MARCH 13—We are having our winter in March just as we expected.

Lockwood Palmer of Ithaca is the guest of his parents, A. L. Palmer and wife, and other relatives and will attend the dinner given in honor of Grandma Palmer today. She is 95 years old and very feeble.

Robert Ferris and wife visited George Atwater and wife at Moravia last Saturday and Sunday.

There has been quite an epidemic among people about here. Among the victims were A. L. Palmer and wife, Claude Palmer and wife, Master Laselle Palmer, and the children of Charles Stephenson. All are much better at this writing.

Mrs. Walter Hunt and daughter Ethel have been suffering with the pinkeye.

Miss Pearl Close of Auburn was home from Friday until Monday.

Joseph McBride and wife visited her sister, Mrs. Chas. Ogden and family at Fayette a few days last week. They also visited friends at Moravia recently.

William Haskins and Miss Grace Knox were married last Wednesday evening at the Methodist parsonage at North Lansing by Rev. J. C. Long.

Henry Barger and daughter Iva of Ithaca were Sunday guests of his parents, little Iva remaining for a week.

Hero, the pet dog of Dr. A. Roecraus, died last week after a long illness. He was buried in the dooryard.

James Curtis and wife of Groton were Sunday guests of his parents, George Curtis and wife.

Mrs. Wm. Algert is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ward Groom, at Auburn this week.

Mrs. Rachel Sanford of Ithaca is spending a few days with her mother. Master Carl Goodyear is improving slowly from his long illness.

The many friends of E. K. Atwater of Auburn are sorry to learn of his severe accident and hope for a speedy recovery.

George Curtis and wife were guests of her brother, Andrew Brink and wife at North Lansing last Thursday.

Miss Reynolds of Auburn is a guest of Mrs. A. M. Lyon.

Wesley Wilbur and wife visited her parents, George Mitchell and wife, last Sunday.

Mrs. Sarah Algard of Ludlowville is visiting her mother, Mrs. Ann Palmer, for a few days.

Ellsworth.

MARCH 12—There will be many changes here this spring. J. Hoaglin has gone to Locke from Fred Aikin's farm and Fred Aikin returns to his own farm from the Delos Aikin farm; Willard Aikin is moving from Venice to the farm of his father, Delos Aikin; Edward Bradley, who has been in Union Springs for the past year, will occupy his farm at Willets; Wm. Parmenter will go to the farm of Wm. Streeter, which Samuel Vint will vacate to move to the Charles Wilbur farm; Mr. Stolton will vacate the house of Wm. Morgan and return to his former home in Seneca county; Paul Ward will occupy the house vacated by Mr. Stolton and work for Mr. Morgan. George Jackson has moved into the house of Mrs. Close.

Sidney Carr of Union Springs was a recent caller in town.

We report with pleasure the convalescence of Mrs. Cornelia Stephenson who has been ill for some time and required the attendance of a trained nurse.

Mrs. John Dahlahan died Friday evening. She leaves beside her husband, one little boy nearly two years old. A doctor was called from Syracuse the Sunday previous to her death with the hope of saving her life, but he gave no encouragement and could do nothing for her. The funeral was held on Monday. Mrs. O'Connell has been staying at Mr. Dahlahan's for several days assisting with the trained nurse.

Alvah Patchen was a recent guest in town.

Burdette Streeter accompanied by his cousin, Murray Lisk, of Ledyard have been making a visiting trip among relatives in Cortland and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Kind entertained the following guests last Wednesday evening in celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary: Rev. R. Ivey of King Ferry, J. B. Hoff and wife of Union Springs, Carter Husted and wife, M. H. Streeter and wife, Elmer Dillon, wife and daughter Pearl, Mrs. Theodore Dillon, Oscar Decker, S. O. Bradley, James Fisher and wife, Samuel Vint and wife, all of Ellsworth, Clinton Mosher and wife of Sherwood, Wm. Kind of Syracuse, Emanuel Kind of Fairmount, Ind., Walter and Bertha Kind of Union Springs. The Union Springs Advertiser of last week contained the following: "It was a pleasant occasion last evening for Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Kind of Ellsworth, and their family, neighbors and friends who gathered to help celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Mr. Kind of Chur, Switzerland, was united in marriage to Miss Esther Sutton at her home in Columbus, Pa. by the Rev. L. L. Spencer, March 7, 1881. They have spent a portion of their married life at Mr. Kind's native place, Chur, Switzerland, and in Venice, Italy, residing principally in this country, and many years in this vicinity. They left here a little more than ten years ago for their present locality. The union has proven a most happy one, and six children were born to them respectively: William P., Syracuse; Emanuel W., Fairmount, Ind.; Walter I., Union Springs; Elsa A., (Mrs. Clinton Mosher) Sherwood; Bertha and Margaret. Refreshments were served after which music, song and story enlivened the hours until past midnight. The happy couple received many substantial and pleasant reminders of the day celebrated. The writer joins with their numerous friends in wishing happy returns of wedding day anniversaries.

It would confer a great favor, if friends would send news items to the correspondent. We all have friends who like to read the news from home.

Important Happenings at the County Seat briefly chronicled—Personal Notes

AUBURN, March 14—The mystery of the alleged hold up and robbery of Dennis Conklin, near Poplar Ridge, a week ago, has been fully explained. Deputy Sheriffs Coon and Teeter, who took hold of the case, begun to "smell woolen" before they had gone very far, and with a little careful maneuvering they soon had Conklin cornered and he was glad to "turn State's evidence" and have the matter dropped. He finally admitted that he concealed the money in his pockets, threw away the purse and bank book and then raised the hubbub on being waylaid and robbed. The cash was found in the buggy Saturday morning early but was not there the night before. When the officers took the money and said they would call the district attorney to take charge of the case Conklin couldn't hold out any longer, but confessed the whole story. It was quite a stunt, and if the rumor is true, that the expenses of the investigation were paid out of the "lost" bundle, then no particular harm has been done and those interested have had some valuable experience. Bis pueri senes.

Mrs. N. Lansing Zabriskie, wife of a well-known resident and benefactor of Aurora, died on Saturday at Augusta, Georgia. The funeral will be held at Aurora this afternoon. Notwithstanding the years of ill health, her deeds of charity and kindness were many, and she was respected and loved by a large number of acquaintances and friends. Beside the husband she is survived by two sons, residents of Aurora, and three grandchildren.

It is now rumored about the city that Elizabeth Cook Burgess, the executrix of the will of the late Albert G. Burtis, received cash securities to the amount of about $80,000 and a half interest in real estate holdings estimated at $600,000.

Mrs. A. H. Searing has returned from an extended trip to New York. She was accompanied by her aunt, Dr. E. M. Mosher, for a three weeks' visit. Dr. Mosher will then leave for a five months' sojourn in Europe.

The police crusade against alleged violations of the excise law continues. Thomas Poole, Mrs. Julia Rindge and Robert Otis, proprietors of saloons, have recently been arrested.

The report of County Treasurer Loughborough as the transfer tax appraiser of the estate of Robert Kidney, the aged Conquest hermit who was murdered about a year ago, was filed with Surrogate Woodin on Saturday. The account shows the real estate to be worth $3,515 27, out of which has been disbursed $682.75, leaving the balance for distribution among relatives.

Harry Bull of Ball's Grove recently paid a fine of $100 for catching fish in a net near Cayuga Lake Park.

Negotiations for the sale of the Hunter farm in Sterling to the company recently formed to develop the iron mines in that vicinity, are practically completed. The price is said to be $7,500. It is not supposed that iron ore lies in these premises, but the farm is wanted in order that a road may be opened across it.

March 10, 1906, Rebecca, wife of Wm. Coomber died at Merrifield. Mrs. Coomber leaves to mourn her loss, a living husband, two daughters, Mrs. Wm. Saunders and Miss Edith Coomber, three sons, Burt of Auburn, Ernest and Robert, both of Merrifield, one sister, Mrs. James Skinner and one brother, Wm. Saunders of Auburn and five brothers residing in England. Funeral services were held today at 2 o'clock at the Presbyterian church in Scipioville.

The Auburn Ithaca Traction company has petitioned the common council of Ithaca, for a franchise to build a track in Railroad avenue, southwest to Lake avenue from which the company proposes to build a line to a point near the Lehigh Valley depot at the inlet. The company makes this petition, so it is stated, to handle its freight traffic outside of the busy streets of the city. The petition was referred to a committee and the city attorney for a report.

