The present year has demonstrated that wheat, oats and barley, equal to the best, can be raised around Dawson city in seventy-eight or eighty days.

Former Attorney General Theodore E. Hancock has been nominated for Mayor of Syracuse, to run against Mayor McGuire, who is a candidate for re-election.

The fact that the Cubans have acquired the lynching habit shows that they are more nearly ready for

Rev. D. S. Anderson, pastor of the Locke M. E. church has just closed a three year term of very successful work and moved his family and effects to Freetown.

We are informed that two manufacturing industries are anxious to remove their plants to this village.
We are glad to hear it, we will even receive house plants.—Moravia Register.

If Miss Helen Gould ever marries she wants but one husband, nor does she uphold Mormon husbands, who want more than one wife. Her campaign against seating Congressman Roberts is vigorous.

The Ovid Gazette, which has been heretofore published as an independent paper, has hoisted the banner of the Democracy, and will hereafter fight under these colors and demand its share of the spoils.

It is reported from Manila that the soldiers of our army desire General Miles to lead them in the coming campaign. Why not let him go? The place for the general commanding an army in time of war is at the front with his troops.

The Sampson cabal and the Schley cabal do not effect the people very seriously. Admiral Sampson has been duly honored in the Southern states as Admiral Schley has in the North.
Schley is a Southern man and Sampson a Northern man.

Antonio Maceo, son of the famous Cuban general, registered at the Ithaca High School on Thursday. He is taking a course preparatory to entering the Mechanical Engineering course at Cornell.

It is said that Mrs. Langtry's promised volume of reminiscences, which was to have been published soon, has been suppressed at the desire of the Prince of Wales. And Anthony Comstock heaves a sigh of relief. He will not have to read it.

In his speech at Fargo, N. Dak., the President said: "We never gave a bribe for peace in all our history and never will." If that be literally true, there must have been a good deal of romancing about that arrangement with the Sultan of Sulu.

The fact that prisoners will do good work on the road has been demonstrated at Vernon. Just east of Vernon village the steamer roller is at work and the prisoners are preparing the road bed for its first coating of coarse stone. So far as finished it is a model of road building.

The village of Alfred, Allegany county, suffered a severe set-back one night last week when the plant of the Celadon terra-cotta works was destroyed by fire, throwing fifty men out of employment. The plant was valued at $125,000, and partially insured.

A Herkimer correspondent of the Utica Herald said last week: "It is not at all improbable that before another year has rolled around, Herkimer will have located within its borders one of the largest plants for the manufacture of beet sugar in the United States."

A builder in New York lost $12,000 in cash out of his pocket, and when questioned about it said: "Yes, it is true, but I am too busy to worry over it. I have plenty more to live on for some time to come." We fear that man is too much of a philosopher ever to die rich.

After an illness of about two years with consumption, the death of W.
Adelbert Hamilton occurred at West Grotton on Sunday, the 9th. His age was 28 years, 4 months and 14 days.
The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the house and at the church at 2 o'clock. Interment in Bird cemetery. He leaves a wife and two-year old daughter, a father and mother to mourn his loss.

Louis Lombard, the well-known violinist and orchestra leader, and founder of the Utica Conservatory of music, was married recently to Mrs.
Charles Atwater in New York, and sailed Saturday for Europe for their wedding trip. Mr. Lombard came to this country from Germany, and was penniless, but worked himself up to competency with his violin. His residence is now in New York city, but he has a summer home at North Bay.

W. Frank VanWinkle was arrested for intoxication and put in the Hornellsville jail Monday. A few hours later he was found in his cell dead.
It is supposed he had drunk wood alcohol by mistake. At one time he was a prominent merchant there, but lost all by drink.—Ovid Independent.
We wouldn't bury him just yet. He may be a distant relative of Rip VanWinkle, and only sleeping.

A new time table is to go into effect next month on the Lehigh Valley.
District passenger agent Mills-paugh stated today that Ithacans would be much benefited by the change on all branches running into the city. Two Pullman sleeping coaches for the exclusive use of Ithaca passengers, one to New York, the other for Philadelphia will be attached to train No. 6 night. The expected change will take place
November 12.—Journal

Oct. 17.—A. C. Babcock and wife have gone to Etna to make that place their future home.

Willard Wilcox has taken a position as bookkeeper at the Ithaca glass works.

Mrs. C. Howell and son Harold of Scipio visited Mrs. Charles Wilcox on Sunday last.

Mrs. F. J. Beardsley is visiting friends at Ithaca.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Howell of Candor are happy over the arrival of a son born Oct. 8. Mrs. Howell was formerly Miss Lillie Hubbard of this place.

A church social will be held at Dana Singer's on the 21st anniversary of their marriage.

Charles Bower of Detroit, Mich., is

The long continued drouth is making it very hard for many people, being obliged to draw water for household use and for their stock, and many families are dividing their last pailful of water. Washing and cleaning house these days is at a high premium.

The average yield of buckwheat has so far been ten bushels to the acre. The best we have heard of is from Frank Singer who reports a little better than 21 bushels per acre.

We don't need any railroad, business is just as lively around the old depot as in former years. We are like "Rip Van Winkle" and don't want to be awakened from our sleep by the noisy cars, and soon our little hamlet will be noted for its ancient ways, customs and people, and as everything in that line is being sought for, we predict that our homes will bring fabulous prices years hence for their antiquity, and the multi-millionaires will hunt us up for the quiet nook and people of the nation. Notoriety will come to us sooner or later.

Oct. 16.—October came blustering in in winter attire with ice crystals for diamonds.

Old weather prophets predict a chilly damp October. Time will tell.
The funeral of Mr. J. Oliver was attended at Poplar Ridge meeting house by a large circle of relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Wood drove to Moravia on Tuesday.

Mrs. Tilletts is spending a few

The funeral of the mother of Mrs.
P. J. Adams took place in Moravia on Wednesday, the 11th. Sympathy is tendered to Mrs. Adams by her many friends.

Miss May Conklin was absent from school Tuesday on account of illness.

The many friends of Mrs. Mary Brill are rejoiced to hear that she is recovering from her serious and protracted illness and is able to ride out.

The sympathies of this neighborhood

Sadness and disappointment tinged with no small degree of indignation was felt all along the railroad over the unsuccessful visit of the railroad delegation from Brooklyn. But if the railroad is silent at present, business activity is apparent. Both enterprising mercantile houses are very busy and business is booming around the evaporator. But we fear the loads of good looking apples absorbed therein will be sadly needed before apples grow again.

Oct. 16.—Miss Emily Howland returned home Saturday afternoon from her European trip. She will deliver the address at the county Political Equality convention held in Auburn and will also attend the state convention at Chautauqua.

