He Knew Him.
Uncle William, who wasn't especially noted for his generosity, was accosted in the village postoffice by his shrewd little nephew namesake, who blazes the Baltimore News.
"Say, uncle, this is my birthday, can't you give five cents?"
Conscious of the amused gaze of the onlookers, Uncle William slowly reached into his pocket, saying: "I did have a nickel, but," withdrawing his hand, "I guess I haven't it now."
"Oh, look again, uncle," said little Willie, "if you had one, you must have it yet!"

HOW TO GET STRENGTH
After any sickness is purely a matter of nourishment, whether the attack was an ordinary cold or severe illness; the weakened forces cannot repulse disease germs, and this is why a relapse is so often fatal or why chronic weakness often follows sickness.
Restoring strength to millions of people for forty years has proven the real need taking Scott's Emulsion after any illness; nothing equals it—nothing compares with it. Its pure, medicinal emulsion, free from alcohol or opiates, promptly creates rich blood, strengthens nerves and lungs to avert tuberculosis.

Go to Church and Get Acquainted With Your Clergyman; He's Not a Bad Sort

"I CAN'T be a hypocrite," was the ready excuse of one man when asked why he didn't attend church. "I know that I am not righteous and that I cannot practice what the church preaches."

There is hope for this man. He is the kind the church wants. If he is not righteous he is not happy. Let him acquire the habit of GOING TO CHURCH and he will get a broader, better and happier view of life.

We cannot all be saints. But surely a man can forget the temptations of the world for one hour or one day each week. At least for the hour or so that he is in church he can really think over the big things in life. Let him listen to the word of God and do his best. Of course there are some persons in every community who will criticize as freely the man who GOES TO CHURCH as the man who stays away.

NO MAN WHO GOES TO CHURCH CAN BE A HYPOCRITE LONG. DEEP DOWN IN HIS HEART HE KNOWS THAT HE CANNOT SELL GOD A GOLD BRICK. IF ORIGINALLY HE GOES TO CHURCH SOLELY TO MAKE A GOOD IMPRESSION WITH HIS NEIGHBORS—AND THIS IS TO BE ENCOURAGED—EVENTUALLY HE WILL FIND THAT HE IS GRADUALLY BEING LED TO THE RIGHT SORT OF LIFE. IT IS EASY TO ACQUIRE THE GO TO CHURCH HABIT. TRY IT ONE SUNDAY. WHEN ANOTHER SABBATH ROLLS AROUND YOU'LL FEEL A PANG OF REMORSE IF YOU DON'T GO AGAIN. GET ACQUAINTED WITH YOUR CLERGYMAN. YOU'LL FIND THAT HE IS NOT A BAD SORT. TALK TO HIM. IF YOU HAVE ANY CRITICISM OF THE CHURCH OR ITS METHODS, DON'T TALK ABOUT IT ON THE OUTSIDE, BUT TELL HIM. HE'LL MEET YOU HALFWAY. NONE REALIZES MORE THAN HE HOW HARD IT IS TO WORK UP AN INTEREST IN RELIGIOUS AFFAIRS AMONG SOME PEOPLE.

But give him and his church a chance. GO TO CHURCH once! Then go again!

ISOLATION AND QUARANTINE

SOME people fear to have disease reported because they think it is going to put them to great inconvenience and interfere with the life of the whole family. THIS IS NOT THE CASE TODAY. The old idea of controlling disease was QUARANTINE, shutting up a whole household or a whole city or a whole country away from the rest of the world. The word comes from an Italian word that meant "forty days," because when ships in the middle ages came from plague infected ports they were held up for that long period of time to make sure that no one on board would develop plague. We sometimes quarantine today against plague and other rare and terrible diseases, though not for forty days. In most diseases, however, we use A FAR MORE EFFECTIVE AND FAR MORE HUMANE PROCESS, ISOLATION.

Isolation is the care of the individual patient so that he will not be a danger to the rest of his family any more than to the world outside.

When no one knew how disease was caused and thought it might spread like smoke through the air of a dwelling there was nothing to do but to cut the whole household off from any contact with the outside world and perhaps station a man with a gun before the door to see that no one left it (shotgun quarantine). Today, however, we know that the DISEASE GERMS ARE LITTLE LIVING PLANTS which do not fly through the air (except when coughed or sneezed out) AND THAT THEY ARE TRANSFERRED FROM PERSON TO PERSON BY DIRECT OR INDIRECT CONTACT. IF YOU CAN MAKE SURE THAT EXCRETA OR DISCHARGES FROM THE NOSE AND THROAT OF THE SICK PERSON ARE NOT CARRIED BY FINGERS OR HANDKERCHIEFS OR GLASSES OR SPOONS OR ANY OTHER OBJECTS FROM ONE PERSON TO ANOTHER, DISEASE WILL NOT SPREAD, EVEN TO OTHER PEOPLE IN THE SAME HOUSE, AND THESE OTHER PEOPLE NEED NOT THEMSELVES BE QUARANTINED.

If isolation is properly carried out grown people in the family who keep away from any contact with the patient or his secretions or excretions may continue any of their usual activities which do not bring them into close contact with children unless specially forbidden by the health officer and unless they are unvaccinated persons exposed to smallpox.

It is the careless association of sick people with others which spreads disease and causes untold suffering. The sanitary code forbids attendance at day or Sunday schools, public or private, of persons affected with diseases which are presumably communicable and of children who are inmates of households where such diseases have existed within fifteen days EXCEPT BY PERMISSION OF THE LOCAL HEALTH AUTHORITIES. It forbids the association of children and other persons suffering from diphtheria, measles, scarlet fever, smallpox, typhus fever and whooping cough with any well persons other than their special attendants.

Prompt compliance with these regulations is only an elementary application of the Golden Rule. EVERY GREAT EPIDEMIC BEGAN AS A LITTLE GROUP OF TWO OR THREE CASES. IF THEY HAD BEEN PROPERLY CARED FOR THERE WOULD HAVE BEEN NO EPIDEMIC.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

THE RISING TIDE IN GERMANY.
"The new knowledge about alcohol will bring about as weighty changes as any since the revival of learning." So says Dr. Bresler, editor of a leading German medical review. "You may search the ordinary newspaper in vain," he goes on, "for news about the incoming tide of change. Yet it is steadily rising. Five thousand Germans have petitioned the reichstag for a local option law—not as an escape from temperance, but rather as a step in that direction."