Six thousand dollars is disposed of in the will of Ettie M. Wheat of Moravia, probate of which was made in surrogate's court Friday morning. By the terms of the instrument, the decedent's wearing apparel is divided between a daughter and a sister; to her husband, Henry A. Wheat, she gives her two-sevenths interest in the real estate of Wm. H. Wheat and also the life use of a house and lot in the village of Moravia. On the husband's death, the property goes to the four children, John W. Wheat, Fred A. Wheat, Floyd A. Wheat and Ruth May Wheat who also share equally the residuary estate. Letters testamentary were issued to Henry A. Wheat and an order was entered naming Adelbert Andrews and Warren A. Burlingham as appraisers.

Mrs. Lydia Main is recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia.

Suicide at Ludlowville.

O. W. VanSchaick terminated his mortal existence at his home in Ludlowville on Sunday morning. The reason for his deliberate self destruction was doubtless mental depression caused by nervous breakdown. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Humphreys officiating. Burial at Ludlowville.

Mr. VanSchaick came to Ludlowville from Springfield, Pa., about a year ago and purchased a home, and engaged in the livery business and drove the village 'bus. He is survived by the wife and aged father.

Hugh Bonner, The Veteran Fire Fighter

THERE have been great changes in the city of Manila since the era of Spanish occupation. One of the institutions established by Americans that have earned popularity is the fire department. Much of the efficiency which the Manila fire fighters have attained is due to the work of that veteran fireman, Hugh Bonner, who was recently appointed deputy fire commissioner of New York city for the borough of Manhattan. It has been said that Bonner comes nearer to being the embodiment of the story book fire fighter than any other living man. He is sixty-six years of age, and when he was a youth fire fighting was not an occupation of itself. Even the city of New York, his birthplace had no paid fire department. Bonner learned the tinsmith's trade as a young man, but as a boy he always ran with the engines when a fire was to be put out, and as soon as he was old enough he joined a volunteer company and rose to be a captain in the volunteer department. While he was fighting a fire with his company one day he and his men were notified that they had been made members of the newly organized paid department. He continued in the service about thirty-five years and for over ten years was chief of the department, raising it to a state of efficiency that made it famous the world over. About a half dozen years ago he resigned and was commissioned shortly afterward to go to Manila and undertake the establishment of American methods of fire fighting in the capital of the Philippines.

During the 300 years or so that the Spaniards ruled in Manila they had done much toward establishing a fire department. In a city of nearly 300,000 people there were only a few antiquated hand engines manned by volunteers. All this has been changed by the work Bonner did in his stay of from two to three years in the city. Today the fire department is the pet of property owners, who no longer watch in blank despair the burning of their buildings when a fire breaks out. There are over 150 paid men in the department. About 25 per cent of the force are natives, but the officers are Americans, and many of the officers and men are former United States soldiers, a fact which makes for good discipline. There are fire houses, steam and chemical engines and all other appurtenances of an up to date department. The first time that Bonner and his new service were called on to attend a fire in Manila there was great excitement in the Philippine city. A blaze had started in the store of a merchant on the Escolta, the leading street. Shopkeepers by the hundred ran out into the street, fearing that their stocks of goods would be consumed. Amid a clanging of strange bells and a clatter of hoofs the new firemen made a record in reaching the scene. They obeyed their orders like soldiers. The fire was put out in less than half an hour, and Manila did not get over the sensation in a week.

One time when Bonner was chief of the New York fire department a fire broke out on election night on Broadway. A force of thirty men were on the fourth and fifth floors of the burning building pouring water on the flames when the wall on one side of the structure from the roof to the pavement fell outward. There was a whirlwind of flame and smoke, and the men at work in the building fighting the fire prepared to jump to the ground, thinking that otherwise they would be buried in the ruins. The windows were lined with men ready to leap to a fate that might be death. Bonner is noted for his knowledge of the construction of buildings. He knew that though one wall had fallen out the others would probably stand. So he shouted to the panic stricken men:

"Stay where you are. You're all right." The men had so much confidence in his judgment and were under such good discipline that they obeyed, and thus their lives were saved.

A DEMOCRATIC COUNTESS.

Lady Warwick, Who Helped Elect a Socialist to Parliament.

Englishwomen do not possess the right of franchise, but for many years it has been customary for wives of candidates for parliament to appear with them on public platforms during campaigns, encouraging them by their presence and sometimes addressing meetings themselves. Ladies of high degree have not hesitated to appear in public in this fashion, but an unusual number of women, several of them of American birth, have been prominent in the campaign in progress recently, and the strange spectacle has been presented of one of the best known peeresses in Great Britain taking a hand in the election of a labor member of parliament and addressing dock workers as "comrades and friends." This woman is Lady Warwick, known as "the democratic countess." She is a Socialist and thinks nothing of climbing into a dirty potato cart in a dainty Parisian costume and making a harangue for the election of a brother Socialist to the house of commons. In 1881 she married Lord Brooke, who became Earl of Warwick on the death of his father in 1893. As Lady Brooke she formed one of the famous card party at Tranby Croft which resulted in the baccarat trial at which King Edward, then Prince of Wales, figured as a witness. She was considered a great beauty as a young woman and is still graceful and handsome, though she has a son old enough to be winning fame as a war correspondent. She was a leader in gayeties in younger days, but soon grew weary of frivolities, has long devoted herself to all kinds of good works and for several years past has been a member of the Social Democratic federation. She has now converted the Earl of Warwick to Socialistic views. She is an excellent talker, and her efforts had much to do with the recent election to the house of commons of a Socialist named Thorne.

CAPTAIN CASTO WAS GAME.

But It Took More Courage to Attend Dinner Than to Face Storm.

There are now honors in plenty for the captain of the schooner Alberta, Mark Casto, the modest hero who succeeded in rescuing the imperiled passengers and crew of the steamship Cherokee. The courage which he displayed in going out to the relief of those on the Cherokee when the ship stranded on the New Jersey coast and was in momentary danger of going to pieces in the wild storm has been deemed worthy of a Carnegie hero fund medal and of a medal from the legislature of New Jersey, while that hospitable Philadelphia organization, the Clover club, presented him with a diamond studded medal and entertained him at dinner. Captain Casto when he saw the peril of three score persons on the Cherokee did not fear to steer straight for the open sea in his small but staunch craft. He did not hesitate to attempt a task which baffled the skill and courage even of the brave United States life saving crews of the Atlantic City station. His nerve did not desert him in the midst of tempestuous seas, but when it came to facing a lot of men in spiked tailed coats and sitting down to a course dinner the bluff skipper of a fishing smack almost showed the white feather. But he decided to go for the sake of the six sailors who helped him safely take ashore the sixty people from the Cherokee. He wanted their share in the act to receive due credit. Captain Casto is a short, unpretentious man of thirty-six, and being a hero is somewhat embarrassing to him, though this is not the first time he has rescued imperiled lives. He lives at Pleasantville, N. J., is married, is the son of a sailor and the grandson of a sailor.

"PITCHFORK BEN."

Senator Tillman of South Carolina and His Sharp Tongue.

Benjamin R. Tillman, the South Carolina senator whose recent attack on President Roosevelt occasioned widespread comment, is one of the most picturesque characters of the upper branch of congress. The sobriquet of "Pitchfork Ben," which he earned even before his entrance to the senate, was applied to him on account of the way in which he referred to Grover Cleveland toward the close of the latter's second term. Tillman was then governor of South Carolina and a candidate for the senate. He promised that if elected he would use a pitchfork on the president and later in a speech after his entrance to the senate called him "the bull necked and idolatrous occupant of the White House," at the same time referring to Secretary Carlisle as "the Judas from Kentucky."

In addressing an audience the senator does not believe in flattery. He was once laced at a meeting in Charleston and broke out with:

"This is the fifth time I've tried to poke some sense in the heads of you people, but I suppose you don't want it, and I think you'd better beat your drums and stampede like a lot of cowards, as you did the second time I came here. You are a set of old fossils, and you can go to the devil in your own way. I don't want your votes."

One of the famous episodes in the senator's career was his encounter on the floor of the senate with his colleague from South Carolina, Mr. McLaurin, the two men coming to blows and being punished by the senate by temporary suspension from membership and expulsion from the chamber. It was during his administration as governor of South Carolina that the dispensary law was passed. The enforcement of the new law occasioned riots, and in their suppression the governor ruled for a time with an iron hand.

