editors, regardless of political faith, giving it as their impartial opinion that the public is more than ever opposed to the government going into business in competition with its citizens, observers here see little chance that either political party will find it a profitable campaign issue.

In the opinion of party leaders this sort of a canvass among newspaper editors is the best possible index of public opinion. They recall a similar questionnaire sent out a year ago in connection with the proposition that the government take over the railroads permanently. Replies at that time from approximately the same number of editors showed 83 per cent against the principle of government operation. They recall also that within ten days from publication of the result of the former questionnaire the sentiment for return of the railroads to their owners had definitely crystallized.

Comparison of present results in detail with those of a year ago convinces the political student not only that these editors have been accurate in their judgment, but that party considerations played no part in forming it. From Democratic and supposedly radical Texas, for example, the present questionnaire brought replies from editors of 244 papers, only three of which are Republican. Yet the percentage against government operation was 92, which is exactly the same as that given by 200 editors from Republican Michigan, among whom were representatives of only three Democratic papers. Other states that pair percentages significantly are Massachusetts and Nevada, with 100; Connecticut and South Carolina, with 97; Maine and West Virginia, with 96; Kentucky and New York, with 91; Missouri and Pennsylvania, with 89; Ohio and Oklahoma, with 87.

WHEN LIGHT DAWNED ON HIM

After the glory of the setting sun it was dark. The man felt afraid as he stumbled on after his companion who, woman-like, went straight ahead, regardless of all obstacles.

Angry murmurs from the unseen people whose toes they trampled on followed them like the wash of a steamer. But she paid no heed; to him fell the duty of muttering apologies.

Just as despair was seizing him he saw her straight ahead. She had obtained a seat. And investigation showed that the one next to hers was empty. Into it he sank thankfully. The picture was one of love and bravery, with the usual fair heroine and handsome hero and beetle-browed villain. As they watched he slipped an arm around her slender waist and drew her to him.

She struggled for a moment, much to his surprise. Then she yielded, and he felt her nestle close to his manly chest.

Five minutes later the picture ended, and the lights went up. Then he understood—he was embracing the wrong girl.—London Answers.

Beautiful Oregon Waterfalls.

Waterfalls that rival in beauty the most splendid cataracts of the Pacific northwest have just been discovered on the western slope of the Cascades in Oregon. Although within 40 miles of Portland, a city of 260,000 people, no white man, so far as the records show, had ever seen them until recently.

The falls lie almost in the center of Bull Run forest reserve, set aside by the government to protect Bull Run river the source of Portland's water supply. The reserve is closed to all visitors except employees of the government, and of the city of Portland, who may go there on business, a precaution taken to protect the timber of the watershed against fires that might be started by careless campers.

The reserve, which includes 222 square miles of mountains and forest, was set aside by congress in 1892, and has been closely guarded ever since.

Seems Like Decree of Fate.

After being in a number of the worst battles fought during the World war, where he successfully dodged bullets and all other death-dealing missiles to the extent of saving his life, although hit 22 times in a way to cause grievous wounds, Richard J. Foran, thirty-two years old, was instantly killed by lightning a few days ago while standing under a tree a short distance from his home near Paterson, N. J. The bolt marked his forehead with a scar, as well as his right thigh and right leg from the knee to the ankle; tore off the rim of his hat, both shoes and his trousers from the hip.

Foran served in the war with the Three Hundred and Ninth Machine Gun battalion and seemed to have led a charmed life. But when old Jupiter Palmettoer buried a bolt in him there was no more. Fortune had decreed that he should die.

Red Cross Roll Call.

Workers in Genoa are confident this community will go over the top in the Fourth Red Cross Roll Call beginning Thursday, Nov. 11, Armistice Day, with the 28 branches of the Cayuga County chapter. This section has been visited by John Richardson of Auburn, county roll call chairman, and an organization perfected that augurs well for the success of the drive.

Every present member of the greatest humanitarian organization in the world is expected to join again and new enrollments from this community are expected at headquarters of the Red Cross chapter in Auburn. YOUR EYES!!!!

