Calendar for 1914.

The publishers of the Youth's Companion will, as always at this season, present to every subscriber whose subscription is paid for 1914, a Calendar for the new year. It is a gem of calendar-making. The decorative mounting is rich, but it is subordinated to the main purpose to produce a calendar that is useful.

Women who are nervous and fretful and easily fatigued promptly gain strength and natural energy by taking Scott's Emulsion after meals because it is essentially nourishment—not a drug that stupefies or alcohol that stimulates—there is pure, rich medical nourishment in every drop which nature appropriates to enrich the blood and upbuild the latent forces of the body.
Probably nothing is more popular with physicians for just such conditions than Scott's Emulsion.

COMPLEXITIES IN OF INCOME

Questions About New Law's Meaning Answered by Legal Expert.

By CHARLES A. BRODEK, Member of the New York Bar Association, New York City.

It has been estimated that the income tax law will directly affect more than half a million citizens and aliens. Probably millions will be indirectly affected in one way or another by the provisions of the law for payment of the tax "at the source."

In addition to those directly and indirectly affected, there are many who will be concerned to know whether or not they come within the provisions of the new law. In the light of more than twenty years' experience in handling tax questions from the legal standpoint, I have sought to set down the questions which would naturally come to the mind of the inquiring citizen and to set down briefly and in simple language the answers to such questions.

Preliminary Questions.

Q.—When was this law passed? A.—Oct. 3, 1913, and went into effect at once. It forms section 2 of the tax law of 1913.

Q.—Does it affect any income I received before the law was passed? A.—Yes; it taxes income from March 1, 1913.

Q.—Why did the law fix March 1, 1913, as the date from which income was to be taxed? A.—Because the United States supreme court had held some years ago that the government had no constitutional power to pass such a law, and it was therefore necessary to adopt a constitutional amendment giving the government power to tax income. This constitutional amendment went into effect the last part of February, 1913, and congress therefore taxed incomes from the very earliest date.

Q.—Has the government the power to pass a law in October, 1913, taxing income which it received before that date? A.—It has been held that this provision of the income tax law is unconstitutional, because income received from March to October, 1913, had become part of capital at the time the income tax law was passed. It is unquestioned that the constitutional amendment has no power to tax a man's capital directly. Whether this provision of the law is unconstitutional is extremely doubtful.

Q.—Have I the right to refrain from paying the tax on income received before the law passed until the courts have determined whether this tax was valid? A.—No; you must pay the tax next June, and you cannot await any court's decision.

Q.—Does that mean if this provision is held invalid I will get my money back from the government? A.—No. You should pay that portion of the tax which relates to your income before October, 1913, under protest. If this feature of the law is held to be invalid the government will then repay to you the part of the tax. The government has always been very fair in refunding taxes paid under any law found to be invalid.

Individuals Subject to the Tax.

Q.—What persons are subject to the tax? A.—Every citizen of the United States, whether residing at home or abroad, and every alien residing in the United States are taxable upon their entire net income minus specific exemptions. Every non-resident alien is taxable upon his net income derived from property in the United States or from carrying on any business or profession in the United States.

Q.—Who pays the tax? A.—The tax will be collected either directly from the taxpayer or through the employer, agent, trustee or other person having control of his income. The latter method is termed "collection at the source."

Corporations Subject to the Tax.

Q.—What corporations are subject to the tax? A.—Every corporation, joint stock company or association and every insurance company organized in the United States is subject to a tax of 1 per cent upon its net income, and every foreign corporation is subject to a tax upon its net income from business transacted or capital invested within the United States.

Q.—Are any concerns exempt? A.—Yes. Agricultural organizations, mutual savings banks, fraternal beneficiary societies, building loan associations, cemetery companies and religious, charitable, scientific and educational corporations, business leagues, boards of trade and civic organizations are not subject to the tax. They are clearly defined in the law, so that other corporations may not use these exemptions as a loophole.

Tax Returns.

Q.—What individuals are required to make tax returns? A.—Every person of lawful age subject to the tax having a net income of $3,000 or over for the taxable year. In addition, all guardians, trustees, executors, administrators, agents, receivers and conservators must make a tax return for the person for whom they act.

Q.—Suppose there are two or more guardians, trustees, executors, etc., must each make a return? A.—No; a return made by any one is sufficient.

Q.—Are there any individuals who need not make a tax return? A.—Persons having net incomes not exceeding $3,000, persons for whom the return is made by an employer or by a guardian, trustee, executor, etc., and who have no other income, and persons whose income is derived solely from dividends on stock in corporations which pay tax and whose net income does not exceed $3,000.

Q.—Does a copartner have to file a return? A.—No; only if required by the commissioner or collector; each partner must make an individual return.

Q.—What corporations must make returns? A.—All corporations subject to the tax.

Q.—When must the return be filed? A.—Individuals and corporations must file their return on or before March 1.

Q.—For what period is the tax levied? A.—For the calendar year, except in 1914, when it is levied from March 1, 1913, only.

Q.—Suppose a corporation has a fiscal year which does not correspond with the calendar year; must it make its return for the calendar year or for its fiscal year? A.—The tax is levied and the return must be filed for the calendar year, but the corporation may designate and use the last day of any month as the day for closing its fiscal year, provided it gives thirty days' notice to the district collector. The tax is then levied for the fiscal year and the return must be filed within thirty days after the close of the fiscal year and the law paid within 120 days after the close of the fiscal year.

Q.—Where must the return be filed? A.—An individual must file the return where he resides or has his principal place of business; a corporation or a nonresident must file where the principal place of business is located, and the trustee, guardian, executor, etc., must file the return where he resides or where the instrument under which he acts is recorded.

Q.—What must the return contain? A.—The gross income and certain deductions and allowances which will be explained shortly.

Q.—Must the return be sworn to? A.—Yes. In case of a corporation the oath of affirmation is made by an officer.

Gross Income.

Q.—What does gross income mean under the income tax law? A.—Gross income is defined in the statute as gains, profits and income derived from salaries, wages or compensation for personal service or from professions, vocations, businesses, trade, commerce or sales or dealings in real or personal property growing out of the ownership or use of or interest in real or personal property, also interest, rent, dividends, securities, or the transaction of any lawful business, or gains, profits and income from any source whatever.

Q.—Does gross income include property acquired by gift or by will? A.—No, but it includes the income from such property.

Q.—Will proceeds of life insurance policies paid upon death or paid upon the maturity of a term or upon surrender of a policy be included as income? A.—No.

Rates of Taxation.

Q.—What is the rate of taxation? A.—The normal rate is 1 per cent of the net income, and this applies to corporations as well as to individuals. In the case of individuals having a net income exceeding $3,000 the law provides for an additional tax.

Q.—What is the rate of the additional tax against incomes of individuals? A.—One per cent on amount by which income exceeds $3,000 but does not exceed $50,000; 2 per cent on amount by which income exceeds $50,000 but does not exceed $75,000; 3 per cent on amount by which income exceeds $75,000 but does not exceed $100,000; 4 per cent on amount by which income exceeds $100,000 but does not exceed $250,000; 5 per cent on amount by which income exceeds $250,000 but does not exceed $500,000; 6 per cent on amount by which income exceeds $500,000.

Q.—Are corporations ever liable for the additional tax? A.—Never.

Q.—In calculating net income for the additional tax, are the same deductions made as in calculating net income for the normal tax of 1 per cent? A.—Yes, with the exception that in calculating net income for the additional tax neither dividends nor interest shall be deducted.

Exemptions and Deductions.

Q.—Is there any exemption allowed to a taxable person? A.—Yes, $3,000; and if the person is married and his wife lives with him the exemption is $4,000. The same provision is made if the person making the return is a married woman whose husband lives with her.

Q.—Can husband and wife each deduct the additional $3,000? A.—No. Only one deduction of $3,000 shall be made from the aggregate income of husband and wife when living together.

Q.—Can guardians, trustees, executors, etc., deduct the exemption of $3,000 for the benefit of the person for whom they act? A.—Yes.