H. S. Howland met his aunt in New York, visited his mother at the Gleason Sanitarium in Elmira and returned home Saturday afternoon.
Mr. Howland has raised several Golden Chinese pheasants this season.
They are beautiful birds and will delight any game-loving eyes.

B. and E. Brewster, C. Judge and Dr. B. K. Hoxsie attended the play at

It was a hazardous feat to attempt, but Roblin determined to undertake it. Selecting a shutter underneath the window he wished to gain, he slung his musket over his shoulder and thrust his fingers and toes into the holes. Then, exerting all his strength, he raised himself up toward the gutter. Twice were his efforts baffled, but the third endeavor proved successful. He managed to get a firm hold on the gutter and swing himself up to the roof.

He was just in time, for at the moment he was passing through the window the front door gave way with a crash, and the Tories rushed howling into the hall. Indeed, so far as carrying out his original intention was concerned, he was too late, but he might still save Zedie if he made haste. So he rushed frantically about the attic, searching in the darkness for the stairs leading down into the house.

Suddenly he heard a rush of footsteps upon the stairs, and, running in the direction of the sounds, he arrived at the head of the flight just in time to catch Zedie in his arms as she reached the attic and fainted. Taking a firm hold on her limp form, he carried her back into the loft and laid her gently upon the floor. Then he returned to the stairs and, placing his musket and saber within reach, mounted guard at the entrance to the attic.

CHAPTER VIII POLLY'S DESPERATE RIDE

Shortly after the departure of the bandits Polly put on her cloak and bonnet and stole cautiously out of the cavern. Two Tories were mounting guard on the platform outside, but they merely raised their eyes as she passed them and made no attempt to stop her. It was evident that so far Richard Smith had proved as good as his word and that the guards were acting under his instructions.

The sun had not yet sunk behind the mountains when she reached the clearing where the horse was awaiting her. She found the animal tethered to a tree near by and, taking it by the bridle, led it through the bushes to the trail. There she mounted and proceeded as fast as the rugged way would allow toward the valley. At first the necessity of advancing cautiously was a sore trial to her patience.

"Oh, why can I not ride faster?" she muttered. "The Tories are already on their way to plunder the Shurkers, and I have not a second to spare if I would bring them assistance."

Then she remembered that the band had started off without their supper and that it was not likely they would attack their victims until late in the evening.

"They will stop to eat," she mused, "and will undoubtedly delay their attempt until late at night. At all events I will soon reach the foot of the mountains and can then ride as fast as I like."

This reflection served to console her, and she became reconciled to her snail-like pace. As she was a skillful horsewoman the steepness of the descent, which at times was dangerously abrupt, did not appal her in the least. The animal she rode was accustomed to the rough trails of the mountains and clambered down the precipitous incline with ease and cautious strides.

Twilight was beginning to fall when she reached the foot of the range. There

She led the animal through the bushes to the trail.

she turned into a highway that branched off from the trail and urged her horse to a gallop. As Goshen was too far distant to admit of riding there for succor she determined to scour the roads in the neighborhood of the mountains and arouse the whole region to assist her. But as the country here was but sparsely settled she realized that she must ride like the wind.

"Come, old fellow," she said, bending forward and patting the glossy neck of her steed; "you must do your best for me tonight."

Then she drew a whip from the saddle and plied it to the animal's flanks. And now began that furious ride which is still preserved in the traditions of the region.

The gallant horse responded nobly to Polly's urging and dashed forward at increased speed. On, on they flew, through forests, fields and swamp lands, up hill and down, trailing a cloud of dust behind and awaking the echoes in the neighboring hills with the sound of hoof beats. For mile after mile this furious gait was maintained, and yet not the sign of a human habitation appeared along the way. Polly began to despair.

"Can it be possible," she thought, "that no people inhabit this country?"

Just then she arrived at a turn in the road and uttered a little cry of delight. For a few rods ahead could be seen a cluster of dwellings, with smoke curling up from their chimneys. The buildings were only log huts, but this in itself was encouraging, for it indicated that their owners were stout hearted pioneers, who would hasten to respond to her call.

As Polly galloped furiously into the settlement she aroused all the dogs to yelping, so that when she drew rein the inhabitants came running from their houses alarmed by the disturbance they raised.

"What is it, gal?" cried a burly frontiersman excitedly. "Have the Indians come over the mountains?"

"No, not that," panted Polly, "but something far worse. Oh, if you be true men arm yourselves and mount your horses at once, for a neighbor stands in need of your aid."

By this time eight sturdy fellows were gathered round her, with a circle of gaping women and children in the background.

"A neighbor in trouble?" asked their spokesman. "Then tell us his plight, lass, and we'll stand by him."

"He's to be robbed and murdered," cried Polly. "Oh, make haste or it will be too late."

Then, seeing the men still looked their way to Caleb Shurker's to make him surrender his hoard.

This announcement had an electrifying effect upon the men.

"Claudius Smith on another of his raids, d'ye say? The robber! The murderer!"

And with these exclamations of rage they hurried away to prepare themselves for action. Accustomed as they were to respond to sudden alarms, the men of this border settlement were not long in making ready for the road.

Within a few minutes after the messenger's arrival they were prepared to ride to Caleb Shurker's rescue, and, placing herself at their head, Polly continued her journey.

She had now eight men with which to oppose 20 outlaws. Conscious of the inadequacy of this force, she turned to the leader of the frontiersmen and asked as she galloped by his side:

"Do you know where we can find other true men to join us?"

"Let me think a bit!" he answered, knitting his brows. "There's Simon Bevier, that lives three miles from here, near the Goshen pike, and there's Luke Harding, about a mile further on, and then ye'll find no living creature until ye strikes Hasbrouck's, on the Minnisk trail, whar thar's old man Jones and his sons, Tom and Isaac."

"And do you think these men will join us?" asked Polly eagerly.

"To be sure they will," was the response.

"Then do you lead the way," she cried, "and ride at full speed, for time is pressing."

So the frontiersman placed himself at the head of the galloping troop and called upon his comrades to quicken their speed. After following the road for about a mile they branched off into the woods and disappeared among the trees. By this time the night was far advanced and they lost sight of one another in the darkness; but, with an instinct that was unerring, the frontiersmen made their way rapidly along a winding bridle path until they emerged upon the Goshen turnpike close to the house of Simon Bevier.

Having enlisted this staunch patriot in their company, they dashed on once more until they came to the log cabin of Luke Harding. While they were awaiting his preparations to join them their leader called one of the men to his side and said:

"Ride over to Hasbrouck's, Seth, as fast as ye can and tell the old man that he's wanted. Tell him to fetch the two lads along, and then take the short cut through the woods to the Shawangunk road, where ye'll find us awaiting ye at the spring."