Do not put on any old glasses you can "read better" with. You are intelligent thinking people. No one's eyes are alike, but every pair of glasses you buy without having your eyes tested separately and accurately, have lens of common glass and both lens are alike. What about it? Surely BOTH eyes are being severely strained by trying to use the same glass on each eye—one eye is doing too much, the other too little and no one knows what the consequences will be. DO NOT RISK IT if you want to keep your sight and health.

POLISH WOMEN FIGHT

Without Food or Water for Many Hours They Enter Battle.

Terrible Suffering of Polish Amazons Who Helped Stem Red Tide in Attack on Warsaw—Woman Tells Story of How Poles Fought for Victory.

A Polish woman soldier who took part in driving back the Bolsheviks from Warsaw, writing to a Polish newspaper in Warsaw, says that she went 10 days without taking off her clothes and that frequently the members of her detachment went five or six days without having opportunity to take down their hair. Once, in keeping pace with the retreating Red forces, the women were on the go 14 hours, 13 of which were without food or water.

The letter says:
Women Carried Heavy Weight
"At 11 o'clock at night we were ordered to be in readiness. Our detachment, all women at this time, had been ordered out for patrol duty. Our pack consisted of a coat, rifle, ammunition and other articles, in all weighing 60 pounds. After four hours of marching and when I felt that I couldn't go a step further, we received orders to return to our former post, several miles away. I scarcely remember how I reached our destination. I was so tired I dropped on a pile of straw and slept for an hour.

"When I was awakened I was informed that my detachment had gone away without me to take part in a movement to surround a force of Bolsheviks hidden in a clump of woods. After six miles of good roadway I encountered sand, which made walking so difficult that my feet pained me at every step. It was covered with dust, and hadn't had a drink of water for hours.

"After walking 15 miles I reached my comrades, who were resting under trees in the shade from a hot sun. A peasant boy brought a bucket of plums, but we privates only got a look at them, as all went to the officers, who were women, too. And then the march started again, through a forest.

Thirteen Hours Without Water
"Now and then, as we advanced, I saw some of the women faint and I heard others crying 'Mercy!' and I thought I heard curses, which must have come from the men on our right. This march continued for 14 hours. For 13 hours we had neither food nor water. When we reached a series of trenches something hot to eat was promised to us. But the food never came, and then the fighting began.

"Oh, how I longed for a drink—longed for sleep, away from the roar of battle! But above everything there was a feeling of satisfaction—a feeling of undreamed of happiness—despite the suffering from hunger, from lack of water and the misery due to cold at night and heat during the day, when I thought and was thrilled as we fought that I, a woman, was a soldier of Poland."

Grab Liquor Under Food Law

Department of agriculture officials have taken a hand in prohibition enforcement in Chicago by confiscating 73 cases and 10 drums of champagne and 103 barrels of root beer, said to have been falsely branded non-alcoholic fluid. DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Bodies of Wife and Daughter of Chicago Policeman Washed Up From the Lake

The moaning grey waters of Lake Michigan washed up a tragedy when the bodies of Mrs. Laura Foss, 28 years old, and her five-year-old daughter, came ashore at the foot of Winoos street, Chicago.

A fisherman found them at day-break and they were taken to the nearest morgue. Meanwhile, Patrolman Howard Foss, chauffeur for Police Chief Garrity, returning from all-night duty, failed to find his wife and daughter at home and started inquiry. Some impelling thought led him to the morgue, where he found them.

Mrs. Foss had been in poor health for some time. Tuesday night she visited at the home of her mother and started to her own residence about 11 o'clock. It is thought that, in a fit of depression, she made directly for the lake, and carrying her daughter, LaVergne, in her arms, leaped into the lake. Each of the bodies bear an ugly mark, the print of a heavy blow over the right temple that may have been caused by the bodies beating against the stone breakwater, but the police are investigating.

