The death of his wife was a great loss to the family. The wheel which had seemed to keep the others moving harmoniously had gone. There were three men in the family but no woman, and housekeepers are hard to find. After a long time they secured one who stayed several months. When she left the daughter came back for a time. Then came the sad death of the little granddaughter from eating strychnine pills left for the grandfather. From this Mr. Lane never fully rallied. The daughter, Mrs. Ed Boles, has been keeping house for several months for her father, but a few weeks ago she moved to West Danby. All things combined with poor health unbalanced his mind and as a result he took his own life. The funeral was held at the house on Sunday at 1 p. m. Rev. M. A. Soper of Ludlowville officiated at the house and Rev. T. Small at the grave. Rev. Mr. Soper took for a text "Death is swallowed up in victory." He commenced his remarks by saying "No sane man ever takes his own life." Mrs. Soper sang some appropriate selections.

The Good Roads Problem.

Venice, Feb. 21, 1906.

As our farmers become more fully informed regarding the details of the good roads scheme, they are more than ever convinced not only of its enormous and never-ending cost but also of the great inequality of its benefits. Indeed, many think it to be impossible of execution and that it will of itself fail on account of the magnitude of the work and expense involved long before the "remote hamlets and farms" are reached.

Even were it possible to complete the 7,400 miles as now planned it is a fact that 66,000 miles of dirt highway would remain as they now are, while if 144 miles of Cayuga's highways were made into "good roads," 1,396 miles would still remain as at present. If one mile is done 9 miles will be unimproved. Where one road is improved its entire length, nine parallel roads will stay as they are except for the injury done them by the hauling of the materials for the one. It is a fact that (taking the average of the farms and localities) where one load of produce is drawn all the way from the farm to its destination over a "good road" nine loads will go all the way over dirt roads, or if all the produce goes one-tenth of the way over "good roads" it will all go nine-tenths of the way over dirt roads. At the most the 23 towns of Cayuga county will have 144 miles of good roads, being an average of only 6 1/2 miles to each town, so it is absolutely impossible to improve any of the highways except a few of the "main thoroughfares," which term in the State engineer's office and the good roads convention means the principal routes from one "center of population" to another. This means, in southern Cayuga, from Auburn to Ithaca by the "creek road;" from Ithaca to Auburn by the "ridge road," and from Auburn on the east of Owego lake toward Homer and Cortland with a fork through Moravia and Locke to Groton.

As all farmers now know and as others could know by learning the existing conditions except for the towns near Auburn, these "main thoroughfares" are not and never will be the routes over which produce and supplies are hauled to and from the farms and railroad stations. So that, in nearly all the localities of southern Cayuga the good roads, which all go north and south, will be of no benefit to the farmers whose teaming is all east and west, for Auburn is not now and never will be the market center of the county as the good roads advocates seem to think. When the latter class of agitators are informed of these facts they say, "If these proposed roads are not sufficient get your heads together and demand of your supervisor such additional roads as you want and make him put them on the list." It is easy to put a road on the list but that would do no good, as was plainly stated by Mr. White at the late meeting in Auburn. He gave a map to each of the country supervisors on which was shown a plan of good roads for the county as suggested by him. The map shows 270 miles of improved highways. He said to the people present from the country, "Now get together and make your plans. You know what you want better than I do. But bear in mind that all the roads must connect at county lines and that Cayuga county can have but 144 miles. Don't be afraid to ask for what you want, but I tell you now you won't get it, for a lot of roads must be jopped off from this map, as there ain't enough to go around." So the good people who look at the map and fondly anticipate a good road leading past the farm to the railroad station will be sadly disappointed. Mr. White said that when the State system of 7,400 miles is completed, 60 per cent of all farms would be within three and 40 per cent within five miles of a good road. The Auburn Advertiser quotes this statement with approval, it being assumed (and is

CHINA'S AWAKENING.

George Kennan, a traveler who generally knows what he is talking about, has spent several months in travel and study in China in the preparation of a series of articles, the first of which appears in the current Outlook, on the subject of "China in Transition."

