The Bowery Mission "Bread Line," at which 1,000 men who are out in the streets for the night are given a breakfast of hot coffee and rolls every morning at one o'clock, is one of the most pathetic sights in all the wide, wide world Long before the hour of opening, these poor, starving men stand in a single line that sometimes extends for blocks in length, waiting for the coffee and rolls. Ha Forgot.

So absentminded was a certain New England farmer that he couldn't open his mouth without making an arrant ass of himself. Once he courted a young woman. His suit looked promising for a time. Then, with a sorrowful visage, he ceased his courtship.

"Yet she seemed infatuated with you, Jabez," said a friend to whom he went for sympathy.

"She were, too," Jabez agreed. "Well, what could have been the trouble?

"Dunno," said he.' "Dunno, but when I proposed she turned me down cold." "Perhaps your proposal wasn't ardent enough?"

"Oh, it was fiery," said Jabez. "Hot as pepper. I told her she was the only woman I'd ever loved, ever looked at, ever thought of or"

Failure nevertheless did come, and the following year, when a second vacancy occurred, Labiche's vote was once more solicited in the man's behalf. "No," shouted Labiche in vehement indignation; "I will not vote for a man who does not keep his word. He did not die."

He Felt the Fire.

A millwright was converted to the way of thinking of a sect which periodically was inspired with a foreknowledge of the imminence of the day of doom and set the date, preparing for Gabriel's greeting.

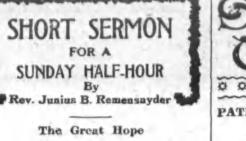

The date was set, and the day came. The millwright donned his white robe and went out into the fields to await the coming meeting with the celestial throng. Patrick Malone was having an argument with a friend who was well posted in history.

Text: If a man die, shall he live again?-Job, xiv., 14.

The man normal in mind and healthy in body loves life. Only misanthropes and maudlin sentimenttalists affect anxiety to "shuffle off this mortal coil."

If, then, life be such a treasure in this one brief span of it, what a joy to live forever, to have eternal life? Who does not yezrz for it with an nexpressible loc; ag? Must we, with the Stoics, steel our hearts to quitting this banquet when our summons comes with a final farewell? Or is there rational ground for hope

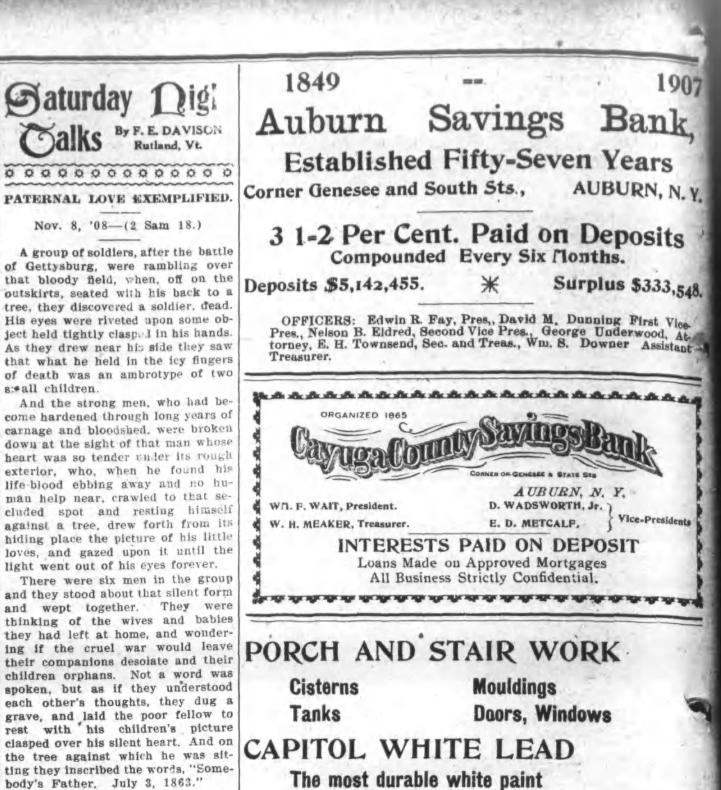

Science, as Lord Kevlin affirmed, tends to support the fact of immortality. This it does by the laws of the indestructibility of matter and the conservation of force. Not a particle of matter has ever been lost, nor has the original force in the world ever been diminished. There has been change, but no loss or destruction. If, then, matter be indestructible, how much more shall not the spirit of which matter is but the servant and slave be indestructible and immortal.

Nature again is a symbol of this great hope. She, too, meets this phenomenon of death. Her flowers fall, her beauty fades and winter wraps her in an icy shroud as apparently lifeless as the mausoleums of our dead. But wait a few short sermon on earth was ever preached more unanswerable than that proclaimed by the fading and reviving of field, forest and flower.

The being of man is another argument. Why should his thoughts go out in this high quest for a future life? Who planted within his heart this intense longing? Whether God or nature, it was not meant to taunt us with a lie.

Another proof arises from the nature of human love. It is at once the tenderest and most powerful of | are drawn and the lights are kindled. "How can you contend that the an- our faculties. And love is stronger Watch him when the time comes for

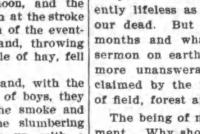

A Misconception.

