TEXT—Behold, now is the accepted time: behold, now is the day of salvation—II Cor. 6:2.

You expect to become a Christian some day, well then, why not now?

Do you delay because you feel that there is time enough? Do not be deceived by this suggestion of Satan, who would have all people put off their decision to become Christians until it is too late.

When I was a boy in grammar school, we used to have a principal who every day or so would enter the schoolroom, and slowly passing through it, say in measured tones, "Pro-cras-ti-nation—is—the-thief-of-time." Then quietly, without another word, he would pass out. His purpose was to impress upon his boys and girls that they should not put off till tomorrow, or from day to day, that which should be done at once. It seems to me that in our text God is in effect saying the same thing, when he tells us, "Now is the accepted time: behold, now is the day of salvation."

"No Promise of Tomorrow."

One time while being driven in the country to minister at the funeral of a man who had died very suddenly I was surprised at the wisdom shown by the wayward young man who was conveying me. There was a lull in the conversation. Then suddenly he broke forth with this startling fact: "You know, we have no promise of tomorrow." What truth there is in that statement—"No promise of a tomorrow." And yet, how heedless we are of the fact it so succinctly sets forth. We go on neglecting to do that which is of such moment to us, actually gambling with time and with our souls as the stake. No promise of a tomorrow is what God is saying in the words of our text.

Again, are you putting off your decision to become a Christian, because you feel that you want first to have a good time?

What a specious argument that is and how Satan does use it, especially to deceive young people. He would try to make them believe that they say good-by to all the good times when they become Christians; but that is not so, for there is nothing "good" that a person has to give up to become a Christian. To be sure, there are things that are bad and harmful that must be given up, and these the Devil camouflages to make them look good to people. He succeeds surprisingly well, for folks are easily fooled by the enemy of human souls and often they do not awaken to the fact that they have been deceived until it is too late.

What we need to do is to estimate the real value of things. Who that is wise would buy glass jewels for diamonds, or accept fool's gold for the genuine? If we scrape beneath the tin-foil with which Satan covers things that are bad, to make them look good, and if we carefully weigh everything he offers us in the balances of eternity, we shall discover their worthlessness; everything he offers, though it give pleasure for a season, "at last," as Solomon said of the wine cup, "it biteh like a serpent and stingeth like an adder."

Good Times for the Christian.

Christ on the other hand offers all that is good and worthwhile in this life and the life to come. The really good times are for the Christian, and if any one on earth can enjoy himself, it is the person whose life has been enlarged by the coming into it of Christ. He it is who not only gives life, but gives it abundantly. This is true in this life, because Christ enlarges a person's capacity for enjoyment.

We frankly admit that there are restrictions and limitations for the Christian; but he who says that there are restrictions and limitations of real life is false. The things that must be cut off are those that make for death. The surgeon's knife cuts out a cancer, but a cancer makes for death; and so do those things that the person who would be a Christian, must cut out of his life. The very cutting out of these things sets a person free for the real pleasure of life.

Is it not a mean thing to choose the pleasures of sin for a season, and then, when the candle of life has almost burned itself out, fling ourselves upon God's mercy? To such who so choose, expecting to become Christians when they are about to die, that they may thereby escape hell and gain heaven, God holds out no promise of salvation. That people are saved at the last moment of life, as was the thief on the cross, we know, but who dare say that the one who chooses to refuse the salvation God offers now shall ever have another proffer of mercy?

There is a time, we know not when; A place, we know not where, That seals the destiny of man For glory or despair.

"Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation."

DECLARE FOR HIPS

Midsummer Fashion Makers Cite Styles Now in Favor.

Toweling, Crash, Awning, Hammock Material and Denims Are Now Fashioned Into Dresses.

Gotham midsummer fashion makers declare for hips, says a New York fashion writer. Manufacturers and retailers both say that the hips are now in popular favor all because Paee got angry about that paradise fanned hat that was thrown into the boudoir of France's lady of the land and just as promptly bounced out again, while the Parisian milliners handed over the fourteen points that made it a hat thrown into the big ring of international fashion squabbling. They say that Rue was angry once too often and that American women will not buy the toothpick or champagne dresses that Paris launched for the new season.