Speaking of the growing anti-alcohol sentiment in other-European countries, he concludes:

"These movements indicate a revolutionary turn of opinion which has in it the promise of the final suppression of the permitted sale of intoxicating—that is, poisonous drink."

This "new knowledge" in Germany, as elsewhere, is largely the result of investigation undertaken primarily with a view to self-preservation. Employers' liability laws have brought about inquiry as to the causes of accident and sickness among workmen. This, together with the reports of insurance companies, has shown the perils of the drink habit and aroused thinking people of Germany from the emperor down.

There are times when it is impossible for farmer to haul his products to market.

The people who groan under the high cost of living and wonder why necessities of life like potatoes and cabbages and turnips and apples should be rotting on the farms when they would bring high prices in the cities do not realize the condition of the country roads.

When roads are bad farmers experience difficulty in getting their produce to market. When roads are very bad there are states of the weather in which the hauling of heavy wagon loads from farms to railway stations becomes impossible.

The farmer would like to sell what he grows. The city dweller would like to buy it. Both have an interest in the building and maintenance of good roads, providing at all seasons of the year available highways between the cities and the farms.

Sometimes roads that would be in fair condition for teaming are cut up by reckless automobilists. The wanton destruction of highways by auto scorches should not be permitted.

Automobile owners as a class have done much to improve some of the roads, but on the whole western roads are a disgrace. There must be aroused public sentiment in favor of good roads. There will be when it is realized that good country roads are a benefit to all classes of the community.

COST OF REPAIRING WAGONS

Farmers' Profits Are Greatly Decreased in Various Ways by Neglected Thoroughfares.

How much do you suppose it costs you a year to repair your wagons and harness on account of bad roads? How much does it cost you a year for shoes and clothing that are ruined by your children wading through the mud to school? How much does it cost you a year for medicine to cure your children's colds contracted in wading through the mud to school and church? How much of a damage a year to you is the mud that prevents your children from attending school; or damage to them, rather in the loss of an education? How much damage to you are our bad roads in preventing your going to market? You are perfectly willing to spend money in the buying of reapers and mowers and other farm machinery. You are willing to purchase carriages and harness. At the price potatoes are today, one load would be the average farmer's tax for ten years for good roads. At the end of that time the

LIFE AND DEATH STRUGGLE.

"Civilization," says Mr. Abraham Flexner, "has stripped for a life and death wrestle with tuberculosis, alcohol and other plagues. It is on the verge of a similar struggle with the crasser forms of commercialized vice. Sooner or later it must fling down the gauntlet to the whole horrible thing. That will be the real contest—a contest that will tax the courage, the self-denial, the faith, the resources of humanity to their utmost."

LIQUOR RESPONSIBLE.

The chief of police of Columbus, Ohio, stated recently that during the previous six months 3,513 men applied for a place to sleep at the city prison and the most noticeable thing about this large number of homeless men was that 75 per cent of them "could give you a second-hand drink if you would simply smell their breath."

CAUSE OF RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.

The congress of alienists and neurologists which met in Chicago, declared by resolution that a great portion of railroad accidents could be traced to the use of alcohol by employees, and urged on all railroads the policy of total abstinence.

DIMINISHES FIGHTING POWER.

Alcohol diminishes the fighting power of the workman, which is in the brain, for alcohol is a brain poison," says Mr. Philip Snowden, M. P. Labor recognizes this fact with growing clearness.

CHILDREN WIN BIG SUIT.

Liquor dealers in North Chicago sold liquor to one Hogstrom, a Swede, until his home was neglected, children starving and his wife a lunatic. Suit was brought in behalf of the children, and the jury, moved at the sight of these in court, gave a verdict in the sum of $5,000, which the dealers will have to pay.

"SOAK HIM, COLONEL, SOAK HIM!"

—From the New York World.

THE REASON WHY

THE cartoon in this column, which is reprinted from the New York World, is a graphic portrayal of the role Colonel Roosevelt has chosen to assume in the present campaign—the role of Tammany Boss Murphy's strong arm man.

By endeavoring to throttle the ablest Republican candidate for the gubernatorial nomination Colonel Roosevelt has placed himself in a most unenviable position. Not only has he assumed the role of a Tammany ally, but by his vicious attack upon Charles S. Whitman the Colonel has unmasked himself.

The motives underlying Colonel Roosevelt's endeavor to choke off Mr. Whitman are so clear that they are apparent to every one. The year 1916 is close by.

Colonel Roosevelt's ambition is known alike to friend and foe—his ambition to re-enter the White House on the crest of a wave of revulsion against the shortcomings of the Wilson administration. The Colonel's ambition would be seriously menaced by the election this fall of a Republican governor who would not be subservient to him. This fact is apparent to any one, no matter how dim his political sight may be. It is especially clear to Colonel Roosevelt, who all through his political life has had his ear constantly to the ground and his eyes trained on the political horizon.

There is abundant proof that Mr. Roosevelt can not handle Whitman; hence the Colonel's attack, which the New York Tribune so aptly describes in these words: "Colonel Roosevelt's continued efforts to stamp District Attorney Whitman as a pro-boss, pro-Barnes Republican are pitiable, if he is deceived as to facts; despicable, if he is not."

So much for the motive which has inspired Colonel Roosevelt to attack Mr. Whitman, a man whose public record is spotless, whose integrity is unquestionable, whose ability has never been doubted, and whose qualifications to fulfill the duties of higher office are patent to every one.

And now a word as to the other role Colonel Roosevelt has assumed—the role of Murphy's strong arm man. Should the Colonel, through his fear of a rival in 1916, succeed in defeating Mr. Whitman and electing a Tammany candidate as governor he can not evade the responsibility. He will be held accountable for the continuation in power of a boss against whose rule he rails—Boss Murphy.

There is nothing that could so effectively play into Boss Murphy's hands as a split in the Republican party—a split which Colonel Roosevelt is so ardently endeavoring to create by his advocacy of Harvey D. Hinman as the Progressives' choice for governor. The Colonel has cajoled Mr. Hinman into believing that he (Hinman) can carry not only the Progressive primaries, but by so doing can call to his support a majority of Republican voters. Mr. Hinman has listened to the siren voice of the bull moose.