There is a theory that the woman and child may have been victims of thugs, but the husband and other relatives are certain Mrs. Foss committed suicide and took her child with her while temporarily deranged. The facts that the rings on Mrs. Foss' fingers had not been taken tends to support this theory.

TRAIN WRECK KILLS THREE

Coal Train Smashes Into Box Cars Leaving Auburn Yards

Engineers James W. Toole and William M. Tuell and Trainman William W. Schultz, all of Auburn, were killed in a freight wreck in the Lehigh Valley yards, Auburn, N. Y., when a double-header coal train ran into the rear end of a train of box cars still pulling out of the yard.

The doubleheader evidently overran the grade and the two locomotives were unable to check the momentum. All three men were buried under the wreckage and were taken out by yardmen and Auburn firemen. The wreckage took fire and the Auburn department extinguished the flames.

Recruits Flocking to Army

Recruits for the regular army continue to flock in at record-bearing rates, Adjutant General Harris' office announces, and 17,625 enlistments accepted during October broke all peace time records for the month. A notable matter in connection with the record, it was said, was the fact that 66 per cent of the month's enlistments were for the full three-year period, while in previous months about half of the men have sought only one year of service.

The educational advantages offered by the army, General Harris said, is given by nearly all the recruits as reason for enlisting. The total strength of the army is now 298,781 officers and men of whom 158,466 are in the United States.

Gen. Wrangel's Forces Defeated.

The Bolsheviks have broken Gen. Wrangel's center and the wings of his army apparently have been crushed. The town of Melitopol and other points have been abandoned and the reds are nearing Perekop. The red wave is flooding the Taurida region. Wrangel is making a gallant defense. He is preparing to withdraw to the Crimea, across the Sivash sea. The reds already claim the capture of Perekop.

Mexican Bandit Surrenders.

Pedro Zamora, the Mexican bandit leader, who has been operating in the states of Jalisco and Colima, surrendered together with 15 followers to federal troops, it is announced by the war office. Zamora is to be allowed to leave the country. The Mexican war office statement adds that the surrender of Zamora completes the establishment of peace throughout Mexico.

FUTURE AUTO MOTIVE POWER

Interesting Speculation as to What Will Take the Place of Fast-Diminishing Gasoline.

Gasoline will continue to go up in price. A few years from now we shall have to use something else as fuel for our automobiles. The question is, what?

The government bureau of mines thinks that we shall get the requisite substitute from coal. In every city there will be "by-product coke ovens," which will extract from the coal a light oil available for the purpose. The coke can then be used in our furnaces and for other ordinary fuel purposes.

One ton of soft coal in the process of coking yields about three gallons of oil first rate for motor fuel. At present prices the heat in the oil has 20 times the commercial value of the same amount of heat in the form of coal.

Germany during part of the war was practically shut off from every supply of mineral oil. She depended for her motor fuel entirely on coal, putting the latter through by-product coking plants. Before long we shall be obliged to do the same thing in the United States.

Part of the light oil in coal is toluol, which in time of war is needed for the manufacture of TNT. Modern warfare requires enormous quantities of the substance for making high-explosive shells. During the first part of the war the allies came near defeat for lack of it.

Another by-product from the coking of one ton of soft coal is 5,000 cubic feet of gas, available for cooking and other household uses. The coke itself makes an admirable smokeless fuel for furnaces, if people could only be persuaded to use it.

SEES INFLUENCE AS HANDICAP

Influence! The worst thing that can happen to a man is to start life with influence. So declared Charles M. Schwab in a talk to Princeton students upon how to succeed in business, remarks Leslie's. Young fellows who excuse their failure on the score of having no influential friend to give them a boost get cold comfort from Mr. Schwab, who has come up so far as to advise any young man who has an influence not to use it to get a start.