Seth listened to these instructions intently and then dashed off upon his errand at a furious gallop. Shortly afterward Luke Harding appeared upon the road, mounted on a spirited mare and armed to the teeth. As he took his place in the company their leader called out:

"Now, my lads, forward!"

And, digging his heels into the flanks of his charger, he turned back along the turnpike and led the way toward the place of rendezvous.

It was fortunate for Polly that the horse Richard Smith had provided her was possessed with great powers of endurance, for the pace was so terrific that otherwise she must have dropped behind her companions. For mile after mile they never slackened speed, and when at last they arrived at the spring appointed as the meeting place their horses were well nigh exhausted. While waiting for the Hasbroucks to come up, however, the poor beasts had a chance to recuperate and on resuming the desperate race were almost as fresh as when they started.

Now, it chanced that Polly had observed the remains of the Tories' supper in the bushes around the spring and the hoof prints of their horses where they had stooped to drink from it. These telltale signs informed her that Claudius Smith had already passed that way, and realizing that only speed could avail now she dashed once more into the lead.

"Wake up, friends," she shouted excitedly. "Ride for your very lives. The Tories are ahead of us, and we've not a second to spare."

Her companions greeted these words with suppressed exclamations of approval, and bending low over their horses' necks swept after her like a whirlwind.

Did they arrive at the Shurkers' in time? The sequel will show.

is a different thing, but it is equally important. The mothers, wives and daughters of this land know that good bread cannot be made from poor flour; they also know good flour when they use it. Good bread.

THE COUNTRY IN GENERAL

A Summary of Happenings at Home and Abroad.

THE NEWS CONDENSED

A Review of What Has Transpired of Public Interest.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—A reception was tendered Mrs. John A. Logan at Memorial Hall by U. S. Grant Post, G. A. R., of which Gen. Logan was a member. Addresses were delivered by Col. J. H. Davidson, Chaplain A. B. Connelly, Gen. John C. McNulta and Rev. C. O. Brown, formerly of San Francisco.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 14.—Heredity was urged in defense of Alex. Lindsay, who was up in the Criminal Court on a charge of horse stealing. It was shown that he belonged to a criminal family, most of whom had served terms in the penitentiary. The plea did not save him from a three years' term in the penitentiary.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 14.—Adolphus M. Jones, a wealthy farmer of Hill county, invited a party of friends to "come into the barn to show them something sensational." When they were all inside the building he cut his throat with a razor and died almost instantly. Up to the moment of committing suicide he was in jovial spirits and joked with his friends. He left no statement explaining his act.

San Francisco, Oct. 14.—Charles L. Fair has filed an amended answer to the petition of Mrs. Nettie R. Craven, who asked for an allowance of $5,000 a month out of the late Senator James G. Fair's estate. The answer declares that the alleged marriage contract on which Mrs. Craven bases her claim is a forgery and in the main reiterates statements formerly made by the defense.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 14.—A battle between the Rockefeller and Carnegie interests on the Great Lakes, which has been under way for several days past, culminated apparently in favor of the former. Mr. Rockefeller has practically cornered the lake freight market and the Carnegie Company must now pay double this year's carrying charges on iron ore next season.

Princeton, Oct. 14.—Prof. Andrew E. West, chairman of the Committee on the Commemoration Day exercises which will be observed here on Oct. 21, has announced that Whitelaw Reid would be the speaker of the day. Ex-President Cleveland and Dr. Gilman, of Johns Hopkins University, addressed the students in 1897 and 1898, respectively, on similar occasions.

Hickman, Ky., Oct. 14.—In a dispute over business affairs Free Hopen shot and dangerously wounded his partner, T. L. Eversole, after which he committed suicide by jumping into the river. Bad feeling had existed for some time between the men, who were proprietors of the flouring mills at this place. Both men were prominent in business circles, and Hopen was a member of the City Council.

Helena, Mont., Oct. 14.—Governor Smith has received a letter of inquiry from Secretary of State John Hay concerning the vagabond Cree Indians who now overrun this state, which leads him to believe that the government contemplates sending the Indians back to Canada, where they belong. The Crees are homeless. They took a prominent part in the Riel rebellion, and since that time have been roaming from place to place.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—A despatch from Chihuahua, Mex., says that Col. Antonio Ramos Cadena and Lieut. Col. Huro Candano of the Mexican army have arrived there on their way to take command of reinforcements that are being sent against the Yaqui Indians. Those officers will join the Mexican troops near Potamu. They say the War Department has issued orders for an immediate decisive campaign against the Indians.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Tuberculosis and Texas fever in cattle are the principal topics under discussion at the Interstate Live Stock Sanitary Board, which is holding its third annual convention in this city. A new quarantine line, suggested by the committee, adds Lincoln, Cannon and Cumberland counties, Tenn., to the established line, which runs from the northwest corner of California in a southeasterly course touching the southeastern border of Virginia and North Carolina.

Connersville, Ind., Oct. 16.—Mrs. George M. Higgs was suddenly stricken blind without warning. Her condition is critical.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 16.—General John A. McClernand suffered a stroke of paralysis and his condition is said to be critical.

Caracas, Venezuela, Oct. 16.—The armistice between the government troops and the insurgents has been extended. It is asserted on reliable authority that President Andrade will meet the insurgent commander, General Cipriano Castro.

Millions of dollars is the value placed by Mrs. Mary Bird, Harrisburg, Pa., on the life of her child, which she saved from croup by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. It cures all coughs, colds and throat and lung troubles. J. S. Banker, Genoa.

TRIBUNE and 3-a-week World $1.65.

London, Oct. 16.—The church congress, now in session at the Royal Albert Hall, London, received a message of fraternal greeting from the American Church Congress, at St. Paul, Minn., and returned a grateful acknowledgment.

Tucson, Ariz., Oct. 16.—Pearl Hart, the woman stage robber awaiting trial here, broke jail by cutting a fifteen-inch opening through the wall ten feet above the level of her cell floor. She declared a few days ago that she would never submit to be tried under laws that her sex had no voice in making.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Masked train robbers, four in number, held up and robbed the fast Pacific United States mail and American Express train N. 9 of the before the Northwestern Railway shortly before midnight, between Elburn and Maple Park, forty-six miles from Chicago. They seized Telegraph Operator James at tower W, and after overpowering and binding him, dropped the red light, which stopped the fast mail.

Then they overpowered the mail crew and blew open the iron safe of the American Express Company, securing over $25,000 in cash and perhaps as much more in jewelry and other valuables. The express car was so badly wrecked by the explosion that the wrecking crew had to be sent out from Chicago to clear the road.

