Two Things Essential.

"After years of study of the essentials of good voting I have decided that two things are essential to make a person vote well. They are intelligence and morality. I discovered a few days ago that there are 354 men and 5 women in our state penitentiary. I have noticed that women outnumber the men in the churches. If women have sense enough to keep out of the penitentiary and morals enough to go to church it follows that they will make good voters. Suffrage is coming as sure as to-morrow's sun will rise. Nations have adopted and repealed tariff laws but no community where woman suffrage has been adopted has gone back."—William Jennings Bryan.

CONSUMPTION TAKES 350 PEOPLE DAILY

Over 350 people succumb to consumption every day in the United States. Science proves that the germs only thrive when the system is weakened from colds or sickness, overwork, confining duties or when general weakness exists. The best physicians point out that during changing seasons the blood should be made rich and pure and active by taking Scott's Emulsion after meals. The cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion warms the body by enriching the blood; it peculiarly strengthens the lungs and throat, while it rebuilds the resistive forces of the body to avoid colds and prevent consumption. If you work indoors, tire easily, feel languid or nervous, Scott's Emulsion is the most strengthening food-medicine known. It is totally free from alcohol or any stupefying drug. Avoid substitutes.

From Nearby Towns.

West Merrifield.

Jan. 11—Saturday evening last a very pleasant surprise, deftly planned, was given the master of Sherwood Grange, E. T. Casler, at his home here. A delegation of one hundred representing the Grange met at his home and presented him with a couch as a token of appreciation for his faithful and untiring efforts in the interests of the Grange during his three years in office. John Corey of Ledyard in a few well chosen words presented the couch, after which refreshments were served and a pleasant social time enjoyed.

Sherwood.

Jan. 11—Perhaps our silence is thought to be caused by too many holiday festivities. However the town was very quiet except for a Christmas tree and entertainment by the district school at the hall and a Santa Claus party given by Isabel Howland at her home for the neighborhood children.

We judge by the smiling countenances of the autoists that they were much pleased by the big thaw. Floyd Hoxie is again running his express and by the way, perhaps the snow going, is not all that makes him smile. A. B. Comstock took passengers to and from Auburn in his auto Saturday. A queer mixup on the roads of autos, sleighs and wagons.

The entertainment given Monday evening by Benj. A. Nichols was of the best. Too bad such a small audience was present to listen to him.

Mrs. Addie Comstock has been suffering from eczema in face and hands.

Theodore Collins was taken to Auburn hospital Monday last for treatment for blood poisoning. He has been sick many weeks.

Mrs. M. A. Ward, who was called to South Butler three weeks ago on account of sickness in her son's family, has not yet returned.

Miss Williams of Weedsport has been a guest at Isabel Howland's.

Dr. Taber has gone to Ann Arbor, Michigan, for the winter.

We are pleased to report that E. L. White received a prize for window trimmed for Coffee week. It is very encouraging with so many city stores competing.

North Lansing.

The Willing Workers will meet at Mrs. Benton Buck's on Thursday, Jan. 21, for dinner. All are invited.

The L. T. L. will meet this week Saturday afternoon at Mrs. Dana Singer's. A large attendance is expected.

Card.

I wish to thank the many kind friends who sent me cards and remembrances during my recent illness; the Philathea class and others for flowers, and also the one who brought the small but well filled Christmas tree.

Mrs. R. A. Ellison, King Ferry.

Poplar Ridge.

Jan. 11—Our fine sleighing is spoiled. We see as many wagons as sleighs on the road and some automobiles.

Floyd Hoxie made two trips to Auburn last week with his auto truck. J. C. Aldrich was in town for a few days last week.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith Jan. 7, 1914, a daughter.

Mrs. Harry Brewster is ill with tonsillitis.

The revival meetings closed Wednesday evening of last week with the pink rose service. Mr. Lewis and the Misses Aylesworth have gone to Union Springs.

J. H. Painter lost a horse last week.

Mrs. Frank Briggs and daughters were New Year's guests at her father's, Wm. Medlock.

Although a little late for news, we send the following item as no notice of the same has been made in these columns: A quiet but pretty wedding occurred in Poplar Ridge on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 30, 1914, at the home of George Guindon, when his daughter, Miss Josephine Guindon and Floyd Hoxie were united in marriage, Rev. J. R. Walter officiating. On account of the recent death of the bride's mother, no one was present except the immediate families of the bride and groom. The happy couple have the sincere wishes and congratulations of many friends. They will make their home with Mr. Guindon for the present.

Ellsworth.

Jan. 12—Mr. and Mrs. Burdette Streeter entertained a party of friends at a year-end party New Year's Eve.

Miss Ruth Lane is visiting Mrs. J. D. Myers.

Miss Irene Brennan and Mrs. Ida Decker have returned to Aurora after spending the holidays near here.

Mrs. C. Townsend has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. D. Myers.