Mr. Schwab laid down as the first fundamental of a successful life, "Unimpeachable integrity." Character is the biggest asset in business. "A whole array of brilliant qualities will not take the place of this cornerstone of enduring success. The whole tenor of Mr. Schwab's heart-to-heart talk was a new emphasis on the old-fashioned qualities of loyalty, industry and persistence. The young man who possesses these traits is bound to succeed, for opportunity was never so great as it is today. No industry is more highly organized than the steel industry, yet with all the progress made in the last 20 years the industry is far from its zenith. So great is the magnitude of modern industry in all branches that opportunities for leadership, instead of decreasing as some imagine, have actually increased in proportion as industry itself has grown.

More Than She Bargained For.

She had been taught to pray for the things she desired. It was very dry and hot, and everybody was looking anxiously for rain. Suddenly it occurred to the little miss that she might pray for rain, and she acted on her impulse at once.

In a few minutes there came a terrific thundershower. Streets were flooded, trees were blown down, and other damage was done. After the shower the child's mother found her standing at the window looking out with a rueful face upon the debris, and heard her say in an awestruck voice:

"Oh, Lord, what have I done?"

Chautauqua county growers fared remarkably well with their grapes this year, but results with the tomato crop were far from satisfactory and a meeting of the Hanover grange was held at Forestville to discuss the terms of contracts for 1921, which will assure the grower of being able to deliver any crop contracted for to canners and preservers.

Prospects are especially good for the establishment of a large gypsum plant in the northwestern part of the town of Le Roy. Not since the time of the reciprocity bill, when cheese took a sudden drop of more than 10 cents a pound, has there been such a smash in the dairy quotations as is now prevalent throughout the section around Cuba, involving both Allegany and Cattaraugus counties. The drop was caused by the break between the big milk companies of New York city and the Dairymen's league. The situation is being keenly felt by all—the farmer, manufacturer and jobber. The bottom of the cheese market fell out when the price dropped from nearly 32 cents to about 22 cents a pound.

Home Town Helps

SHOULD ALL BE NEIGHBORLY

Spirit is of immense importance to the Upbuilding of Community, Small or Large.

Rent hogs have a social value rather overlooked in the turmoil. Though hardly attaining eminence as a moral force they remain a persuasive fact for a city neighborhood. They have made a social whole of many a four-walled community that had been merely an accidental aggregation. Common oppression makes humanity kin, including even the inmates of an apartment house. Neighborliness, in short, has begun to mean something.

Neighborliness is at once the kindest and the most powerful organization in our tradition. Neighborhood organizations, if not captured by schemers with private ends to serve, is the best basis for consumers' organizations in general. That American class called neighbors, the great unwieldy, battered 90 per cent, has suffered much of late through lack of organized effort in its own behalf.

Neighborhood associations will ameliorate the predatory ethics of urban life. When neighbors meet in public school assembly halls for community association in economic study, in politics, in music, in drama, in education and good living are likely to be furthered.

WAIT FOR TOWN TO GROW

Criticism Made That Too Many Small Communities Are Slow in Making Improvements.

It has been figured up that there are about 12,000 small towns in the United States, half of them with populations of 500 or less, says the Thrift magazine. It is these small towns that the rural people are intimately associated with. They sell their produce there, buy the things they need; in fact, these are a part of the rural community. Some of these small towns will become cities, but a very large per cent of them will remain as they are. It is no disgrace to live in a small town, but the rule is that these people are waiting until next year or some future year to improve their schools, put in sidewalks, a water system or a sewer system to safeguard the health of the people, or before taking any step to improve the social and living conditions of the children.

Proper Town Planning.

Scientific town planning takes into consideration the direction of streets and orientation of houses from a sanitary standpoint. There has been a tendency to make streets run north and south and east and west, but in a paper to the Royal Astronomical society of Canada, H. L. Seymour lately showed that they should run northeast and southwest and northwest and southeast. Houses correspondingly placed have sunshine in all rooms instead of having it cut off from northerly walls for more than one-half of the time. Also houses shall be so placed and of such height as to shade others as little as possible.

Theater and Church.