Mr. Whitman has announced publicly that no man is his boss; that neither Mr. Barnes nor Mr. Murphy nor Colonel Roosevelt can dictate to him. Mr. Whitman's record during the past twelve years lends a sincerity to his words which can not be doubted. He has refused to be bossed by Colonel Roosevelt just as he has refused to be bossed by Mr. Barnes or Mr. Murphy. And in braving the Colonel's ire Mr. Whitman has demonstrated a fearlessness which is characteristic of the man.

Those who study the cartoon at the head of this column can well imagine a relief squad on its way around the corner—a relief squad composed of the voting public of New York state—which will rescue Mr. Whitman from Boss Murphy's strong arm man.

A SIGNIFICANT POLL.

The Hudson Republican has given out the following figures in a Republican gubernatorial poll now being taken, showing Whitman to be far in the lead in that city:

TOTAL TO DATE.
Republican	Men	Women	Total
Whitman	241	180	421
Hinman	35	20	55
Hedges	28	11	39
Total	305	211	516

WHAT THE EDITORS THINK OF WHITMAN

There is no longer any mystery about the River of Doubt. It rises at Oyster Bay, and that is where the wind comes from.

Not content with exercising his own particular prerogative of dictating the affairs of the political party of which he is sole proprietor, the Colonel is endeavoring to fill the role of dictator for the Republican and Democratic parties also.

It looks very much as if he will not be able to get very far with this. Certainly his effort to make Mr. Whitman's nomination by the Republicans impossible seems to have proved a boomerang.

Mr. Whitman has not been at all injured by the "broadside" the Colonel aimed at him, but we violate no confidence in saying that not only the youthful busybody Duell, who was a figure in the transaction, but the Colonel himself, has not come out of the affair unscathed.—New York Herald.

Young Mr. Duell's statement unconsciously bore out a plausible and thoroughly human theory of his relations with Mr. Whitman which sensible people had already framed. The aspiring youth was a little too much impressed with his own importance. He had had a great thought. For him it had been reserved to bring about a union between Republicans and Progressives.

Fired by this ambition, he flew back and forth between Oyster Bay and the district attorney's office, thinking up a new brilliant scheme every day. All candidates are infected by this kind of political busybody. Obviously the whole thing meant a great deal more to Duell than it did to Whitman. The latter was admittedly desirous of obtaining Progressive support and thought there was no harm in letting Duell buzz away at the business. He seems to have been too sweeping in his later repudiation of Duell, but his surprise was natural in finding that the dallying of the young man about him had been erected into a great political issue. It hardly seems to go to the vitals of the governorship question.—New York Evening Post.

The fact that Mr. Whitman has for nearly five years filled the office of district attorney of New York county without swerving a hair's breadth from the line of duty, does not count for a moment with Mr. Roosevelt.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Charles S. Whitman is the logical candidate of all parties and factions who are opposed to Tammany Hall and Democratic misrule.—Herklimer Citizen.

The Watertown Herald, an independent paper, believes that the effect of the recent Whitman-Roosevelt controversy will be entirely favorable to the gubernatorial candidacy of the former. It says:

"Whitman sentiment locally is just as strong among Republican leaders as it was before Roosevelt began his plan to eliminate the New York district attorney from the field of possible Progressive nominees. Local Republicans believe that Whitman has occupied so prominent a place in the state that he would make a winning candidate for governor even with both Democratic and Progressive sentiment against him."

No Pockets for Women.

The New York Tribune gives the following reasons why they oppose pockets for women:

1. Because pockets are not a natural right.
2. Because the great majority of women do not want pockets. If they did, they would have them.
3. Because whenever women have had pockets they have not used them.
4. Because women are expected to carry enough things as it is without the additional burden of pockets.
5. Because it would make dissension between husband and wife as to whose pockets were to be filled.
6. Because it would destroy man's chivalry toward woman if he did not have to carry all her things in his pockets.
7. Because men are men and women are women. We must not fly in the face of nature.
8. Because pockets have been used by men to carry tobacco, pipes, whisky flasks, chewing gum, and compromising letters. We see no reason to suppose that women would use them more wisely.

Stuckle Pitched.

The fact that the Genoa team has two very fast speed artists was fully demonstrated to the large crowd that witnessed an excellent exhibition of baseball on the local grounds last Saturday when the third game of the series between the Midnight Sons and Genoa was played.

Many fans had expressed a desire to see Stickle do a little of his old time twirling and he was picked to do the stunt that sent the Midnight down to defeat—Genoa winning two out of the series of three games.

The effective pitching by Stickle and the bunching of hits by the Genoa boys in the first and sixth innings won the game.

Every Saturday afternoon sees a larger attendance at the Genoa game and it is believed that some record crowds will witness the remaining games of the season, which include Groton, Onondaga Indians, Interlaken and Syracuse A. O. U.

Horses are Coming Back.

Dobbin can shake the hayseed from his mane, eat more oats and slick up on sunflower seed and eggs and prepare to come back. W. J. McKinty, a buyer for one of the largest firms in New York City, dealers in horses, says that carriage, park fancy cobs and driving horses are being inquired for and that it appears that horses for pleasure use, after being sidetracked for five years, will soon be seen again in the parks and boulevards of the big cities.

Mr. McKinty's explanation of the return to pleasures horses is: "The motor car has about reached its limit in possibility of cost, elegance and luxury. It is an inanimate thing, offensive in its scent, nerve racking in its performance, and is failing to attract the attention it once did. Horses are animate, they appeal to human beings accordingly. An elegant park turnout will attract comment and attention now where a dozen machines of the latest make will not cause a second glance. It is craving for something nearly human that will make pleasure horses possible again."

Local dealers say that it will be extremely hard to find fancy driving horses if any important demand should develop. In the last six or seven years practically nothing but heavy horses and mules have been bred in the United States and even the United States government has difficulty in obtaining good riding horses for cavalry use. Draft and heavy work horses have been in active demand for several years and prices now are higher than they were a decade ago.—Kansas City Star.

Funeral of Mrs. Mosher.

The funeral of Mrs. W. R. Mosher was held at her late home in Genoa on Friday afternoon last and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. L. W. Scott, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiated, reading appropriate selections from the Scriptures and speaking words of comfort. Mrs. Robt. Mastin, Miss Ida Mastin and Chas. J. Foster sang three hymns—"Lead Kindly Light," "Beyond the Smiling and the Weeping" and "God Be with You." There were a number of beautiful floral pieces, besides cut flowers, given by relatives and friends, and a wreath from Genoa Star lodge. The bearers were members of the lodge, Messrs. A. L. Loomis, Sidney Smith, A. E. Peck and Bert Gray. The remains were taken to Moravia for interment in Indian Mound cemetery.