There is a popular misconception that the tender love of parentage is all wrapped up in the mother. That it is she whose heart broods over her children and whose thoughts are ever upon their personal welfare. But that is not true. A true father's heart is as tender as a mother's, and he lives in his offspring as really as does the companion of his fireside. He may have more control of his emotions, the daily contact with the world may have sharpened his voice and put a challenge into his eye, and shut his jaws with a pressure more rigid.

But follow that man to the privacy of his home. See him after the shades G. N. STUPP. when the children, many or few

"How does it happen, Juletta," she was asked one day, "that you go by the name of Price, while your husband's name is Ledbetter?" "Well, you see, Mrs. Lawrence," she replied cheerfully, "it's this a-way. 'I badn' been acquainted with George but fo' days when I married him, an' I didn' know how I was gonter lak him nor how he was gonter lak me. Now, these divorcements betwix' married folks is a heap er trouble an' a heap er expense, too, an' 1 'lowed the safest way fer us to do wus fer George to keep his maiden name an' to keep mine tell we see how our new experiment was gonter turn out."

His Authority.

Dr. Magrath was eccentric. One day he was called up to visit a sick man and as he entered the room said cheerfully, "How do you do?" "Oh, doctor," replied the patient plaintively, "I am dead." Magrath immediately wheeled about and left the room and actually reported that the man was dead. The day, when some one took, the doctor to task for issuing a false certificate. "I did it upon the very highest authority," Magrath explained, "for I had if from the man's own mouth."

Free Medical Advice,

The celebrated French physician Ricord was one day walking along the old gentleman who was very rich, but his extreme stinginess. The old man, who was somewhat of a hypochondrise, imagined that he could get some | said: medical advice from Ricord without paying for it.

The invalid did as he was told. After he had waited patiently for about ten minutes he opened his eyes and found bimself surrounded by a crowd, who supposed that he was crazy. Dr. Ricord in the meantime had disappeared.

Divine Love.

Just as a mother would not love a child the better for its being turned into a model of perfection by one stroke of magic, but does love it the more deeply every time it tries to be good, so I do hope and believe our Great Father does not wait for us to he good and wise to love us, but loves thick of our struggle with sin and folly .- Juliana Horatia Ewing.

"That may be," answered Pat, "but the fact that no wires have been found in Ireland simply makes it clear to my mind that the Irish were in the habit of using wireless telegraphy."

Try to Be Somebody.

The early formation of a purpose in life, the making up of one's mind, is one of the chief characteristics of a personality predestined to succeed. "An early aim shortens the way." "The important thing in life," says Goethe, "is to have a great aim and to possess the aptitude and perseverance to attain it."

Find your purpose and fling your life out to it. Try with all your might to be somebody.

Your purpose may not be very definite at first; but, like a river which starts in a series of ill defined pools mistake was discovered the following or streams, if all your aims are in the right direction they will finally run toside rills, merge into a mighty stream of purpose and sweep you on to the ocean of success .- O. The Old, Old Story.

A youth who had been spending his summer by the sea was unexpectedly joined by his father and took the opportunity to ask for a new tennis racket.

"What!" cried his father. "A new tennis racket? Why, I bought you one a month ago. No, sir; you can't have us and loves to help us in the very it. Why, when I was a boy. I didn't have tennis rackets and all those things, let alone having new ones every month. This can't go on. pressure of the hand of the dying proves it undiminished. Our own bleeding hearts will not admit that the ties are severed forever. They cry out against so cruel and unnatural a fate. We follow our departed beyond the "Great Divide," and our unbroken love forbids us to think that they, too, do not love us still.

To those of who believe in revelation, who hold that a Father would not hear all these ages the cry of His children and give no answer from His inflinite heart, there of course comes absolutely certain evidence.

The doctrine of immortality is the best explanation of unfinished lives. How many lives are broken off like a column in the midst? In the very centre of their usefulness, with a thousand bonds holding them to family, society, church and State, with wisely laid plans unaccomplished. they are suddenly summoned, an' must leave all. Are such lives frag mentary, are they a failure? No not in the light of immortality. Bu gether and, swollen by hundreds of there in a larger sphere and vaster scale the high ideals and plans conceived here shall be wrought out to a glorious perfection.

Again, the life beyond is a reassurance to those doomed to crosses, believe that a righteous God has made these children of sorrow but to suffer? Aye, no justice as well as love demands a continuity of life beyond the present. These fettered minds will be freed, broken hearts will be healed and pained bodies made perfect. And what an inepressible comfort this faith in the future life as we grieve for those who have gone before! They are not lost, but trusting a larger, better life. They have not forgotten, but love us as of yore. We shall meet them again in love's long, rapturous clasp, unbroken forever more.

But let no one, either, forget the warning of this great truth. We sow here, we reap there. Here we make up life's record, there we are to be judged, God is moral. All life is under law. As life here is good or evil such, blessed or woeful, will be the life beyond.

climb upon his knee, ride upon his shoulder, tousle his gray hair, and of that man of business, and you will be convinced that there are fountains of love in the paternal heart. as deep, and sweet, and inexhaustible as any that bubble up in the breast of womanhood.

