Doctors

say take Cod Liver Oil—they undoubtedly mean Scott's Emulsion.

It would be just as sensible for them to prescribe Quinine in its crude form as to prescribe Cod-Liver Oil in its natural state. In the oil is emulsified and made easy to take—easy to digest and easy to be absorbed in to the body—and is the most natural and useful fatty food to feed and nourish the wasted body that is known in medicine today.

Nothing can be found to take its place. If you are run-down you should take it.

Chance for Tribune Readers.

In order to test The TRIBUNE's great circulation and its superior advertising value, we have made arrangements with J. S. Banker, the popular druggist, to offer one of his best selling medicines at half-price to any one who will cut out the following coupon and present it at his store.

COUPON.

This coupon entitles the holder to one box of Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price. I will refund the money to any dissatisfied customer. J. S. BANKER.

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia is not an unknown remedy. It has made many remarkable cures right here in Genoa and so positive is Druggist Banker of its great superiority in curing dyspepsia, constipation, sick headache and liver troubles that he will, in addition, to selling it at half price, refund the money to any one whom it does not cure.

If you cannot call at his store, cut out the coupon and mail it with 25 cents, and a 50 cent box of the specific will be sent you by mail, charges paid. Do not put it off. "One to-day is worth two tomorrows."

A Raincoat for Christmas.

If you want to please some gentleman friend, you can hit the nail right on the head by presenting him with a waterproof raincoat, the kind sold at this store. Of course there are coats called waterproof which are only so in name. Ours are all guaranteed. We've a genuine English cravenette coat at $10.

AUBURN, N. Y.

No Longer a Mystery.

The Auburn Advertiser of Saturday last contained a long article concerning the alleged murder of Delmer B. Whitney at Ithaca several years ago and said: "A murderer other than the one for which he is serving a life sentence in Auburn prison, is charged against James Mansell, who with Eddie O'Connor killed Robert Sheils, a Venice farmer, Aug. 12, 1904, according to statements that Thomas Monagan made to Ithaca police officers Thursday night. Monagan, his tongue loosened by drink, told Policemen Buck and Helm of the Ithaca police force that he saw young Mansell hit Delmer B. Whitney with a black jack and kill him in the Globe hotel on the night of May 22, 1904."

"Whitney was chef at Sage college and his dead body was found on the Lehigh Valley railroad tracks at Creton's crossing near Ithaca, on the morning of May 23, 1904. The body had been hit by a train, and at first it was supposed that it was a case of accident. According to the examination that was made by Coroner Judd however, there were three distinct conditions about the head which indicated foul play. * * * None of these, the doctors said, would have resulted had Whitney been instantly killed by the train."

"The police followed every clue that they could get hold of, but the evidence was so slight that the detectives were finally forced to give up. The police were satisfied, however, that there had been a murder and in this number was Patrolman Helm and Officer Buck. * Monagan made the statement to the police officials that he saw the fatal blow struck. * * * Mansell became quite perturbed, Monagan says, when he realized that he had killed the man, and plans were made to dispose of the body. Monagan offered to loan his wagon and the body was covered, carried out of the hotel and taken to Creton's crossing, where it was placed on the railway track. The early morning train ran over the dead man and to those unacquainted with the facts it appeared as though he had been struck accidentally."

Resolutions.

Resolutions of respect upon the death of Giles F. Slocum:

Whereas, The pale messenger has again entered within our inner gates and removed from works to reward our highly esteemed brother, Giles F. Slocum, and

Whereas, In Brother Slocum's life we realized "an honest man, the noblest work of God," therefore

Resolved, That in this dispensation of providence we are again reminded of the uncertainty of all things here below.

Resolved, That while so many years he worked in our order as laborer, cultivator, harvester and husbandman, in faith, in hope, in charity and with fidelity, now our Grange farm shall know him no more, but when as stewards, we shall be called to give up our stewardship, may we join him in the great Grange above over which God himself will be the Master

Resolved, That our sympathy be extended to the family of our deceased brother.

Resolved, That our charter be draped for thirty days in his memory, that a copy be forwarded to the family and also to the county papers for publication and recorded in our journal.

ELISHA COOK,

ELIZABETH MANCHESTER,

PROBIE COLLINS,

Committee.

Gard of Thanks.

We wish to express our appreciation of the kindness of friends and neighbors during our recent bereavement and of the many expressions of sympathy, manifested in so many ways.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Sent for free information.

THE WONDER OF THE WORLD.
Dec. 13, '08—(1 Kings 8: 1-11.)

The magnificent temple of Solomon was not one of the wonders of the world, it was its one solitary wonder; the one national house of worship erected on earth for the honor and glory of the only living and true God. At its dedication it stood a sculptured creed, a matchless poem frozen into gold and silver and marble—a witness against idolatry, a warning to infidelity, a hymn of praise to God, a proof of man's visible consecration to His service. Every portion of it was saturated with spiritual meaning.