Among those present at the funeral from out of town were Mrs. M. Haakell, Chas. Lane and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mosher and family of Moravia, Mr. and Mrs. John Lane of Groton, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Coon, Mrs. Mary Jones and Fred Coon of East Genoa, Mr. and Mrs. Fay Teeter of East Venice.

Card of Thanks.

I desire to thank all my friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted me in many ways during my recent bereavement; those who furnished flowers, the Rev. The deceased is survived by one daughter, Mrs. William H. Shaw of Moravia, a half sister, Mrs. Byron Hyde of Rochester and a half-brother, Joseph White of Chicago. The funeral services will be held at the late home to-day (Friday) at 2 o'clock, Rev. W. S. Stevens, rector of St. Matthews church, officiating. Interment will be made in East Venice cemetery.

FIRE AND POLICE ALARM SYSTEMS

German Cities Have Excellent Methods.

DAMAGE THROUGH FIRES.

Such Losses in the United States Are Far in Excess of Those Abroad. Failure to Take Ordinary Precautions and Construction to Blame.

For purposes of fire and police protection the German cities have an elaborate and well organized signaling system. Fire alarm boxes are placed in conspicuous positions on ornamental posts, which carry some fifteen feet above the sidewalk large red globes, which, being constantly lighted, serve to indicate the locations of the boxes.

The police alarm system, which is excellently worked out, employs as one of its principal features a signaling light similar to the fire alarm light except that it is green in color instead of red.

For police alarm purposes the city is divided into beats, each provided with several of the green signal lamps and alarm boxes.

Householders are provided with keys to the alarm boxes, and when a policeman is required the citizen unlocks the alarm box, which causes all the green lights on the beat to show. At the same time the citizen talks to the central station over the telephone in the box and leaves the information as to where the policeman is wanted. The policeman on seeing a green light burning immediately goes to the box and gets his instructions, though should he report to the box from which the citizen is calling, he, of course, gets the information at first hand.

The system is also utilized whenever the central station has any instructions to convey to the police on duty.

A GERMAN FIRE ALARM BOX.

and it may readily be utilized to collect a large force of men on short notice at any desired point.

It serves in addition to keep tabs on the policeman on duty, while the officer himself can in the same manner summon assistance when necessary.

In addition to the lighting of the green light, a bell is also rung, which is of special use during the day or when the officer is within hearing distance, but does not have his eye on the green light, for the ear is always on guard, although the eye may be otherwise employed.

The citizen's key cannot be withdrawn from the box after he uses it until an inner lock of the box is opened by the policeman. As the keys are numbered any misuse of them is readily detected and properly punished and the key forfeited.

One of the advantages of the system is that a smaller number of police can be employed and quicker service secured.

The same methods are applied to the fire alarm signaling, as by means of the telephone the fire department can be informed of the exact location of the fire and thus be saved valuable time in first going to the fire alarm box and then having to hunt further for the fire.

The great extent of the fire losses throughout this country is rarely understood by the public. Yet in the failure to take ordinary precautions against fire and in carelessness and faulty construction losses amounting to $750,000 a day are incurred throughout the country.

The yearly losses, according to the records kept by the New York Journal of Commerce, for the United States have been in sixteen years as follows:

1912.....	$25,320,000	1904.....	$52,684,063
1911.....	24,287,250	1903.....	56,116,790

Probably You Believe Your Eyes Are Right

For your sake we trust they are. In many cases one has defective eyesight from birth and does not realize that the deficiencies exist. There are so many symptoms of eyestrain, it is impractical to even attempt to mention all of them.

Usually the sufferer does not complain of poor vision but suffers from distressing headaches and nerve troubles of various kinds, all of which are from the eyes.

Mr. Driscoll received a cut over his eye and other injuries, though not serious, and the carriage and harness were damaged. The horse ran as far as the Dingy place where it was caught. The windshield of the car was broken all to pieces. Taken altogether it was a fortunate escape for all parties.

COMBATING HOG CHOLERA.

Campaign Against the Scourge Conducted in Several States.

The department of agriculture during the past year has been conducting campaigns in Indiana, Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska to control the contagious disease of hogs known as "hog cholera" by means of anti-hog cholera serum and farm quarantine. In one county (Pettis county, Mo.), where there was a loss of 18 per cent in 1911 and 25.6 per cent in 1912 of all hogs raised, there was only a loss of 14.7 per cent up to November, 1913. This decrease was due to the use of the serum, which, although not used there by the department's agents until August, 1913, materially reduced the loss. About 60,000 hogs were raised during the past year, and of the 10,000 that died of the hog cholera only about 1,000 were lost after the active use of serum and quarantine measures were inaugurated.

In every county where these measures were employed, even though begun after the disease had continued its ravages for some time, there was less loss from hog cholera than in either of the two preceding years.

In addition to its great function as a preventive, it has been found that the anti-hog cholera serum would cure a large proportion of hogs in the early stages of the disease and render them immune after recovery. However, if hogs are not treated by this serum from 75 to 100 per cent of all affected herds die. This serum, so far as is known, is the only thing that will prevent the disease.

Of hogs actually sick when treated, the department's inspectors lost but 25 per cent during last summer. Of well hogs in diseased herds 2.8 per cent died after being treated, and of hogs in exposed herds less than 1 per cent died after being inoculated with the serum. In an infected herd there is always a certain proportion of hogs that are well.

The inspector examines the hogs when he arrives, takes the temperature of all hogs in the herd and separates the sick from the well. The temperature is an indication of the sickness. The temperature of a sick hog, unless the hog is near death, will run above 104 degrees and sometimes as high as 107 or 108 degrees F.

The department in initiating its campaign against the devastating hog disease has only been able to commence in a few of the districts where the cholera was the most widespread and where the active co-operation of the state was offered in enforcing the ordinary quarantine measures, etc.

The object of the department has been to endeavor to control the disease and if possible to eliminate it from the country. To secure this end the best efforts of the farmer himself are necessary. The campaign against this devastating sickness during 1913 was planned in the territory selected along three lines.

First.—The education and organization of the farmers in the districts selected, to be carried out primarily by the state college.

Second.—The enforcement of sanitation and restrictive regulations by the state veterinarian.