Senator Tillman was born in Edgefield county, N. C., in 1847. He left school to join the Confederate army, but an illness which resulted in his losing the sight of one eye prevented his being a soldier. The character of the South Carolina member is a puzzle to observers of national events and those participating in them. His friends say that he invariably presents his worst side to the public; that he is a man of great ability, a genial companion and a fire eater only when making a political speech.

MOHAMMED EL TORRES.

Venerable Head of Morocco's Mission to the Algerian Conference.

The most striking figure at the conference in Algiers, Spain, over Morocco affairs is the head of the Morocco delegation, the venerable Mohammed El Torres. He is the confidant of the young and picturesque ruler of Morocco, Mulai Abdul Aziz, and his minister of foreign affairs. There was a spectacular scene when the Moorish envoys debarked at Algiers from the Spanish cruiser Rio del Plata. The party consisted of sixty-seven persons, all richly garbed in flowing white robes and wearing red and white turbans. The Spanish state coaches, which were brought from Seville, received Mohammed El Torres and his suite and took them to a villa. The aged foreign minister spends much of his time while at Algiers in prayer to Allah, beseeching him to protect the faithful and prevent Morocco, the only remaining independent Mussulman kingdom of Africa, from falling under the power of those who do not accept the doctrines of Mohammed. In respect to the purpose of the conference he is quoted as asking ironically: "Why do they not call a conference to restore order in Russia?"

MOHAMMED EL TORRES.

THE New York World THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION.

For the autumn season now at hand the most valuable paper to you will be the New York Thrice-a-week World, because it offers you more at the price than any other paper published anywhere in the world.

This is a time of great events. We are having great wars, and other changes of a stirring kind are occurring both at home and abroad. The Thrice-a-Week World comes to you every other day except Sunday with all the news fully, accurately and promptly told.

The Thrice-a-Week World is fair in its political reports. You can get the truth from its columns whether you are a Republican or a Democrat, and that is what you want.

The Thrice-a-Week World always has a serial story running and it is always a first-class story by a first-class author. It publishes better fiction than any other newspaper in the United States. Special attention is also given to markets and there are many other valuable features. The regular subscription price is only $1, and that pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and The Genoa Tribune together one year for only $1.65. The regular price for the two papers is $2.

News & Notes

Those interested in the changes in the election law of New York State grouped all the changes in one bill providing for an amended Australian ballot.

Every demand of the anthracite coal miners upon the operators has been flatly denied and a great strike is expected on or about April 1.

Andrew Carnegie promised $15,000 annually and as much more as may be required for a term of years to the Simplified Spelling Board, which is advocating spelling reform.

Anthracite mine owners have 20,000,000 tons of coal stored in various depots, and they and the miners are ready for a fight to a finish.

It is shown that in the last six years New York City's expenses have been increased $28,026,518.

No trace has been found of Leo Stevens' balloon, which went adrift at Pittsfield, Mass. It may circle the globe before the gas all escapes.

Under a new rate scheme for the A. O. U. V., which goes into effect April 1, dues will be largely increased to avoid threatened bankruptcy of the order in New York State.

Representatives of the insurance interests of New York State provided the most remarkable demonstration ever seen in Albany in the hearing on the Armstrong Investigating Committee's bills and demanded many changes in important particulars.

Arizona and New Mexico were stricken from the joint Statehood bill by the Senate, seventeen Republican Senators voting against the administration on the test vote.

Mrs. Antonette Tolla was saved from the penalty of death for shooting Joseph Sonta, the Court of Pardons of New Jersey commuting the sentence to seven and a half years in the State prison.

Prince Tsai Tse, cousin of the Emperor of China, arrived in New York on an important mission.

President Roosevelt signed the joint resolution providing for investigation of railroad discriminations and oil and coal monopolies, and told Congress further legislation was necessary to make it effective.

Democratic Senators are at odds with both Republican factions on the rate regulation bill, and insist that courts must not be allowed to suspend a rate order issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Joseph Choate, New York, has accepted a retainer as counsel to the investigating committee of the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Berthe Clalche named fifty policemen to the authorities in New York City, who she said took tribute from the women of the Tenderloin. She gave money to four.

Antonio Bozzuffi, son of an Italian banker, New York, and who was supposed to have been kidnapped, returns to his home, and two of his alleged abductors are arrested.

Second Chinese commission arrived to inspect industrial conditions in manufacturing cities.

Indictment for murder in the first degree was handed down against Dr. Simpson, accused of shooting his father-in-law, Bartley Horner, at Northport, N. Y.

The House of Representatives is likely to pass a bill for the depositing of all government money in national banks, at two per cent. interest and without security.

Alton B. Parker and Charles Andrews, former Chief Judges of the Court of Appeals, were proposed as a commission to investigate the New York State Banking Department.

The Page-Agnew Eighty Cent Gas bill was advanced in the New York State Senate despite attempts at amendment.

Crew of the schooner Mary Manning, picked up by British steamer and taken to Boston, clung 110 hours to a deckhouse roof.

Andrew Hamilton reached New York from Paris and surprised his friends and foes alike by his unexpected appearance.

District Attorney Jerome, New York, is ready to place before the Grand Jury all the evidence he has collected in regard to possible crimes committed by insurance men.

Executive heads of the big insurance companies held another meeting in the Mutual Life Building, New York, for a discussion of the Albany campaign.

Berthe Clalche, New York, was allowed to plead guilty to manslaughter, first degree, in killing Emile Gerdron, and will tell of relations of police with women in the Tenderloin.

In a suit of Sarah Maddern, New York, against Peter Durys, of Kentucky, for $50,000 for alleged breach of promise she testified that she received and sent a letter each day for three years.

Foreign.

According to a despatch from Algiers, Germany has practically made a cat's paw of Austria in the proposal for the Moroccan police at the international conference.

Russia, according to a despatch, proposes to issue a lottery loan of $100,000,000 and later to borrow $200,000,000 in Paris to liquidate her war expenses.

Defeated in a debate in the Chamber of Deputies on the Church in Rome the French cabinet under M. Rouvier has resigned.

According to a special London despatch there now prevails a better tone in the stock market.

General Nenny Ceplin, last of the Santo Domingo rebels, according to a despatch, has been killed while negotiating with the Governor of Monte Cristi.

M. Sarrien is likely to become head of the new French Cabinet, but his acceptance depends on whether he can obtain M. Poincare's co-operation. In any event, it is stated M. Bourgeois will become Foreign Minister.

The attitude of certain South American republics that are inimical to the influence of the United States in the southern continent, imperils the harmony of the forthcoming Pan-American Congress.

Grand Duke Frederick Francis of Mecklenburg-Schwerin has placed his uncle, Duke Paul Frederick, and the latter's wife, Princess Marie of Windisch-Graetz, under guardianship.

Earthquakes continue in the West Indies, says a special cable despatch from St. Lucia, and the connection of the disturbances with those in South America is pointed out.

A deputation of Russian Hebrews laid a report of anti-Semitic outrages before Count Witte.

It is evident from the Czar's ukase that the Russian government will have a firm check on legislation by the new Parliament.

According to a special despatch from Havana Mr. Moerke, former American postmaster in the Isles of Pines, has been put in jail by the Cuban authorities for contempt of court.

A special despatch from Washington states that Mr. Sanchez, former Dominican Minister, blames Mr. Dawson, the American Minister, for the overthrow of Morales.

THE GRANGE
 Conducted by
 J. W. DARROW, Chatham, N. Y.
 Press Correspondent New York State Grange

THE PATRON'S INFLUENCE.

The Grange Should Be the Safeguard of the Farmer's Interests.

The grange is the natural and convenient channel for the expression of the voice of the combined farming community. It is well known that in any community in which the grange is organized it includes in its membership the intelligent, progressive and substantial farmers of that community. These, then, are in a position to express the progressive sentiment of the community, says the Grange Bulletin, and it should be recognized in every public matter that the grange, the safeguard of the farmer's interests, must be reckoned with.

Are your taxes too high? Why? Are public offices, in your county, public snags? Why? Are the public contracts given to public favorites at extravagant prices? Why? Are laws made for the protection of all being openly disregarded? Why? Are corporations lightly taxed and thus escape their just share of governmental expenses? Why? Against these and a hundred other like abuses you inwardly rebel, and yet the remedy for them is always within your hands.