Q.—What deductions can be made by an individual for expenses, etc.? A.—1. Necessary expenses actually paid in carrying on business. 2. All interest paid on indebtedness. 3. All national, state, county, school and municipal taxes. 4. All losses actually sustained in trade or arising from fire, storms or shipwreck and not compensated by insurance or otherwise. 5. Debts due and found worthless and charged off. 6. Reasonable allowance for wear and tear. 7. Dividends received from corporations which pay income tax. 8. Amount of income on which tax is paid or withheld at the source, provided such income does not exceed $3,000 or is irregular as to time and amount. 9. Interest on obligations of the United States, a state or a political subdivision of a state. 10. Salaries of the present president of the United States, present judges of the federal courts and the compensation of all officers, employees of a state or a political subdivision of a state, provided the same is not paid by the United States government. 11. The exemption of $3,000 or $4,000 for couples living together. As above explained, these deductions are allowed in calculating net income for the normal tax. For the additional tax items 7 and 8 are not allowed.

Q.—Can personal, living or family expenses be deducted? A.—No.

Q.—Is an assessment for local benefits deemed a tax and deductible as such? A.—No. The statute expressly provides that such assessments shall not be deducted.

Q.—Can any deduction be allowed for cost of new buildings, improvements or betterments made to increase the value of any property? A.—No.

Q.—What is meant by the necessary expenses paid in carrying on business? A.—Clerk hire, rent, lighting, heating, stationery, delivery charges, etc.

Q.—Suppose I have allowed state or local taxes to accumulate for several years; can I deduct the payment of accumulated taxes, or can I only deduct the taxes which fell due within the year for which I made an income tax return? A.—You can deduct all the tax payments, whether they were accumulated or not.

Q.—What deductions are allowed to corporations? A.—1. The ordinary and necessary expenses incurred in maintaining and operating the business and properties of the company, including rentals. 2. All losses actually sustained and not compensated by insurance or otherwise, including reasonable allowance for depreciation. 3. Interest paid on bonded and indebtedness to an amount of such indebtedness not exceeding one-half the interest-bearing indebtedness and its outstanding capital stock. 4. All taxes, national or state or imposed by a foreign government.

Q.—Is a corporation entitled to an exemption of $3,000 or $4,000 like an individual? A.—No. There are no exemptions in the case of corporations; they are allowed to deduct the expenses, losses, interest and taxes as already explained.

Q.—Individuals may deduct dividends; can a corporation deduct dividends received from other corporations? A.—No, while this appears to result in a double taxation, it is not so.

paid upon the dividends by the corporations to which they were received, congress intended to tax dividends received by one corporation from another.

Q.—Does the present income tax law take the place of the corporation income tax law of 1909? A.—Yes, for the months of January and February, 1913, the old corporation income tax law remains in force. The present income tax law goes into effect from March 1, 1913.

Collection at Source.

Q.—What is meant by the collection of this tax "at the source"? A.—The law provides that all persons, firms and corporations paying interest, rent, salaries, annuities or other fixed or determinable annual or periodical gains, profits and income of any other person exceeding $3,000 per year shall withhold 1 per cent and pay it to the government as the normal tax upon that portion of the income of the person who was entitled to receive the rent, salary, income, annuity, etc.

Q.—If the annual rental amount home or place of business is $2,500 and I know that the landlord has other income which would make him taxable, shall I deduct 1 per cent from my rent? A.—No; you can only make the deduction provided the rent you pay exceeds $3,000 per year, and this same principle applies to all payments of rent, salary, interest, annuities, etc., with the sole exception of interest on corporate bonds.

Q.—If the interest on corporate bonds amounts to less than $3,000, must the 1 per cent be deducted at the source? A.—Yes; the law provides that where the income is interest on corporate bonds the tax must be deducted at the source, irrespective of the amount of the interest payment.

Q.—If rent or salary payable by me amounts to $3,000 or less I understand I withhold no tax, but if it amounts to more than $3,000, do I withhold the tax on the excess or on the whole amount? A.—You withhold the tax on the whole amount. For example, if rent or salary due from you amounts to $3,000 or less you deduct nothing, but if it amounts to $3,500 you must deduct $35—namely, 1 per cent of the entire $3,500—entirely, 1 per cent of the entire $3,500.

Q.—Can the person entitled to rent, salary, interest, annuity, etc., claim an exemption? A.—Yes; by filing a notice with you he can claim and obtain an exemption of $3,000 (or $4,000 if married and with five or more children) in that case you should only deduct the 1 per cent from the excess over the exemption. For example, if a landlord or employer is entitled to $5,000 a year and files with you an exemption as a married man amounting to $4,000 you should only deduct $1,000, 1 per cent on the excess of $1,000.

Q.—How about the collection of coupons on corporate bonds? A.—The interest is to be deducted by the corporation. The owner of the coupon must then file a certificate of ownership with the bank or other concern which receives the coupon for collection, otherwise that bank would have to deduct the tax and attach its own certificate, giving the name of the owner. The owner has a right to claim exemption, but he must file a certificate of ownership with the bank or other concern which receives the coupon for collection, otherwise that bank would have to deduct the tax and attach its own certificate, giving the name of the owner. The owner has a right to claim exemption, but he must file a certificate of ownership with the bank or other concern which receives the coupon for collection, otherwise that bank would have to deduct the tax and attach its own certificate, giving the name of the owner.

Q.—In deducting the tax from rent, salary and interest, shall I deduct from each payment or wait until $3,000 has been paid? A.—Under the regulations you need not withhold the tax until such time as the rent, salary or interest shall have reached an aggregate in excess of $3,000. The tax is to be deducted from the amount upon the full amount or from $3,000 or $4,000 less if notice of exemption has been filed.

Q.—What tax shall be deducted in 1913? A.—For the year 1913 everything is on a five-year basis, because the law will have been in effect for ten months. All calculations of exemptions, deductions, income, etc., for 1913 shall be taken at five-sixths of the whole annual amount in each case.

Q.—Suppose the landlord or employer entitled to receive more than $3,000 a year has business expenses, losses, etc., which bring his net income below $3,000 in all; can he, by filing a statement of such business expenses, losses, etc., obtain a full exemption? A.—No, you must still deduct 1 per cent. He will be entitled to obtain the benefit of such deduction by application to the collector.

Q.—What do I do with the amounts I deduct from payments of salary, interest, rent, annuity, etc.? A.—You hold them and make separate returns for such deduction at the same time you make your own return. You pay the amount of the deductions to the collector between June 1 and June 30. Individuals and corporations will be notified of the amount upon which they are liable on or before June 1.

Publicity of Returns.

Q.—Are the returns made by an individual or corporation open to the inspection of the public? A.—All returns, whether by individuals or corporations, are public records, but they are not to be made available upon the order of the president under rules and regulations to be prescribed by the secretary of the treasury and approved by the president.

Q.—Can income tax returns be inspected by the tax officers of any state, city or county? A.—No, except as they may be inspected by any citizen, as explained in my answer to the previous question. The only exception is that officers of any state which imposes a general income tax may have access to the returns.

Penalties.

Q.—What is the penalty for neglect or refusal to make a return on time? A.—Five per cent of the amount of the tax is added and 1 per cent per month from the time it became due, and a fine may be imposed of not less than $50 or more than $100 in the case of an individual or not more than $10,000 in the case of a corporation.

Q.—What is the penalty for making a false or fraudulent return? A.—A fine not exceeding $2,000, imprisonment for one year, or both, in the case of an individual or officer of a corporation and a fine not exceeding $10,000 in the case of a corporation.

Q.—Is there any penalty if a landlord or employer or other person from whom income is to be deducted at the source files a false statement respecting the $3,000 exemption or $4,000 for a married couple? A.—Yes; a fine of $300.

Q.—Can a man's or company's books and accounts be examined by the collector? A.—The United States courts can compel attendance, production of books and testimony in cases where persons are summoned by the collector.

The electric fan was invented by an electric engineer, to whom the idea came while experimenting with a propeller for an electric boat.

AMAZONS UNDER FIRE IN MEXICO

Women Fighting on Both Sides Across Rio Grande.