Mrs. A. B. Locke is now staying in King Ferry, caring for her daughter, Mrs. Davis who is very ill.

News is very scarce in this vicinity. Quite a number from this way attended the entertainment at King Ferry Monday night.

Tuberculosis Campaign.

More than $20,500,000 was spent last year in the campaign against tuberculosis in the United States. Of this sum, 66.8 per cent, was derived from public funds, either federal, state, county or municipal, and the remainder was contributed by private philanthropy. These are some of the interesting figures contained in the annual statistical statement of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, just made public.

Altogether, the metropolis and the other cities and counties, towns and villages of New York spent more public and private funds last year in the tuberculosis campaign than any other two States in the Union, due largely to the increased and rapidly developing movement for city and county care of the tuberculous.

Making a Good Impression.

The earlier a man begins to make a good impression and uses every honorable means to that end, the further he will go in life. The business man's good impression is made first by the stationery, printed matter and advertising literature that he uses. It is of vital importance to the growth and development of his business that he use only such printed matter as will make a favorable impression for his business on the mind of the recipient.—Quids and Quads.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; since cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

King Ferry.

Mr. Fred Tuttle and family are moving to Little Hollow on the farm known as the John Nolan farm.

We are glad to learn that Ray Ellison's family are improving.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES.

Sunday morning, worship and sermon at 10:30. Sermon theme, "The Liquor Traffic the Arch Enemy of Jesus Christ and His Gospel."

Why do not you who are criticizing preaching upon the liquor traffic care enough about the gospel of Jesus Christ to wish to conquer the worst enemy it has in this world; and why do not you who are criticizing realize that Christ can never possess the hearts of multitudes of men as long as this traffic exists? Let the men of this community come to church Sunday and hear and think.

Sunday school at 11:45 a. m. People are becoming enthusiastic about the graded lessons.

Christian Endeavor at 6:15 p. m. Subject, "Make Bold Beginnings;" leader, Mrs. Frank Brill.

Evening worship at seven. Sermon theme, "Prayer and Obedience." Come out and hear what this community most needs.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet in the chapel Tuesday, Jan. 19, at noon. Each one is to bring a lunch, for herself. Election and reports of out-going committees. One comfortable is to be tied. This meeting is called by the president.

Prayer-meeting at 7 p. m. Thursday. Theme, "Lead Us not into Temptation" in the Lord's Prayer series.

Our Home Talent entertainment given by the Sweet Family is to be given some time in February. It is to be the climatic feature of our entertainment course this season.

The men, we say the men, are to give an entertainment and a supper in McCormick's hall on Friday evening, Jan. 22. The entertainment will consist of readings, solos, duets, male quartets, and humor. The men are working with vigor for this affair. They are going to give us something all right. And their lunch; they are going to prepare it and serve it. Notice how skillfully they will do it all. This is to be a stirring affair. The hall will be crowded; therefore come early and get a seat. Entertainment, 20 cents; supper 20 cents. Proceeds for the benefit of the church.

The Washington Jubilee Singers Monday night, pleased every one and gave us a musical feast of negro and classical music with a deep appeal of the gospel. More than 300 people were present; the church was so filled that the gallery had to be used.

Rev. Robert O. Lewis and the Aylesworth Sisters have been called by this church to conduct evangelistic meetings here. We trust they will come to us.

THE BOUNTY FAIR

By Peter Radford
Lecturer National Farmers' Union

The farmer gets more out of the fair than anyone else. The fair is a city man is an education. Let us take a stroll through the fair grounds and linger a moment at a few of the points of greatest interest.

You are now attending a congress of the mental gifts in mechanical science of all ages. They are addressing you in tongues of iron and steel and in language mute and powerful tell an eloquent story of the world's progress.

Their bright intellects have conquered death and they will live and serve mankind on and on forever, without money and without price. They have shown us how grand and noble is the work of others; they have also taught us lessons in economy and efficiency.

They are the most practical men the world ever produced. Their inventions have stood the acid test of utility and efficiency. Like all scientists, they do not seek publicity, yet millions of machines sing their praises from every harvest field on earth and as many plows turn the soil in mute applause of their marvellous achievements.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE
The home is the greatest contribution of women to the world, and the hearthstone is her throne. Our social structure is built around her, and social righteousness is in her charge.

RURAL SOCIAL CENTERS
We need social centers where our young people can be entertained, where they can be instructed in the direction of cultured, clean and competent household management.

An Unfair Attack
When foreign submarines first went into Chinese waters it was found that the Chinese had built forts facing the direction in which the attack was expected to come and had left their rear exposed.

When the English first appeared before the island of Hong-kong they found a formidable fortress crowning the rocks and garrisoned by 7,000 Chinese soldiers. The English commander began to look around for the best place of attack.

When the Chinese were sleeping the English crept the island and at dawn suddenly came upon the Chinese from the rear. The orientals were thrown into wild consternation and one officer who could speak some English ran out and wildly waving his flag of truce, faced the approaching troops.