The redress of these evils is not politics. It is business—the farmer's business—and the grange is the most powerful medium for carrying it out. Make it fairly recognized and acknowledged that the farmer and his success are at the basis of the prosperity of the country, and that everything which in the least injures him injures the entire business world. All of these things should be considered by the subordinate degrees, and, beginning with the smaller abuses, those right in our own communities and our own counties, we should apply the corrective power which rests in our hands. By firm, decisive, concerted effort, make it recognized that the farmer, being the producer, is also in a position to dictate how the product of his labor shall be used.

AT CHAUTAUQUA LAKE.

Grange Day a Notable Success in Every Way.

Grange day at famous Chautauqua is always a success, whether it rains or shines. And it is well that success doesn't always depend on sunshine, for it rains about nine-tenths of the summer time at this noted seat of learning, Chautauqua being so high up in the clouds, we suppose. The new grange hall on the grounds was thronged throughout the day and its accommodations taxed to the utmost. Through the efforts of Past State Master and Mrs. Walter C. Gifford, who have had charge of the house this summer, and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Van Vleck, who specially assisted them for the day, the headquarters greatly added to its large popularity with members of the grange.

State Master Norris presided at the forenoon meeting, and able addresses were given by State Master Hill of Pennsylvania and State Master Wilson of Illinois. At 2 p. m. S. J. Lowell, master of Chautauqua Pomona grange, presided. Bishop Vincent gave the address of welcome, to which State Master Norris responded. Dr. Russell H. Conwell of Philadelphia then delivered an address on "Personal Glimpses of Celebrated Men and Women." Hon. Robert Watchorn of New York, United States immigration commissioner, spoke on "Protecting Our Newcomers and Ourselves," and his address was a clear and comprehensive statement of the immigration problem. He favored the exclusion of the insane, the diseased, the criminal and the pauper and said that the law should be administered intelligently and equitably in the spirit of its framers and the needs of the country.

Grind Our Grists and Save Toll.

Grange insurance is cheapest and best because we do it ourselves, says a Pennsylvania Patron. We are, by united brotherhood, our own insurance company. We make our own insurance on our own premises, do the work ourselves and give our lands as security for the payment of each other's losses. We take no hazardous risks or insure town or village property. No hard earned dollars go to pay for city conflagrations or to keep up high salaried officers and agents or to pay the dividends of a joint stock company. We grind our own grists and save the toll.

The Grange and State Fairs.

The state board of agriculture of Ohio has provided a fine hall for the annual reunion of Ohio Patrons, which is held Wednesday and Thursday of state fair week each year. There is much that state fair associations can do for the grange, but it is not so much, by a good deal, as the grange can do for the state fair in Ohio or anywhere else. Both may be co-operative to the advantage of both.

Christening of a Battleship.

Governor C. J. Bell of Vermont, who is also master of the state grange, with his daughter, was a guest of honor at the christening of the new battleship Vermont at Quincy, Mass., on Aug. 31. Miss Bell was sponsor of the vessel and broke a bottle of American wine on its sides as it glided down the ways and she gave the battleship its name.

"Blow-me-down" is the name of a grange up in New Hampshire. That's a better name than "Blow-me-up" would have been.

SUSAN B. ANTHONY DEAD

She Lay Many Hours in a Comatose State After Delirium. END IS VERY PEACEFUL

Aged Suffragist Leader Succumbs to Pneumonia in her Rochester Home Active Till Last Illness—Her Life Was Devoted to Early Years to Cause of Equal Suffrage.

Rochester, N. Y., Mar. 14.—Miss Susan B. Anthony died at twenty minutes to one o'clock Tuesday morning at her Madison Street home. She had been unconscious since half-past three o'clock Sunday afternoon, when she was stricken with a severe pain in the region of the heart. At five o'clock Sunday night it was said that she would not live until morning, but she possessed a remarkable vitality and fought death's advance hour by hour. She died without regaining consciousness. Miss Anthony had been ill since February 18. She attended the national convention of the National Woman's Suffrage Association in Baltimore, and on her way home was to have stopped off in New York to attend a dinner to be given in honor of her eighty-sixth birthday, on February 20. Neuralgia set in and she came directly home.

Up to her last illness Miss Anthony looked to be scarcely seventy. She possessed the energy of a woman of fifty. In her later years, too, her liking for dainty raiment increased to a remarkable degree. At the Baltimore convention she wore a satin gown with white point lace on the bodice and sleeves. Her long coat was lined with white satin, and her bonnet was made by a clever milliner.

Miss Anthony was greatly beloved and respected in this city, which had been her home since 1845. She lived with her sister, Miss Mary Anthony, whose devotion to "Susan B." as she invariably called her, was often commented on. Last Wednesday she said to her sister: "Write to Anna Shaw immediately, tell her I desire that every cent I leave when I pass out of this life shall be given to the fund which Miss Thomas and Miss Garrett are raising for the cause."

U. S. Submarine Wins.
 St. Petersburg, Mar. 13.—After a test run of 560 miles the Admiralty favors the Lake (American) submarine boat over six competitors.

PEACE HANGS ON SPELLING.

Carnegie Leads Plan to Remove Obstacles to English.

New York Mar. 13.—There will be no universal peace until English is the universal language. And English will not be the universal language until people can spell it. In other words, hard-to-spell English stands in the way of world-wide peace. So saying, Andrew Carnegie and a number of other distinguished men in New York and elsewhere have undertaken a national movement for radical reforms in English spelling. They have organized a Simplified Spelling Board, with executive headquarters in this city. Mr. Carnegie is to bear all the expense of the organization.

They are going to take hold of a large number of tongue-twisters like "phlegm," "subtle," "phthisis," "right," "bight," "rough," "bough," "bought" and "cough" and tear out the silent letters so that even little children can spell them with their eyes closed and their hands tied behind their backs. They will do this for themselves and will ask everybody else to do so too.

600 MOROS KILLED.

Americans Lose 18 Killed and 56 Wounded in Annihilating Outlaws.

Washington, D. C., Mar. 13.—Defending their native stronghold in the crater of an extinct volcano until the last man fell, 600 Moros—"outlaws" under the terms of American domination—were massacred by American troops on March 6, 7 and 8. The American casualties, reported to the War Department from the Philippines were:

Killed—Eighteen enlisted men, including three of the native constabulary.

Wounded—Four commissioned officers and fifty-two enlisted men.

The Moro fortress, in the crater of Mount Dajo, a precipitous lava cone a few miles from Jolo, the capital of the Sultan of Sulu, had never been entered by white troops, and the band that occupied it, according to the American authorities, was a lawless faction that preyed upon the peaceful natives.

Girl Disarms and Arrests Burglar.

Clyde, Ga., Mar. 13.—Miss Mattie Woodall, seventeen, entered the dining-room of her home just as a masked man with a pistol jumped through a window and ordered her father to throw up his hands. Before the intruder knew the girl was in the room Miss Woodall had snatched the weapon from his hand and levelled it against his head, causing him to surrender.

Albert Douglas,

of Chillicothe, O., who defeated Gen. Charles H. Grosvenor, the "Sage of Athens," for renomination to Congress, is 53 years old, a lawyer by profession and has been prominently identified with the political affairs of his district and State for many years. He is a fine orator and has a clean political record.

Girl Hiccoughs Nine Months.

Philadelphia, Pa., Mar. 13.—Fifteen-year-old Mary Rosbotts has had hiccoughs for nine months, although she has been treated in nearly every hospital in Philadelphia. Her affliction resulted from having seen a girl killed by a trolley car. Mary fainted and when she became conscious was seized with hiccoughs.

LICENSES FOR WASHERWOMEN.

A Brooklyn statesman has introduced in the Assembly a bill providing that all laundrymen shall pay an annual license fee of $10 to the State and deliver to each customer a written receipt in the English language. It is evident that this genius of legislation is timid and half-hearted. Excellent as his proposition is it does not go far enough.

Not only should all laundrymen be licensed and pay a fee to the State, but all laundrywomen and all plain washerwomen, those whose services are retained exclusively by one family, and those who earn their living by serving several establishments, should be included in its provisions. Nor should the housewives who attend to the laundry needs of their husbands, fathers, sons and daughters be excluded from the high privilege of having a State license and paying a tax therefor.