The robbers, after securing their blunder, forced Dan White, the engineer, and his fireman, to dismount from the locomotive. They detached it from the train and ran it two miles down the track, where they left it. They then disappeared in the darkness.

St. Louis, Senegal, Oct. 16.—A native craft, while attempting to cross the bar at the mouth of the River Senegal, was wrecked, and forty persons were lost.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 16.—The military authorities here announce an increase from one pound sterling to two pounds for the capture of a deserter from the British army.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Gen. Merritt, commanding the Department of the East, has ordered Battery M. 4th Artillery, now stationed at Fort Strong, Long Island Head, to remove to Fort Warren, Massachusetts, for quarters during the winter. The armament installed at Fort Strong will be left in charge of a detachment of fifteen men of the battery under a sergeant.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 16.—The California citrus growers' tariff committee has adopted a resolution calling on all the citrus growers and associations of southern California to contribute one-fifth of a cent a box on their crop of the coming season for the purpose of creating a fund to carry on a campaign against the ratification of the Jamaica treaty.

Cleveland, Oct. 16.—Word has been received that the 200 Cleveland soldiers in the Fourteenth Regiment, just returned from the Philippines, are stranded in San Francisco, their pay, which was given them in Manila, having been spent. The plan was to have them come to this city in a body, and elaborate preparations have been under way for some time for a reception. An effort is being made to raise the $1,200 necessary to bring them home. Senator Hanna and Governor Bushnell have contributed $100 each.

Pittsburg, Oct. 16.—The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company has arranged for the purchase of the immense tract of coal land belonging to the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Company at Clariferol, for $1,000,000 cash. The money has been paid into the Union Trust Company, and the river company is now in possession of the land. The tract contains about 4,000 acres and is one of the largest and finest bodies of coal on the Monongahela River. It has been under option for some time to the Monongahela Company and also to the Pittsburg Coal Company. It is probable that the tract is to be opened up on a large scale next spring by the river company.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Present indications warrant the belief that the exports of the calendar year 1899 will be the largest in our history. The total for the eight months ending with August showed an excess of $12,000,000 over the corresponding months of 1898, which was the largest calendar year in our exporting history, and the September statement of breadstuffs, provisions, cottons and mineral oils just issued by the Treasury Bureau of Statistics shows for those four classes alone an excess of $12,000,000 over September of last year. When to this is added the fact that the exports of manufactures are now much larger than at this time last year, and that even in the re-exportation of foreign goods the figures of this year exceed those of last, it seems probable that the calendar year 1899 will show a larger total of exports than that of any preceding year.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Fire broke out in the works of the National Conduit Company at Hastings, and destroyed one of its buildings, 100 feet square. The loss is $165,000, fully insured. The building was worth $12,000. The fire was caused by an accident. One of the men dropped a knife which cut through the lead pipe which supplies the gasoline and caused an explosion. The flames spread rapidly. The men tried to extinguish them but in vain. An alarm was sent out to the neighboring villages and the departments from Hastings, Dobbs Ferry and Uniontown responded. In the buildings that were saved was $500,000 worth of machinery. In the burned building was $50,000 worth of conduit for the American Traction Company for foreign ship men are thrown ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 20, 1899.

DEAR HENRY: You have perhaps realized ere this that your spring suit must soon be discarded and no doubt you have been bothering your mind to know what you shall wear for Fall. Well, Henry, I have always looked after your wants and feel that it is now my duty to acquaint you with the leading novelties for the coming season. Confidentially I'll tell you the suit that is going to be all the go this season. It is the single breasted fancy worsted suit in a stripe or plaid with a double-breasted vest. Now mind I say double-breasted vest, for without one you'll not be in it. These, Henry, are swell. They are cut and trimmed like those tailor-made suits you used to pay $40 for. Honestly you couldn't tell them from custom-made.

But perhaps you don't care for the worsted goods. Well, why don't you get one of those handsome double breasted blue serges, with single cut vest. They are certainly rich in appearance. Then there are those herring-bones in brown or blue. These are new goods and are bound to be popular. I know you'd like them. There are also the tweeds, the fancy chevrets, the clays and the cassimeres—in fact all the odd weaves, but made up in new and pleasing effects that are bound to suit you. Well, I guess I have written you enough about suits. I want to say a word about your new overcoat and then I'll close. If you're going to get a new one—and I suppose you are—I'll tell you the kind you want. Get one of those light top covert coats with the fancy back (1-2 satin lined). They are certainly racy because they're all the go. They are going to be worn an awful lot this fall, and I want you to have one. Of course there are the Meltons and the Kerseys, in blue, black and brown, but if you want a handsome garment get a covert. Well, Henry, I can't think of anything else to write. Yes I can, too. If I recall correctly when you purchased your last suit you had some difficulty about the price. Either you didn't have money enough or the price was too high. Say, Henry, before purchasing would you do me a favor? Would you just as soon come around and see me? I can assure you there'll be no such difficulty this time, no not a bit of it. Now, Henry, I hope you'll take advantage of this advice. It will be for your own interest to do so. In the past you have been benefitted, so heed the suggestion that I have given you today. If you do, no matter where you go you will always experience the pleasure and satisfaction of being a well dressed young man. Sincerely yours, BEN MINTZ.

P. S. I am still at 29 and 31 East State St., Ithaca, N. Y.

IT IS INTERESTING to learn that all the state departments were out of debt at the close of the fiscal year and started with clean balance sheets. This was effected by close scrimping and rigid economy, which cut down expenses below those of previous years.

THE MANILLA censorship was removed September 9, and since that time there has been no more difficulty in sending any kind of a message from Manilla than from San Francisco,—save the expense. Yet we have waited in vain for those harrowing tales which the correspondents complained of being unable to put on the wires. Either the conditions have improved since their protest, or they were the victims of excited imaginations.

WHAT MUST the voter think who one year hears a man make a speech telling him that the tariff is the all absorbing issue of the country and that the destruction of protection is the only hope of permanent prosperity; the next year he hears the same man tell him soberly that the tariff is a minor issue and that the destruction of a system of 100 cent dollars and the adoption of free silver is the only hope of permanent prosperity, and the next year the same orator tells him that the trusts are the greatest evil of the age, and that while free silver is still an issue, in order to have any permanent prosperity, it is necessary to accomplish the destruction of these trust monsters?

MORE THAN a quarter of a century ago Jules Verne's wonderful tale of the Nautilus was considered one of the wildest flights of the imagination in which that fascinating author had ever indulged. To-day we have the Nautilus reproduced in everything except speed and length of voyage in the Holland submarine torpedo boat. This wonderful craft in a recent trial seemed to answer all the claims of her inventor and builder. She runs on the surface, sinks instantly, pursuing her course without diminution of speed, obeys her helm perfectly, can remain submerged for several hours if necessary, and in the opinion of experts is perfectly safe. She will be a dangerous engine of war.