A Father's Idol.

Where will you find in all history a love more tender and expressive than that which David had for Absalom. He was the idol of his father's heart, upon him had been lavished all that wealth of a king could procure and, though the youthful prince turned out to be a vain, conceited, traitorous puppy, the father never gave him up. Though he led the secession movement, stole the hearts of the people, raised an army to fight against his own father and drive him from the throne, David could not forget that Absalom was his son, and when the armies met in deadly combat, the indulgent parent pleaded with his soldiers to do no harm to the rebel if he should be captured. And when the news was brought to the king that Absalom. the traitor, had fallen, the father got the better of the ruler, and his hear broke. And, as the monarch fied to some secluded spot in which to pour out his grief, the whole army heard him wail, "O, Absalom! O, my son, my son, Absalom! Would God I had died for thee. O, Absalom, my son, my son!"

Since the world began it has been true that fatherhood implies affection. This is the reason men make slaves of themselves, chained by their own hands to the desk or the machine-that they may win for their children an easier life.

They do not toil, for their own pleasure or gratification, but that they may add to the pleasure and gratification of their children. The father may not say much about it, but he holds his head a little higher when his boy wins a prize, and he attempts to hide his emotion in the folds of a pocket handkerchief when his girl reads her essay amid the applause of her classmates.

God's Fatherhood.

In order to drive this truth home, the sacred writings abound with paternal references. The old Hebrew writers had a great deal to say about the Fatherhood of God. Sometimes He was represented as a ruler, sometimes as a .Creator, sometimes as a judge, but oftener as a father, brooding with tender love over the human family as His children. And in the great and infinitely-reaching prayer of the Messiah, we are taught to say "of "Our King! Our Ruler! Our Judge!" but "Our Father." While the pearl of all the parables, of the Bible is that of the Prodigal Son, the whole purport of which is, not the wickedness of the wanderer, but the waiting, longing, pardoning love of the father.

"I am getting frightfully cynical!" Elberta said dolefully, arranging the cushions on the box coach so that the becoming red one would be nearest her face, "and I don't like it. My dislike is not founded so much upor moral grounds as from a regard for my complexion."

"Eh?" remarked Mr. Terhune he'plessly. "Your conversation, my dear Elberta, often seems involved. Your remarks are sometimes not as lucid-that is-as intelligible-as one might desire."

"Perhaps I am forgetting that the young or very feeble are fed on prepared food, John-and the rule probably applies as much to the mental as to the physical," she said with much petulance.

"Now, my dear girl, do not fly off into a psychological discussionfor either nature defrauded me or they left out something in my college course-I don't know which. The only thing I want to know iswhy being cynical should affect your complexion."

"That's easily explained-it takes the sparkle out of my eyes, it draws my mouth down at the corners and destroys my dimple-and, to cap the climax, it makes me wonder if there is a living, breathing man worth marcelling my hair for. So, when I get in a cynical mood I go round straight haired, thin lipped, with a listles expression that makes me posi itively homely."

"But my dear child," protested Mr. Terhune, "I could run in almost any time to admire the marcelled hair-and if I didn't happen to come at the psychological moment you could 'phone me at any minute and I would be delighted-dee-lightedto rush to admire-just count on me for any old time," he added gracious.

"John-you are at intervalsporitively foolish," she said severely. trying to select from the box in her lap a chocolate that contained a nut. "I am tired of being admired by plain, everyday men."

"Like me?" he suggested amiably. "I didn't say I was rude or impolite enough to call you namesmerely said I was cynical." she demurred.

"Oh-call me a plain, everyday man, if you like," he conceded graciously-"if it makes you feel one tiny bit better, to work on your "ynicism on me, Lady Fair. 'Tis sweet to die for-er-I'm not strong in pcetry, Elberta, but I'm willing to heip you out all I can. So you want the marcel to be admired by some wonderful being-Elberta, my child, don't you think a perfect man would let his thoughts run upon-er-scientific lines-and not undulations in -hair lines?" "He wouldn't, I'm sure, labor under the impression that he could make puns," she sniffed disdainfully. 'Even if he didn't make puns-he might be disagreeable in other respects," suggested Mr. Terhune, hopefully. "His very perfections, my dear girl, would make him clear sighted enough to see the imperfections of others. Now I think you are perfect,-but he would probably not take you at all on account of your imperfections." "Indeed? Would you enumerate tuem?" The tone struck Mr. Terhune as being slightly icy, but-however foolish-he evidently was not lacking in bravery. "If you will, for once let me assume that I, even I, am a perfect man, perhaps I can give you a few of the ideas he might entertain." "Pray do-it cannot fail to be interesting," freezingly. "That reminds me. I met Miss Deland on the street this afternoon, and I never in my life saw so perfect a profile. She is the exact type that would make a suitable mate for your perfect man. And I think she has the daintiest little nose I ever saw," reminiscently. Elberta reddened slightly. She had always wondered if her nose were not a trifle large, and her fingers unconsciously flew to her face to be passed furtively over the suspected member. "And she always makes herself so entirely charming-she doesn't seen to be moody-one could not imagine her ever being-er-rude. She is an ideal feminine character, a per fectly womanly woman-she would give her husband just the proper amount of adoration to stimulate him to success-she wouldnt expect the perfect man to waste time in admiring a mere woman-a frail, impulsive, whimsical woman. The perfect man, my dear, would probablyat least, possibly-be the centre of attraction himself. I can imagine that his wife would occupy the subordinate position of second fliddle." Elberta sat quietly stroking her acse with her finger, evidently deeply absorbed in thought.