Whatever the cause may be, hips-hips, as Fifth Avenue windows all too well display. 'Tis the fashion season of the bouffant, the billowy, the exaggerated, the puffed and pouched. Naturally, this craze for a distended skirt has launched carloads of coarse stiff fabrics upon the cloth market. Bathroom toweling, crash, awning, hammock material and denims are in full bloom as fashioned into dresses of every type.

Although many of the midsummer gowns use natural colored toweling, there is a tendency to dip these sturdy fabrics into dyes of every hue and emblazon them with weird, conventional, intricate patterns. Regular upholsterer's cretonne in color combinations that fight or purr are frequent, and even old paisley shawls are found made up into new bustled dresses.

A leading house showed a street dress fashioned of heavy dull blue and rose cretonne. Although an occasional rose can be defined in the maze of intricate patterning, the general effect is like a dark-flowered cotton burlap. The material is inset with a panel of sheer white organdy upon which are scattered girly-girly bows of French blue metallic ribbon and pale pink rosebuds. A bustle distends the skirt through the hips, while the bodice is snugly Absinth-laced.

Of pouch pockets there is no end on the summer's skirts. Most of them so distend that they add several feet to the hip circumference. Over puffers or hips drapes are wired so that there is no danger they will fall into soft lines. Tier skirts of as many as eight rows of ruffles are running amuck upon the avenue, and the top three tiers are wired into lamp-shade and chandelier effects. Flaring bottoms of skirts have completely supplanted the old three-inch-around model, and a boydenish, masculine stride is rapidly killing off mincing footsteps.

Lowly ironing board covering is being made into dresses that carry a price tag in three figures. This heaviest, cheapest kind of crash is embellished with scallops and embroideries in Chinese red or Algerian blue, and flannels wired pouch pockets or side skirt drapes. Occasionally heavy strips of white kid or ordinary harness leather are stitched into mammoth side pockets for the hip width effect.

Midsummer evening gowns are most elaborate and are as heavy with velvet, plush and fur as at Christmas time. Many of these heavy satin or velvet skirts are bustled and hand-painted in gorgeous eccentric patterns, such as with a red pitcher plant, a screaming parrot, or a clump of ferns. But "the hips—the hips the thing."

PARIS HAIR DRESSING STYLE

This is one of the latest in Parisian coiffures; it is enhanced through the use of a wreath of silk roses.

Lace Stockings.

For evening wear Paris is taking to lace stockings, not only because these are new and effective, but because silk stockings are extremely high priced, and very difficult to procure in colors as wanted.

Long Waist Lines.

Early autumn dress models put out by Jenny give preference to long waist lines and long fitted sleeves.

Joseph W. Burgess, who founded the Dansville Breeze over 30 years ago and later was editor of the Dansville Advertiser, has severed his connection with the Wellesville Reporter, which he has held for the past few years, and has gone to San Diego, Cal., to reside.

Dr. Guy H. Turrel, New York city, was elected president at the annual conference of the state health officers and public health nurses at Saratoga Springs. The 1921 conference will be held at Ithaca, the date to be set later by Dr. Hermann M. Biggs, state health commissioner.

The Castle Sportsmen's club has received another consignment of young pheasants, making 50 in all that have been released in that vicinity this summer. It is said that the eggs which were set last spring for hatching were not fertile and no young birds hatched.

Early peaches of the bumper Niagara county crop, said to be the only crop of any size in the country, are being put in cold storage because the big buyers are not putting any price on them. Some sales have been made at $2.25 a bushel but these are not general, although it is understood the farmers are willing to sell at that figure.

Inquiries from potential cider makers are coming in by bunches to the Buffalo dry squad and for the information of those who wish to make cider or sell it, Chief Edwin Waters of the dry squad has issued a statement saying that if the cider develops a kick, the maker and vendor will be held responsible. Cider, if it is sold, must be sterilized or treated with benzoate of soda to stop fermentation.

The Western New York Farms company of Elba, who have about 1,000 acres of muck land under cultivation, are reaping a big harvest in lettuce and the season is now in its height. Thirteen car loads of lettuce were cut and the crop is being shipped to New York. The lettuce is brought to Batavia in large auto trucks. The company also has under cultivation a large onion crop which will run into several thousand bushels as well as potatoes and celery.