The anti-foreign rioting in Shanghai of two months ago is the topic of Mr. Kennan's present paper. It is an old story now to most people. Attention is now concentrated upon the prospects of the immediate future. Is a general uprising in China against all foreigners imminent? Is the United States on the brink of a Chinese war? Are the lives of the 8,000 white people in Shanghai and of the other thousands in other Chinese cities in danger? These are the questions that concern and alarm our people. Mr. Kennan's account of the rioting in Shanghai furnishes no direct answer.

Mr. Kennan finds no evidence to confirm what Mr. Millard told the readers of Scribner's Magazine last month that Japanese influence is responsible for these misdoings. He apparently believes that the main cause of the trouble is failure to understand. The Chinese are hopelessly ignorant of the manner in which their fellows are treated in this country, and the white people in Shanghai appear to have made no serious effort to find out what ails the Chinese. With this as with many other quarrels, complete understanding would mean complete agreement.

There cannot be any doubt, however, that the Chinese exclusion law is the main cause of the anti-American feeling. A great awakening is going on in China. China is becoming enlightened. China is advancing. The United States professes to rejoice in Chinese progress and advancement. Yet no Chinaman, no matter how honest or industrious, can come to the United States to live. It is evident that we cannot continue to treat the Chinese as we have and yet retain their friendship. The Chinese are a disappointing and a surprising people. They are behaving most awkwardly toward us. We seem to be bewildered by this behavior, but we need not be.

FROM THE OUTLOOK.

As expressed by various manifestoes recently issued by local officials throughout the Chinese Empire, anti-foreign and especially anti-American feeling would seem to have increased. Some of these manifestoes declare that the boycott of American goods, if rigidly enforced, would drive Americans to forego any exclusion of the Chinese. While Mr. Rockhill, our Minister at Peking, has pointed out the falsity of this view, he has endeavored to check the growing anti-American feeling. The effect of the various local manifestoes has now been emphasized by an Imperial edict commanding the Viceroy to submit reports regarding the number and nationality of the missionaries in all the provinces, also by the Government's promulgation of regulations for the administration of the recently opened port of Chinan, regulations to be enforced in all the new settlements, including, of course, those in Manchuria. They provide that no lands may be purchased by foreigners, that the leases of lands to foreign tenants shall be restricted to thirty years, that the rentals shall be fixed by the Government, that it shall supervise the general policy of the settlements, levy the taxes, and control the postal and telegraph systems and the public works. Thus, in the future, new foreign settlements will differ in status from the old treaty ports which were practically foreign territory. The growing spirit of normal nationalism in China is, we believe, to be welcomed, not deprecated, by the Powers, but when it is accompanied by rioting, arson, murder, and other acts against law and order, it may call for international intervention, if national control be not sufficient. Informal representations regarding the Chinese situation have already been exchanged among some of the European Powers. Thus far, however, the American Government has not unnaturally been loth to consult foreign nations regarding the subject, because of the general feeling among them that we have unfairly discriminated against the Chinese. We are in danger of paying dear for that unjust and un-American discrimination.

Whatever part the drastic application of the Exclusion Act may have had to do with the recent anti-foreign events in China will, we trust, be lessened by the action now taken by Secretary Metcalf, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, in approving the report, just completed, providing for a radical revision of the regulations under which Chinese may enter and live in the United States. This report touches twenty-four of the existing regulations. All of the changes are made in the direction of liberality. Certain alterations are made promising to avoid delay in landing Chinese who apply for admission, and others have been made with a view to avoid the appearance of any action that would seem offensive, provided that the object intended could be accomplished otherwise. One of the most offensive of the practices which have been abolished is the use of the Bertillon system of identification, which subjects respectable Chinese to the humiliation of being treated like criminal suspects. These provisions are all very well, but in our opinion, they do not go far enough. Immediate attention may well be given to the desire of the Chinese that the American Government should accept as final a certificate issued by our own consuls and agents in China, unless there is conclusive proof that it is fraudulent. In this connection it is a fortunate thing for our government that the character of our consular service in China has recently been improved.

WORK FOR SUCCESS.

If you would succeed—work. There is no word in the English language which has more vital meaning and holds more of promise than that little word "work." Be content to do what you know how to do. Keep at it until you can do that particular work better than anyone else can do it. Then you are a master.