never thought I was a beauty-but I can't help the size of my nose." "Of course you can't," consolingly-"nobody can blame you for it," he declared piously. "We should not blame people for their misfortunes-we should sympathize." She looked at him for a second, tears of mortification in her eyes. 'You are cruel," she said in muffled tones from the depth of the red pillow where she buried her face.

Mr. Terhune without her eyes upon him, permitted a look of satisfaction to creep over his face.

"Wouldn't it be awful to live in the same house with a man so perfect himself that he never noticed your eyes or hair-who perhaps has so perfect a nose that he would make disagreeable comparison of your own-er-features?" he suggested wickedly.

Drawing Strings for Corsets.

To vary the monotony a bit there are women's clubs whose object is not that of social entertaining, music or bridge. Neither are they educational or charitable of turn, and no philanthropic questions are ever discussed or prayed for. A corset club is one of these, says the New York rress. It appears that many poor young women in London pay sixpence a week each into a club, and when five shillings has been subscribed a pair of corsets is purchased and lots are drawn to decide who shall possess them. The existence of this club came to light a short time ago when one of its members took a dispute concerning her ownership of a particular pair of corsets to court.

What is Kaolin?

The name kaolin is said to be derived from a hill near King-tih-Chin. in China called Kaoling, where the clay was first found in considerable quantity. The kaolin earth was first sent to Europe by a Jesuit missionary of King-tih-Chin about 1795. A similar clay was soon afterward found near Schneeberg, Germany. and used in the manufacture of porcelain, thus laying the foundation of the famous Dresden ware. Kaolin is found in Nebraska and some of the Eastern States.

Sulphate of Ammonia.

The consumption of sulphate of ammonia is estimated at 40,000 metric tons per annum, of which about b.000 tons are produced in Spain. this production emanates chiefly from the gas works in various parts of the country, and in Madrid there is also the production of the Sociedad de Gasificacion Industrial-an electric power station using producer gas engines-the maximum capacity of which is calculated at 1,500 tons.

Leaving his fame as a poet to take care of itself, the people of this republic can acknowledge a deep debt to him as the author of the principle of commonwealth building which we have carried further on the road to completeness than any other nation on earth. As a teacher Milton is the most il lustrious exemplar of that Puritan type which left so deep an imprint upon early American character. For two centuries throughout New England and her offshoots Milton's "Paradise Lost" was read more universally and more attentively than any other volume, with the exception of the Bible and Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," Everywhere as the republic grew serious and studious the New Englander felt himself uplifted and encouraged as he recognized in Mil-

CONNECTICUT FOR TAFT.

Party's Vote Cut Down In Cities Where Labor Element is Strong.

PENNSYLVANIA REPUBLICAN.

Philadelphia, Nov. 4 .- Pennsylvania has gone Republican by a majority of 150,000, the figures being as follows: Taft., 575,000; Bryan, 425,000. In 1904 Roosevelt carried the state by 505,519, and two years ago Stuart, Republican, was elected governor by 48,-435. This city, Pittsburg, Harrisburg, Altoena and other cities have given Mr. Taft pluralities, but Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and towns in which the so called "labor" vote is strong have gone Democratic,

The election in Pennsylvania turned almost entirely on national issues, the highest state officer voted for being a judge of the superior court. For that office William D. Porter, Republican, has been elected by a majority of 50,000 over Webster Grim, Democrat.

The vote in the country districts was, as usual, heavily Republican. The state's representation will again be Republican in the Sixty-first congress, the Democrats having gained only one seat. The figures will be as follows: Republicans, 24; Democrats, 8.

THE SOUTH STILL SOLID.

Usual Democratic Majorities Returned In Dixie.

St. Louis, Nov. 4 .- Missouri has reversed the Republican victory of 1904 and is again in the Democratic ranks by a majority of 30,000. St. Louis went Republican by a small majority. William S. Cowherd has been elected governor.

Maryland.

Baltimore,-Nov. 4.-Maryland's split electoral vote of four years ago, seven Democratic and one Republican, is this year solidly Democratic. The election is close, Mr. Bryan's plurality being about 5,000. The Democrats have gained one congressman. The state delegation in the Sixty-first congress will contain four Democratic representatives and two Republicans. This city has gone Democratic by a close vote.

Texas.

Austin, Tex., Nov. 4. - William H, Taft did not make as good a showing in this state as President Roosevelt, who polled 51,242 votes in 1904. The vote this year is approximately as follows: Bryan, 220.000; Taft, 20,000. 12 Thomas M. Campbell, Democrat, has been re-elected governor.