Public service commission has exercised the right to suspend a freight rate under the recent order which it passed permitting steam railroads to put into effect on short notice the 40 per cent increase in state freight shipments to conform to a like increase by the interstate commerce commission on interstate freight movement. The commission suspended until Dec. 10 the 40 per cent rate increase on shipments in the state covering peaches from Western New York to the various markets.

The last census figures reveal a marked decrease in the population in the rural towns of Chautauqua county. While the population of the entire county has increased by 10,222, to 115,348, in the last ten years, the increase in Jamestown and Dunkirk accounts for $,735. Seventeen of the 26 towns show a loss, particularly those in the strictly rural sections. It is this trend of the people from the farms to the larger towns and cities that is playing havoc with the farming business, the grangers declare, due to the higher wages paid in the city shops.

At the bi-ennial convention of the New York State Association of the National Association of Letter Carriers, held at Jamaica, resolutions were adopted expressing dissatisfaction with the wage increase granted by congress and demanding that the salary scale be increased to $2,400 a year. Another resolution recommended an increase of compensation for carriers injured while on duty from $66 to $100 a month. Other demands are double pay for overtime work, Saturday half holidays and the payment of 80 cents an hour for substitute carriers.

Earl A. Flansburgh of Mt. Morris, county agricultural agent, is possibly better able to speak on the likelihood of bumper crops this year than anyone else, due to the fact that he has probably visited more farms in the county than anyone else and many reports have been received at his office: "The year 1920 will go down in the history of Livingston county," said he, "as the most successful for farmers ever recorded. Hay, oats, wheat, potatoes and corn are all turning out big and with a fairly good price for each the farmer who does not have a nice fat bank account this fall will show he is responsible."

DESTRUCTIVE ENEMY OF OUR WHEAT CROP

Suggestions Made for Fight on the Hessian Fly.

Specialists Recommend Crop Rotation and Not Sowing on Stubble Where Possible to Avoid—Plow All Land Early.

The Hessian fly, one of the oldest and at times one of the most destructive enemies of the wheat crop in the United States, is again on the increase. Specialists of the United States department of agriculture make the following suggestions for combating the pest:

Practice crop rotation. Do not sow wheat on stubble if it is possible to avoid doing so.

Plow under all infested stubble and ruined wheat, where practicable, soon after harvest.

Destroy all volunteer wheat by harrowing, disking, plowing, or some other method.

Plow all land to be sown to wheat as early and deeply as existing conditions permit, and prepare a thoroughly pulverized and compacted seed bed.

Conserve moisture against a period of drought at seeding time.

Use good seed.

Fertilize.

Sow wheat during the fly-free period, as advised by your farm advisor or state experiment station.

Adhere to these practices every year, whether the fly is abundant or scarce. They will help to keep it scarce.

ORDER FERTILIZERS AT ONCE

Avoid Transportation Difficulties by Acting Quickly—Phosphate Increases Yield.

So valuable has acid phosphate been found in growing wheat, the Ohio station calls attention to the fact that farmers will profit by ordering their fall fertilizers at once. Transportation difficulties may become more acute during the summer and since the manufacture and transportation of acid phosphate are of a seasonal nature the orders should be placed early.

It may be necessary to use considerable fertilizer next fall to combat the Hessian fly, which has been quite destructive during this season. In some cases it is necessary to plant the wheat late and fertilize heavily, depending on the fertilizer to give the wheat a start equal to that of early sowing. At the Ohio station and on many of the county experiment farms the use of 100 pounds of acid phosphate to the acre has increased the wheat yield by five bushels per acre, while the residual effect of the fertilizer is also noted for several years, the increase in the hay crop following the wheat paying the entire cost of the fertilizer application in many experiments.

USE SULPHUR AS FERTILIZER

Demonstrated in Many Cases That It is Valuable Agent, Especially on Alfalfa.

Much evidence has been accumulated during the past five years to show that sulphur in many cases constitutes a valuable fertilizer agent and in many cases gives remarkable results when applied in the presence of lime. In particular, remarkable results have attended its use on alfalfa. Amounts of 100 pounds to the acre have in many cases given remarkable increase in crop.