Third.—Active supervision by the bureau of animal industry of the department and the inoculation of diseased herds and exposed herds with the anti-hog cholera serum.

Hog cholera is caused by a germ that exists in the blood. It is an organism apparently so small that the most powerful microscopes do not show it. However, it is easy to demonstrate its presence by inoculating a small part of the blood from a sick hog into a well one, which produces the hog cholera.

Hog cholera is a disease which seems to be stopped to a degree by the frosts of winter, although frost cannot be said to stop a case after it has taken hold of its victim. However, it seems to prevent the rapid spread of the disease. The result is that in the spring-time the affection is as a rule at its lowest ebb, but increases rapidly from that time until fall.

Varnish Trees Free.

At the government experimental station, Chico, Cal., are 30,000 seedlings of the Chinese wood oil tree, ready for distribution to farmers and others who are willing to experiment with this tree, the fruit of which produces tung oil, one of the most valuable of the so called "drying oils" used in making fine varnishes.

More than 5,000,000 gallons of tung oil, worth between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000, are imported into the United States every year. The trees can be grown on poor soil almost anywhere that the temperature does not drop far below freezing. They begin to yield at five or six years of age, and it is estimated that a profit of $10 an acre can be made out of them.

BETWEEN FURROWS.

In our efforts to interest the boys and girls in useful occupations there is the danger of checking their enthusiasm—one of the greatest assets of childhood. No tasks disguised as play should be forced upon the youngsters, but properly directed play, coupled with considerable freedom, can be made to serve useful ends. Thousands of children of poor families in the cotton and tobacco regions feel little enthusiasm for growing things because they have been reared to dread the tasks of the field.

Child labor under hard taskmasters, whether they be parents or padrones, is no more justifiable on the farm than in the cities, and while the little toilers may suffer less in the open it is their right to have the freedom of childhood. If their labors are voluntary there can be little objection.

Abject poverty is seldom found in the country. Rural slums are rare. Even the most improvident can get at least shelter and food for subsistence. For those who are content with a bare living few lands are too poor, and it is only the poorer lands that are left for those of limited ambitions. The better man strives for the better land and usually gets it. The regions of richest land ultimately become the regions of the best farmers.—Country Gentleman.

ALFALFA SOIL TREATMENT.

How Sour Soils Should Be Inoculated and Prepared.

By J. G. HUTTON,

Assistant agronomist, State college, South Dakota.

In order to grow alfalfa it must be supplied with bacteria of the proper kind. These bacteria form nodules on the alfalfa roots and have the power of taking nitrogen from the air and combining it in such a way that plants may use it.

Where alfalfa or sweet clover has never grown it may be necessary to supply the bacteria artificially. The easiest way to do this is to scatter the soil from a well established alfalfa field over the land to be seeded.

In securing the soil for inoculation purposes the top two inches of soil should be removed and the soil taken from the next six inches.

The soil should not be allowed to dry in the sunlight or be exposed to it, as the strong sunlight kills the bacteria. Inoculate the field just before seeding, sowing the soil broadcast by hand, and follow immediately with a harrow to prevent injury to the bacteria by the sunlight. Some kinds of drills may also be used for sowing the inoculating soil.

For inoculation from 200 pounds to 500 pounds of soil per acre are recommended, though more may be used if available.

There is, of course, a chance of getting weed pests in the soil used for inoculating purposes, and for this reason soil should not be used from farms where quack grass, dodder or other pests are known to exist. Soil should not be used for fields in which the alfalfa is not healthy, as some of the alfalfa diseases may be transmitted to the new fields.

The soil in which sweet clover grows may be used for inoculating purposes just as well as that from alfalfa fields and should be treated as directed for soil from alfalfa fields.

Cultures of bacteria for inoculating purposes are sold by certain companies. While the South Dakota experiment station has not investigated the efficiency of this method, the recommendation of other experiment stations is that it is still in an experimental stage and should be considered accordingly. "Inoculation with soil from a well established alfalfa field gave uniformly better results than were secured by the use of liquid cultures." (Nebraska Experiment Station).

Alfalfa will not grow on sour soils. Sour soils may be sweetened by applying ground limestone. If you are in doubt as to whether or not your soil is sour fill a pint jar with it and send it to the agronomy department of your state agricultural college and it will tell you if it needs limestone and how much it needs.

NOTES ON BEES.

The honey extractor saves the bees much time in comb building, and thus the beekeeper can secure more honey.

Improve your bees by always rearing queens and increasing from colonies that have gathered the most honey.

Almost any one can make a beehive, but the best ones are factory made, and may be had from any reliable supply house.

If possible, keep the bees from casting more than one swarm, and you are certain, in a normal season, to get a nice surplus of honey.

Be careful about the kind of bees you keep. The common East Indian honeybee rarely produces more than ten to twelve pounds to a hive, while the Cyprian bee, which is a very industrious worker, has a record of 1,000 in one season from a single colony. This bee, being industrious when honey material is plentiful, is very persevering when such material is difficult to find. These Cyprians have two other very desirable qualities. They stand the cold of winter well and stoutly defend their hives against robber bees and other enemies.

BRIDGES AND APPROACHES

Modern Structures Neither Durable Nor Artistic.

ANCIENTS BUILT WELL.

To Achieve the Proper Result the Engineer Should Co-operate With the Architect in the Design of the Bridge and its Approaches.

By FRANK KOESTER.

(Consulting civil engineer Hudson Terminal building, New York, and author of "Modern City Planning and Maintenance.")

Of all the structures erected the bridge is possessed of the greatest individuality, unity and feeling. It is at once an inspiration and a utility, and it marks as no other structure does the progress of man from barbarism to civilization. It is one of his greatest triumphs over nature's obstacles, for it is not only an evidence of his ability to merely construct—that is, to place one stone upon another—but of his ability to think and so to utilize the forces of nature as to cause one stone to stand upon another with nothing directly beneath.

A building can never produce the sense of unity of the bridge and thus can never inspire as the bridge does, because, while portions of a building may be eliminated and still leave it a building, the elimination of a portion of a bridge means its destruction for the purposes for which it is erected.

The bridge occupies thus a unique position among the structures of man, approached only by the dam, to which, however, it is far superior, since the dam always lacks in the sense of self evident security which the bridge imparts.

Not only is the bridge unique in its position among structures, but it is the largest single structure erected by man and the most costly. It is also highly important in point of numbers.