In its grandly decorous ritual was an unvarying undertone of the coming sacrifice. It, like the forerunner, John the Baptist, came to herald another which should be "a house of prayer for all nations."

Dedication Ceremonies.

For twenty centuries that temple stood, the silent, eloquent witness of the name and attributes of God. It was a standing protest against idolatry. When that temple was dedicated the whole nation assembled to assist in the joyous service. A stately procession, led by the king himself, attended by princes in robes of state, and priests in flowing garments of sacred splendor or pure white linen, bearing the ark, the sacred symbol of the divine presence, swept up the holy hill of Zion, with songs, and blending harmonies of silver trumpets and instruments of music, toward the completed building. One hundred and twenty priests lifted up their voices in the grand Te Deum of the ancient church, For He is good; for His mercy endureth forever. Descending from his ivory throne, Solomon bowed before that matchless altar and made the prayer of consecration—a prayer of adoration, confession, supplication and thanksgiving, and at its conclusion the answering fire, the descending cloud, the glory-filled temple, attested the Divine presence and love. Mutely majestic or flashing with glory that building was a constant testimony that there is a Father above, bending down in tenderness, compassion and sympathy toward the children of men.

A Spiritual Temple.

Twenty-eight centuries have passed and the temple that Solomon built has perished from the earth. But in its place has risen a spiritual temple, the graceful, invisible, but none the less real, structure of the Christian church into which, not the Jews only, but the Gentile world, is steadily flowing. The church in every community embodies and illustrates the idea of Solomon's temple, that was but a wonderful object lesson lifting the minds of the people upward, and every church spire has the same mission. That was to emphasize the need of worship and every sacred edifice teaches the same lesson. The church is not, primarily, a place for the exchange of social sweets in retired corners, nor untimely amusements for the world, nor coquetting with operatic fancies. It is not a rostrum for political hucksters, nor a public dressing room for vulgar ostentation, nor a platform where brittle cups are filled with the wine of human eloquence. It is no place for man worship, nor sect pride, nor vain glorious display. It is a house where "the rich and the poor meet together, the Lord the maker of them all." There should be no footstool for the poor and a soft cushion for the rich. Whether grand cathedral or plain meeting house, the church should be the hospital for the sick, the training school for the undeveloped, the refuge for the oppressed, the home for the homeless. As such the church is worthy the respect, the honor, the devout appreciation of every one who is interested in his own welfare and that of his fellowmen.

Get In Somewhere.

Without at this time expressing any preference one way or the other, my advice is to all to join some church. Look over the list of churches and clergymen, and get in somewhere. You will be peculiarly constituted and an unaccountable exception if you cannot find one good enough for your soul. Do not seek for perfection, for if you succeeded in finding it, it would not be so after you had joined. Keep, if you must, your prejudices against all other institutions, but love this one. To some, I commend a liturgy; to others, informal worship. Some will prefer a holy stillness; others boisterous vociferation. There are natures which abhor racket, and there are others to whom a thunderstorm is a lullaby. Some prefer to be sprinkled; others would be satisfied with nothing but submersion in the flood. Written sermons suit one class; extemporaneous speech is the only preaching for another class. Quartet singing satisfies this one; congregational music is the only appropriate form for that one. Old-fashioned doctrines are preferred by one; more conservative utterances are pleasing to another. Amid all the denominations there must be one place where your soul will be blessed. Find that place and help to perpetuate and build up on earth the temple of God.

SHORT SERMON FOR A SUNDAY HALF-HOUR

By Frank O. Hall, D.D.
Where Do You Live?

Text: Think on these things.—Philippians, iv., 8.

What things? Things that are true, honest, just, pure, lovely, attractive, virtuous, honorable. "Upon these things," says Paul, "let your thoughts dwell."

Thoughts are things as much as brick walls and paved streets. There is such a thing as unsanitary thinking as surely as there is such a thing as unsanitary plumbing. There is a mental atmosphere conducive to health as much as sunshine and fresh air, and there is a miasma of the soul which is deadly as the malaria of the Dismal Swamp. To select a spiritual dwelling place where the atmosphere is heavy with hate and poisonous with passion; to pull up the shutters of despair and exclude the sunshine of hope; to close the windows of the heart and exclude the light of faith and the warmth of love is as deadly as it would be to build one's house in a stagnant marsh or to live in a dark, unventilated cellar.

Notice that Paul writes as if men had the power to select their own intellectual dwelling places. So they have. Physically most men must dwell where circumstances ordain. But the poorest man may have a dwelling place for his mind more desirable than the region in which many a millionaire is content to reside, in an atmosphere of the soul filled with unclean odors. Every man has within himself the power to change his mental dwelling place. The normal man has power to direct his thoughts as he has power to direct his hand. By the exercise of such power he may win success, character, righteousness.