Two young men of LaGrange, Ill., started out three years ago to find gold. For two years they searched the Pacific coast from Central America to British Columbia, most of the time on the verge of starvation. Discouraged, they returned East with only 17 cents and an old film camera. Something had to be done, so they began taking penny photographs, and with such success that at the end of another year they had $5,000 apiece. There's lots of gold in the mountains of the West, but these young men did not know how to find it. There's lots of gold in an old camera, too, and they did know how to find that. It matters little what we do, so long as we are useful. The quality, not the kind, of work should be one's chief concern. It is only when one has reached the highest degree of perfection in his work, whatever it may be, that he has really succeeded.

Whether your business is making sausages, or painting pictures, is of no importance. People succeed in both. Are you making the best sausages that can be made, or painting the pictures that most please? There is the real question. Develop the talent that is yours to the utmost and then seek constantly to make it most effective.

Canova could cut a pat of butter into a perfect lion. But a lion in butter is valueless. He learned to cut his lions in marble, and became the master sculptor of his age. The same Canova was in them both, but the difference between butter and lasting marble is the difference between obscurity and fame.

The amount of money received does not always indicate the real worth of a man's work. There are other rewards more satisfying. The chief pastry cook in a certain big hotel gets a larger salary than the president of Harvard college. It does not follow that pies are of more value than educational influence. But it does show that even the man who can do nothing better than make pies, but makes them better than anybody else can, does not need to take a back seat.

REPORT ON INSURANCE.

Strikes Deep at the Root of All the Evils.

New York, Feb. 21.—Complete in all its essential features, the report of the joint legislative committee on life insurance was considered by the members of the committee for final adoption.

The first action of the committee was to cut the report to about four hundred pages. The recommendations now run to ninety pages of the report.

There is every reason to believe that the report will be adopted by the full committee as it now stands, although it is possible that one or more of the more important recommendations may be modified slightly.

Publicity, absolute fairness with policy holders, retrenchment, reform of investments, limitations of salaries and annual volume of business, fair and public elections, with opportunity for policy holders to put up their own ticket, and the abolition of the vicious, irresponsible proxy feature, are the principal topics propounded. Standard forms of policies, determination of the agent, abolition of unapportioned deferred dividends, inhibition of "twisting" and offering bonuses and rebates are also made features, while the machinery of the office of the Superintendent of Insurance is not interfered with, although the Superintendent and his assistants are roundly rated for their sapience and inefficiency.

While the committee was in session word was received from Albany that Governor Higgins had announced that he would not reappoint Francis Hendricks as Superintendent of the State Department of Insurance.

For Protection of Policy Holders.

New policies may not be written by a life insurance company beyond $150,000,000 in a single year.

Limit of salary for presidents of life insurance companies is placed at $50,000 per annum and must depend upon the earnings of the company.

Standard forms of life insurance policies are provided, and a company can issue but one style of policy, straight line or conditional.

Offering of rebates and bonuses is made a misdemeanor. "Twisting" is also made a misdemeanor.

Agents are placed under strict supervision and must be paid straight salary or commission, mixed compensation being forbidden.

Administration tickets to be voted for at the annual election must be filed with the Superintendent of Insurance twenty days before election, and one hundred policy holders may by petition put up an independent ticket. Proxies cannot be used at more than one election.

Life insurance companies may not control subsidiary companies nor hold more than twenty per cent of the stock in such companies, and officers of insurance companies may not hold stock in such subsidiary companies.

Fraternal societies may not hereafter be chartered in New York State.

Borrowing from his company by an official is prohibited, and participation in syndicates for the purchase and sale of securities is also forbidden. Infringement of this provision is made a misdemeanor.

New Assistant Treasury Head.

—The old theory that a green Christmas makes a fat graveyard is not borne out by mortality statistics this year. Throughout the State January on the average showed a low death rate. ## Consumption

There is no specific for consumption. Fresh air, exercise, nourishing food and Scott's Emulsion will come pretty near curing it, if there is anything to build on. Millions of people throughout the world are living and in good health on one lung.

From time immemorial the doctors prescribed cod liver oil for consumption. Of course the patient could not take it in its old form, hence it did very little good. They can't take and tolerate it for a long time. There is no oil, not excepting butter, so easily digested and absorbed by the system as cod liver oil in the form of Scott's Emulsion, and that is the reason it is so helpful in consumption where its use must be continuous.

We will send you a sample free.