AID ARMIES AS FORAGERS.

Wife of Federal Officer Leads Rebels Into Ambush and Then Escapes in Rain of Bullets—Wealthy Young Woman Takes Her Dead Brother's Place in Constitutionalist Ranks.

Women of Mexico are playing a prominent part in the warfare of the southern republic as "soldaderas," foraging successfully for their men folk in the armies and occasionally being actual fighters, according to correspondence from Del Rio, Tex.

This is true probably because the present revolution has touched individuals and homes more intimately than any other conflict of recent times in Mexico. Many women have left their homes rather than remain alone, and a few of them have gone under fire to get revenge.

Girl Replaces Brother.

In the siege of the large city of Monterey a valued member of General Pablo Gonzales' Constitutionalist command was Senorita Maria Sanchez, said to be a wealthy Castilian, whose brother was shot by federal irregulars. She gave up the comforts of a luxurious home and begged permission to replace her brother.

Recently at Monclova a son of Senora Pimental of that city had been sentenced to be shot. The mother, it is said, entered the federal jail by stealth and, stabbing two guards, released her boy, and both escaped to the Constitutionist headquarters at Hermanos.

In the federal ranks there is told the story of the wife of an officer who led the Constitutionalist into an ambush at Puerta Carmen and, though fired upon by the angered rebels, galloped through the lines to her husband's side.

When less than a month ago the federal army of General Maas occupied the Constitutionalist's provisional capital at Piedras Negras "soldaderas" played an important part in the bloodless capture.

Women Guard Wagon Train.

A small group of them pitched their tents on the overlooking hills two days before the soldiers arrived. When the army came fully 500 of these soldier-women accompanied the troops, most of them guarding the wagon train which their skill as foragers had supplied. After the city was occupied the women spread food for the entire army in the plaza. These "soldaderas" are expert with both knife and rifle.

One of the famous women fighters is Mrs. Alonzo Alanis, who recently surrendered to the Huerta garrison in Juarez and was pardoned. She is the wife of a former Maderist commander and became a leader during the revolt against Madero.

One night at the head of a picked band she rode into Juarez, held up the police station, took all available arms and escaped to the hills. She remained at the head of her troop several months.

WOMAN A LUMBERJACK.

With Twin Daughters Will Supply Chicago's Christmas Trees.

Many of the Christmas trees which will make Chicago children happy this year will be brought from the woods of northern Michigan through the efforts of a widow and her twin daughters. The husband and father of the family lost his life last winter when the Christmas tree ship Rouse Simmons, of which he had been captain for twenty years, went to the bottom of Lake Michigan during a storm.

Mrs. Herman Schuenemann of Chicago, the widow, is now in the Michigan woods directing a force of men in the work of cutting the trees. Her twin daughters, Elsie and Max, are looking over the Chicago shipping lists for a vessel in which to bring the trees to market.

"Since father went down with the ship Rouse Simmons," said Elsie to an interviewer, "mother has felt she had a work to carry on as a memorial and it is determined that one Christmas ship shall bear his name."

$36,394,000 FOR THE CANAL.

This sum is needed to complete the Panama Waterway.

According to advices from Washington, James C. Courts, clerk of the house appropriations committee, after consultation with Colonel George W. Goethals, has reached the conclusion that the completion of the Panama canal will require an additional appropriation of $36,394,000. This amount will be expended largely on the canal terminals. Concrete coal pockets for storing bituminous coal, machine shops and a drydock are to be constructed on the Pacific end of the canal.

While the committee is in Panama it will hold hearings on the estimates submitted for completion—the odds and ends of a project which has cost approximately $320,000,000 to date.

Single Women in Business.
Why do single women conduct business more successfully than married women?
And, again, why do married women do better in business than widows?
I cannot definitely prove to you that single women do excel married ones in business or that those who have a husband are better business managers than widows. But I have the solemn word—and was ever the word of an English official report anything but solemnity to the nth degree?—that such is the fact.
Of 390 women traders who failed in business in London during the last year 155 were widows, 151 married and 81 single. But the average amount of liabilities of the three classes varied greatly. With fewer than twice as many failures the widows had more than three times the debts of the single women. The married women's obligations were two and a half times the ones of those who never knew a husband.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Trials of Compositors.
They tell of a Scottish composer who fled from Edinburgh to London in order to escape the brain exhausting ordeal of deciphering Carlyle's hieroglyphics and putting them into type. He had been at work in London for some time, when one day a "take" of Carlyle's copy was given him to set up. The sight of it appalled him. "Is that man here, too!" he exclaimed. Whereupon he laid down his composing stick, put on his coat and hat and vanished.
Balzac's copy was also a nightmare to compositors. According to the London Standard, the failure of the establishment that printed his works was the direct result of the enormous labor spent in making corrections in the proofs of his manuscript. What it meant to put his copy into type is shown by the fact that "Cesar Biotreau" had to be reset fifteen times in twenty days.

Cocoa as a Food.
We compare cocoa to a vegetable egg because, like the egg, it contains everything necessary for the building of the animal body. When we analyze cocoa we find it a perfect natural food. Analysis teaches us that it contains a fair proportion of nitrogenous matter in the shape of gluten, a very large proportion of fat, a considerable amount of starch, so much mineral matter and, finally, a stimulant of its own called theobromine. Cocoa is an excellent substitute for tea and coffee, especially to those who are overstimulated by these beverages. Pure cocoa is easily digested. But be sure that you get it pure. If you find that one brand of cocoa does not agree with you try another until you find the one which is best fitted for your constitution.—New York American.

Where She Drew the Line.
Mr. Birrell's anticipation that, owing to the bigness of heaven, it will not be inevitable that we shall knock up against our acquaintances there may have been suggested by one of Dean Ramsay's best Scottish stories. It should be mentioned that at Hawick, the scene of the anecdote, the people used to wear wooden clogs, which made a clanking noise on the pavement. As an old woman lay dying some friends said to her, "Weel, Jeeny, ye are gaein to heeven, an' gin you should see our folk ye can tell them that we're a' weel."
"Weel," said Jeeny, cautiously, "gin I should see them I'll tell them, but you manna expect that I am to gang clank-clanking through heeven looking for your folk."—London Tatler.

Herbert Spencer and the Sea.
To illustrate the advantages the modern child enjoys in seeing so much more of the world than children of earlier generations did, Herbert Spencer mentions that he had never seen the sea until after he was twenty-one. This is the more remarkable, because his father always spent his summer vacation at the seaside, rambling along the coast from one place to another. But the son never went with the father until he was a man. One result is that we have a first impression of the sea by a self studying adult. It produced in him "a mixture of joy and awe—the awe resulting from the manifestation of size and power and the joy from the sense of freedom given by limitless expanse."

Chinese Blacksmiths.
The Chinese blacksmith thinks a great deal of his anatomy when shoeing horses, which are not numerous in China. He is so skittish in doing a job of shoeing and so dubious about handling the hoofs of the animal that, when shoeing is required, the horse is strung up with ropes in such a manner as to prevent kicking. No exceptions are made, even though the horse be a scrawny cart plug of advanced age.

Scrap Book

How Willie Read It.
It was the class in the Second Reader, and little Willie had just been called upon to rise and take up the reading where Martha had left off. Willie, standing at attention, his book held in the proper position before him, clutched the corner of his desk with his free hand, swallowed hard and read:
"This is a warm doughnut. Step on it."
"What!" gasped the teacher. "Willie, that is not correct. Read it again."
Willie did, with the same result. Moreover, he maintained stoutly that that was what his book said.
So the teacher had him bring it to her. Perhaps there had been a misprint, and—
But this is what the teacher read in Willie's book: "This is a worm. Do not step on it."