One of the most encouraging signs of the times is the recognition by numerous lawmakers of the fact that in the past too many citizens have been allowed to attend to their own affairs and mind their own business without the aid and encouragement to be derived only from the payment of a high license fee and the constant supervision of a benevolent government.—New York Sun.

Why do these things by halves or quarters? Keepers of grocery stores and meat markets should be included in this license business and also milliners and dressmakers. People who wish to attend church should also be required to take out a permit and no man should be allowed to wear a plug hat or a white vest unless he has a license tied with blue ribbon to his bed post. Some of the "statesmen" sent to Albany from the metropolis are almost pitiable in their ludicrousness.

THE PERNICIOUS EATING HABIT.

Quite novel expedients are used these days by people who desire to attract attention. Recently an English physician, quoted as one having authority, has come to the conclusion that most of the ills that flesh is heir to are due to the almost universal practice of eating in the middle of the day. He holds that the mid-day meal is a mischievous mistake that ought to be instantly corrected. He explains that at mid-day the stomach is not in proper condition to receive more food, because it has not had time to rest from its labor of disposing of the morning meal. A layman would be prone to think that all this depended upon conditions which the English physician leaves out of consideration—how much of a morning meal the stomach had to dispose of and how early in the morning the stomach had received it. Some persons eat a very light breakfast and quite a number eat no breakfast at all. But laymen must not obtrude their ignorance into expert discussion.

Breakfast was condemned long ago by some other physician, whose theory is faithfully followed by quite a number of disciples. The evening meal is more generally condemned than either the morning or the mid-day meal. The midnight supper is universally acknowledged to be practically poisonous. It follows then that at no time of the day is it really safe and proper to eat and that he who would be entirely healthy, wealthy and wise must abstain from eating entirely.

There is no doubt that life would be greatly simplified and made better worth living if mankind would only abandon the eating habit. There need be no more worry over the increased cost of living. Food adulteration would no longer haunt any one's dreams. Dyspepsia would cease to exist. The domestic service problem would be practically solved. The Beef Trust would be utterly "busted." Every one would have money in the bank. Have you ever thought how much money you could save if it weren't for the eating habit? There is no end to the catalogue of blessings men might win by self-denial in the matter of eating. It is doubtful, though, whether mankind has sufficient strength of either character or constitution to carry out this reform. The eating habit will be found harder to conquer than either the cigarette habit or the liquor habit. It is so firmly established that its sudden abandonment would probably lead to painful and even fatal consequences. The reform must be accomplished gradually. Man must lessen, little by little, his supply of daily bread, until at last he finds that he is eating nothing at all. This method of conquering the eating habit would almost certainly be successful, unless some extraneous accident, like death by starvation, should interfere with the process. There was once a farmer who, from motives of economy, tried to break his cow of the eating habit by the gradual process. All was going well. He had got her down to three straws a day, when, just as he was on the brink of success, "the pesky critter up and died," ruining the experiment.

There is much reason to fear that accidents of this sort would do much to discourage mankind from its efforts to free itself from the shackles of the eating habit.

WHERE IS YOUR BOY?

A cartoon by McCutcheon in the Chicago Tribune represents a father and mother seated near the evening lamp, one reading a newspaper and the other sewing. The father asks: "Where's Willie tonight?" The mother replies: "I don't know; did you want him?" The father answers: "Oh, no; I just wondered where he was." The scene and the dialogue are loaded with serious suggestions. That boy's parents should have known where he was, what he was doing, and what company he was keeping. Possibly they held to the theory that a boy "can never be a man" unless he runs wild and learns self-reliance through a "street education." It is a woefully bad theory. There is an epidemic of youthful crime in Chicago—and other places. It is due to turning boys loose, leaving them to choose their own associates and form their own habits. This tends to produce hoodlumism, and worse. The best place for a boy is an attractive home where authority is exercised over him. That may not be the temporarily easiest way to bring up a "kid," but it is likely to save a lot of trouble in the long run.

ARISTOCRACY OF THE PRAIRIE FARMER.

The self-made man of the Eastern city may be enlightened by this tale of a self-made prairie farmer.

"I came to North Dakota twenty-one years ago from Iowa. I had six broken-down plugs of horses, two steers and two plows. Had no money and was a thousand dollars in debt. I rented a farm for five years before I bought any land. Then I made up my mind to buy land on my own account, and bought two sections on time. Then I kept on raising wheat and buying land until I owned five thousand acres of land, all paid for. In the twenty-one years I cleared out of the ground in clean money, raising wheat, two hundred and forty thousand dollars. Last year I sold four thousand acres and have quit raising wheat. I am now on my way to Cuba, where my wife and I will spend the winter. Whenever I go back East I try to get my old friends and neighbors to come out here and share my prosperity."—Ralph D. Paine in "The Builders," in the Outing Magazine for March.

O-T AND BEYOND.

The weary clerk, worn out with work,
Yearns for the farm—its peaceful shade,
The rest and quiet, where flowers run riot,
And he is free from thoughts of trade.

The farmer tired, has long aspired
To see the town with its turmoil;
The streets ablaze, the dizzy maze,
For he's a-weary of the soil.

And it is best! Men should not rest
Content with one horizon's brim;
Beyond that goal, the aspiring soul
Will find there's much in store for him.

"SAVED MY LIFE"

—That's what a prominent druggist said of Scott's Emulsion a short time ago. As a rule we don't use or refer to testimonials in addressing the public, but the above remark and similar expressions are made so often in connection with Scott's Emulsion that they are worthy of occasional note. From infancy to old age Scott's Emulsion offers a reliable means of remedying improper and weak development, restoring lost flesh and vitality, and repairing waste. The action of Scott's Emulsion is no more of a secret than the composition of the Emulsion itself. What it does it does through nourishment—the kind of nourishment that cannot be obtained in ordinary food. No system is too weak or delicate to retain Scott's Emulsion and gather good from it.

We will send you a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a 2c stamp is stamped on every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

Genoa Clothing Store. Open Evenings.

Years ago, business firms followed strange customs in advertising their wares for sale. Sometimes a husky big fellow would go out with a bell and walk the streets yelling at the top of his voice that So-and-so was giving great bargains in prints or provisions or tallow candles. That scheme wouldn't work now. We want the people to know, through the columns of this paper, that we are prepared to furnish everything in the line of Hardware, Paints, Oils, Farm Seeds, etc. at satisfactory prices. Call and see about it. Miller 'Phone.

—There will be a meeting of the Pomona Grange at Locke on Saturday, March 24, at ten o'clock. The degree will be worked in full form.

—William D. Curtis of Moravia has been appointed a member of the standing committee on experiment stations of the New York State Grange.

—New ads this week from M. G. Shapero & Son, Smith, C. R. Egbert, Foster, Ross & Co., E. D. Cheesman, Grand Union Tea Co., Rothschild Bros. and the Bool Co.

—Everybody is invited to attend the opening of the new Genoa clothing store tomorrow all day and evening. You are not asked to buy, but Messrs. Shapero would like to have the people see the fine stock of clothing and furnishings displayed here.

—H. A. Holstead, secretary of the Odd Fellows' Relief Association, will be present at the meeting next week in the interest of the association. It is also expected there will be work in the initiatory degree. Members of the Order are cordially invited. Lodge opened promptly at 7:30.

—The last pine timber of any size in Tompkins county is said to have been cut and sold to be used in Scotland for shipbuilding purposes. The timber stood on a farm near Enfield, and many of the trees will square 16 to 30 inches or more. Timbers of this size are so scarce in this country as to be almost unobtainable and are of course very valuable. These big sticks will be shipped from Ithaca to Montreal and then direct to Clyde, Scotland.

—New stock of Men's Pants and Overalls at Smith's.

—Made your arrangements to see Ben Hur? Don't miss it.

—Mrs Jennie Harris has been spending a few days at Auburn.

—School Commissioner Atwater attended the funeral of his brother-in-law, W. S. Chamberlain, at Bayonne, N. J., on Monday.

—James Willis and wife and two grandchildren returned to their home in this village Saturday after a stay of several months at Cortland.

—Some immense logs are being drawn to Tarbell's mill. They look most too big to handle, but "Jons" will find a way to take care of 'em, we guess.

Had any of that good candy at Smith's yet?