Auburn's Department Store.

When Messrs. Foster, Ross & Bauscus proposed to open their store in Auburn, it was naturally predicted that a department store, operated on the large scale intended in a small city like Auburn, would be a wonder if it was successful. Nowhere in this section is there a finer store or a larger stock than at Auburn's big store. The great sale just inaugurated by this firm is a grand chance for the people of Cayuga county to supply their wants for months to come. Read the last page of this paper and learn more about it.

Edwin Markham's Poem.

Mr. Markham's most recent poem, The Muse of Brotherhood, is one of the few really great poems that the closing years of the century have produced. In it Mr. Markham voices a lofty optimism that is at once more impressive and more convincing than the notes of hopelessness and despair that characterize The Man with the Hoe. At the same time he nobly sets forth the principles of that universal brotherhood which says:

"My love is higher than heavens where Taurus wheels,
My love is deeper than the pillared skies:
High as that peak in Heaven where Milton kneels, Deep as that grave in Hell where Caesar lies."
The Muse of Brotherhood will appear exclusively in The Saturday Evening Post, of Philadelphia, in its issue of Oct. 21.

Twenty-fifth Anniversary.

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Gould, a mile west of Bolts Corners, was the scene of a most enjoyable event on Saturday evening last, it being the twenty-fifth anniversary of their happy marriage. Guests to the number of one hundred and fifty gathered there, pleased with the delightful autumn evening and happy in one another's company, for Mr. and Mrs. Gould are royal entertainers. The Genoa orchestra rendered some selections which were embellished by the substantial refreshments and some vocal music. A number of valuable and useful presents were left as tokens of esteem and remembrance. Among those present from a distance we saw the genial Judge Searing and wife of Auburn, Loren Smiley, wife and daughter of Watertown, Edwin Smiley and wife of Danby, Mrs. Dr. Atwood of Moravia, W. M. Gould and wife of Newark, E. S. Manchester and wife of Moravia, and David Armstrong and wife of Aurora.

"They Say."

Have you heard of the terrible family "They"? And the dreadful venomous things they say? Why, half the gossip under the sun, if you trace it back you will find begun in that wretched house of "They."

A numerous family, so I am told, And its genealogical tree is old; For ever since Adam and Eve began To build up the curious race of man, Has existed the House of "They."

Gossip-mongers and spreaders of lies, Horrid people whom all despise! And yet the best of us, now and then, Repeat queer tales about women and men, And quote the House of "They."

They live like lords and never labor, A "They's" one task is to watch his neighbor, And tell his business and private affairs, To the world at large they are sowers of tares— These folks in the House of "They."

It is wholly useless to follow a "They," With a whip or a gun, for he slips away And into his house, where you cannot go, It is locked and bolted and guarded so— This horrible House of "They."

Though you cannot get in, yet they get out, And spread their villainous tales about, Of all the rascals under the sun Who have come to punishment, never one Belonged to the House of "They."

Delos Cheesman has recently threshed a piece of oats that averaged 92 bushels to the acre.

TRIBUNE and 3-a-week World $1.65.

During the winter of 1897 Mr. James Reed, one of the leading citizens and merchants of Clay, Clay Co., W. Va., struck his leg against a cake of ice in such a manner as to bruise it severely. It became very much swollen and pained him so badly that he could not walk without the aid of crutches. He was treated by physicians, also used several kinds of liniment and two and a half gallons of whisky in bathing it, but nothing gave any relief until he began using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This brought almost a complete cure in a week's time and he believes that had he not used this remedy his leg would have had to be amputated. Pain Balm is unequalled for sprains, bruises and rheumatism. For sale by J. S. Banker, Genoa, N. Y.

—Mrs. S. B. Mead of Five Corners was a recent guest of Mrs. E. Beardsley.
—Mrs. Jane Atwater is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Eli Conklin at Etna for a few days.
—D. E. Singer and family have moved into Mrs. Hewitt's house on Main street.
—Just think of it; there isn't a holiday this month. Something ought to be done.
—Once again we rise to remark: Be sure and register tomorrow. And this is no joke.
—Charles McKinney, who lives in Arizona, called on his friend, B. M. Ives, one day this week.
—Mrs. W. T. Cannon of Auburn spent several days at the home of her mother, Mrs. Waldo, this week.
—The little flies are again around and are a great source of annoyance to cyclists as well as to other people.
—Postmaster Avery and wife are attending the reunion of the 9th N. Y. at Newark, Wayne county, this week.
—J. B. Liberman was calling on his Genoa friends yesterday. He reports business in all sections as picking up.
—Miss Jessie Skinner of Mumford arrived Monday evening to spend a few weeks with her brother, Dr. J. W. Skinner.
—Remember the club rates for the winter. Tell your friends and neighbors. This club rate idea is a good thing; push it along.
—All kinds of nuts are plenty this fall, and hickorynuts are an especially good crop, being of a larger size than usual, as well as more plentiful.
—Frank Sellen has opened his hotel and is ready for business. He has made extensive repairs and alterations on the premises and he has a pleasant and convenient place.
—Dr. and Mrs. George Slocum were in Syracuse Tuesday, where the doctor attended the meeting of the Medical Association of Central New York, which was held at the Yates.
—Jacobs' orchestra of five pieces and piano will play at the North Lansing Grange hall next Friday evening, we understand. Here will be music equal to the celebrated McDermott's orchestra; go and see if it isn't.
—Geo. E. McCarthy, a well-known Auburn shoe dealer, invites your attention to his announcement in another column. Mr. McCarthy is a pleasant man to deal with, and we guarantee TRIBUNE readers most satisfactory treatment at his store.
—Wilson Hosmer of Auburn, who played on the Genoa ball team this season, was attempting to load a ball club with moulten lead, the other day, and nearly lost his eye sight. The hot metal splattered and burned his eyes and face severely.