Shared.
I said it in the meadow path.
I say it on the mountain stairs,
The best things any mortal hath
Are those which every mortal shares.
The air we breathe, the sky, the breeze,
The light without us and within,
Life, with its unlocked treasures,
God's riches, are for all to win.
The grass is softer to my tread
For rest it yields unnumbered feet.
Sweeter to me the wild rose red
Because she makes the whole world sweet.
And up the radiant peopled way
That opens into worlds unknown
It will be life's delight to say,
"Heaven is not heaven for me alone."
Rich by my brethren's poverty!
Such wealth were hideous! I am blest
Only in what they share with me,
In what I share with all the rest,
—Lucy Larcom.

The Defect in His Dressing.
The professor of surgery in one of England's universities has the reputation of being one of the most painstaking and delicate operators in Britain, thoughtful of the patient and careful in the clinic. One day in the course of a clinical demonstration he turned to a student who had just commenced his studies with the question:
"Now, sir, can you tell me what is wrong with my dressing?"
The ingenious youth turned red and preserved a discreet silence. The professor, however, was not to be put off and repeated the question. After a long pause the youth stammered out in a fit of desperation:
"Well, sir, if you insist on my telling you, I should say your tie is a little off color and is not quite straight."

As Others See Us.
One incident of the days of Appomattox General Fitzhugh Lee always loved to tell. After the terms of the surrender had been agreed upon he started out to find the headquarters of his former brigade. About dusk he came upon a handful of soldiers, the scattered remnants of a Texas regiment that had the evening before been cut to pieces at Sailor's creek, the last battle of the war.
"Hello, pardner!" called out a ragged private, not observing General Lee's insignia of rank in the duck. "What's the news?"
"General Lee has surrendered," replied Fitzhugh Lee.
"Oh, go 'long! What you talkin' about?" exclaimed the soldier incredulously. "General Lee ain't never goin' to surrender, you hear?"
"But I tell you he has," insisted General Fitzhugh Lee. He arranged the terms of surrender with General Grant today.
"Look here, son," said the veteran; "don't you let any of these here soldiers be foolin' you. Ef there's any General Lee surrendered it ain't our General Bob; it's that doggoned Fitz Lee!"

Getting Ready For Isaac.
Here is a story told by the Rev. Dr. Hastings of Aberdeen:
When in Cambridge, Bishop Ryle, the dean of Westminster, undertook to handle in Dr. Hastings' Dictionary of the Bible some of the proper names in Genesis. One of them was a little late, and Dr. Ryle sent his editor a wire when it was ready.
Now, it was not an unusual thing in those days for some college friend to arrive with little or no notice at the manse and be greeted by his Christian name.
On the day when Dr. Ryle's wire was received I was from home. Returning at night I found active preparations for a coming guest and, on inquiry, was shown the wire.
It read, "Isaac will arrive in a few hours."
The conversation was short.
A very modest young woman boarded a street car one day and sat down beside a smart looking little chap, whose big eyes were busy taking in the sights as the car moved swiftly toward the center of town. They had not gone very far when the lady looked down at the little fellow and, smiling, said, "May I ask who you are, my little man?"
The little fellow turned his head and in a very dignified manner replied, "I am Mr. Samuel R. Brown, thank you." His turned his eyes to the sights again.
The little fellow's manner aroused the lady's interest, so she again called the chap's attention and said, "Well, Mr. Samuel R. Brown, how old are you, if I may ask?"
Again the little fellow turned his head from the sights and, looking the woman square in the eyes, said, "I am four, thank you. How old are you?"
The conversation ended.—Woman's Home Companion.

HE WAS QUITE SOCIABLE.

First He Charmed and Then Startled, Ralph Waldo Emerson.
It is related that Ralph Waldo Emerson was once on his way to California when he was joined by a man who was altogether so sociable and chatty that an otherwise tedious journey was rendered quite cheerful.
This man's name was Sackett, and he told Mr. Emerson that he resided in San Francisco. Mr. Sackett indicated all the points of interest along the way, related a lot of amusing anecdotes and, best of all, was also an attentive listener. The consequence was that Mr. Emerson came to the conclusion that Mr. Sackett was as charming a man as he had ever met, and it was in this positive conviction that he accepted Mr. Sackett's invitation to dine with him immediately upon their arrival in San Francisco.
The next morning Mr. Emerson was astonished and annoyed to find in all the local papers this startling personal notice: "Professor Ralph Waldo Emerson, the eminent philosopher, scholar and poet, is in our city as the guest of J. Sackett, the well known proprietor of the Bush street dime museum. Matinees every half hour. Admission only 10 cents. The double headed calf and the dog faced boy this week!"

Deeds That Count.
To do an evil action is base; to do a good action without incurring danger is common enough, but it is the part of a good man to do great and noble deeds, though he risks everything.—Plutarch.

Mangled.
An organist had drawn up the order of a Sunday service, and it was in type ready for printing when the death of an important personage made a change necessary. The organist telephoned to the printer and instructed him to change the postlude to "Funeral March by Chopin." This is what he found at the end of the list when he arrived at the church: "A few remarks by Chopin."

Wanted His Dues.
A reservation Indian in the old days was disconsolate over the breaking of his ax handle. He laid his misfortune before the "farmer" of the reservation, who, through pity, took a new handle from his private stock and adjusted it to the ax. The farmer then noticed that the ax was shockingly dull. So, motioning the owner to turn the grindstone, he expended a half hour's time in sharpening the blade. When the rehabilitated ax was given to the Indian he was childishly gleeful, and he looked at it admiringly, but still lingered about, indicating by his actions that some feature of the transaction had not been adjusted.

The farmer was a little annoyed and called to an interpreter. "Ask the old fellow what he wants now," he directed.
After an exchange of grunts and gestures the interpreter announced, "He wants 25 cents."
"Twenty-five cents! What for?"
"For turning the grindstone."

A Big Handkerchief.
Dr. Paul Ehrlich, the famous German scientist, had a habit in his younger days, says Mr. Wile in "Men Around the Kaiser," of collecting any pieces of old linen he found about the house with which to clean his scientific instruments, his microscope slides, and so on. Castoff shirts and old handkerchiefs were his specialties, and he used to stuff them all into his capacious pockets so as to have them handy whenever he required them.
At a public lecture one hot day Dr. Ehrlich perspired freely and, wanting to mop his brow, he put his hand into the nearest pocket and grasped what he thought to be a handkerchief. He tugged and tugged, and it came out and came out until he had exposed to the full view of his astonished audience a complete nightgown belonging to his wife.

A Judge's Poetical Request.
In "Memoirs of Famous Trials," by Rev. E. V. Burnaby, is an amusing story about the late Lord Bowen, "a brilliant, intellectual and clever judge." His lordship wanted a lift to the lord chancellor's breakfast in 1883 and addressed the following request to his old friend, Mr. Justice Mathew:
My Dear J. C.—Will you be free to carry me, beside of tea, in your buzze to Selborne's tea, if breakfast he intends for me, on 2 November next D. V., eighteen hundred and eighty-three A. D., for Lady B., from Cornwall G., will absent be and says that she would rather see her husband as D. than D. than send to London her buzze for such a melancholy spree as Selborne's toast and Selborne's tea?

THE KITCHEN CABINET

THE highest duty of the state is to legislate and minister to make good homes, for it is only a larger home, and for the same uses, that the state exists.—Ellen Richards.

DOG DAY DISHES.
In these sultry August days we enjoy and look for the cooling foods and beverages. It is well during this hot weather to avoid heavy desserts and use seasonable fruits in abundance.
Cocunut Mousse.—Dissolve a teaspoonful of powdered gelatine in two tablespoonfuls of water, add half a cup of boiling milk, cool and add a cupful of cocunut, three tablespoonfuls of orange juice and two cupfuls of whipped cream. Pour the mixture into a chilled mold, pack in ice and salt for four hours. Garnish with whipped cream.
Cheese Custard.—Beat four eggs, add half a cupful of boiling milk, three tablespoonfuls of grated cheese, season with salt and pepper and put into buttered timbale molds. Stand the molds in a sauce pan and let the water come to half an inch from the top; simmer very gently until the mixture is firm. Serve on rounds of buttered toast.
Lamb Cutlets.—Lay six slices of fat bacon in a frying pan, a diced turnip, a sliced onion and a sliced carrot, a little grated nutmeg and a few spigs of parsley; then on top lay six lamb cutlets, a half cup of orange juice and enough stock to cover. Put on the lid and cook slowly until the cutlets are tender. Remove the sauce pan and let the contents cool. When the cutlets are cold press them between two tablespoonfuls of gelatine in a lit. When it begins to harden, pour a lit. of it into a dish, lay the cutlets close together in this and put the rest on the jelly on top. Allow it to stand on ice for three hours. Mix a pint of cooked peas with half a pint of the aspic jelly and set away to harden. Unmold the cutlets, cut them with a sharpened cutter, arrange on a platter in a circle with the jellied peas in the center.
Junket is a most delicious dessert for a hot day. Add a tablet of rennin to a quart of milk, sweetened and flavored to taste and heated just luke warm. Stir well. It is well to crush the tablet and dissolve it in a tablespoonful of water. Then set the junket away to thicken. Serve with or without whipped cream.