—At the Potter auction last week something over $1,000 was realized for the cattle, cows selling from $50 to $125. The fine team sold for $497 50.

—An exchange says that during February only 9 inches of snow fell. This is considerably below the average of 21 inches for that month.

—To the question, "Will alcohol dissolve sugar?" a man that knows steps forward with the statement that it will dissolve sugar, money, homes, love, happiness—everything worth having.

—Lithographs and records for sale at Mrs. D. E. Singer's.

—On account of the Ben Hur production at Auburn the L. V. Railroad will run a special train on Monday, March 19, leaving Groton at 6:25, Locke, 6:37, Moravia, 6:45. Returning will leave Auburn immediately after the performance. Rates from Locke, round trip on special train only, 70 cents.

—Now that the dancing school is closed for the season, possibly some of the students at the academy will again show an interest in their studies for the remainder of the school year. The opportunity to prepare for responsibilities, now unseen and unthought of, which will surely come later in life, ought not to be entirely neglected. You young folks will be young but once and it is right and proper to enjoy some innocent frivolity as you go along, but why indulge until the more substantial things are nearly if not entirely excluded? Many people have found the days of regret for lost opportunities to be more than twenty-four hours long.

Davis-Schaffner.

The marriage of Miss Edith S. Schaffner and Leon G. Davis, both of Syracuse, was celebrated at the home of the groom Wednesday, March 7, at 1 o'clock, owing to the recent illness of the groom's mother. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. S. Emmons in the presence of the immediate relatives only. Miss Leita J. Davis, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid and Howard M. Stewart as best man. The bride was attractively gowned in white crepe de chine, carrying bridal roses, and the bridesmaid was attired in white dotted Swiss, carrying white carnations. The ring ceremony was used. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Corena Skinner. The young couple received beautiful gifts of cut glass, silver, china and linen. After congratulations had been extended and dinner served, the bridal couple took their departure in a carriage decorated with white slippers, etc., for a trip to Niagara Falls. After March 15th, they will be at home to their friends at 108 Temple St., Syracuse. Genoa friends of the groom extend congratulations and best wishes.

Coming Events.

Quarterly meeting of the Ledyard and West Genoa churches at the Belltown church next Sunday morning. Love feast at 10 a. m. Preaching service at 10:30, followed by communion service. Rev. Grove E. Campbell and the pastor will be present. Quarterly conference at same place on Saturday evening at 7:30. Pastor will have charge of the service at Ledyard, Sunday evening. Address on "Impressions of Albany Legislature."

INSURANCE MEN INDICTED

Frederick A. Burnham, George Burnham and George D. Eldridge Accused.

TO PAY PERSONAL DEBTS

Five Charges Made Covering $9,000—Charged with Grand Larceny and Forgery, They are Represented by William Rand, Jr.—Said to Have Been Paid with Funds of Company.

New York, Mar. 14.—Frederick A. Burnham, president of the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Company; his brother, George Burnham, who is one of the company's vice presidents as well as its counsel, and George D. Eldridge, another vice president, were indicted and were taken before Judge O'Sullivan, in General Sessions Court, and are now at liberty, each having given bonds of $12,500.

Against each of the men five indictments were returned—two for grand larceny in the first degree and three for forgery in the third. They are accused of having appropriated the funds of the company to liquidate their personal obligations and with having made false entries in the company's books to conceal the embezzlements. The amount involved is $9,000, which they are accused of having taken in October, 1901.

William Rand, Jr., counsel for the Mutual Reserve, was informed of the indictments and sent word he would have his clients in court at half-past three o'clock in the afternoon. Accompanied by several friends, the three men appeared and they chatted pleasantly while waiting for Judge O'Sullivan. None of them seemed to be much worried, but none was willing to talk about the indictments.

Prince Buelow.

The German Imperial Chancellor, has won a great victory by inducing the Reichstag to pass the Government's proposition to extend reciprocal tariff rates to the United States until June 30, 1907. Reprieve for A. T. Patrick.

Albany, N. Y., Mar. 14.—Whatever may be the final result in the case of Albert T. Patrick, he will not have to die during the week beginning next Monday. Governor Higgins, after a delay which occasioned some uneasiness in the minds of Patrick's lawyers, granted another reprieve to the condemned man, this time to May 18. The date for the execution of the death penalty had already been extended from January 22 to March 19 to give Patrick's lawyers an opportunity to make a final appeal by means of new witnesses.

MAY COPY ENGLISH CHURCH

Old St. Botolph in Lincolnshire, Eng., May Serve as Model for Boston's Cathedral.

London.—Boston folk—the people who dwell in the drowsy little English Boston, in Lincolnshire—are greatly tickled by the tidings that their parish church of St. Botolph may serve as a model for the projected cathedral to be erected in the American Boston. The two things they are proudest of are their old church and their maternal relationship to their big Massachusetts namesake, settled by their Puritan ancestors. Rev. George Wolfe Shinn, from the latter place, has been visiting the Lincolnshire town recently to get some idea how a modern St. Botolph would look at the "Hub of the Universe." If he is at all susceptible to flattery he will certainly take back with him a favorable report.

As will be seen by the accompanying picture, St. Botolph's is a particularly fine specimen of old ecclesiastical architecture. It measures 283x99 feet and is one of the largest churches without transepts in all England. Its most imposing feature is the tower, which rises to a height of 283 feet, and dominates the landscape for miles around. It terminates in an octagonal lantern, and was doubtless intended by the builders to serve as a lighthouse by land and sea, as well as a campanile. The country folk have affectionately dubbed it "The Stump." The founder's chapel is in the early decorated style of Edward II. (1307), while the nave, aisles and western part of the chancel are of somewhat later period. The restoration of the church was begun in 1843, the work lasting ten years and costing $50,000.

St. Botolph's is closely linked with the daughter city by the memory of the famous John Cotton. He was its vicar for upwards of 20 years before, in 1633, he fled across the Atlantic to the American Boston to escape persecution for his Puritanical views, and there, as is well known, he preached until his death, nearly 20 years later. St. Botolph's contains a chapel to his memory, for which the "Hub" subscribed the money. The word Boston is a contraction of "Botolph's town," and it is commonly supposed to occupy the site of the Benedictine abbey founded by St. Botolph in 654, and destroyed by the Danes in 870.

WALT WHITMAN MEMORIAL.

Tablet Recently Erected in Honor of Famous Poet at Site of His Birth.

New York.—At West Hills, in the township of Huntington, L. I., a tablet has recently been erected at the birthplace of Walt Whitman by the Colonial society of Huntington. It was first proposed to place a tablet on the old homestead where the poet was born.

WALT WHITMAN TABLET. (Memorial to Poet Recently Erected at His Birthplace.)

and spent his early boyhood days, but this was objected to by the present owner of the property because it was thought it would draw many curiosity seekers and cause annoyance.

The memorial has been placed in the highway a few feet from the fence line between the roadbed and the old house. A big boulder has been prepared by dressing down one side and to this has been fastened a marble slab into which the lettering has been deeply cut, the whole making a very appropriate memorial.

All about Whitman's birthplace the country is extremely picturesque, and the freedom of the life here experienced undoubtedly had a strong influence in shaping the poet's career. In 1836 and 1837 Whitman visited the vicinity of his birthplace, and taught the village school in the neighboring hamlet of Woodbury. The schoolhouse where he taught is still standing, and while it has outlived its usefulness, the people of Woodbury have preserved it as a relic, and have erected an up-to-date building for present-day requirements.

THE GRANGE

Conducted by J. W. DARROW, Chatham, N. Y., Press Correspondent New York State Grange

UNITY OF INTERESTS

HON. OLIVER WILSON OF ILLINOIS AT CHAUTAUQUA.

A Strong Plea For the Grange as a Factor in Advancing the Interests of All Labor Everywhere, by the Master of Illinois State Grange.

One of the strongest addresses delivered at grange field meetings the past summer was that of Hon. Oliver Wilson, master of the Illinois state grange, at Chautauqua. His theme was the essential unity of interests between toilers in city and country, and he strenuously denied the charge sometimes made that the grange had little interest in any other than farm labor.

HON. OLIVER WILSON.