—Miss Edith Hunter visited her uncle and aunt at Moravia over the week.
—Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hagin spent Sunday with friends in Lansing and Ithaca.
—Miss Ella Wager of West Genoa has been spending several days at E. L. Bower's.
—Mrs. Benedict is repainting her pleasant home, which improves its appearance.
—Miss Mary Waldo, who has been spending some time in Cortland, returned home yesterday.
—Ben Mintz, Ithaca's old reliable clothier, is making some extensive repairs to his store building, which will be a great improvement.
—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Westfall of Moravia left last week for a trip which will include Binghamton, New York City and Newark, N. J.
—Where are all the chestnuts that were reported so plentiful, asks the Farmer Review. Send for a sample copy of the Auburn Journal.
—Monday, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bower attended the funeral of his brother-in-law, Warren Crocker. He has been a resident of Auburn for about forty years.
—The case of the People vs. James Mahaney resulted in a fine of $30 or thirty days. He paid. The case of the People vs. Peter Mahaney was adjourned to October 31.
—Dr. Burke of Buffalo was in town Friday to see his bird dog, which has been in David Kinney's care the past season. He was well pleased with Mr. Kinney's work and decided to leave the dog another month.
—All voters should see to it personally that they are registered. If you have moved into the town or changed your residence from one district to another, or failed to vote last fall, the chances are that you will not be registered unless you attend to it personally.
—Clergymen will be interested to know that under a new ruling of the general railroad passenger agents' association, a new style of certificate is to be prepared for them. It will cost $1, and will entitle them to half fare rates over 57 railroads of the United States.
FOR SALE—Two thoroughbred merino rams. E. A. AVERY, King Ferry.
—The present indications are that there will be a large crop of turkeys, and that the prices will not be so high as to prevent anybody from having a good Thanksgiving dinner. A dry season is always a favorable one for turkeys.
Webster pays the highest market price for dried apples.
—Parents should send their children to school punctually. Do not detain them at home half the time, and then censure the teachers on the plea that the children do not learn anything. Give the children and teachers both an opportunity to show what they can do.
Wanted—100,000 pounds of dried apples, at once, at Webster's.
—While our sidewalks are in the main in good condition, there are several that need repairing badly. Stones have been raised by the roots of trees forming miniature hills, in some instances one stone is raised several inches above grade—a dangerous condition. These inequalities should be leveled before winter for ice and snow make them still more dangerous.
—When the foolish man wants to buy or sell anything, he rides all over the country in the hot sun looking for the party of the second part. The wise man puts a few lines in the TRIBUNE and lets them go all over the country for him while he sits in the shade, or goes along about his business. Whenever any man has a horse or cow to sell, there is some other man somewhere who is waiting to buy the thing, but these two men might travel a week without finding each other. Advertising brings them together.
Violet Marshmallow has long since passed the experimental stage for keeping the hands soft and smooth, and relieving chapped hands. It has an established reputation. Sagar Drug Store, Auburn.
—While in Ithaca last Monday, we saw something worth seeing. A horse standing on State street became frightened and started, and a little boy who was in the wagon began to cry. Several men made vain attempts to catch the horse by the head and then jumped back. A ten-year-old lad, who they called "Skinney" but deserves a better name, ran behind the wagon, caught hold and crawled up onto the seat, grabbed the reins and brought the horse to a standstill in short order. He received three rousing cheers for that act of heroism and half a dollar from the owner of the horse.

THE WAR HAS COMMENCED

Boers and British Are Finally Measuring Strength in South Africa.

READY FOR HARD FIGHT.

Resisting Strength of General White in Natal Said to be Upwards of 8,000 Men.

Official Reports Deny the Sensational Rumors That a Battle Had Taken Place in Which 2,000 Boers Were Killed—Fierce Battle Raging at Kimberley.

London, Oct. 17.—The Daily Mail's Cape Town correspondent says: "Kimberley is besieged and the Boers are massing in force. No details, however, are obtainable.

"The Boers have cut the railway at Belmont, have seized the Spysfontein railway station and constructed fortified earthworks. There are strong defending forces at Modder bridge and the Orange River bridge.

"The object of these energetic operations, is believed to be the capture of Cecil Rhodes. Kimberley now is isolated, both railway and telegraphic communication being cut."

The Daily Mail's Glencoe correspondent says: "A force under Commandant Viljoen from Spitzkop occupied Newcastle on Saturday afternoon and, it is reported, planted their flag over the Town Hall.

"It is rumored that the Boers have captured a police patrol of six men at De Jager's Drift on the Buffalo River."

Cape Town, Oct. 17.—The Modder River station master reports that firing has been heard in the direction of Kimberley, and the station master at Belmont telegraphs that a force of Boers is advancing.

There is an unconfirmed rumor that the Imperial forces intercepted a body of Transvaal Boers who were attempting to join the Boer forces at Modder River, and that a heavy engagement occurred at Spysfontein station, south of Kimberley.

Boer tents were discovered eight miles southeast of Kimberley. Great clouds of dust seen to the eastward of Kimberley also seem to indicate the movement of a large body of troops with wagons. Two Imperial officers at Mononda discovered a column of 400 Boers going in the direction of Modder River bridge, from Johannesburg.

London, Oct. 17.—Lying in their strongly entrenched position, extending from Dundee to Ladysmith, the forces of General Sir George Stewart White are awaiting the coming of the Boers.

Vague rumors that a battle had been fought between General White and the Orange Free State troops on Saturday, were expanded into reports that the British had won a great victory, killing two thousand Boers with little loss to themselves. These received an official quietus from the War Office, which announced that there had been no fighting near Ladysmith, this despatch having been received from the Natal headquarters.

"General Sir George Stewart White went in the direction of Van Reenen's Pass (Friday), but failed to draw the Boers to the Pass. He returned to Ladysmith, where he now is. No engagement occurred."

General White is estimated to have fifteen thousand or more men in Natal. He is a man of great resource, and has the valuable assistance of General Sir William Penn Symons, experienced in hill fighting in India, and of General Sir Archibald Hunter, who fought in the Soudan campaign.

Two armored trains are patrolling the line in the vicinity of Ladysmith.

There is no question that the Boers have crossed the frontier at several points. A Pretoria despatch says:

"Advices from Volksrust confirm the report that a Boer commando has occupied Laing's Nek without casualties. The health of the burghers is good."

Another Pretoria despatch says:

"All reports from Volksrust agree that the burghers there are unanimous in the opinion that the settlement this time must be conclusive. They are not anxious to fight, but they prefer fighting to giving their assent to an unsatisfactory solution of the crisis. It is not known definitely what the next move will be."

Apparently trustworthy reports reach Durban that three thousand Boers encamped are on the Ingogo battle field. This is fifteen miles to the north of Newcastle. The last train that left there carried the railway, telegraph and police officials. Mr. Jackson, the Magistrate, and a few residents remain there at their own desire.

Another force of Boers, according to a despatch from Camp Glencoe have occupied Spitzkop, fifteen miles northwest of Newcastle.

Died in Doctor's Office.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 16.—Augustus Hoagland, of Plainfield, fifty-one years old, fell dead as he entered Dr. H. L. Baldwin's office. Hoagland was feeling badly and went to the doctor's office for treatment. As he entered he fell. He had been a sufferer from Neuralgia of the heart for some time.

Dewey Leaves for Washington.

Boston, Oct. 16.—Amid the cheers of 10,000 persons Admiral Dewey departed from Boston on the Federal Express for Washington. His departure brought to a close two days of enthusiasm on the part of the hero worshipping population, visibly expressed in receptions and parades.