BRIDGE OVER THE SEINE IN PARIS.

and in the investment involved. There are, for example, some 80,000 metal bridges in the United States, or one for every three miles of railroad, and they aggregate 1,400 miles in length, representing an investment of $800,000,000, or several times the cost of the Panama canal. The subject of bridges is therefore one which demands the most careful attention of all who have to deal with it. It is not a subject which should be reserved to the officials and engineers in charge, but is one in which the public should take an active and decisive interest. When a bridge of any consequence is to be erected the designs should be open to public inspection and all objections and suggestions should be dealt with in advance.

The pleasing psychological and aesthetic effect of bridges has been recognized since the earliest times, but great bridges are a result of modern invention, being dependent upon the cheap production of steel for their evolution, since stone bridges have never been constructed in anything like the great spans of the modern steel bridges. The railroad, too, has greatly increased the necessity for bridges, so that except for the comparatively small stone bridges of an ancient and medieval times, the principles of which were early mastered bridge building is a modern science.

The success achieved has been little less than stupendous in a material and engineering sense, for enormous structures have been erected which meet the demands of traffic and the various conditions which were presented.

In two respects, however, the modern bridge is for the most part a great failure. It is neither artistic nor will it have the long life of the ancient bridges. The Romans 2,000 years ago built bridges which are in use today, but no modern metal bridge, even with the most careful attention, can be expected to last even a small part of such a period. Even if protected from the action of the elements, the steel which might then be reasonably expected to last indefinitely will be subject to crystallization from the effects of vibration. Thus all our steel bridges are temporary structures. This, however, will in the most cases prove a matter of congratulation, as when they pass away they will be undoubtedly replaced by more artistic structures. Only our stone bridges, however, may be expected to endure into the era of new races, if such are to succeed us.

EXPENSIVE CROSSING.

The Czar Had His Little Joke, Though He Has to Pay For It.

Czar Nicholas I of Russia was an incorrigible joker. On one of his journeys, says Novellen-Schatz, he came to an out of the way post station and learned that because of the bad roads it would take several hours to travel by coach to the next station. They told him, however, that a footpath led through the forest, and that if he cared to walk he could reach his destination sooner than by coach.

The czar and his adjutant decided to walk and set out through the forest. Presently they came to a river. The bridge had broken down, and they were considering how they should get over when a peasant came along. The czar asked him if there was no other way of getting over.

"No, sire," replied the peasant. "How are you going to cross?" "Oh, I just walk across on foot." "How about your pack? Can you carry that?"

"Surely; on my shoulders."

"My man, you shall have ten rubles if you will carry me to the other bank."

"NOW TAKE ME OVER."

The peasant agreed, took the czar on his back, and carried him over.

"Now bring my companion over for ten more rubles," said Nicholas.

The peasant recrossed the stream, picked up the adjutant, and was in the middle of the river when the czar called out, "I'll give you twenty rubles if you throw him off!" The peasant found himself in an embarrassing position.

"You shall have fifty rubles if you bring me to the other shore," said the adjutant nervously.

"Sixty," called out the czar from the other bank, "if you pitch him in!" The peasant let go of the adjutant, but the frightened officer threw his arms round his neck and cried out, "A hundred rubles! Now take me over!" The peasant accepted the last offer and carried him to where the czar stood.

After breakfast the adjutant wrote in his account book: "For breakfast, 10 rubles; for transporting his majesty over the river, 10 rubles; for transporting the adjutant over the river, under highly amusing circumstances, 100 rubles."

Three Kinds of People.

There are three kinds of people in the world—the wills, the won'ts and the can'ts. The first accomplish everything, the second oppose everything, and the third fail in everything.—William T. Ellis.

Complimenting the Apostles.

A vicar in an English country parish was once puzzled when at a baptism the sponsor gave the name "Acts." "Acts!" asked the vicar. "What do you mean?" He thereupon asked the clerk to spell it. He did—A C T S. So Acts was the babe, and will continue to be in this life. Afterward, in the vestry, the vicar asked the good woman what made her choose such a name. "Why, sir," she replied, "we be religious people. We've got our of an already, and they be call'd Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, and so my husband thought we'd compliment the apostles a bit."—From "Anecdotes of Pulpit and Parish."

Irish Humor.

Hugh O'Donnell is a story teller and a humorist. The principal charm of an "O'Donnell" in fact, consists of the running fires of stories.

He told, the other night, of the Irishman who stood before the grave of Parnell, on which was inscribed the epitaph "I still live." "Och, begorry," exclaimed Pat, "if I were dead I'd own up to it."

Even the little children in Ireland, according to O'Donnell, have the true Irish sense of humor. He was standing before Nelson's statue, he said, when he asked a youngster, "Was Nelson really Irish?"

"That he was," replied the child. "That's why he is what he was."—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

She Knew Not the Hoosiers.

Miss Tompkins believed in speaking correctly. The boundaries of Boston did not contain all who were jealous of the purity of the mother tongue. Not from her should the makers of dialect stories obtain their material.

When she heard some friends discuss Edward Eggleston's best known novel she resolved to obtain a copy. She was quite sure she knew the title, although of course she would not stir her words the way some careless people did.

So she asked the salesman of the book store:

"Have you a book by Edward Eggleston, entitled 'Who is Your Hoosier Neighbor?'"—Youth's Companion.

SCHOOL FOR ENVOYS

Curtis Guild Favors Tutoring for Diplomatic Service.

Declares Negligent Appropriations Hamper Work of U. S. State Department and Make It Inefficient—New Ways Needed.

New York.—Curtis Guild, thrice governor of Massachusetts and formerly ambassador from the United States to Russia, at a recent banquet of the National Association of Manufacturers in the Waldorf-Astoria told the 300 members present that the time had come for the United States to have a school for Americans who wished to enter the diplomatic service. He severely criticized the policy pursued by the federal government for many years in "starving the state department" by refusing to make more than small provisions for its financial support. As a result of this starvation policy Mr. Guild declared our diplomatic service has long been most inefficient.

King Christian.

he noticed the "unfortunates," their hair disheveled, who seemed to be calling for help. The king started bravely to rescue them when a young actor, hero of the drama, picked them up, the life belts with which they were equipped having lessened the chances of any fatal ending of the scene.

INSURED GOOD FOOD

Officers and Sailors of U. S. Navy Well Cared For.

Lavish Entertainments Furnished on Board American Battleships at Home and Abroad—Trained Cooks Are in Galley.