The mind is master of the body. Experiment demonstrates that thought pumps the blood into the head or hands or feet according as one directs his mind, and that emotion, controllable by the will, may refresh or poison the physical system as they are good or bad.

Paul has given us not only the secret of health, but the secret of happiness. Not the dwelling place of the body, but the dwelling place of the thoughts determines whether one's thoughts shall be filled with joy or with misery. Some of the most miserable people live in mansions, dine sumptuously, dress luxuriously. Some of the happiest people live in very humble circumstances. The difference is entirely mental. One man is miserable in spite of his fine physical circumstances, another is happy in poverty because of his mental dwelling place.

Moreover, Paul indicates here the road to success. More people fail to achieve their worthy ambitions because they cultivate wrong mental habits than for any other cause whatever. Life is full of splendid opportunities for the man who will seize them, and all the forces of the universe help on the man whose mind dwells in faith and courage and confidence and indomitable hope; and all the forces of the universe set against the man who dwells in a mental atmosphere of doubt and despondency, suspicion of himself and his fellow men.

Finally, thought means conduct. What you do depends upon what you think. Conduct is first in the mind, afterward in the body. Beware of wrong thinking. Beware of holding evil pictures before the imagination. Do not play with evil, even in your thoughts, for what you think will register itself ultimately and inevitably in what you do. On the other hand, one can overcome all the evils with which his inner life is beset by exercising the will in that direction of right thinking. If you would do the things you ought to do and leave undone the things you ought not to do, then look to your thoughts, and in "whatsoever things are true, honest, just, pure, lovely, attractive, virtuous, honorable, there let your thoughts dwell."

Willing.

It requires a well-kept life to do the will of God, and even a better kept life to will to do His will. To be willing is a rarer grace than to be doing the will of God. For he who is willing, may sometimes have nothing to do, and must only be willing to wait; and it is easier far to be doing God's will than to be willing to have nothing to do—it is easier far to be working for Christ than it is to be willing to cease. No, there is nothing rarer in the world to-day than the true willing soul, and there is nothing more worth coveting than the will to do God's will. There is no grander possession of any Christian life than the transparently simple mechanism of a sincerely obeying heart.—Prof. Drummond.

Coughs that are tight, or distressing tickling coughs, get quick and certain help from Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. On this account druggists everywhere are favoring Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And it is entirely free from Opium, Chloroform, or any other stupefying drug. The tender leaves of a harmless lung-healing mountainous shrub give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its curative properties. Those leaves have the power to calm the most distressing cough, and to soothe and heal the most sensitive bronchial membrane. Mothers should, for safety's sake alone, always demand Dr. Shoop's. It can with perfect freedom be given to even the youngest babes. Test it once yourself and see! Sold by J. S. Banker, Genoa.

The old-fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the heart or kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments—the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak stomach, heart or kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail, those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by J. S. Banker, Genoa.

Harry Thaw is reported to be greatly depressed during his second trial. Perhaps he can't get over the discovery of that New York man who never heard of him.

The grip is no respecter of persons, and that works both ways, for nobody respects the grip.

Preventics, the new Candy Cold Cure Tablets, are said by druggists to have four special specific advantages over all other remedies for a cold. First, they contain no Quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. Second, they give almost instant relief. Third, pleasant to the taste, like candy. Fourth, a large box, 48 Preventics, at 25 cents. Also fine for feverish children. Sold by J. S. Banker, Genoa.

Orange Item
 At the last regular meeting of Five Corners Grange on Nov. 30, was held a fruit show of more than passing interest to the members. There was quite a large display of fruit of fine quality and after some extended remarks, bearing on the subject of raising fruit for family and market, the members formed themselves into a committee of the whole and proceeded to sample some of the most reasonable varieties and all declared them fine.
 At the next regular meeting, Dec. 7, will be held the election of officers for the coming year. It is hoped that all members will be present.
 The next exhibition of the Grange will be held on the 21st and 22nd of the month at the station. The following program will be exhibited at that time: an exhibit of fruit, a contest for the brothers. Ten every brother will have to see what the sisters will provide for their entertainment.

Banker's Unusual Offer.
 "It isn't often that I have faith enough in the medicine put up by other people to be willing to offer to refund the money if it does not cure," said J. S. Banker to a THIRTY man who dropped into his store, "but I am glad to sell Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia on that basis."
 "The Dr. Howard Company, in order to get a quick introductory sale, authorizes me to sell their regular fifty cent bottles at half price, 25 cents, and, although I have sold a lot of it and have guaranteed every package, not one has been brought back as unsatisfactory."
 "One great advantage of this specific," he continued, "is its small dose and convenient form. There are sixty doses in a vial that can be carried in the vest pocket or purse, and every one has more medicinal power than a big pill or tablet or a tumbler of mineral water."
 "I am still selling the specific at half price, although I cannot tell how long I shall be able to do so, and any one who is subject to constipation, sick headache, dizziness, liver trouble, indigestion or a general troubled condition, ought to take advantage of this chance. You can tell your readers that if they are not satisfied with the specific they can come right back to my store and I will cheerfully refund their money."