Mayor of Mayaguez Resigns.

San Juan, Oct. 16.—The Mayor and Councilmen of Mayaguez, capital of the province of that name, has resigned, owing to political differences.

The Seventh Failure.

New York, Oct. 16.—The yacht race was again postponed Saturday for lack of wind.

Large Barn Burned.

Patchogue, L. I., Oct. 16.—Fire destroyed the barn and carriage house of E. W. Durkee at his country home in East Patchogue. Three men employed on the place who were asleep in the barn narrowly escaped with their lives. Thirteen valuable horses were rescued. It is supposed that the fire was started by an electric light wire.

Sloan Rides Another Winner.

London, Oct. 16.—The Cage Selling Nursery Handicap was won by Germanicus, ridden by Reiff. Pomfret was second and Balletto third. "Tod" Sloane rode Tarolinta in the Pheasant Midweight Handicap and finished first.

Soldiers Have Fatal Dispute.

Frankfort, Ind., Oct. 16.—At Colfax, eight miles west of here, Bert Julian shot and killed Mjo Houlehan in a saloon. Julian is under arrest. Both men belong to the regular Army and were home on a short furlough.

Schooner Typo Lost.

Toledo, Oct. 16.—The J. P. Nagle Company has received word that the schooner Typo of this city was lost off Middle Island, Lake Huron.

WHY WE ALTER AND REBUILD THIS STORE!

A SMALL BUSINESS Selling goods at all you can get for them, grubbing all the while at high rent, business and living expenses. The Old Method

A LARGE BUSINESS Selling goods cheap at a small reasonable profit because the large business enables buying in larger quantities, and consequently buying cheaper. The New Method

The larger business costs so little more than the small, that the entire expense is reduced many percentages, the living expenses are important items to everyone and cost no more when a large business is being done than small, consequently merchants can sell a large lot of goods at a smaller advance more profitably than a small lot at a large profit. We tried the old method 14 years, the new one year, and before the first year is over we are obliged either to go back to the old method or to find a larger store. Our neighbor "E. J. Burritt" wanted to get out; we grasped the chance and rented his store in addition to the old quarters and thus obtained enough room to do the business of the "new method." We ascribe the past year's large business because people advertised us who wear our goods which at the time of purchase they may think only worth what they paid for them, but as time rolls on and the clothes don't change, but keep looking good, don't rip, don't muss, they gradually begin to believe they bought a bargain. They try it again they recommend their family and friends, and by always furnishing good clothing at our small prices, each of them in turn recommends others—that's what makes a large business. That's what compelled us to get a large store. We are now at it, and will be all fixed up in our new quarters by August 20. And when we get this big store finished, we want you to drop in to see us, look around in the new place, wish us success if you like, but always be assured that you are welcome here, whether you come to look; to see what a certain thing when you need it will cost you, or whether you come to shop or visit.

MAKE YOURSELF AT HOME—YOU ARE WELCOME.

We want your good will, and if honorable business methods will do it, we'll have your trade and shall hold it.

Thanking the Public for their liberal patronage of the past Fifteen years. Respectfully, BENJAMIN RICH.

REPORTS ARE CONFIRMED

Cowardice Caused Loss of Lives on the Steamer Nutmeg State.

ACTS OF FIENDISHNESS.

Stevadores and Members of the Crew Trample Frightened Women and Children Under Foot.

Passengers Inhumanly Treated By Those to Whom They Had a Right to Look for Encouragement and Protection—Men's Actions Strongly Condemned.

New York, Oct. 17.—The latest and what can be termed as the only real official report of the frightful calamity on Long Island Sound in which nine lives were lost through the burning to the water's edge of the steamer Nutmeg State, fully confirms the reported cowardice on behalf of a portion of the crew and the inhuman treatment of passengers at the hands of those from whom they had every reason to expect protection in time of danger.

Lockwood Hotchkiss, Jr., Louis H. Wyre and James T. Waters, of Ansonia, Conn., who were on their way to see the yacht races, were eyewitnesses of the brutal behavior of many of the men. When the three men prepared to jump from the saloon deck into an overcrowded boat which had been launched on the port side of the steamer these passengers sought to restrain them. But the men, who wore blue jumpers and were Mr. Hotchkiss thinks, freight handlers, were crazy with fear, and threatened Hotchkiss and his friends if they were interfered with.

Mr. Hotchkiss's story of the thrilling experience of himself and friends, as related by himself is as follows:

"Wyre, Walters and myself occupied stateroom No. 26 on the saloon deck. Our friends, Archie M. Loudon and J. F. Webb, were in room 36, some distance away. I do not know how it was we happened to wake when we did, but we all distinctly heard somebody say as he hurried by our room: 'The boat is on fire.' Even then we did not realize the seriousness of the situation, but when on opening the stateroom door we found the saloon full of dense smoke we hustled into our clothes in short order.

"As we left the stateroom we saw the flames bursting through the carpeted stairs of the companionway. We ran aft as fast as we could. The after hurricane deck was crowded with women who were fighting for a clear way to the rail. All were shrieking and crying for help. Nobody paid any attention to them. The two boats on the port side had been gotten over the side by a lot of men in blue jumpers—freight handlers, I think—and a few deck hands. Both boats were swamped before they threw off from the steamer.

"Some women had got into the first boat, which was just pushing off, when three men—one colored man and two white men—rushed to the side. We guessed what they were about to do and tried to hold them back, but it was no use. They jumped from the hurricane deck fully twenty feet upon the heads of those poor people in the boat. The boat was swamped and the people left struggling in the water, for the steamer was forging ahead for the beach all the time.

"The second boat, which was full of men, went down stern first as she was being lowered, and all the men were dumped out. I saw a number of men and women jump overboard before either of the boats were lowered. These were panic stricken, and did not know what they were doing. I saw at least two dozen people struggling in the water before we left the stern. They were far behind us, for we were going full steam ahead.

"The fire was very hot on the after deck. There was a lot of ammunition on board from the Union Metallic Cartridge Company, of Bridgeport, and this kept popping incessantly, increasing the confusion. The screams of the women mingling with this fusillade furnished a combination to try one's nerves. I heard no orders given by anybody. There was nobody to direct the crew, which pushed and hustled the women and trampled them under foot.

"We then dashed through the smoke along the hurricane deck and passed down around the pilot house to the saloon deck. The captain was in the pilot house rushing the steamer to the beach, and in this part of the boat the heat was not so great, as the wind blew the flames away from us.