Washington.—Five million dollars was spent last year in buying and shipping, preparing and serving the food of the enlisted men in the United States navy, $4,000,000 of this amount being for the food alone. Each day 40,000 pounds of meat is consumed by them. One and three-fourths pounds is the daily ration for each man allowed by the regulations, but about a pound is the actual amount used. The vegetable allowance is also large. Five million pounds of bagged flour and 1,200,000 pounds of coffee are used annually.

The food supplies show vast changes from the old days of hard-tack, salt pork and beans, those staples that sound so much worse than they really are, says the New York Sun. Plenty of old sailing men like the substantial trio and disdain lighter foods.

The cooking is good. A commissary officer inspects all supplies and a doctor also looks them over before they go to the mess kettles. Here is a sample Sunday bill of fare such as is served to the enlisted men:

- Breakfast—Baked pork and beans, bread, butter and coffee.
  - Dinner—Roast beef or veal with gravy, stewed tomatoes, mashed potatoes, bread, butter and coffee.
  - Supper—Bologna sausage, cheese, potato salad, bread, butter and tea.
- The bluejacket dines off a white oilcloth table cover and uses white enamel dishes. As for the officers, the best in the world is theirs. There is a great deal of entertaining on warships when in port, at home as well as in foreign waters, and the hospitality of Uncle Sam on these occasions has become proverbial.

While the Utah was at Newport last summer many luncheons and dinners were given on board that were marvels of culinary elegance and perfect service, the officers returning in this way a constant round of entertainment in their honor given by the leaders of the fashionable colony. Women of course were in the majority among the guests and carefully treasured menus as souvenirs of the festivities. One of these gives an idea of the lavish array of delicacies served to the guests on the silver and gold dishes used on these gala days:

- Luncheon on Board the Utah.
- Fresh lobster.
- Potted Lancashire shrimps.
- Bordeaux sardines. Spanish olives.
- Celery.
- Muskmelon.
- Grapefruit with Marsechino.
- Clear green turtle soup.
- Crab flakes creamed. Halibut steaks.
- Breast of lamb with peas.
- Spring chickens.
- Rice soufflé. Asparagus Hollandaise.
- Baked tomatoes.
- Cold Brandenham ham. Veal and ham pie.
- Bolled partridge.
- Salads.
- Cheese.
- Ice Cream.
- Cake.
- Bonbons.
- Nuts.
- Fruits.

Every big ship now has its own ice plant and cold storage room, which keeps things fresh, even perishable fruits, game and salads of green variety. The banishment of Japanese servants from the American ships was a loss to the seagoing officers and men, for there are no better cooks or servants at sea than the Japanese. Now that negroes, French chefs and Englishmen have replaced them the difference is often commented upon.

A glance into the cupboards of the big ships shows piles of snowy linen, perfectly laundered, marked and placed in numbered piles. The china is made to order for each ship and bears the name, and sometimes, when it is presentation ware, there is a date or other inscription. Plain white and gold is the rule, with the crossed anchors and the ship's name along the side. The cut glass is similarly marked.

The silver services on most of the ships are superb, and there are presentation loving cups and bowls, gold lined and handsomely decorated. They are kept behind glass doors. The wardrobe is sumptuous during a stay in port and the officers entertain their friends freely. There are ladies' luncheons and teas, dinners with flowers and candles, souvenirs of the ship and menus, name cards and music programs made for the occasion. Frequently there are deck dances and women are always delighted to get invitations for these events.

GREAT SHARK LANDED BY GIRL

Monster Struggled for Two Hours Before It Could Be Hauled Aboard.

Seattle.—Miss Edith Jackson, the sixteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. L. H. Jackson, society woman of Vancouver, B. C., landed a huge shark after a two hours' battle, according to the officers of the Norwegian steamer Cuzco, arriving from Newcastle-on-Tyne, via South American ports.

Miss Jackson was a passenger on board the Cuzco. While the Cuzco was lying in the harbor of Puntas Arenas, Costa Rica, Miss Jackson noticed several large sharks swimming near the ship. Securing a light line and hook, she baited it with a piece of salt pork and threw it overboard. It was instantly seized by one of the largest of the sharks.

The shark darted away from the side of the ship and Miss Jackson wrapped the line around the stanchion of the guard rail. When the shark came to the end of the line he tore the stanchion from its socket, but the line and rail still held.

Capt. J. E. Miller and several of the crew rushed to her aid, but she waved them away, saying she would fight the battle alone. When the struggling fish would slack away for a moment, she would reel in on it until he started away on another effort to get free. In this manner she played the big fish for fully two hours, until she was nearly exhausted, and her hands were cut and bleeding from the line. She finally brought the shark alongside the ship, where it was dispatched by Captain Miller with a rifle.

CAUGHT TURTLE WITH TOE

New Bait Was Successful, But Boy Got a Shock He Will Not Soon Forget.

Centerville, Ala.—A lot of boys in Blount county recently went fishing on a creek, and after baiting their hooks went off to play. They returned shortly and found that one of the poles was gone from its place and was on the opposite side of the creek. One of the boys stripped off, waded over, caught the pole and pulled, but nothing would come, and, thinking that the line was around a log, made the fine taut and placed it between his toes and followed it to the obstruction.

On reaching the bottom something grabbed his big toe and his companions had to come to his assistance. They pulled the boy out and with him came a 35-pound turtle swinging on to the boy's toe. A doctor was summoned and dressed the wound.

Protests Pickles and Ice Cream. Cleveland.—Mrs. William Jones complained that her husband brought home nothing but pickles and ice cream. The court ordered him to bring home a better diet.

Wagers Wine on Suicide. Paris.—A Lyons laborer, having waded a bottle of wine that he would commit suicide, stabbed a fellow workman to death, drank the wine and escaped.

MOST ACCEPTABLE JUST NOW FOR THOSE FOND OF ALMONDS

Three Recipes That Are Particularly Appropriate at This Time of the Year.

The Cresses.—Pepper grass or garden cress resembles in appearance and flavor the better known water cress. The wild cress growing in constantly running meadow brooks is the tenderest and the entire plant is eaten. The pleasant, pungent flavor makes it an agreeable addition to the salad plants and a very attractive garniture for meat and fish dishes. Be sure and break off all the roots. Do not use a knife, however.