"In my part of the country," said Mr. Wilson, "we have heard all sorts of things about members of the Order of Husbandry. There is not a business or legislative undertaking of which it has not been said that the grange people were opposed to it. We have been opposed to everything except that which directly contributed to our own interests. I say I believe these things have had current circulation, but I will say at the same time that I believe the American people are at last beginning to learn the truth about this organization and finding out that this is not so. We have been told that this organization has built a wall about itself to exclude the interests of all but those of the farm alone. I am fully persuaded that there is no agency at work today in any other country that is doing more to bring about this difference of affairs than the Order of Patrons of Husbandry.

"We recognize the rights of the American people as a whole. We ask no special favors; neither do we desire them granted to others. Equality before the law, whether the citizen follow the plow or work in a machine shop, is what we ask. We ask that the government shall enact such laws as will give an equal chance of earning an honest living. We ask also that conditions be such that the humblest citizen will have an opportunity to see his family provided with not only the necessities of life, but also some of the luxuries.

"I believe that the grange should have political interests. I want you to remember, however, that the politicians do not always understand politics, for I use the word in the sense in which Webster defines it, 'the science of government.' Is there any reason why an organization which represents two-fifths of the entire population of the United States should not dictate a part of the financial policy and determine how the country is in some matters vital to them to be governed?"

"Our organization has not yet accomplished the object for which it was organized. It has commenced that work, but it will never have accomplished it until we see corruption banished from all high places, until we see the farms of this country yield their treasures in greater abundance than ever before, until each child of the farm has an actual practical education that will better fit him for his work."

Grange Exhibits at a Fair.

There are twenty-one granges in Orange county, N. Y., and fourteen of them had grange exhibits at the county fair at Middletown this fall. The exhibits were tastefully arranged in booths about fifteen feet square. Many of the exhibits were of great value from a historic point of view. Prizes of $50, $30 and $20 were offered by the society for the greatest variety of finest specimens of fruit, vegetables and fancy products. Walkill valley grange won first premium.

Use of the Black Ball.

Very careful use should be made of the black ball. In the first place, no candidate should be recommended against whom any reasonable objection may be known. A few tactful words may sometimes prevent trouble. But if an unsuitable name be forced to a ballot and valid objections to the candidate are known then use the black ball. And always keep in mind your obligation.

The Higher Standard.

Those who would presume to measure the work and influence of the grange by a money standard alone utterly fail to have any adequate conception of its principles and are not in sympathy with its grand and lofty mission.

Explanatory.

"Initiative and referendum" is the name applied to a system of government where people express their desire by direct vote for or against a given measure. Several state granges have passed resolutions favoring it.

A grange in Pennsylvania made a gain of 800 pounds in membership at a recent meeting. That was the combined weight of four candidates.

G. E. GREEN ACQUITTED.

Rushes to Phone to Tell Wife, Then Wires Little Schenectady Girl.

Washington, Mar. 14.—George E. Green, of Binghamton, a former State Senator of New York, who has been on trial in the District Supreme Court for more than two weeks on charges of conspiracy against the United States and to defraud the Government in the sale of time-recording clocks to the Post Office Department, was acquitted by a jury.

The announcement of the verdict which was returned shortly before 4 o'clock, was followed by a remarkable demonstration. One of Mr. Green's closest friends, a fellow-townsmen, who sat by his side, threw his arms around him and fairly shook him the instant the words "Not Guilty!" came from the lips of the foreman of the jury. Others jumped to their feet and rushed toward the table at which Mr. Green was sitting, and for several minutes he was kept busy shaking hands. A score of Binghamton people were in the rush to congratulate him. Every member of the jury shook his hands.

Wired Child Who Prayed for Him. Mr. Green was plainly moved by the demonstration. His first act was to telephone his wife, giving her the news. He also sent a telegram to a little girl in Schenectady who had written him that she had prayed for him, telling her that her prayers had been answered.

The verdict was reached after four hours' deliberation. Five ballots were taken. Upon the first four, nine jurors stood for acquittal outright, but the other three desired some explanation with reference to some phases of the case before reaching their conclusion.

ALONE WITH DEAD MOTHER.

Two Year Old Baby Dies of Grief and Cold.

Teaneck, N. J., Mar. 11.—Neighbors broke into the house of Salomon C. Sherry and found his wife, Mary, and their baby, Janet, two years old, dead in a bedroom. The two had not been seen since Thursday, some hours after Sherry himself left town.

That the woman died of heart disease after going to bed Thursday night and that the baby sobbed her little life away in grief and helpless terror, is the only theory which seems to fit the facts.

Sherry is a sheet-iron worker, perhaps a little younger than his wife, who was thirty-five years old. They were married four years ago in Hudson, N. Y., and lived in the Bronx until they moved last July to Teaneck, which is two miles from Englewood. Sherry bought a pretty little cottage on Railroad Avenue, and his wife made a cozy, happy home of it. Sherry joined a club of young men, all of good standing, and he is respected generally.

No Tax on Small Homes.

Albany, N. Y., Mar. 14.—Senator Hawkins has introduced a bill providing for the exemption from taxation of buildings worth not more than $2,000, the purpose of the measure being to encourage the building of small private homes.

Color Line in Y. M. C. A.

New Haven, Conn., Mar. 14.—The negroes have withdrawn from the Y. M. C. A. here, the directors having refused them full membership facilities.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, the venerable writer, is reported to be dying at her home in Beacon Street, Boston. She has been a great sufferer from rheumatism for many years and the attack from which she is now suffering is said to be more severe than any previous attack. It is feared that at the advanced age of the authoress her illness may prove fatal.

The crews of Prince Louis of Battenberg's squadron have made an elaborate silver cup which will be presented to the American North Atlantic Squadron in recognition of the courtesies recently extended by United States tars to the visiting British jacksies.

New York, Mar. 14.—Reformers in the S. P. C. A. say that President Haines has written his resignation. Whether it will be presented or not at a special meeting, charges will be preferred by the anti-Haines faction at the regular meeting.

Milford, Mass., Mar. 11.—Eighteen girls living in the same boarding house and working in the same factory in Medway have been stricken with typhoid fever. One is dead.

Doctors Are Frightened.

The remarkable recovery of Kenneth Melver of Vanceboro, Me., is the subject of much interest to the medical fraternity and a wide circle of friends. He says of his case: "Owing to severe inflammation of the throat and congestion of the lungs, three doctors gave me up to die, when, as a last resort, I was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery and I am happy to say, it saved my life." Cures the worst Coughs and Colds, Bronchitis, Tonsillitis, Weak Lungs, Hoarseness and LaGrippe. Guaranteed at J. S. Banker's, Genoa, and A. E. Clark's, King Ferry, druggists. 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free.

One would think the laxative idea in a cough syrup should have been advanced long before it was. It seems the only rational remedy for Coughs and Colds would be to move the bowels and clean the mucous membranes of the throat and lungs at the same time. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar does this. It is the original laxative cough syrup, the best known remedy for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. Tastes good and harmless. Sold by J. S. Banker.

LABOR LEADER IN CABINET

John Burns, Noted Englishman, Absolutely Unchanged by Appointment of British Premier.

London.—John Burns, member of the house from Battersea, who has been chosen president of the local government board in the new British cabinet, is one of the most vigorous personalities in the British parliament and in public life to-day.

The secret of Mr. Burns' power is his sincerity. It was the great dock strike of 1889 which first brought understanding of the real John Burns, who, before that time, had been known to most people as a man of nature similar to that of Jack Cade. His own particular friends and adherents, all along, had recognized in the "demagogue" and "agitator" of the workingmen's clubs one of the strongest and healthiest forces of the day.

Then came the historic fight for the dockers' "tanner," when Burns' straw hat became as an oriflame in the fray. Since then it has been generally admitted that no man in all England exercises such influence over the working classes or speaks with more authority in their behalf than John Burns.

His career has been irreproachable and except Keir Hardie and some others of his former labor associates no one has uttered a word of anything except commendation of his high personal character and deserved success.

For years Mr. Burns has lived in a small workingman's house in Battersea, with his handsome wife and only son, on an allowance of £150 a year made to him by the Amalgamated Society of Engineers.