New York, Nov. 4 .- As the result of yesterday's election New York state's thirty-nine electoral votes will be cast for William H. Taft and James S. Sherman. Both the Republican national and state tickets are victorious, Charles E. Hughes being re-elected governor.

Greater New York has gone Demoeratic, indorsing both Bryan and Chanler. The counties above the city, however, have given to the Republican national and state tickets majorities large enough to insure their success. The figures are as follows:

In the entire state, Taft, $30,000; Bryan, 790,000; Hughes, 815,250; Chanler, 804,750. In New York city, Taft, 250,000; Bryan, 380,000; Hughes, 230,000; Chanler, 400,000.

Both the old parties polled full votes, their strength not being seriously affected by the Independence, Socialist and other minor parties. Shearn, Independence party candidate for governor, ran ahead of Wanhope, the Socialist nominee.

Next Legislature Republican. The state's congressional representation will be divided, as at present, among the two partles, with one change, Hillquit, Socialist, being elected in the Ninth district in place of Riordan, Democrat. The next legislature will be Republican in both

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 4 .- William H. Taft had a big majority in this state, being made the choice for the presidency of 70,000 more voters than ap-

Trenton, the center of the pottery industry of the state, has indorsed Mr. Taf#s recent utterances in favor of raising the tariff on pottery products by giving him a majority of 500. Camden has gone Republican by 500. Paterson is Taft Successful In Massachusetts and Other Eastern States.

Boston, Nov. 4 .- This city, together with the rest of Massachusetts, has gone Republican, giving Mr. Taft sixteen electoral votes. The popular vote is: Taft 250,000; Bryan, 150,000; Hisgen, 40,000; Debs, 10,000. The plurality of the Republican candidate is 100,-000 over Mr. Bryan, but the votes of the two minor candidates, added to those of the Prohibition and Socialist Labor nominees, were large enough to deprive the Republican party of a majority of the votes in this state.

The gubernatorial vote is as follows: Draper (Rep.), 230,000; Vahey (Dem.), 160,000; Osgood (Independent), 50,000; Carey (Sccialist), 10,000. In 1904 Parker. Democrat, received 165,746 votes to Rooseveli's 257,822. Hisgen ran behind his vote for governor last year

Rhode Island.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 4 .- Rhode Island's four electoral votes will be cast for William H. Taft, whose popular majority in the state is 3,000. The increased vote for Mr. Bryan in this city and other manufacturing centers accounts for the decrease of 6,766 in the Republican majority since 1904. Aram J. Pothier, Republican, of Woonsocket has been elected governor

Maine.

Portland, Me., Nov. 4 .- Maine has returned its usual large majority for the Republican candidate, although Mr. Taft's vote did not reach the 36.-791 majority polled by Mr. Roosevelt in 1904.' The vote is as follows: Taft 60,000; Bryan, 33,000. No state election was held, as Maine chose a Repleased with the result of the elec. publican governor and Republican

CENTRAL WEST

IS REPUBLICAN.

Hinois, Indiana and Ohio Are

Carried by Taft.

Chicago, Nov. 4 .-- Illinois has been carried by the Republican party by a plurality of 50,000, giving the state's twenty-seven electoral votes to Taft and Sherman. The state Republican ticket has also been successful, Governor Charles S. Deneen winning from former Vice President, Adlai E. Ste-venson by the same lurality. Chi-cago has gone Republican by 25,000,

The next state legislature will be Republican by a majority on joint ballot of 38, a loss of 24. This means the re-election to the United States senate of Albert J. Hopkins:

There will be a decided change in the congressional representation of Illnois. The present delegation from the state includes twenty-four Republicans and one Democrat. The figures in the Sixty-first congress will be seventeen Republicans and eight Democrats, six of the latter being from Chicago. Speaker Cannon has been reelected in the Eighteenth district.

The voters of the state have indorsed the proposed constitutional amendment authorizing the state to issue bonds of $20,000,000 for the construction of a deep waterway beginning at or near Lockport, Ill., to a point at or near Utica, Ill., in the Illinois river.

Indiana Goes Republican.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 4 .- The endeavois of the Democrats to place Indiana in the ranks of, their party. causing the state to be considered doublful some time before the election, have not been successful. The Hoosier vote has been given to Taft and Sherman by a majority of 18,000, reducing the Republican majority of four years ago by two-thirds. The figures are: Taft, 341,000; Bryan, 299,000. Congressman James E. Watson has been elected to succeed J. Frank Hanly as governor, leading Thomas F. Marshall, his Democratic opponent, by 15,000 votes. The state congressional representation, eleven Republicans and two Democrats, will remain unchanged, but the legislature is Republican by a slightly reduced majority. The term of Senator Hemenway, Republican, will expire in March.

carried by both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft.

The lower house of the Sixty-first congress will be Republican, but by a reduced majority. With returns from some districts still in doubt and others contested it appears now that the house will remain safely Republican. The senate will remain Republican. Speaker Cannon has won his fight for re-election but by a reduced majority.

Central States For Taft.