Sorrel and Spinach Soups.—This is a good summer soup. To a quart of sorrel add a handful of spinach and a few lettuce leaves. Put them in a saucepan with a large piece of butter and cook tender. Add two quarts of boiling water, season to taste with salt and pepper, and just before serving add two well-beaten eggs and half a cupful of cream. This is an excellent soup for an invalid.

Bolled Spinach, French Method.—Use half a peck of spinach. Wash and pick over the leaves, carefully removing all the wilted ones and the roots. When thoroughly washed put into boiling water with a pinch of soda to keep the bright green color, and cook tender. Then drain in a colander and drench with cold water, as this gives firmness and delicacy attained in no other way. Shake free from water, chop fine, and put into a saucepan. Stir in a tablespoonful of butter, salt and pepper to suit the taste. Add two tablespoonfuls of good cream, and stir until hot; then arrange on a heated dish and rice the yolks of hard-boiled eggs over the top, using the vegetable press for the purpose.

FOR THE BEST TOMATO SOUP

Ingredients Should Be of the First Order and Much Care Given to Its Preparation.

Peel two pounds of nice ripe tomatoes and cut in two. Remove seeds. Take a stewpan to hold four quarts of liquid, put therein two ounces of butter, one onion finely chopped, and melt together for three minutes to heat only, but not to color, otherwise the soup will be spoiled, adding one teaspoonful of castor sugar and a little salt. Remove from the fire and add a large tablespoonful of flour. Drop all the tomatoes into the mixture and mix well together. Then add two quarts of meat stock (not clarified), boil briskly, stirring all the while; then allow to boil gently for one hour. Strain off grease from time to time and pass through a fine sieve; return to stewpan, season with pepper and salt or tabasco, and, if not thick enough, a little arrowroot or fecule diluted with a little cold water will slightly thicken and add to the smoothness. This soup is particularly nice with rice, and the starch water in which the rice is boiled will serve to thicken the tomato soup.

Chicken à La Monte Carlo.

Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a earthen dish or casserole with one carrot, three onions sliced, two bay leaves, salt, pepper and some thyme. Add a young fat fowl, cut into joints and let it get brown. Then add one pint of consommé and cover, air tight. Cook three-quarters of an hour. It will simmer all the time. If the fowl is old it will take longer to cook it. Add two tablespoons sherry, a dozen potato balls fried in butter, a dozen button mushrooms and some chopped parsley. Let it cook ten minutes more and serve in the sauce dish or the charm of it will be lost.

State Bread.

One way of serving state bread is to cut it in one-quarter-inch slices, remove crusts and cut each slice in three finger-shaped pieces. Toast on both sides, arrange in a dripping pan, sprinkle with grated cheese and bake until the cheese is melted.

Corn Oysters.

One-half cup corn, three or four rolled buttered eggs, salt and pepper. Boil the corn in salted water for half an hour. A good substitute for meat.

Desirable Dessert Dish That is Made With the Addition of Gelatin and Sugar.

One cupful of sweet almonds, blanched and chopped fine, half a box of gelatin soaked two hours in half a cupful of cold water. When the gelatin is sufficiently soaked put three tablespoonfuls of sugar into a saucepan over the fire and stir until it becomes liquid and looks dark; then stir the chopped almonds thoroughly into it; turn it out on a platter and set aside to get cool. When the sugar and almonds mixture has cooled break it up in a mortar, put in a cup and half of milk and cook for ten minutes. Now beat together the yolks of two eggs with a cupful of sugar and add to the cooking mixture; add also the gelatin until smooth and well dissolved; take from the fire, set in cold water and beat until it begins to thicken; add two quarts of whipped cream and turn the whole carefully into molds, set on ice to become firm. Spongecake is then placed around the mold or lady fingers, halved if more convenient.

Onion in Salad.

Onion is indispensable to a good salad, but its presence should never be obvious. The best way to conceal it is to rub the sides of the dish with a section of an onion, and not to put any onion in the salad at all.

Carrots.

After scraping four carrots, cut in to long slices. Cover with cold water for half an hour. Then put them into a saucepan of stock and allow them to simmer until tender. Drain and pass through a colander. Beat two eggs until light and add them to the carrots with a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper, onion juice if desired, and a tablespoonful of sweet cream. Fill into timbals or ordinary cups. Let them cook in a pan of boiling water for twenty minutes, the cups covered with greased paper. Turn from the cups, garnish with parsley or freshly cooked peas and serve hot.

Wedding Cake.

One pound of butter and same of sugar, thoroughly mixed together; 1 pound of eggs, yolks and whites beaten separately, putting the whites in first, with the butter and sugar, and blend thoroughly. Add 2 pounds of raisins, 3 of currants, teaspoonful each of clove and mace, 1 tablespoonful each of cinnamon and allspice, ½ cupful molasses, 1 pound of pastry flour, teaspoonful of cream tartar, ½ teaspoonful soda, dissolve in little water, the yolks of the eggs, and ½ pound of citron, cut fine, and added last, when in pans. Makes the good-sized loaves. Bake eight hours in a slow oven.

California Nut Cake.

One cupful of sugar, one egg, one-half cupful of butter, two thirds cupful of sweet milk, two and one-half cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls baking powder, one-half level teaspoonful soda, one-half cupful chopped raisins, one-half cupful chopped walnut meats. A little cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg. Save a little flour out to mix raisins and nuts. Bake in cup cake tins. Hickory nuts or butternuts make a richer cake.

Rye Bread.

Four 2 cupfuls of scalded milk on 2 tablespoonfuls each of sugar and butter and 1 teaspoonful salt. When lukewarm add 1 yeast cake dissolved in ¼ cupful lukewarm water, then add 2 tablespoonfuls of caraway seeds and 6 cupfuls rye flour. Toss on a slightly floured board and knead in 1½ cupfuls of entire wheat flour. Cover and let rise until it has doubled its bulk. Shape into loaves, put in greased pans, cover, again let rise and bake.

Wise, said to have been a wealthy Texas oil man, was found unconscious in his room in a hotel a few days ago. An examination of his artificial leg after death revealed certificates of deposit amounting to $8,000 concealed therein. The certificates were on banks at Sherman, Tex.

Seeks Divorce From Woman Hater.

Chicago.—Alleging that her husband became a "woman hater" because of the "little white lies," and debts of women who used the telephone in his drug store and were overheard by him, Mrs. Anna M. Hubbard, former opera singer, filed suit for divorce.