HE rivers eat their banks, The tides devour the sand, The morning sun drinks up the mists, The ocean eats the land; Taxes eat up property, And pride eats out the soul— But moths the diet record hold, Because they eat a hole! —Priscilla Leonard.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.
To outwit the moth, brush the furs or clothing put into the bags or wrapping and into the box or drawer set an uncorked two-ounce bottle of chloroform. This will not only kill the moths, but any eggs which may be in the garments.
Lemon jelly, or in fact any gelatine jellies may be remolded if they are carefully softened by heat. Do not allow the mixture to boil, or it will ruin the flavor. Pour into wet molds and chill.
Melted ice may be used in cakes, cookies and puddings. Chocolate ice cream, with the addition of a little gelatine, may be molded and served as a jelly.
Never throw away even a very small piece of soap. Save all the laundry soap in one dish, the toilet soap in another. The toilet soap may be melted in a little water and cornmeal stirred into it to make a good soap for the hands. The laundry soap, after melting, may be poured into molds to harden and the cakes may then be used for dish washing.
Every one knows how annoying and often destructive rocking chairs may be, used on a rug or carpet with heavy nap. If the rocker is used on a rug and the nap sends the chair toward the walls or other furniture, turn the rug so that the nap runs the other way.
A piece of burlap the size of a tea towel is fine to keep the stove rubbed up. It may be dampened and is thick enough to save the hands.
A blacking box is enough to try the patience of a saint or a man. The cover is so attached to the box that it is hard to pry them apart. When once open, put the blacking in a large topped cold cream jar with a screw top, then there will be no trouble about getting the top off. A piece of elder down makes a good polisher.

Matilda P. Leonard.

The death of Matilda Patience Holden, wife of Wm. E. Leonard, occurred at her home in Genoa at about 2 o'clock Sunday morning, after a long and painful illness. She had been in ill health for many months, but made a brave effort to keep about the house a good portion of the time, until compelled to take to her bed a few weeks since.

The deceased was 62 years of age, and was the daughter of Mary C. and the late John H. Holden of Genoa. She was twice married, her first husband being Frank Smith of Genoa, who died in 1890. On Nov. 26, 1911, she was married to Wm. E. Leonard of Genoa.

Surviving are the husband, the aged mother, Mrs. Mary C. Holden, to whom the affliction of her daughter's death comes very hard, a brother, Warren B. Holden of Ithaca, and a number of nephews and nieces.

Funeral services were held at the home on Tuesday, at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. E. L. Dresser of Ithaca officiating. The house was crowded with relatives and friends of the family, and some were unable to get inside the house. There were a large number of very beautiful floral tributes, including one from the North Lansing Chapter of the Eastern Star, of which the deceased was a member, and one from the Odd Fellows lodge of Genoa.

Burial was made in Genoa cemetery.

Those from out of town in attendance at the funeral were Miss Lillian and Arthur Holden of Ithaca, Mrs. Fred Holden of Syracuse, Mrs. Nellie Crawthors of Auburn, Dewitt Holden of Auburn, Mrs. Eben Beebe of Union Springs, E. L. Bower and Miss Ada Bower of Skaneateles, B. H. Leonard, L. F. Leonard, Mrs. B. C. Wicks, and Miss Ruth Leonard of Auburn, C. D. Holden, Mrs. Caroline Dates, Mr. and Mrs. Orin Drake, Mrs. Wm. Tucker and Mrs. Parke Minturn, all of Lansingville, Mrs. Wm. Dates of Lake Ridge.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our appreciation and thanks to all friends who assisted us in any way during our bereavement, and to those who sent flowers.
Mrs. Mary C. Holden,
Wm. E. Leonard,
W. B. Holden

Dies from Bullet Wound.

Charles Hoyt, aged 68 years, who was accidentally shot while hunting wild geese on the John Neville farm, near Merrifield, last Saturday morning, died at 10 o'clock Monday night at his home in the town of Ledyard.

Hoyt and Lemuel Bancroft, the son of Sheriff Bancroft, went to the Neville farm, where flocks of geese had been feeding on buckwheat stubble, in the morning and had placed about 60 decoys in the field. Just as a flock were about to settle, there was a faint report of a rifle and Hoyt fell forward on his face. The bullet entered the back of the man's head and lodged in his brain, and he failed to regain consciousness after the accident.

The deceased had lived in Ledyard all his life. He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Sarah Thickston, Mrs. Alonzo Austin and Miss Nina Hoyt, all of Ledyard, one son who lives in South Dakota, two sisters, Mrs. Henry Hanford and Mrs. Ernest Young and a brother, Henry Hoyt, of Ledyard.

Investigations as to who fired the fatal shot have been fruitless as yet.

Notice of Posted Lands.

Notice is hereby given that all hunting and trapping on my lands in the town of Ledyard, is forbidden under penalty of the law.

Stop, Look, Listen!

COMPARE, SHOP AROUND BEFORE BUYING!

Are you not tired of reading "We are the people, the only ones who sell without any profit whatever. We are in business simply to accommodate the public, we sell without money, without price. All we want is to have you come and carry away our goods, or, better yet, we will bring them to your door." Now, I am selling goods at as small a profit as honest goods can be sold for. I want you to prove this, investigate and remember "honest is not gold that glitters." I have a splendid, well selected line of new goods. I want to sell them and must have a small profit. I want the money for them and prefer cash down, because my goods have value, reason it out, if people sell on credit where does the money come from to buy new goods. If goods sold on credit are not paid for and have to be taken back, whoever buys them later gets second hand goods. Do YOU want second hand goods? I sell only reliable goods at a lower price than you can get the same article for elsewhere. I do not pay rent. I positively stand back of every article I offer you. I positively guarantee to sell as low or lower than any one else no matter where they are, and, I have never taken back an article to sell again, because I do not do credit business, so when you buy here you may rest assured you do not get second-hand goods that someone else has partly paid for, then because the payments were not met, taken back and sold again. I offer you new goods. I have a beautiful line of Christmas goods. Come to my store and see what beautiful gifts of quality you can get for very little money. Do not think the beautiful hand painted china, rich cut glass, deposit ware, pictures, silver, gold and leather goods are not the real thing because I sell them so low. Bear in mind I am connected with two other large jewelry stores in two other towns, we buy direct, we own our stores, we make small profits and the public gets the benefit, and our success shows the public appreciates it.

WILSON WEDDING CEREMONY

Historic Mansion Scene of but Twelve Ceremonies in a Century.

WHEN Miss Jessie Wilson, second daughter of the president, becomes the wife of Francis Bowes Sayre on Nov. 25 she will have the distinction of being the thirteenth young woman in the history of the republic who has been wedded within the historic walls of the White House. "All the world loves a lover," and a love affair that finds its denouement behind the classic portals of the president's official residence holds an interest to the public that is quite above and beyond that of ordinary, everyday romances. In a sense the executive mansion is the people's own house, and so it naturally follows that one who is married there is in some degree the chosen child of all the great family of whom the president is the official head.

For generations the White House has been a familiar figure to the Amer-lean people. It has stood a central landmark in the national capital since the time of its founding and is known the world over as the home of the chief executive of the republic. Grecian in its architecture, it stands a monument to the stern simplicity of the true ideals of the nation.