Ohlo, Indiana and Illinois, the great central states, with an aggregate of sixty-five electoral votes, have gone Republican despite the fight made to bring them into the Democratic columin. The success of Mr. Taft in these states, considered vitally necessary to his election, has carried with it the success of the Republican state tickets. Governor Densen in Illinois and Governor Harris in Ohio, Republican card'd to for reelection, retain their feats, and Congressman Watson will succeed J. Frank-Hanly in Indiana. Republi aphopes of carrying Kentucky broved vain in spite of the victory of Willson, Republican, in the gubernatorial contest last year. The greater part of the state's congresmional delegation will be Democrats.

The Pacific coast states, California, Washington and Oregon, have given their votes to the Rapublican candidate, but Nevada, which voted against Parker in 1904, gave its vote this year to Bryan. Montana the Dakotas and Minnesota are again Republican, but Governor Johnson's personal popularity has sufficed to seat him again in the gubernatorial chair of the North Star state, Wisconsin, Michigan, lows and in fact the entire West and Northwest are Republican, but, as noted above, by lowered majorities.

The South Still Solid.

The "solid South" is still solidly Democratic. Mr. Bryan polling the usual large majorities. Only in Maryland has the Republican party made serious inroads on the Democratic vote, and in that state not sufficiently to change the result. Delaware, about which some doubt was expressod before the election, has gone Rebublican. The New England states have gone for Taft and have elected Republican governors, but the vote in Rhode Island, where the Democrats made a strong fight, is very close. In Massachusetts the Independence party endidate for governor made a good showing, though, running far behind the vote of Thomas L. Hisgen last Brear.

New York city has been carried by Bryan and Chanler, the Democratic candidates for president and governor winning in all five horoughs. Of the city's 630 000 votes Mr. Bryan has remelved 280,000 and Mr. Chanler 400,-000. The figures for the entire state are as follows: Taft. 820,000; Bryan 790.000; Hughes, 815.250; Chapler, #04 750

Governor George L. Sheldon, Republican, has been re-elected by a majority of 20,000. The personal popularity of Mr. Bryan in his home state and of Mr. Sheldon accounts for the difference between the governor's vote and that of Mr. Taft. The state's present congressional delegation, five Republicans and one Democrat, stands.

Bryan Silent on Election.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 4 .- "I do not desire to discuss the result of the election at the present time," said Mr. Pryan after the returns were received here. "At a later date I shall probably have something to say, but now I must beg to be excused." The Democratic candidate's own city gave Mr. Taft a majority. Large Democratic gains are reported from most of the large citles and towns. The rural districts generally, however, have remained Republican. The fight made by Governor Andrew L. 'Your change, sir!" and the clerk at Loring Grabam & Sons handed over the counter a number of coins with a neatly done up package. "Thank you," and he stepped in his alert, business-like way to another customer who had just entered the large hardware establishment, while Carl started toward the door with the package containing his new skates, at the same time slipping the change left over from the crisp fivedollar bill into his trousers' pocket.

"Haven't you counted it?" asked Uncle Tom, who had aided Carl in the selection of the bright nickel skates.

'Why, no; I never do! What's the use-the clerk does that! It isn't at Loring Graham & Sons as it is at some stores; they're honest there-never heard of any one being cheated!"

"It isn't that so much as it is the liability of one's making a mistake A person never ought to receive any change-however small the amount -without counting it over on the spot. You can hardly expect a mistake to be rectified after once having left the store, however reputable the firm."

"But it makes lots of bother," argued Carl, "when one's in a hurry."

"It makes no difference, it's business; and every boy ought to train himself early in strict business principles and live up to them."

"Aren't they a dandy pair-my Ice Flyers-that's what I'm going to name them!" exclaimed Carl, adroitly changing the subject. "There isn't a fellow in Shirley that's got a prettier pair!

"They are beauties, no mistake! I think you got them, too, at a very reasonable figure. Now don't forget. my boy, hereafter about counting your change." And Uncle Tom, without waiting for a reply, entered his place of business, a few blocks from the hardware store.

"It's all nonsense taking such trouble! That's just the way lots of foiks do. They stand and count '.en and five-fifteen; and three-eightenn; and two's twenty,' when they give a quarter for a five-cent lead pencil!" declared Carl to himself, co. ing down the walk. And they know the clerk would give them the right change. I'm not going to do it, it's too foolish!"

Carl smiled grimly as he spoke. During the following weeks Car saved every cent he earned, to pay back the five dollars to his uncle't firm.

One morning-'twas at the end c the ninth week-Carl carried hi vest he was accustomed to wear, to his mother to mend.

"It needs two buttons-and the porkets leak," playfully.

"Leave It on a chair, dear' and 1'll see to it and stop the holes. I'll have it ready by noon." and his moth. er smiled with her "love-to-work-for my-boy" smile as he laid down the garment.

"See what I've found!" she ex claimed. "A bright five-dollar gold coin!'

"In-'twasn't' in the vest, was it mether?" and the expression of C: I's face was a mingling of hope au ! incredulity.

"Indeed it was, hidden way down in the corner, where the unsuspected leak hole had dropped it.'

"Then it's the change, the five dolla's of that freight money! Hurra'i! But," more soberly, "I'm glad now it got lost a while, for by it I've learned one of Uncle Tom's business principles, and I'll not forget it!"-Christian Advocate.