 "It isn't often that I have faith enough in the medicine put up by other people to be willing to offer to refund the money if it does not cure," said J. S. Banker to a THIRTY man who dropped into his store, "but I am glad to sell Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia on that basis."
 "The Dr. Howard Company, in order to get a quick introductory sale, authorizes me to sell their regular fifty cent bottles at half price, 25 cents, and, although I have sold a lot of it and have guaranteed every package, not one has been brought back as unsatisfactory."
 "One great advantage of this specific," he continued, "is its small dose and convenient form. There are sixty doses in a vial that can be carried in the vest pocket or purse, and every one has more medicinal power than a big pill or tablet or a tumbler of mineral water."
 "I am still selling the specific at half price, although I cannot tell how long I shall be able to do so, and any one who is subject to constipation, sick headache, dizziness, liver trouble, indigestion or a general troubled condition, ought to take advantage of this chance. You can tell your readers that if they are not satisfied with the specific they can come right back to my store and I will cheerfully refund their money."

Doctors say take Cod Liver Oil—they undoubtedly mean Scott's Emulsion.

It would be just as sensible for them to prescribe Quinine in its crude form as to prescribe Cod Liver Oil in its natural state. In the oil is emulsified and made easy to take—easy to digest and easy to be absorbed in to the body—and is the most natural and useful fatty food to feed and nourish the wasted body that is known in medicine today.

Nothing can be found to take its place. If you are run-down you should take it.

Chance for Tribune Readers.

In order to test the TRIBUNE's great circulation and its superior advertising value, we have made arrangements with J. S. Banker, the popular druggist, to offer one of his best selling medicines at half-price to any one who will cut out the following coupon and present it at his store.

COUPON.

This coupon entitles the holder to one 50c package of Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price. I will refund the money to any dissatisfied customer. J. S. BANKER.

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia is not an unknown remedy. It has made many remarkable cures right here in Genoa and so positive is Druggist Banker of its great superiority in curing dyspepsia, constipation, sick headache and liver troubles that he will, in addition, to selling it at half price, refund the money to any one whom it does not cure.

If you cannot call at his store, cut out the coupon and mail it with 25 cents, and a 50 cent box of the specific will be sent you by mail, charges paid. Do not put it off. "One to-day is worth two tomorrows."

A Raincoat for Christmas.

If you want to please some gentleman friend, you can hit the nail right on the head by presenting him with a waterproof raincoat, the kind sold at this store. No Longer a Mystery.

The Auburn Advertiser of Saturday last contained a long article concerning the alleged murder of Delmer B. Whitney at Ithaca several years ago and said: "A murderer other than the one for which he is serving a life sentence in Auburn prison, is charged against James Mansell, who with Eddie O'Connor killed Robert Sheils, a Venice farmer, Aug. 12, 1904, according to statements that Thomas Monagan made to Ithaca police officers Thursday night. Monagan, his tongue loosened by drink, told Policemen Buck and Helm of the Ithaca police force that he saw young Mansell hit Delmer B. Whitney with a black jack and kill him in the Globe hotel on the night of May 22, 1904."

"Whitney was chef at Sage college and his dead body was found on the Lehigh Valley railroad tracks at Creton's crossing near Ithaca, on the morning of May 23, 1904. The body had been hit by a train, and at first it was supposed that it was a case of accident. According to the examination that was made by Coroner Judd however, there were three distinct conditions about the head which indicated foul play. * * * None of these, the doctors said, would have resulted had Whitney been instantly killed by the train."

"The police followed every clue that they could get hold of, but the evidence was so slight that the detectives were finally forced to give up. The police were satisfied, however, that there had been a murder and in this number was Patrolmen Helm and Officer Buck. * Monagan made the statement to the police officials that he saw the fatal blow struck."

"Mansell became quite perturbed, Monagan says, when he realized that he had killed the man, and plans were made to dispose of the body. Monagan offered to loan his wagon and the body was covered up, carried out of the hotel and taken to Creton's crossing, where it was placed on the railway track. The early morning train ran over the dead man and to those unacquainted with the facts it appeared as though he had been struck accidentally."

Resolutions.

Resolutions of respect upon the death of Giles F. Slocum:

Whereas, The pale messenger has again entered within our inner gates and removed from works to rewards our highly esteemed brother, Giles F. Slocum, and

Whereas, In Brother Slocum's life we realized "an honest man, the noblest work of God," therefore

Resolved, That in this dispensation of providence we are again reminded of the uncertainty of all things here below.