So it happens that whenever a wedding takes place within the White House the nation is prone to weave a mystical web of beauty and romance about the principals that sets theirs quite apart from other weddings and pedestals them high in the court of the country's affection and regard.

Previous White House Bridals.

Prior to Miss Wilson's wedding there have been just twelve young women fortunate enough to have their weddings celebrated within the executive mansion. The last of these was Miss Alice Roosevelt, the daughter of President Roosevelt, who was married to Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio on Feb. 17, 1906. Until then there had not been a White House wedding for nearly twenty years, the previous nuptials being those of Miss Frances Folsom, now the wife of Professor Thomas J. Preston of Princeton, to President Grover Cleveland on June 2, 1886.

The marriage of Miss Alice Roosevelt was one of the most brilliant ceremonies ever held in the White House, differing much from some of those in the last century. Some of the White House marriages have been severely simple, and the approaching wedding also will partake largely of the democratic simplicity which is the dominant note in the daily life of the bride and her family, but Miss Roosevelt's marriage, like the first held in the White House, which was in President Madison's administration, was accompanied by much display.

Early Administrations Brideless.

In the early days of the republic, when the nation's capital was located at New York and Philadelphia, there were no weddings at the executive mansion. Nellie Custis, the beautiful and charming stepdaughter of General Washington, was too young to be married during the period that he occupied the presidency, and the second president, John Adams, was unfortunately in having no young people in his household during his incumbency.

President Jefferson's administration was the first that began and ended in the White House. He was a widower, and whatever success his administration had of a social character was due to the presence of Mrs. Madison, wife of the secretary of state and the greatest social factor of Washington official life.

The election of James Madison brought this most popular of American women to the highest social position in the republic.

There were two weddings in the White House while she was its mistress, and she took as much delight in making them happy occasions as though both brides had been her own children. The first wedding to occur in the president's house was that of the widow of a nephew of George Washington, Lucy Payne, Mrs. Madison's younger sister, who was married at the age of fifteen, in 1792, to George Steptoe Washington, and lived during her widowhood with the Madisons in Washington.

THIRTEENTH IN WHITE HOUSE

Some Were Brilliant and Others Exceedingly Simple in Form.

Payne-Todd Wedding.

The engagement of this sister in the winter of 1810 to Justice Todd of the supreme court, a widower, many years older than herself, the father of five children and a resident of the then far distant state of Kentucky, was approved by her family, and Mrs. Madison reveled in the preparations for the fine wedding she gave the couple, it was celebrated on the evening of March 11, 1811.

The second White House wedding took place after the war of 1812 was ended. The bride was a relative of Mrs. Madison by marriage, Miss Anna Todd of Philadelphia, and the bridegroom was a member of congress from Virginia, John G. Jackson, a great-uncle of "Stonewall" Jackson.

The third wedding was that of Miss Marie Monroe to Lawrence Gouverneur, being the daughter of a president. It might have been expected that the occasion of her wedding would have been marked by great festivity. But such was not the case, and the affair was a distinct disappointment to those who thought they had a right to expect more from the White House family.

Monroe Marriage Simple.

Mrs. Monroe was a city bred woman. She had been brought up in the exclusive circle of New York, and she did not approve of the Virginia style. So the wedding of her youngest daughter was the reverse of a grand affair.

The circular or blue room was chosen for the wedding, and the Rev. Dr. Hawley of St. John's church performed the ceremony, which took place at noon.

The fourth marriage celebrated in the president's house was that of John Adams, the son and private secretary of President John Quincy Adams. He was married to his cousin, Helen Jackson of Philadelphia. Miss Jackson was a niece of Mrs. Adams, and her brother, Walter Jackson, was a secretary to the president and lived in the White House.

It was an evening affair, and the ceremony was performed Feb. 10, 1828, in the blue room in the presence of a distinguished gathering. Dr. Hawley officiated on this occasion as he had done at Miss Monroe's wedding, and the president and Mrs. Adams, though it was known that they did not wholly approve of the match, made the wedding a notably gay one.

The Jackson Administration.

Andrew Jackson's administration succeeded that of John Quincy Adams, and it is recalled as one during which there were three weddings.

The fifth marriage in White House history was that of Miss Delia Lewis of Nashville, Tenn., whose father, William B. Lewis, was one of President Jackson's most intimate personal friends. He practically lived in the president's house and was a member of that famous kitchen cabinet caricatured so persistently in that day.

Miss Lewis was married to Mr. Alphonse Joseph Yver Pagoot, a native of Martinique, who was secretary of the French legation at the time of his marriage.

President Jackson was intensely fond of his wife's relatives and, being a childless widower and having no relative in the world of his own, gathered about him many young people,

WHITE HOUSE WEDDINGS.

Twelve weddings have been held in the White House in the history of the United States. The marriage of Miss Jessie Wilson will be the thirteenth. The twelve are:

- 1811—Lucy Payne Washington to Judge Todd.
- 1812—Anna Todd to Representative John G. Jackson.
- 1820—Marie Monroe to Lawrence Gouverneur.
- 1828—Helen Jackson to John Adams.
- 1829—Delia Lewis to Alphonse Joseph Yver Pagoot; Mary Easton to Lucien B. Polk; Emily Martin to Lewis Randolph.
- 1842—Elizabeth Tyler to William Waller.
- 1874—Nellie Grant to Algernon Charles Frederick Sartoris.
- 1878—Emily Platt to General Russell Hastings.
- 1886—Frances Folsom to President Cleveland.
- 1906—Alice Roosevelt to Representative Nicholas Longworth.

among whom were several of Mrs. Jackson's nieces.

Mary Easton, a Tennessee girl, was one of these nieces, and when she was married to Lucien B. Polk of Tennessee the president arranged to have the ceremony take place in the Blue room.

Another White House marriage that occurred during President Jackson's administration was that of Miss Emily Martin, a niece of Mrs. Donelson, who became the bride of Lewis Randolph, a grandson of Jefferson.

Tyler-Waller Marriage.

The eighth wedding to occur in the White House was that of Miss Elizabeth Tyler, daughter of the president of that name, to William Waller of Virginia, the bride being but nineteen years of age, on Jan. 31, 1842.

The next wedding, the ninth to occur in the White House, did not take place until the Grant administration, when the general's beautiful daughter, Ellen, or Nellie, as she is better known, became the bride of Mr. Algernon Sartoris. The ceremony, which was without doubt the most brilliant function held at the White House during her father's tenure there, has become a recollection to which all who witnessed it delight to revert.

It was the first wedding to be celebrated in the east room and took place on May 21, 1874, or nearly thirty years after the Tyler wedding.

The Tenth Bridal.

The tenth White House wedding was that of Miss Emily Platt, niece of President Hayes, who was married to General Russell Hastings on June 19, 1878. The bride had been to the president and Mrs. Hayes as a daughter, and she had lived in their home for many years, going to the White House with them from Ohio.

When next the blue room was decorated for a marriage ceremony the wedding was that of President Cleveland, the first president to be married in the White House.

Miss Frances Folsom, the bride, was twenty and was noted as being graceful and winsome. Her engagement to the president was made in the summer of 1885. Soon after she went to Europe with her mother and remained there until a few days before her wedding. That occurred on the evening of June 2, 1886, at 7 o'clock, in the blue room.

Roosevelt-Longworth Nuptials.

The wedding of Miss Alice Roosevelt to the then Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio in 1906 is of too recent date to need more than passing mention. It was the twelfth of the series and was by far the most brilliant ceremony ever held in the White House, with the single exception, perhaps, of that of President Cleveland and Miss Folsom. It took place in the east room, where the coming nuptials of Miss Wilson and Mr. Sayre are to take place.

Yet while Miss Jessie Wilson will have the distinction of being the thirteenth young woman to become a bride in the White House, as mentioned at the beginning of this article, it is by no means certain that hers will be the only wedding ceremony to be held there during her father's administration. The president has two other daughters, who vie with their sister in charm and attractiveness, and it is by no means impossible that the names of one or both of these may yet be added to the distinguished list of White House brides.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

ALCOHOL A CRIME PRODUCER

When Taken in Large Quantities Digestive Organs Are Deranged and Other Harm is Wrought.