POULTRY MANURE IS RICHEST

One of Best Fertilizers Made on Farm—Valuable for Its Large Amount of Nitrogen.

Poultry manure is the richest manure made on the farm, but on the ordinary farm not much attention is given it, simply because of the small amount usually made. Poultry manure is valuable chiefly for its large amounts of nitrogen and phosphoric acid, as it contains about three times as much nitrogen and five or six times as much phosphoric acid as ordinary farm manure.

LATE HATCHING NOT FAVORED

Evil Effects Are Strikingly Shown in Culling—Large Per Cent Must Be Thrown Out.

The evil effects of late hatching are strikingly shown in practical culling work among farm flocks. The trained observer can pick out the late-hatched flock by the lack of size, early moulting tendency and poor body capacity of the hens. In a flock of late-hatched birds a large per cent of the hens must be thrown out as culls.

Office of
The President 549 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.

July 22, 1920.

Cabain Bros.,

Dear Sir and Brother:

The organized liquor trade of New Jersey has set out to do its part toward the election of James M. Cox as the next President of the United States and it becomes my duty to call upon you to help. More than that we are going to fight as we never fought before to keep the hirelings of the Anti-Saloon League out of office; to elect Congressmen in the twelve Congressional districts of the State who will vote to amend the Volstead Act so as to permit the sale of light wine and beer; to elect Assemblymen and State Senators who will keep New Jersey from ratifying the Eighteenth Amendment and prevent the passage of any law concurring in the Volstead Act in its present form.

The nomination of Governor Cox of Ohio for the presidency by the Democrats is a big victory for our interests and it can be attributed to a great degree to the activity of our trade organizations here in New Jersey and throughout the nation. Governor Cox is a pronounced "wet" and he can be relied upon to approve an amendment to the Volstead Act as suggested above. It is now up to our trade organizations to stand unitedly behind the ticket of Cox and Roosevelt and roll up such a majority as will show convincingly that the public will is in our favor. Are you going to help? Of course you are.

This is going to be the greatest political fight in the history of the United States. Your liberty and mine has been taken from us. Our business has been unjustly confiscated. The rights of the people have been seized and they are lined up with us in the mighty struggle that is soon to be decided by the battle of the ballot.

The recent decision of the United States Supreme Court has thrown the question of Prohibition squarely into politics. It is the vital issue in the Campaign that is now under way. The prohibitionists tried to keep the question out of the campaign. They feared the vote of an outraged and indignant public. It is up to us—members of the organized liquor trade—to force the fight. That is just what we are doing.

We have issued the challenge. The Anti-Saloon League is forced to fight. It has made an appeal for a $30,000 fund to elect dry Congressmen who will uphold the Volstead Act and dry candidates to the State Senate and Assembly to force ratification of the Eighteenth Amendment on New Jersey. There is no question about the Anti-Saloon League's ability to raise the amount asked. How much can we raise?

We must have money at once to carry on the work that we have planned. Do not think for a moment that there is plenty of time to give between now and election. The fall will be too late. Money must be had immediately if we are to maintain our headquarters and continue the propaganda that is necessary in the drive to win public opinion. This is the second appeal that I have sent you. The first you evidently overlooked. I would not bother you now if it were not for the fact that your own interests hang in the balance just as much as mine. Let me beg of you to remain loyal to the cause to the finish. Make this your last contribution if you will but give—give something.

Your record on the roster of your local associations and also on that of the State League showed that you have been loyal and regular in the past. Do keep that record unsullied to the very end. I have always had your co-operation in the past please let me have it now for the Federation is to put up a bigger fight than it ever made before.

So that we may know at once just what our resources are, may we not ask you to promptly return the inclosed card filled out with your remittance.

Jump in and help us fight. Give as much as you can afford. This is not merely a battle to save your business but one to preserve something more sacred namely, your personal liberty.

Yours fraternally,
Geo. T. Canoll
PRESIDENT.

Death of Miss Lyon.

At Monrovia Sanatorium, Monrovia, Calif., near Los Angeles, Sept. 9, occurred the death of Helen Vaughan Lyon of Syracuse, N. Y., a graduate nurse of the Hospital of the Good Shepherd of that city.