LAW OF COMPENSATION SEEMS INOPERATIVE WITH HER.

SEAMSTRESS' TRIALS

Hardest Thing About The Work is in Adjusting Oneself to Whims of Women-Their Attitude of Con. tempt and Indifference.

BY IDA A. TALBERT.

Whoever said: "The law of compensation is ever operative," I am certain, never had been a seamstress. I think, too, I have been more fortunate in my experience than many, as I have sewed generally for people who knew me "before the bank failed," and so appreciate better how hard it is and how humiliating. writes Ida A. Talbert.

Some years ago, when the visible supply became almost invisible-and certain dear girls wanted to go to college, or in other ways take expert training-it occurred to me that my needle having done active service in the family for fifteen years, might be made a money producer, and I be. gan modestly and I have succeeded fairly well.

, I think I shall voice the sentiment of every needlewoman when I say that the hardest thing about the work is adjusting oneself to the whims of women.

One morning not long ago, I was obliged to start out in a pouring rain. I was wet when I got on to the open car, and after riding three miles and walking three blocks I was drenched when I arrived at my destination. Beyond taking my umbrella nothing was said, and I was allowed to sit all day in my wet clothes, not even being invited into the kitchen to "drip."

Sometimes at five minutes past 8 I am greeted by a nervous woman with: "Well, you did come after all: I had given you up for to-day. Please get something started at once, so l can help."

Another woman, different in character, is asleep when you arrive; her husband greets you cheerfully and says: "Here is a petticoat for the baby. Mrs. G. is not up yet. think the petticoat is for you to sev on.'

There is nothing visible to sew with so you wait, thinking of those precious minutes that might have been spent at home, and at last Mrs. G. appears in a kimono or less-she has own material. not any thread, she apologizes-and by the time the thread arrives there are no buttons or hooks or pinsand this woman is sure to wonder what you have been doing all day.

Beer Invasion of China.

Only second to British oplum among the perils that beset China is American beer. China has been a Prohibition country from the fourth century. Exceptions have sometimes been made for the use of rice wine as a holiday confection, but nothing corresponding to the American satoon and the daily tippling of our Anlo-Saxon races has yet developed in nina. J. B. Angell, our former mbassador to Pekin, wrote the In-"national Reform Bureau that he id not see three drunken Chinamen in Pekin in a year. But now Amerian brewers are invading China, and young China" thinks to prove its progressiveness by smoking cigarattos, whistling and drinking beer. The brewers are of course bull-dozing the Chinese with their bare-faced alsehoods about beer being a "temerance drink."

As if opium and beer were not lagues enough, China is being overun by the plague of American cigarttes, accompanied by obscene pictures. We can hold back the pictures by a law secured by the Reform Bureau in 1905, forbidding the importation and exportation of cigarettes, but we must help China to cioulate Japan in protecting the oung against cigarettes and all its ceople against the opium vice. But even Japan is in peril from the adoption of the American "beer hall," the most foolish of all its imitations of the white race. First of all nations in its Prohibition of tobacco for all students, even in the universities, and for all persons under twenty; first also in absolute Prohibition for all ages of the vicious use of opium -the consumption of which increased in the United States fourfold from 1890 to 1900-Japan has adopted the American "beer hall," that has proved in our land the headquarters of anarchy and robbery as well as of intemperance, gambling and impurity. We must, if possible, save Japan from losing in the increased use of alcoholics all she has supplies at lowest prices. Call gained by her wise prohibitions of narcotles

> These battles for China and Japan are closely related to a world crusade for a universal treaty of all civilized 'nations, including China and Japan, to protect all uncivilized naions against the white man's rum and oplum, in the name of conscience and of commerce. Refuses to Take Liquor Men. The Vega Society, which is the leading Swedish organization in New Britain, has taken an important step. It has changed its regulations so that in the future it will not admit to membership any one in the liquor business. This means bartenders and other employes as well as saloonkeepers. The reason for the action is that the society, which is a sick organization, has been put to a heavy burden by members who have been in the liquor business and have broken down in health. It has necessitated a constant drain on the treasury to pay them benefits .- Hartford Courant.

When in Auburn

During the fall and winter Carl Bradford obtained his spending money by making himself generally useful, an hour each night and morning to his uncle's firm. Their "fillup chinks" man had been Carl's designation of himself, and now he was known to all the clerks in the establistment as "F. C."

A bright morning in early winter as Carl was about to leave, his uncle called him into the office.

"I wish on your way home. Carl you'd call at the freight office and pay this bill. It's twelve dollars." handing him a twenty-dollar note "You may bring the change back after school."

"Yes, sir;" and Carl took the money and went whistling on his errand

After he had paid the bill Carl took the change that was handed him -he remembered afterward that it consisted of one note and the rest in coin-and slipped it in his vest pocket.

"I won't be so liable to lose in there," he thought.

It didn't again enter his mind until his uncle asked him in the evening if he had taken a receipt ..

"Oh, yes; and the change-I'd fornotten all about it! Here it is," and Carl handed the receipt and money to his uncle just as he had received them at the feight office.