Resolved, That while so many years he worked in our order as laborer, cultivator, harvester and husbandman, in faith, in hope, in charity and with fidelity, now our Grange farm shall know him no more, but when as stewards, we shall be called to give up our stewardship, may we join him in the great Grange above over which God himself will be the Master

Resolved, That our sympathy be extended to the family of our deceased brother.

Resolved, That our charter be draped for thirty days in his memory, that a copy be forwarded to the family and also to the county papers for publication and recorded in our journal.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one decided disease that science has been able to cure in all stages, and that is Catarrh of the Bladder. Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh of the bladder, constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Sent for free of charge.

THE WONDER OF THE WORLD.
Dec. 13, '08.—(I Kings 8: 1-11.)

The magnificent temple of Solomon was not one of the wonders of the world, it was its one solitary wonder; the one national house of worship erected on earth for the honor and glory of the only living and true God. At its dedication it stood a sculptured creed, a matchless poem frozen into gold and silver and marble—a witness against idolatry, a warning to infidelity, a hymn of praise to God, a proof of man's visible consecration to His service. Every portion of it was saturated with spiritual meaning.

In its grandly decorous ritual was an unvarying undertone of the coming sacrifice. It, like the forerunner, John the Baptist, came to herald another which should be "a house of prayer for all nations."

Dedication Ceremonies.
For twenty centuries that temple stood, the silent, eloquent witness of the name and attributes of God. It was a standing protest against idolatry. When that temple was dedicated the whole nation assembled to assist in the joyous service. A stately procession, led by the king himself, attended by princes in robes of state, and priests in flowing garments of sacred splendor or pure white linen, bearing the ark, the sacred symbol of the divine presence, swept up the holy hill of Zion, with songs, and blending harmonies of silver trumpets and instruments of music, toward the completed building. One hundred and twenty priests lifted up their voices in the grand Te Deum of the ancient church, For He is good; for His mercy endureth forever. Descending from his ivory throne, Solomon bowed before that matchless altar and made the prayer of consecration—a prayer of adoration, confession, supplication and thanksgiving, and at its conclusion the answering fire, the descending cloud, the glory-filled temple, attested the Divine presence and love. Mutely majestic or flashing with glory that building was a constant testimony that there is a Father above, bending down in tenderness, compassion and sympathy toward the children of men.

A Spiritual Temple.
Twenty-eight centuries have passed and the temple that Solomon built has perished from the earth. But in its place has risen a spiritual temple, the graceful, invisible, but none the less real, structure of the Christian church into which, not the Jews only, but the Gentile world, is steadily flowing. The church in every community embodies and illustrates the idea of Solomon's temple, that was but a wonderful object lesson lifting the minds of the people upward, and every church spire has the same mission. That was to emphasize the need of worship and every sacred edifice teaches the same lesson. The church is not, primarily, a place for the exchange of social sweets in retired corners, nor untimely amusements for the world, nor coquetting with operatic fancies. It is not a rostrum for political hucksters, nor a public dressing room for vulgar ostentation, nor a platform where brittle cups are filled with the wine of human eloquence. It is no place for man worship, nor sect pride, nor vain glorious display. It is a house where "the rich and the poor meet together, the Lord the maker of them all." There should be no footstool for the poor and a soft cushion for the rich. Whether grand cathedral or plain meeting house, the church should be the hospital for the sick, the training school for the undeveloped, the refuge for the oppressed, the home for the homeless. As such the church is worthy the respect, the honor, the devout appreciation of every one who is interested in his own welfare and that of his fellowmen.

Get In Somewhere.
Without at this time expressing any preference one way or the other, my advice is to all to join some church. Look over the list of churches and clergymen, and get in somewhere. You will be peculiarly constituted and an unaccountable exception if you cannot find one good enough for your soul. Do not seek for perfection, for if you succeeded in finding it, it would not be so after you had joined. Keep, if you must, your prejudices against all other institutions, but love this one. To some, I commend a liturgy; to others, informal worship. Some will prefer a holy stillness; others boisterous vociferation. There are natures which abhor racket, and there are others to whom a thunderstorm is a lullaby. Some prefer to be sprinkled; others would be satisfied with nothing but submersion in the flood. Written sermons suit one class; extemporaneous speech is the only preaching for another class. Quartet singing satisfies this one; congregational music is the only appropriate form for that one. Old-fashioned doctrines are preferred by one; more conservative utterances are pleasing to another. Amid all the denominations there must be one place where your soul will be blessed. Find that place and help to perpetuate and build up on earth the temple of God.

SHORT SERMON FOR A SUNDAY HALF-HOUR
By Frank O. Hall, D. D.

Where Do You Live?

Text: Think on these things.—Philippians, iv., 8.