The problem of how to supply the community with both a church and theater on money sufficient for only one building has been solved in a small western town by building one large auditorium with a stage at one end of the hall and a pulpit at the other, according to a Y. W. C. A. dramatic director who visited the town recently. This novel arrangement diplomatically meets certain apparent objections and at the same time gives the proper setting for either. The seats are reversible.

City Planning Worth While.

City planning of the right kind is strictly a business proposition. Its function is to aid in facilitating business and maintaining property values. Its activity means a better looking city, a better city for business and a better city for homes. Furthermore, city planning is not a matter of concern to the few. It will work to the interest of the large and the small property owner, and to the interest of any person who expects to make the place his home.

Indian Cattle in the South.

Some years ago it was discovered that the zebu, or humped cattle of India, are immune to the deadly "Texas fever" which was poisoning the herds of the south. A few of the Indian cattle were imported and did well, though without gaining any great popularity. Then more were imported, and now there are quite a number of them in Texas, and one cattleman values his chief "Brahmin" bull at $20,000.

Electric Wires Kill Trees.

Electric wires which touch trees can easily kill the most beautiful shade tree. This may be due partly to the work of the electric current or to the wearing through the growing surface of the tree by the wire, which deprives the tree of its sustenance.

Belltown.

Nov. 2—The inclemency of the weather in no way marred the attendance at the Hallowe'en entertainment and buffet lunch given by the pupils of Belltown school on Friday evening, Oct. 29, the schoolhouse being filled to overflowing.

For the opening number, Alice Wager recited: "I am Here to Welcome You," and was freely applauded.

The second number on the program was a little playlet entitled "The Pilgrim Children." Dorothy Mann, Hilda Sprout and Wendell Wager, the leading characters, spoke their lines loud and clear. They are to be commended on their ability as amateur performers.

Mervin Swartwood then recited a piece on the usefulness of the pumpkin for which he received his share of handclapping.

"Are There Real Ghosts" was next on the program in which the following young people took part: Lois Wager, Amy Palmer, Delaphine Northcott, Clara French, Harold Young, Claude Northcott, Wendell Wager and Stanley Swartwood. Each one's acting was above the average amateur performer, and was much appreciated by those present.

Lucile Swartwood and Alice Meyer each spoke very pretty little pieces.

A dialogue entitled "The Tramp and the Farmer's Wife," by George Northcott, Sr., and Lois Wager, was conceded by all present as one of the best on the bill.

"The Milkman and the Maid" a pantomime by Amy Palmer, Clara French and George Northcott, Jr., caused a great deal of merriment.

Mrs. John Bower, who has proven her ability as an entertainer on numerous former occasions, then recited "Kitty and the Chink," and responded to an encore with the following laugh provoker, "The Visiting School Board."

The climax of the entertainment came when Robert Ferris auctioned off the "shadows," the women present going back on the stage and one at a time casting her shadow on the curtain, the men in the audience bidding on the "shadow." The highest bidder would have the "shadow" as a partner at supper. The bidding was spirited and went a great way to help supply funds for the purchase of a Victrola which will be used at the school for entertainment and educational purposes. Wm. Meyer played several musical selections on the Victrola which helped make the evening an enjoyable one. Miss French reports the gross receipts $33.45.

The Belltown school board is to be congratulated on securing their capable teacher, Miss French. The performance of the young people proves that she has their confidence and good will at all times.

Kirkland - Adamy.

There was a very pretty wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Adamy in Hannibal when their daughter Mary Etta was united in marriage to Frank M. Kirkland by Rev. B. V. Bonder of Syracuse, the impressive ring service being used. Miss Lulu Adamy, sister of the bride, was bride's maid and Ray C. Kirkland, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

The bride was gowned in white crepe de chene and carried white roses. The bride's maid was gowned in rose organdie with bouquet of white cosmos. Kathryn, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Adamy, was flower girl and Arthur and Mary, children of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Adamy, were ribbon bearers. The bridal couple marched down an aisle of ropes of ground pine and stood in a bower of lovely maple boughs and ferns. The rooms were beautifully decorated with ferns and flowers.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kirkland of Ledyard, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Brewster and Ray C. Kirkland of Union Springs, Miss Lena Kirkland of Cortland, George Kirkland and Clarence Nicholas of Syracuse, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Rev. S. C. Page Installed.