Now, suddenly he has jumped into an income of $10,000 a year, but his mode of life remains absolutely unchanged. He went to Buckingham palace to be sworn in as a member of the king's privy council and to kiss the royal hand on acceptance of the cabinet office of president of the local government board dressed in his invariable dark-blue serge frock suit, black derby hat and gloveless hands, carry-

The king welcomed him with especial cordiality and told him he hoped his objection to wearing court costume would never prevent him from obeying royal commands to court entertainments. That night the premier, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, gave a cabinet dinner and John Burns, who never possessed or had any ambition to possess an evening suit, sat down in his usual reefer.

which his parents came to this state in 1854 was standing on the banks of the Umatilla river when John was born, having tarried there for that event. The boy lived on a farm until he was 12, when he went to school in San Francisco, finishing his education at Notre Dame college, Indiana. He comes of democratic lineage and has followed in the steps of his forbears. He is a lawyer, a member of the firm which has already furnished three United States senators for Oregon, and announces that it is in a position to supply the demand for a long time to come. He has been city attorney, member of the state legislature district attorney and candidate for congress against Binger Hermann. In 1893 he was appointed special prosecutor by President Cleveland in the important smuggling cases here. He favors retention of the Philippines and Hawaii and is an acknowledged admirer of President Roosevelt.

CO-OPERATION PROPOSED.
 A Grange Principle That Is Not Overworked.

Members of the grange may take a lesson from the action of farmers on Long Island in attempting to cooperate for their mutual welfare. In the vicinity of Riverhead, N. Y., there are probably 10,000 acres devoted to potato culture, and the farmers there believe that they can purchase various supplies in bulk and profit by the economy as well as obtain cheaper freight rates by shipping in carload lots. There is a very prosperous cauliflower association on the island which has saved considerable money to its members. The cost of cauliflower seed has been reduced from $32 to $20 a pound in four years. Before the association was formed farmers paid as high as $8 an ounce in some cases. Practically any intelligent farmer with a few acres in cauliflower is now assured of a net profit of from $1,000 to $3,000. Not at all unusual is the case of August Lewin, a farmer of Baiting Hollow, who last year realized $300 an acre from twelve acres set out in cauliflower. This is in direct line with the principles and purposes of the grange, and yet co-operation as a practical thing is not known to many granges. Isn't it about time "to get together?"

Grange Speeches Worth Money.
 Overseer George A. Fuller of the New York state grange is opposed to furnishing county fairs with grange speakers at state grange expense, and the Press believes he is right. Fair managers pay for bands, balloon ascensions and fast "horses," and if they regard a grange orator a drawing card they should put up for it in their expense account. People go to fairs to see the sights and the crowd and not to hear speeches. One county fair had the governor of the state on exhibition for several years in succession. People came to see him and the $1,000 cow and the big pumpkins. What he said no one remembers now, and little attention was given to it at the time. Unless he gave his speech to the papers it might as well have gone up in the balloon.—Utica Press.

A Profitable Grange Fair.
 The grange at Copake, Columbia county, N. Y., held a fair and sale a short time ago at which the receipts were $650, of which $500 was put into the treasury. Quite a neat sum that!

Sparta grange, Crawford county, Pa., claims to be the largest grange in the state. It has a membership of 407. The last class initiated numbered fifty-seven.

When They Love You So.

ONE time I'm awful sick in bed, An' sometimes I'm delirious, 'Cuz I got fever in my head, An' when I'm th' most serious My pa, he sits beside of me, An' 'en he rubs my head, an' 'en He says when I get well, why, he Won't ever scold his boy again.
 An' 'en my ma, she rubs my head, 'Ist burnin' hot, an' 'en her chin 'Ist quivers, an' she says: "Poor Nedi! His little hands so white an' thin!" An' 'en she says she never knew How precious 'ist a boy could be, An' when I'm well she's goin' t' do 'Ist what I want her to for me.
 An' by an' by my aunty comes An' says when I get well, why, she Don't care if I have twenty drums, An' she will buy a sled for me, An' my big sister's goin' t' buy A really pony 'ist as quick As ever doctor says 'at I Am well again from bein' sick.
 An' even our old hired man Comes in an' stays awhile with me Whenever doctor says he can, 'Ist kind an' gentle as can be, 'Cuz once he had a boy, an' 'en He had th' fever, an' 'at's why He's awful kind to me' an' when He sees me, why, he starts t' cry.
 An' even teacher comes t' see Me on her way from school, an' 'en She says it won't be hard for me 'When I come back to school again, 'Cuz she won't make my lessons long 'Or keep me after school, an' she 'Ist wants me to get well an' strong, An' 'en she stoops an' kisses me.
 An' 'at's th' way you really know How much they love you, when your head 'Ist burnin' up an' you can't go Nowheres except to stay in bed, An' even if you're awful bad An' hot with fever, why, you know, It makes you feel 'ist sweet an' glad 'Becuz they all 'ist love you so.
 —J. W. Foley in New York Times.

Packing the House.
 "One of the worst breaks I ever made," said the theatrical manager, "was in the course of a tour with a particularly successful attraction in the far west. In a hotel I met an influential citizen who was good to me, and before we parted I had asked him to come to the show and to bring his family and I'd see that they were treated right.
 "About 8 o'clock the next evening his head appeared at the box office window. 'Good evening; glad to see you,' said I, preparing to write out the pass. 'How many have you with you?'
 "Well," said he, 'some of my family are sick, so I've brought only forty-two.'
 "You see, I'd forgotten to remember that we were in Salt Lake City."—Woman's Home Companion.

The Enthusiastic Amateur.
 Young Mother—Oh, George, the baby looks as though he were going to have a fit.
 George—Fine! Keep him quiet until I get the camera ready.—Royal Magazine.

His Maiden Speech.
 Very few persons acquit themselves nobly in their maiden speech. At a wedding feast recently the bridegroom was called upon, as usual, to respond to the given toast in spite of the fact that he had previously pleaded to be excused.
 Blushing to the roots of his hair, he rose to his feet. He intended to imply that he was unprepared for speech-making, but, unfortunately, placed his hand upon the bride's shoulder and looked down at her as he stammered out his opening (and concluding) words: "This—er—thing has been thrust upon me."—Tit-Bits.

Dorothy's View of Shaving.
 Dorothy is a tiny maid of four years whose father always gets shaved at the barber's. When on a visit recently she found an uncle who shaved himself. She watched this performance with intense but silent astonishment for two or three mornings, but finally broke out with: "What makes you do that, Uncle Will? My papa doesn't wash his face with a little broom and wipe it with a knife."—New York Press.

The Real Complaint.
 Customer (trying to get waited on at night lunch counter)—Here, boy! The best thing you can do is to go to bed.
 Inefficient Waiter—Oh, it don't hurt me to lose sleep.
 Customer—No, I suppose not. But the thing I'm objecting to is that you don't seem to be losing any.—Judge.

Their Views.
 First Tramp—De 'eory is dere's jes' so much work to be done in de world an' jes' so many people to do it.
 Second Tramp—Dat's right, an' if some folks wants to hustle an' do more dan dere share let 'em go ahead an' do it.—Brooklyn Life.

No Excuse For Them.
 "They say there's a fool born every minute."
 "But that isn't the worst of it. There are whole lots of fools that were all right when they were born!"—Detroit Free Press.

Opposed to Good Roads.
 This letter of timely topic appeared in a recent issue of the Auburn Daily Advertiser:
 Havin' heard and read so much about bad roads and the good roads law thought I would like to scatter a few cominets kinder broadcast one feller writes that the farms in Cayuga county deprettiated a great many hundreds of dollars cause farmers cant get their produce to market now we hold it is because farmers cant get help to work the land and every body that nos anything about farming nor that he has to keep horses nuf to work the land and that they will haul to market twice the amount of prouce that he can raise to spare, another feller writes that we cant all expect to live along these good roads enny more than we could expect to live on fifth av, where ever that is, yet I never heard of them taxin us, one feller rites that it would be aful nice to build a good road to the ball grounds. Seems to me that idee would help the poor farmer a hull lot, one feller writes that the state pays half of the money we would like to know ho the state is when it comes to appropriation another thing makes me feel real sorry to think there is so many capable fellers going around and spending their valuable time talkin, ritin and gittin metins up for good roads and not lookin for any pay except to help the poor ignorant farmer—talk about self denial aint that it, now if they build a eight thousand dollar pi mile road up Owaeco lake on the west side, cant see how it is agoin to help Scipio, Ledyard or any of those towns yet they will have to pay their part, it looks to me like the farmer buyin a gold Brick, it generally costs more than it is worth, we like to ride on good roads but if it costs more than it does to ride on the keers we will take them kars.