What things? Things that are true, honest, just, pure, lovely, attractive, virtuous, honorable. "Upon these things," says Paul, "let your thoughts dwell."

Thoughts are things as much as brick walls and paved streets. There is such a thing as unsanitary thinking as surely as there is such a thing as unsanitary plumbing. There is a mental atmosphere conducive to health as much as sunshine and fresh air, and there is a miasma of the soul which is deadly as the malaria of the Dismal Swamp. To select a spiritual dwelling place where the atmosphere is heavy with hate and poisonous with passion; to pull up the shutters of despair and exclude the sunshine of hope; to close the windows of the heart and exclude the light of faith and the warmth of love is as deadly as it would be to build one's house in a stagnant marsh or to live in a dark, unventilated cellar.

Notice that Paul writes as if men had the power to select their own intellectual dwelling places. So they have. Physically most men must dwell where circumstances ordain. But the poorest man may have a dwelling place for his mind more desirable than the region in which many a millionaire is content to reside, in an atmosphere of the soul filled with unclean odors. Every man has within himself the power to change his mental dwelling place. The normal man has power to direct his thoughts as he has power to direct his hand. By the exercise of such power he may win success, character, righteousness.

The mind is master of the body. Experiment demonstrates that thought pumps the blood into the head or hands or feet according as one directs his mind, and that emotion, controllable by the will, may refresh or poison the physical system as they are good or bad.

Paul has given us not only the secret of health, but the secret of happiness. Not the dwelling place of the body, but the dwelling place of the thoughts determines whether one's thoughts shall be filled with joy or with misery. Some of the most miserable people live in mansions, dine sumptuously, dress luxuriously. Some of the happiest people live in very humble circumstances. The difference is entirely mental. One man is miserable in spite of his fine physical circumstances, another is happy in poverty because of his mental dwelling place.

Moreover, Paul indicates here the road to success. More people fail to achieve their worthy ambitions because they cultivate wrong mental habits than for any other cause whatever. Life is full of splendid opportunities for the man who will seize them, and all the forces of the universe help on the man whose mind dwells in faith and courage and confidence and indomitable hope; and all the forces of the universe set against the man who dwells in a mental atmosphere of doubt and despondency, suspicion of himself and his fellow men.

Finally, thought means conduct. What you do depends upon what you think. Conduct is first in the mind, afterward in the body. Beware of wrong thinking. Beware of holding evil pictures before the imagination. Do not play with evil, even in your thoughts, for what you think will register itself ultimately and inevitably in what you do. On the other hand, one can overcome all the evils with which his inner life is beset by exercising the will in that direction of right thinking. If you would do the things you ought to do and leave undone the things you ought not to do, then look to your thoughts, and in "whatsoever things are true, honest, just, pure, lovely, attractive, virtuous, honorable, there let your thoughts dwell."

Willing.
It requires a well-kept life to do the will of God, and even a better kept life to will to do His will. To be willing is a rarer grace than to be doing the will of God. For he who is willing, may sometimes have nothing to do, and must only be willing to wait; and it is easier far to be doing God's will than to be willing to have nothing to do—it is easier far to be working for Christ than it is to be willing to cease. No, there is nothing rarer in the world to-day than the true willing soul, and there is nothing more worth coveting than the will to do God's will.

Coughs that are tight, or distressing tickling coughs, get quick and certain help from Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. On this account druggists everywhere are favoring Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And it is entirely free from Opium, Chloroform, or any other stupefying drug. The tender leaves of a harmless lung-healing mountainous shrub give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its curative properties. Those leaves have the power to calm the most distressing cough, and to soothe and heal the most sensitive bronchial membrane. Mothers should, for safety's sake alone, always demand Dr. Shoop's. It can with perfect freedom be given to even the youngest babes. Test it once yourself and see! Sold by J. S. Banker, Genoa.

Father—What's this—a new frog pond discovered in Central Africa?

When Rubbers Become Necessary
And your shoes pinch, Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder to be shaken into the shoes, is just the thing to use. Try it for Breaking in New Shoes. Sold everywhere, 25c. Sample FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y. Don't accept any substitute.

The old-fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the heart or kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments—the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak stomach, heart or kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail, those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by J. S. Banker, Genoa.

Harry Thaw is reported to be greatly depressed during his second trial. Perhaps he can't get over the discovery of that New York man who never heard of him.

The grip is no respecter of persons, and that works both ways, for nobody respects the grip.

Preventics, the new Candy Co'd Cure Tablets, are said by druggists to have four special specific advantages over all other remedies for a cold. First, they contain no Quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. Second, they give almost instant relief. Third, pleasant to the taste, like candy. Fourth, a large box, 48 Preventics, at 25 cents. Also fine for feverish children. Sold by J. S. Banker, Genoa.

Still if a girl wants a man to propose she can usually lead him up to it without waiting for leap year.