"Why, this isn't all," said Mr. Bradford, slowly counting the amount the second time. "The recelpt's all right, but the changethere's only three dollars hereone dollar bill, two halves, and four uarters."

"It's just as I took it," declared Carl positively.

'Did you count it before you put It in your pocket?"

"No-o; 1-I didn't think. I supposed 'twould be all right," colordig.

"But it isn't Carl; it's five dollars short!

"It ought to be there," and Carl pmotied all his pockets, and then went through them again, "I-I didn't take it!"

"Of course you didn't, my boy; no Bradford would do such a thing as that! "I was a mistake made at the freight office owing to"-

"My not counting it when 'twas given me," interrupted Carl dismalty

"Perhaps if you go over early in the morning by their looking over their accounts they may be able to rectify it, though it's doubtful. They're closed now."

But, when Carl went over on his way down town, they insisted they had given him the right change the day before, and, bitterly disappoint-#d, Carl reported to his uncle,

"]--- I'll pay it," faltered Carl, "out of my earnings. 'Twill take ter weeks, but by going without every thing else I can do it."

"It's business, my boy," declare-

Mutual Forebearance.

A much neglected little duty is the duty of mutual forebearance, which in the observance or in the breach. none has more to do with the happiness or unhappiness of life. In our hurried lives we are constantly jostling against each other, we are bustled out not only of the little courtesies that sweeten out lives, but oft-times of the common decendes, the lack of which does so sadden and sour life. Our interests, therefore, with those of others and in the pushing of our plans, the enthusiasm of our efforts and the promotion of our self-interests we are apt to say and do things which injure others.

Antiseptics,

About 1860 Dr. Lister, while studying the experimental researches of Pasteur, came to the conclusion that the evils observed in open wounds were due to the admission into them of organisms which exist in the air. in water, on instruments, on sponges. and on the hands of the surgeon These organisms, he concuded, finding a suitable opportunity for their growth in the discharges and surrounding tissue, germinate in them. and thus give rise to septicaemia. After much study he settled upon carbolic acid as the remedy for the difficulty.

Perils in London.

To elderly people London is --longer a pleasant place of residence. The streets have become a labyrinth of horror and difficulty, a region of hideous sounds and foul smells. With motor houses toppling over on the sidewalks, and private motors knock. ing down lampposts and impinging on the shelters, the unfortunate c' zen knows not whither to wend his trembling steps.

Headache and Cold Feet.

Often it is found that a chronic sufferer from headache often com plains of cold feet. This shows bad circulation and it should be strengthened. A simple and helpful remedy is to bathe the feet in cold water night and morning and rulbriskly with a fresh brush or Turk ish towel.

Perhaps the hardest of all is the the glass for forty-five minutes try-"don't you think this is too full or too narrow, too far or too near, too high or too low"-and you pin and unpin until your knees tremble an the foundations of your stomach col

On one occasion I served at a beau tiful house where I spent the night and was put into a bed with soile sheets. Imagine, if you can, th feelings of a fastidious woman urder those circumstances, or whe given solled napkins or towels. Another person who tries the heart of a seamstress to exasperatio is the one who fairly counts the pins and needles.

One of these once asked me what would charge for making an unlined plais silk waist for a nurse in our family." I said "One dollar." La' er she brought me silk for a waist that was far from plain, and when charged her $1.25, she grew pair with anger and slammed $1.18 of the table saying, "that is all I have of a weekly. with me." Also it was all I ever reto get a pattern for a garment that had given great satisfaction. I of fered to give it to her but was tol coolly. "the person who wishes it able to pay or it," and after much preamble she paid me 10 cents.

For myself I care little. I have many interests in life outside, but what of the dear women who have no homes?

To the woman choosing sewing as an occupation, I should say "Don't." but if you will, then take a blithe, happy heart with you, do your level best, expect nothing but your money from those you work for, and never under any circumstances "talk." A seamstress who talks about herself or others, will never be a success.

Washing New Flannels.

To prevent new flannels from shrinking soak them in lukewarm water and salt over night, using about a handful of salt for one set of new underwear. This will remove the dressing from the new flannels and prevent shrinking. Was', next morning in lukewarm, soapy water, but do not rub soap on the flannels. Rinse well, This metho should be observed for washing Scotch and French flannel waistand in fact, for all fiannel the first time it is washed.

French medical authorities point out that the gradual diminution of the size and height of the French conscripts is owing to the use of alcoholic drinks. The army standard has had to be reduced twice on this account. The physical deterioration of the German army, as compared with what it was thirty years ago, has excited the alarm of the Emperor. Dangerous Drunken Men.

In 1902 there were 16,000 policemen in London, and 3,000 of them were injured in the course of their work. What Alcohol Produces.

Dr. Brewer, of the St. Vincent institution in St. Louis, says: "It can be asserted with great certainty that the boy who commenced to use cigarettes at ten will drink beer and whisky at fourten, take morphia at twenty-five, and spend the rest of his lifetime alternating between cocain, spirits and opium."

The Government of Honduras has prohibited the importation of whisky, rum and anisado in barrels, casks or demijohns.