Services of installation of Rev. Stanley C. Page as pastor of the King Ferry Presbyterian church were held in the church on Friday evening, Nov. 5. Dr. R. H. Nichols of Auburn seminary acted as chairman of the commission.

After the singing of a hymn by the choir and congregation, Scripture was read by Mr. Clark, pastor of Genoa church.

Then followed the sermon by Rev. Thomas Tighe, pastor of the Cato church. Mr. Tighe took as his text Gal. 6, 2 and 5, "Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfil the law of Christ." "For each man shall bear his own burden." The sermon was very fine and was listened to with close attention.

After the constitutional questions had been answered by Rev. Mr. Page, the prayer of installation was offered by Rev. E. Lloyd Jones of Meridian.

The choir then rendered an anthem, "Sing Unto the Lord."

The charge to the pastor was given by Dr. A. M. Dulles of Auburn seminary, and the charge to the people by Dr. Nichols.

After the closing hymn, the benediction was pronounced by the newly installed pastor, Rev. Mr. Page. At the close of the service, the members of the congregation went forward to speak a word of greeting to their pastor.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE PHILIPPINES

The University of Santo Tomas is 25 years older than Harvard.

The Filipino people number 10,350,640, of which 9,495,272 are Christians and only 9 per cent non-Christians.

They have been Christians for 300 years and have a culture and refinement that will compare very favorably with that of other nations.

There are only 6,684 Japanese in the Philippines. There are about 100,000 Japanese in California alone, or 15 times as many as in the entire Philippine archipelago.

English is taught exclusively in the Philippine public schools. Two million natives now speak English fluently, and there are 700,000 English speaking children in the public schools. It is destined to be the national language.

Seventy per cent of the inhabitants of the Philippines over ten years of age, according to a census just completed, are literate. This is a higher percentage of literacy than that of any South American country, higher than that of Spain and higher than that of any of the new republics of Europe whose independence is being guaranteed by the Allies.

The Filipino people are unanimous in their desire for independence. Whenever they are called upon to deposit their ballots they have always ratified this aspiration. At every session before adjournment their representatives in the Legislature reiterate their faith in the principles of liberty and the independence of the Filipino people.

The Filipinos declare they have no grudge or grievance against the American people. Their appeal is accompanied by a message of friendship and gratitude for all that America has done for them. They point out that Uncle Sam gave independence to Cuba, and they hope that they, too, will receive that boon without which, they declare, no civilized and patriotic people can enjoy the maximum of happiness and self-respect.

A special delegation of Filipinos, officially representing the Filipino people, attended the Republican and Democratic National conventions, seeking an endorsement of the Filipino desire for independence in the two platforms. Their arguments, briefly stated, were as follows:

First.—That the American Declaration of Independence declares that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed;

Second.—That the American Congress, in the Jones law, solemnly promised the Filipinos independence upon the establishment of a stable government, and that their claim that the said stable government is now in existence in the islands has been officially confirmed by America's own representatives there; and Third.—That America went before the world in the recent war as the crowned champion of "self determination." American soldiers having been told it was one of the things they were fighting and dying for.

Boys' Conference at Ithaca.

A conference of older boys, chiefly high school juniors and seniors, from the cities and towns of New York state, will meet at Cornell, Nov. 26, 27 and 28. This conference will bring together 2,000 boys who have shown special abilities in various forms of leadership to discuss "The Christian Program in Community Life," which is the central theme of the conference.

The program calls for five main sessions which will be held in Bailey Hall, and for several group sessions, to be held in nearby university buildings, at which the boys will discuss more thoroughly the subjects presented at the main sessions.

The Cornell University Christian association is acting as the host of the conference, which has the approval and co-operation of the university, the city churches, the Ithaca Y. M. C. A. and other agencies.