Keep in debt to your appetite and every meal will seem a banquet.

Those who commit and permit faults are not good citizens.

Ethel—What a pretty mouth you have! It ought to be on a girl's face.
Jack—Well, I very seldom miss an opportunity.

The Scrap Book

A Fat One, Too.

In one of his farces Glen MacDonough had written two or three lines to be spoken by a chorus girl. The lines were given to a green, heavy amateur who looked well and would do. At the rehearsal the girl made her way to MacDonough, who held the book, and said: "Mr. MacDonough, I have a line in the first act and one in the third. Couldn't you write me one for the second act too?"

MacDonough thought a minute, looked at the girl and said:

"Yes. In the banquet scene you enter and say, 'Here is the ham.'"

"Oh, do I bring the ham on with me?"

"No, my dear. It is not a speech. It is a confession."

LOOK BEHIND.

Two wise men going on their way were halted by a youth. Desiring of them that they stay awhile and utter truth and wisdom that would serve to throw light on the way that he should go.

"Your eyes must fix upon a star," the first adviser said.

"And hold it, though it be afar and always overhead."

And if your gaze shall never quit that goal, my friend, you'll come to it."

"A fool advises you, my friend," the second wise man said.

"Nor fame nor fortune will attend who only look ahead. But look back now and then and see how great a fool you used to be."

Coming Events.

Let no one say that the mind has no power over the body. If it can cause such effects as in the case taken from the Berlin Lik, how much more can it influence the physical conditions of the now and here!

"You look pale and thin. What's got you?"

"Work, from morning till night, and only a one hour rest."

"How long have you been at it?"

"I begin tomorrow."

The Stains Went.

The young man had sold Mrs. Bean the cake of stain remover the day before. When he saw her enter the shop again he was unpleasantly impressed by the look on her determined countenance.

"Didn't it take the stains from that shawl, madam?" he asked quickly.

"I don't know whether it did or not," said Mrs. Bean sternly. "You told me it had got to be left out on the grass overnight and the stains would go. Well, they've gone—with the shawl. And now I want to know what you propose to do about it, young man?"—Youth's Companion.

Before and After.

Some years ago a young curate, seeking to be licensed, was bidden by Dr. Temple, archbishop of Canterbury, to read a few verses of the Bible in order that his fitness for conducting public worship might be judged.

"Not loud enough," was the criticism of the bishop when the young man had finished.

"Oh, I'm sorry to hear that, my lord," replied the curate. "A lady in the church yesterday told me I could be heard most plainly all over."

"Ah! You are engaged?" suddenly asked Dr. Temple.

"Yes, my lord."

The bishop smiled grimly and said: "Now, listen to me, young man. While you are engaged don't believe everything the lady tells you, but," he added, with a deep chuckle, "after you are married believe every word she says."

Napoleon to Josephine (1797.)

I loved you four months ago, but since my separation from you I feel that I love you a thousandfold more. Each day since I knew you have I adored you yet more and more. Ah! I entreat you to let me see some of your faults; be less beautiful, less gracious, less affectionate, less good, especially be not overanxious, and never weep. Your tears rob me of reason and inflame my blood. Believe me that it is not in my power to have a single thought that is not of you or a wish that I cannot reveal to you. Quickly re-establish your health and join me, that at last before death we may be able to say, "We were many days happy." A thousand kisses and one even to Fortuna, notwithstanding his spitefulness.

It Saved Pat.

Pat McGuire had been misbehaving himself and appeared before his commanding officer charged for the third time with the crime of drunkenness. After Pat had stated his case the colonel in severe tones said:

"Eight days' confinement to barracks!"

But in endeavoring to write "8" on Pat's defaulter sheet the pen spluttered. Pat, noticing this, leaned forward and in a loud whisper said:

"Thy if it will make a sivil, sorr."

This remark caused a general burst of laughter and saved Pat his bacon.—London Answers.

A Coat and an Impulse.

One of Judge Wright's intimate friends in Keosauqua was the late Judge Knapp. Two men could not well be more dissimilar in appearance and individual characteristics. Judge Knapp was portly, hardy and even bluff, Judge Wright somewhat slight of figure, suave and affable. Judge Knapp used to relish telling an incident which he claimed occurred while Senator Wright was visiting at his house. The judge asserted that the senator had after much practice acquired the habit of being interested in every possible voter and had learned to shake hands with each man he encountered. The senator was the guest of the judge and had hung his linen duster in the judge's hallway. One morning the judge rushed down to his office and did not notice that he put on the senator's coat by mistake. Later in the morning the senator wanted that coat, but could not find it, and so proceeded to Judge Knapp's office, where he discovered the missing garment on the broad back of his substantial friend.

"What are you doing with my coat?" blandly inquired the senator.