"When alcohol is taken habitually in large quantities," says Professor Brubaker in his physiology, published last year, "it deranges the activities of the digestive organs, lowers the body temperature, impairs muscle power, lessens the resistance to depressing external conditions, diminishes the capacity for sustained work, and leads to the development of structural changes in the connective tissue of the brain, spinal cord and other organs."

Dr. DeWitt G. Wilcox, a lecturer at the Boston University School of Medicine, quoting the above in a recent public address, said:

"It is this structural change in the brain produced by alcohol which interests us from the standpoint of the criminologist. We have seen that slight changes in the brain structures, such as pressure from depressed fragments of bone or even adhesions of membranes, may produce marked effects upon temperament and judgment. Alcohol and other powerful poisons are like a depressed fracture of the skull; the longer they continue to exert their pressure the more impossible does it become to restore the brain to a normal condition. Eventually the brain tissue undergoes irreparable changes, and the possessor is an abnormal man with possible criminal tendencies.

"Were our government to license certain men to go about the streets and crack on the head with a club a stipulated number of men, and were that blow gauged sufficiently accurate to produce in each instance a depressed fracture of the skull in each victim, he or the government would be doing no more to create criminals, idiots, invalids and paupers than we are now doing by licensing certain men to sell alcohol to a stipulated number of men whose brain tissue will not stand the assaults of repeated doses of alcohol.

"We need to be re-educated upon the subject of alcoholism and the textbook from which we should learn the new facts should have the title, 'Alcoholism is a disease and like all other preventable disease it must and shall be eradicated.' Then it behooves physicians, teachers, educators, judges, jurists, legislators and parents to carry on a campaign of education which shall be so enlightening that a normal person would no more think of taking alcohol into his system than he would think of taking typhoid or tuberculosis or syphilis germs."

WHEN DRINKER SAW HIMSELF

Verbatim Report of Conversation Young Man of Fine Family Had With Friend Reforms Him.

A young man of fine family, with splendid gifts, heedless of the pleadings of friends, was going down fast through drink.

A friend of his, seated near him in a restaurant one evening, overheard a conversation which he was having with his companion. He was just drunk enough to be talkative about his private affairs, which, in his sober moments, he would never have revealed. The friend, being a court stenographer, took a full report of every word he said, and the next day sent him a copy. In less than ten minutes in he came, exclaiming, "What is this?"

"A nographic report of your monologue at the restaurant last evening," said his friend.

"Did I really talk like that?" he asked faintly.

"I assure you it is an absolutely verbatim report," was the reply.

Turning pale he walked out. He never drank another drop.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC IN AFRICA

Immense Quantities of Whisky, Brandy, Gin, Rum and Absinthe Sent to the Dark Continent.

IS LAST OBSTRUCTION TO CANAL NAVIGATION.

Engineers With Big Force Opening Way Through Cucaracha Slide.

The task of opening a way through Cucaracha slide, the sole remaining obstacle to the navigation of the Panama canal, has been carried on as "rush work" since the blowing up of the Gamboa dike, according to the Canal Record.

The engineers have been putting forth herculean efforts to clear a navigable channel through this nearly half mile long obstruction, but owing to the peculiar mobility of the vast mass of earth and rock the work of hundreds of shovels and thousands of gallons of jettied water is often undone overnight by a slumping back into place of the material removed or by additional slides from the sides of the channel.

A ton and a half of dynamite was exploded in one blast Oct. 10 without any substantial result so far as increasing the flow of water across the dam was concerned. Since that date three shifts of men, working eight hours each in rotation, have been trying to create a channel by stufing with hose and hydraulic monitors. Before this attack the material had been yielding slowly, and finally the engineers have utilized a big suction dredge.

Meanwhile the sharp rise in the level of Gatun lake Oct. 21 has increased the size of the ditch so that now 7,000,000 cubic feet of water daily is passing over the slide, and by this time sufficient water has been admitted to fill the two miles of Culbra cut between the slide and the first of the Pacific locks, enabling the big steam dredges to enter the cut and operate on the earth barrier.

TAKES LIVE FISH TO PARIS.

Railway Car Fitted With Tanks is Showing Good Results.

According to advices from Paris, an innovation in the transport and sale of living fish has been inaugurated by President Nigg of the French Syndicate of Fish Culture. The Fish Trade company, founded by M. Nigg, has rented from a railroad a car used ordinarily to transport merchandise and has turned it into a special vehicle.

There are tank arrangements with constantly fresh running water, and special provision is made for certain sorts of fish needing more oxygen than others.

The car is already showing good results. Its first trip brought 800 kilos of fish from the Dordogne to Paris without any appreciable loss.

The company has also installed large receiving tanks in Paris for the fish and their sale while living.

PLOTTED TO KILL SCORES.

Nicaraguans Ready to Wipe Out President and Deputies.

The frustrated plot to assassinate President Adolfo Diaz of Nicaragua and all his ministers on Oct. 29 was laid by the conspirators with remarkable care, according to details just published in Nicaragua. The plotters, it appears, were members of the Liberal party and had divided themselves into three groups, the first charged with the work of killing the president and two cabinet ministers while they were driving together in a carriage in Managua, the second to assassinate Vice President Fernando Solozano and the third to throw dynamite bombs among the members of the chamber of deputies while it was gathered in session.

The discovery of the conspirators while they were holding a meeting to arrange the final details of the plot was purely accidental.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

For Slight Burns.
Put the part instantly in cold water, or cover it with moistened baking powder and then with a wet cloth. When the skin is destroyed the point to be attained is to exclude the air. Do this by covering the burn with sweet oil, cream, carrol oil, lard or with flour spread thickly on a linen cloth or on cotton batting. An excellent covering for burned surfaces is made by mixing common whiting (used in kitchens for polishing purposes) with sweet oil, olive, cottonseed or other oil, or even water, into a thick paste. With this the burn is carefully covered by means of a feather, taking care not to break the blister; then the whole part is covered with cotton cloth and kept clean and moist.

His Card.

E. H. Sothern, the actor, confesses to a habit which sometimes has its disadvantages. It is his custom to make memoranda of things which occur to him from time to time on his calling cards or other odd bits of paper he may have in his pockets. He tells this as one of his experiences: "I had occasion to call at the home of Grover Cleveland, and I sent up my card. In a few minutes Mrs. Cleveland came in to receive me, the card still in her hand and about her mouth a rather odd smile.

"I think perhaps I had better return this to you," she said.

"I took it. On the back I had written: 'Socks, pajamas, one dozen col-lars.'"—New York Tribune.

A Hearty Welcome.

Mrs. Clay telephoned to a friend that she would come down and spend the day.

"Well, here I am!" she exclaimed cheerily as the little daughter of the hostess opened the door.

"Yes," replied the child; "I'm glad to see you, and I know mother will be glad, too, for she said this morning when you phoned that she was thankful she was going to have the visit over with."—Lippincott's.

Most Civilized Nation.

The question "Which is the most civilized nation on earth?" is difficult to answer. Civilization is a very elastic term and is understood differently in different times and places. In scientific attainment, education, wealth and all the things that go along with wealth the United States, Great Britain and Germany would appear to lead the procession, with some other nations following closely; but, taking all things into consideration, eliminating the sole matter of wealth, the most civilized country on earth is probably Norway. In that far northern land the ideal civilization—that is, the civilization that rests on common sense and justice—seems to have matured to a greater extent than it has anywhere else.—New York American.

A Rather Novel Complaint.

An English traveler once met a companion sitting in a state of the most woeful despair and apparently near the last agonies by the side of one of the mountain lakes of Switzerland. He inquired the cause of his sufferings. "Oh," said the latter, "I was very hot and thirsty and took a large draft of the clear water of the lake and then sat down on this stone to consult my guidebook. To my astonishment, I found that the water of this lake is very poisonous! Oh, I am a gone man! I feel it running all over me. I have only a few minutes to live. Remember me to"—

"Let me see the guidebook," said his friend. Turning to the passage, he found, "L'eau du lac est bien poisonneuse" (The water of this lake abounds in fish).