"In the bow we found a number of passengers huddled all in partial undress. Among them was a man named Mather with his wife and four children, one of them a baby in arms, probably not more than six months old. Mr. Mather was terribly excited, and seizing the baby from its nurse, attempted to jump overboard with it. His wife, however, whose coolness I cannot sufficiently praise, prevented him and calmed him several times. That woman had great grit. Well, some of the men finally succeeded in lowering a life raft and a small boat that stood in the bows, and I, cutting the halliards that held the pennant, lowered the woman and children, who were all very young, the eldest not being more than ten years old, were afraid to go and clung to the anchor chains as I let them over. I had to tear away their hands, but finally we got them all over safely. I took off my life preserver and gave it to a woman who stood weeping on the deck. She said she had lost $25.

"All those on the raft and in the small boat got safely ashore, and after we reached land boats from the City of Lawrence came to us and offered to take us to New York. As we put off in these boats we saw people screaming for help from the portholes in the hold of the Nutmeg State. They were imprisoned and couldn't get out. It was a hair-raising experience and I hope I shall never see its like again."

Other passengers who were rescued from the ill-fated steamer tell a like story of the disaster and of the ill-treatment they received.

Mary Savage, of Bridgeport, who narrowly escaped death, says:

"It was nearly 6 o'clock when I heard some one run past my cabin and yell 'fire.' I hastily arose and put on a wrapper. When I got on deck I saw huge volumes of smoke belching forth from the forward part of the ship. I ran to the railing, but was rudely pushed back by some members of the crew when I attempted to get into a lifeboat. The men, after forcing me to the rear, got into the boat themselves and began lowering it. I looked around and saw that unless I did something quickly I would perish. The boat, which was filled with about eight-teen of the crew, had just reached the water when I saw one chance to save my life. I sprang over the railing of the upper deck directly for the lifeboat below. At the same time some passengers on the lower deck also jumped. When we landed the force upset the boat. Everybody was struggling in the water, there being, I think, three women among them. But none of the crew helped us. As we grasped the boat it would roll over and we would again struggle in the water. Finally the boat became stationary and we held fast until picked up by the City of Lawrence. It was a horrible experience."

"If I had had a pistol, I think I would have used it on that crowd of mad stevedores who rushed for the boats, pushing and fighting, and making it every man for himself."

So declared Captain Brooks in the course of his story of the disaster to his steamer.

Following is the revised and official list of those who lost their lives by the burning of the "Nutmeg State."

Charles Anderson, watchman on the boat, body in wreck; Patrick Coffey, mate, body in wreck; John Connors, member of crew, body in wreck; Bernard Hendry, oiler, body in wreck; Samuel Jayne, Bridgeport, Conn., baggage master, body in New York Morgue; Thomas Murphy, member of crew, body in wreck; Nils Nilson, member of crew, body in wreck; unknown woman, passenger, body not recovered; unknown man, passenger, body not recovered.

Stamford, Conn., Oct. 17.—A Boston yacht, on its way from New York, ran through a lot of burned wreckage, undoubtedly from the Nutmeg State, that was destroyed by fire, near the Long Island coast, and near the wreckage the body of a man was found. He was apparently about 60 years of age and had a grayish beard. The body was brought direct to this city and is in the morgue, awaiting possible identification.

Quakers Defeated By Indians.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 16.—The Carlisle Indians gave Pennsylvania an object lesson in football, when, in the presence of 15,000 spectators, they defeated the red and blue to the tune of 16 to 5. From the start the Pennsylvanians were outclassed, and though the first half ended with the score 5 to 0 in favor of the Indians Pennsylvania's spirit was broken at the unexpectedly hard game her opponents were playing, and she played even worse in the latter part of the game than in the first half.

May Try to Release Derrick.

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 16.—The mountain city of Sevierville is excited almost to delirium by the report that "whitecap" friends of "Cal" Derrick, the captured and wounded bank robber, would attempt to release him. Telephone wires connecting with Knoxville have been cut. The officers are in waiting and fully prepared to receive any outlaws. "Bill" Derrick, the suicide, was buried in a green plot, near his mountain home.

Crowbar Driven Through His Body.

Winsted, Conn., Oct. 16.—At Boardman's Bridge, in the northern part of this county, Benjamin Moosye was instantly killed by the explosion of a dynamite cartridge. A charge failed to work and Moosye began to pry around it with a crowbar. There was an explosion, which drove the crowbar through his body.

Squadron Sails for New York.

Newport News, Va., Oct. 16.—The entire North Atlantic squadron has sailed for New York to be overhauled in the Navy Yard. The cruiser Brooklyn sailed at the same time direct to Manila by way of Suez Canal. Rear Admiral Farquhar took command of the fleet this morning and was honored by a salute of thirteen guns and three cheers from the sailors of the squadron.

Murdered By Mexican Brigands.

Chilpancingo, State of Guerrero, Mexico, Oct. 16.—A band of brigands have murdered two well-known French citizens—Etienne Courmont and Luis I. Dupin, in the mountains north of here. They were on their way to Ornetepce, where they proposed to make large investments in lands and mining properties. They carried considerable money, which was secured by the robbers.

Citation.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK to George Goodyear, if living, and if he be dead to his heirs-at-law, next-of-kin and personal representatives, if any, all of whose places of residence are unknown:

SEND GREETINGS: Whereas, Lucius A. Goodyear, of Genoa, N. Y., has lately applied to our Surrogate's Court of the County of Cayuga, for the proof and probate of a certain instrument in writing, dated the 2nd day of June, 1898, purporting to be the last Will and Testament of Fanny Goodyear, late of Genoa, N. Y., in said county, deceased, which relates to both real and personal estate.

Therefore, you and each of you are cited to appear in our Surrogate's Court, before the Surrogate of the County of Cayuga, at his office in the Court House, in the City of Auburn, on the 3rd day of November, 1899, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, and attend the probate of said Last Will and Testament.

And those of you who are under the age of twenty-one years, are required to appear by your general guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, you will appear and answer the appointment of a guardian, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a special guardian will be appointed by the surrogate to represent and act for you in this proceeding.

In Testimony Whereof, We have caused the Seal of our said Surrogate's Court to be hereunto affixed. WITNESSES: Hon. George B. Turner, [Ls] Surrogate of the County of Cayuga, at the Surrogate's office in the City of Auburn, this 9th day of September, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety nine. G. EARLE TREAT, Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.

Mortgage Foreclosure.

Mortgagee, Ann Eliza Kellogg, formerly residing at Venice, Cayuga County, New York; Mortgagee, Wayne Gallup, residing at Venice, Cayuga County, New York.

Mortgage, with power of sale therein contained, dated February 8th, 1876, and recorded in Cayuga County Clerk's office on the 25th day of February, 1878, at 1 o'clock p. m. in Book No. 92, of Mortgages, at page 404, and now a record therein.