"Your coat?" gasped the judge, twisting and squirming about to get a fuller sight of the straining duster. "Well, that accounts for it!" And the judge sank into a chair, very red in the face, but evidently relieved of a great mental load.

"Accounts for what?"

"Why, ever since I left home I've been fighting an unaccountable desire to rush up to and shake hands with every d—d fool I saw on the street."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Not Guilty.

It is not always a guilty conscience that is taken by surprise, for sometimes the most innocent of men will start at a suspicious word. The following incident, which occurred in a hardware shop, is illuminating:

An elderly lady, dressed severely in gray and carrying what looked very much like a bundle of tracts, approached the counter.

A clerk hastened to serve her.

"What can I do for you, madam?" She leaned toward him.

"Have you—er—any little vises?" she inquired.—Youth's Companion.

Left to His Fate.

On returning from the barn early one morning the old man found his wife in tears.

"What's her cryin' about, Melissa?" he inquired.

"'Nother one—uv our darters—was stole las' night," she sobbed.

"The red headed un?" he asked laconically.

"Yes—pore Mag—she was the best gal!"

"Bog Scuttles?"

"Uv course. Hasn't been no other feller waitin' on her. Ah! 'u you goin' to pursue after 'em an arrest 'im?"

"Uv course not," he replied sternly.

"I'm not under obligations to help Bob Scuttles out uv no difficulty. Let him go ahead and work out his sentence, same's I've been a-doin' fur the las' forty year."

Wise Diogenes.

When Aristippus returned from the court of Dionysius he said to Diogenes, "If you knew how to flatter kings you need not live upon herbs," to which Diogenes replied, "If you knew how to live on herbs you need not flatter kings."

A Ten Foot Locust.

An antiquary laid down, with a laugh, the book he had been reading.

"It's 'L'Espion,'" he said, "a French translation of Fenimore Cooper's 'Spy.' I bought it from a Frenchman's valet. What makes it valuable is an error it contains.

"Cooper says in the book that a horseman tied his horse to a locust. He means a locust tree. But the French translator thought he meant an insect and wrote that the horseman hitched to a 'sauterelle.' He stuck an asterisk at the end of the sentence and in a footnote said:

"In America the locusts grow to an enormous size—ten feet or more. It is customary to place dead and stuffed ones as hitching posts before the doors of American mansions for the convenience of visitors on horseback."—New York Press.

Where He Was Most Needed.

General N. B. Forrest was one of the fiercest and most determined fighters that participated in the war between the states. In the midst of one of his campaigns a captured Federal chaplain was brought to his headquarters. The man showed the deepest anxiety and depression, for the stories of General Forrest's severity were rife in the Union camp. A little later supper was announced, and Forrest, to the chaplain's surprise, invited him to share it. But his surprise grew to amazement when the general turned to him reverently and said:

"Parson, will you please ask the blessing?"

The next morning Forrest courteously gave him an escort through the Confederate lines, for he wished no non-combatants for prisoners, and bade him goodby, with the remark:

"Parson, I would keep you here to preach for me if you weren't needed so much more by the sinners of the other side."

Voltaire on Newton.

No person has done more honor to the genius of Sir Isaac Newton than Voltaire. He declared "that if a general assembly could be convened of all the men of talents who ever flourished they would without hesitation assign the place of precedence to Newton."

Much Simpler.

At a country fair in Kansas a man went up to a tent where some elk were on exhibition and stared wistfully at the sign.

"I'd like to go in there," he said to the keeper, "but it would be mean to go in without my family, and I cannot afford to pay for my wife and seventeen children."

The keeper stared at him in astonishment. "Are all those your children?" he gasped.

"Every one," said the man.

"You wait a minute," said the keeper. "I'll bring the elk out and let them see you all."

Throat Coughs

Ask your doctor about these throat coughs. He will tell you how deceptive they are. A tickling in the throat often means serious trouble ahead. Better explain your case carefully to your doctor, and ask him about your taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Who makes the best liver pills? The J. C. Ayer Company, of Lowell, Mass. They have been making Ayer's Pills for over sixty years. If you have the slightest doubt about using these pills, ask your doctor. Do as he says, always.

The title that goes with a place on the government payroll is becoming almost as much a consideration as the salary.

"The panic of 1907" is a good name for it. It denotes that it is among the things that were.

Marked for Death.

"Three years ago I was marked for death. A grave-yard cough was tearing my lungs to pieces. Doctors failed to help me, and hope had fled, when my husband got Dr. King's New Discovery," says Mrs. A. C. Williams, of Eac, Ky. "The first dose helped me and improvement kept on until I had gained 58 pounds in weight and my health was fully restored." This medicine holds the world's leading record for coughs and colds, and lung and throat diseases. It prevents pneumonia. Sold under guarantee at J. S. Banker's, Genoa, and F. T. Atwater's, King Ferry, drug stores. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.