"Is that the meaning of it?" "Certainly." The dying man looked up with a radiant countenance. "What would have become of you," said his friend, "if I had not met you?" "I should have died of imperfect knowledge of the French language."

Winning the Victoria Cross.

This is the story of the act of gallantry for which Lieutenant Roberts won the V. C. at Khodagunje. After a pursuit which had continued for nearly five miles a body of mutineers had been overtaken, who faced about and fired into the squadron at close quarters. Roberts saw Yonghusband fall, but could not go to his assistance, as at that moment one of his sowars was in dire peril from a sepoy who was attacking him with a fixed bayonet, and had he not helped the man and disposed of his opponent he must have been killed. Roberts then deserted a sepoy making off with a standard and rode after the rebels and overtook them, and while wrenching the staff out of the hands of one of them, whom he cut down, was nearly killed by another man who put his musket close to his body, but the weapon fortunately missed fire, and he carried off the standard.—Cornhill Magazine.

Water From the Yangtze.

There is a saying in China that to make a perfect cup of tea you must take leaves from Mingshan and water from the Yangtze. No one supposed the actual turbid river water to be meant, but no one could explain the proverb until De Rosthorn, who wrote an interesting treatise on Chinese tea, solved the problem or thought he did. De Rosthorn was once crossing the Yangtze near its mouth, at Chenkiang, when he saw some men in a boat dipping water into buckets. He inquired why they did that and was told that at the bottom of the bay there was a spring, remembered since the time when the present river bed was dry land, and that this spring water was highly esteemed in cookery. Here, then, he concluded, he had found that special water of the Yangtze which, with Mingshan leaves, made the best cup of tea in the world.

Some Ball Game.

The several members of the family had been telling what they would do if they owned the world. Mother would abolish poverty. Father would provide absolute justice for all. Sister Sarah would give every woman the vote. Finally the views of ten-year-old Johnny were sought. "What 'ud I do if I owned the world?" said he, looking up from a geography he had been studying. "Well, I'll tell you what I'd do. First I'd get old Atlas to sign up two baseball teams among his brothers and cousins; then I'd lay out a diamond on the desert of Sahara, put the Rocky mountains around it for a fence, give the players the moon for a ball and the north pole for a bat, and, say, maybe I wouldn't sit on top of Pike's peak and see some ball game!"—Judge.

Well Named.

"In some parts of Brazil there are birds with bills a yard long," said the tall man. "What do they call them?" asked the short man. "Plumber birds," replied the tall man. —Cincinnati Enquirer.

Where George Eliot Went to School.

The ancient cottage at Griff, Warwickshire, in which nearly a century ago was held the first school attended by George Eliot, is situated two miles from Nuneaton, exactly opposite the entrance gates of Griff House, which for twenty years was the residence of George Eliot's father, Robert Evans, the original Adam Bede, and subsequently tenanted by Isaac Evans, the Tom Tulliver of "The Mill on the Floss."—London Times.

Impostor and Malefactor.

Carlyle used to tell of an old Scotchwoman who, speaking to her family, said: "There's twa sons, baith doin' weel in Glasgie. T'ane's an impostor, and t'ither's a malefactor." It was found that she meant "upholsterer" and "manufacturer."

Where the Cost Comes.

"Does it take much money to send a boy to college?" asked the boob. "No," replied the cheerful idiot. "It's keeping him there that takes the coin."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Coral Tooth Powder.

The debris left from coral made into articles of jewelry, etc., is crushed, scented and sold as tooth powder at a high price by east Indian perfumers.

Alike in One Way.

"He's quite wealthy and prominent now," said Mrs. Starvem, "and they say he rose practically from nothing." "Well, well!" remarked Mr. Boarder. "That's just what I rose from—at the breakfast table this morning."—London Answers.

Diplomacy.

The Fussy Patron—Why, mercy, this shoe is a 6! The Tired Clerk—Pardon me, madam, you have it upside down. It is really a 9—child's size. What a perfect fit!—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Social Calls in China.

It is difficult for a Chinaman to master the English pronunciation, and this accounts in great measure for the prevalence of pidgin English. The letter r is almost always sounded like l, so we have ki-lin or kleen for green and lain for rain. "Too muchee lain just now" is often heard, "just now" being a favorite expression to denote the immediate present. In calling upon a lady one says to the boy (house servant of any age from sixteen to sixty), "Misee have got?" and the answer comes, "Have got" or "No have got," according to whether she is in or out. This recalls the time honored, true story of the lady who called and the boy reported to his mistress of the house. "One piecee man down side, b'long missus." Scarcely complimentary to the "piecee man!"—Amy W. Hotchkiss in National Magazine.

Lightship Risks.

It would seem that the perils of a lightship crew in a gale exceed even those of a lighthouse keeper. Mr. Talbot, in his "Lightships and Light-houses," gives an example of the havoc played by one Atlantic wave in the case of the lightship that guards the terrible rocky fangs known as the "Seven Stones," which lie between Land's End and the Scilly Isles: "Once a wave tumbled aboard, crashed a man against the pump, knocked him half senseless; picked up the life-boat and threw it against the deck-house, and in so doing caught another member of the crew, mauling his thigh badly in passing. Two out of the seven men forming the crew were thus put hors de combat by a single wave."

Peculiar Japanese Rite.

Segitera temple, in the province of Ise, Japan, is the scene each July of a peculiar rite dedicated to the worship of Acalanatha, the faithful servant of Buddha. The rite is known as a "goma" (a corruption of Sanskrit "homa") or "burning." Buddha taught that the cause of suffering is desire, and therefore the priests of the Shingon, a Japanese sect of Buddhism, kindle a fire to consume all human desires, at the same time offering prayers to Acalanatha. In one matter the rite may be said to defeat its own ends, for it attracts a crowd of farmers full of desire to obtain embers or ashes from the fire which is supposed to have consumed all desires. The tradition is that the possession of an ember or ashes from the sacred fire insures a farmer good crops the next autumn.—Argonaut.

Knew He Was Honest.

A man who kept a small shop was waiting on a single customer early one morning. His little boy and he were alone at the time, and the shopkeeper was obliged to go upstairs for some change. Before doing so he whispered to the little chap to watch the customer to see that he didn't steal anything. Very soon the proprietor returned with the necessary change, and the boy sang out, "He didn't steal anything, pa; I watched him!"

Rats.

In America it is estimated that the number of rats is nearly equal to the population, but they are not nearly as dangerous or destructive as the rats found in many of the foreign countries and are more easily exterminated. It is estimated by Professor Elliott that there are 40,000,000 rats in the British Isles. India's population is outnumbered by rats to the extent of four rats to each human being.

Consulting His Comfort.

"You encourage your boy to use slang?" "Well, I don't exactly encourage him. But I must admit that he causes me less personal annoyance than my daughter, who is constantly criticizing my grammar."—Washington Star.

Malapropism.

Visitor—Your husband gets a lot of sentiment out of his pipe. Mrs. Rich-quick—Goodness, yes! It is perfectly disgusting to see him clean it!—Judge.

Insects That Walk on Water.

Insects that walk on the water by means of pneumatic floats are the familiar water and the pond skater spider. Not many people know why they can walk on the water. The pond skater really walks on pneumatic floats. There are tiny hairs on the feet of this insect, so fine that they cannot be seen, that are arranged to collect air. The amount collected in and about these hairs is sufficient to allow the insect to float or walk upon the surface of the water. As each foot is put down it forms a cuplike depression or tiny pit in the water. The foot does not sink because the air bubble that has been formed is too light to let it. A fine covering of hair protects the water spider, too, and even if it is submerged in the water it is never really wet. The hair keeps a layer of air between its body and the water. It looks like a white pearl when below the surface. The scientific name of this curious insect is the Vella currens.—Chicago Tribune.