Miss Lyon was the youngest daughter of the late Brainerd and Candace M. Lyon of King Ferry and was born in that village. She was the granddaughter of Moses Lyon who was one of the pioneers in the early settlement of the town of Genoa. He arrived in Genoa in 1798, and died at his home at King Ferry in 1874.

Miss Lyon is survived by one sister, Mrs. Anna Wiley, of Cayuga, N. Y., and one uncle, Lewis E. Lyon of Auburn.

The remains are expected to arrive in Auburn Monday morning, Sept. 20. Interment will be made in the family lot in the King Ferry cemetery.

When it comes to Prices we're right on the warpath!!

We're selling INTERNATIONAL MADE-TO-MEASURE SUITS and OVERCOATS at prices from $32.00 up but we're ready with a challenge at any time that no merchant in America can beat the values we give at these prices.

Mark well what we say.

No man can give more in actual value, and this takes in everything that goes to make a suit.

All Wool Fabrics.

Linings and Trimmings.

Expert Workmanship.

Smart up-to-date Styles!

Our challenge goes with our lowest to our highest prices----and in case you didn't get it first time----let us say it again in a different way.

When you buy International Made-to-Measure Clothes you get the most for your money in all wool quality, workmanship and style.— That's straight from the shoulder — isn't it?

Auditorium Attractions.

Saturday, this week, the attraction at the Auditorium will be the successful farce-comedy "Nightie Night." This is the farce that kept New York laughing all last season at the Princess theater. No one who enjoys a good laugh can afford to miss it. Seats are now on sale.

On Monday evening, Sept. 20, the greatest musical organization of its kind--Sousa and his Band--will be the attraction at the Auditorium. The appearance of Lieut. John Philip Sousa is always an event that attracts wide spread attention. The band this season numbers 90 musicians and has been specially increased in size for the celebration of the 28th anniversary of the organization which will be celebrated at the New York Hippodrome Sept. 26. Auburn is one of the few cities visited in this part of the state. The program will be a popular one and will include many of the marches that have made the name of Sousa a household word. Seats now on sale and out-of-town patrons will do well to order their seats early.

On Thursday, Sept. 23, matinee and night Burlesque lovers will welcome the return of the "Grown Up Babies." This is one of the best shows seen here last season. It is an entirely new production, this year, only the name being retained. The matinees are increasing in popularity and the number of ladies attending is very noticeable. Seats will be on sale Tuesday, Sept. 21.

A most remarkable attraction comes to the Auditorium on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 27 and 28, with a matinee on Tuesday. It is the complete New York Winter Garden production of "The Passing Show." The company numbers 106 people and it is the biggest attraction that has ever been presented in Auburn or any other city in this part of the state. Manager Hennessey was only able to secure it on a guarantee of $5000 to the Shubert offices. No one will want to miss it. Mail orders will be received now.

Wait Until Vines are Dead.

Late blight has appeared in potato fields throughout the greater part of the state and some growers, being concerned lest the tubers rot, are planning to dig them as soon as possible. To dig the potatoes early only increases the chances of their becoming infected and later decaying, according to the state college at Ithaca. There is less likelihood of infection if the tubers are left in the ground until all vines are dead.

The reason for this is that the blighting vines while yet green contain the living spores of the parasitic fungus that causes the tuber rot. When the vines die the spores of the fungus also die and cannot then infect the plant or tubers. If the tubers are dug while these spores are alive, the spores come into contact with the potatoes, which are likely to become infected so that they will decay later. If the tubers are left in the soil, it is possible that the spores will not reach them unless a heavy rain occurs. When potatoes are dug after the vines are dead, allowed to dry in the ground and the unrotted ones put in a cool dry storage house, the blight rot will not be troublesome. The blight parasite does not grow at a temperature below 40 degrees F.

Peculiar Accident.

Walker Ketchum of Venice, had a narrow escape from death Wednesday of last week. He was driving a tractor and hauling a grain separator down the long hill into Moravia, when an iron on the thresher pole broke and allowed the machine to run forward against the tractor which was driven into the bank by the side of the road. Ketchum was caught between the two machines. It was necessary to get a team of horses to pull back the separator before he could be released. He was taken to Moravia for examination by a physician and it was found that no bones were broken, but he was suffering from the effects of the tight squeeze.