Have you had a kindness shown? I was not given to you alone. Let it travel down the years, Let it wipe another's tears. This heaven the deed appears.

An Awful Possibility
Breathlessly he rushed into the barber shop. His hat, collar and necktie were off in a trice, and he sprang into the chair over which old Fritz presided.

A Substitute For Bread
An amusing anecdote is told of Lord Cardigan, a British general who fought in the Crimean war when a coalition of England, France, Turkey and Sardinia fought Russia.

His New Acquaintance
When John D. Rockefeller's motor car stopped in front of a store in New York the other day Thomas Murphy, a laborer, recognized the occupant of the car.

Do the Right Thing
That which can be done with perfect convenience and without loss is not always the thing that most needs to be done, or which we are most imperatively required to do.

Queer Warning
An English village an official notice reads as follows: "The public are warned against using the well for domestic purposes unless previously boiled."

LOST HIS ONE CHANCE

He was on the Watch for it, too, but it gave him the slip.

In the western city an alderman had tried for fifteen years to win the majority office. Time and again he had run, only to be defeated. It so happened that the election for aldermen was in an off year from that of the mayor.

At last the alderman could wait no longer. Ten days was too much for a mayor to be away. He drove to the mayor's house one bright day to ask him why he didn't delegate some one to let for him now that he had been ill so long.

Admirably Equipped
Cardinal Mezzofanti, the famous Italian linguist, who died at the age of seventy-five, knew and could speak more than fifty languages.

Genoa Presbyterian Church.

Morning service at 11 o'clock. Last Sunday morning we had a splendid time together at our Communion service. Surely everyone present was greatly encouraged to see quite a number take a stand for Christ and unite with His church. There was a large congregation present to show their interest in this special service. If it means anything to you to have a church in your home community, will you not show that fact by your attendance on her services?

Sunday school at close of morning service. Everyone should feel that there is a place for him in the Sunday school. Last Sunday we had the largest attendance for some time. Come and enjoy with us this part of our work.

Christian Endeavor at 6:30. Topic: "Make Bold Beginnings."

Evening song and preaching service at 7:30. Never lasts over one hour.

Mid-week service, Thursday evening at 7:45. Continuation study of Romans. During the past weeks, men have been conspicuous by their absence at this service. Should you not be as interested in this work as is your wife or daughter? The young people are also encouraged to come.

The annual meeting of the Second Presbyterian church of Genoa will be held Monday, Jan. 18, at 7:00 p. m., at the church, for the purpose of electing an elder and two trustees, the latter to succeed Arthur Mead and Arthur Knapp, whose terms of office then expire; and to transact any other business which may properly come before the meeting. All are cordially invited.

(Signed) Rose M. Wilson, clerk. The above meeting is a most important one for the whole community. Do not lay your responsibility upon someone else, but make it convenient to be present in person. The meeting is not intended for members of the church alone, but also for members of the congregation. It is sometimes claimed in every church, that a few people run the church. If you have had this idea, you are especially urged to attend this meeting, and have your opinion registered on the questions to be decided upon.

Brownell-Redfield.

The Mason City (Iowa) Times of Dec. 28, contained the following item, which will be of interest to old residents of Genoa, as Richard D. Brownell was born in Genoa, and lived here many years.

"On the evening of Dec. 27 at 9 p. m., at the home of Dr. and Mrs. McEwen, 316 North Washington avenue, occurred the marriage of Mrs. Florence Redfield and Mr. Richard Brownell, Rev. John Wallace Welsh, former pastor of the Congregational church, officiated. The wedding was a quiet affair, only the immediate friends being present."

Mrs. Adarista Fox.

After a seven weeks' illness, Mrs. Adarista Fox of Venice Center, died Saturday last at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. C. L. Maine, in Auburn where she had made her home since she was taken ill. Mrs. Fox, who was 71 years of age, was the widow of Calvin Fox of Venice Center. Besides her sister-in-law, she leaves one nephew, Frederick Maine of Auburn.

The funeral was held Monday noon at the place of death. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Leon A. Losey, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church. Burial at Scipio Center.

Auction Sale.

Wm. P. Stephenson, administrator of the estate of the late Hannah Stephenson, will sell at public auction, 1 mile south of Five Corners, Tuesday, Jan. 19, at 12 o'clock sharp the following property: The heirs of the late Hannah Stephenson offer for sale 50 acres of land, Chunk stoves, tables, bedroom suits, springs, mattresses, chairs, rockers, carpet, 2 couches, canned fruit, rugs, cooking utensils, 20 gal. meat jar, potato crates, tanning mill, plow, etc.

J. A. Greenfield, auctioneer. We would like your name on our subscription list.

Farmers' Week.

Arrangements already completed ought to make the eighth annual farmers' week at Cornell from Feb. 8 to 13, the most successful so far held, according to the authorities of the college of agriculture who have been at work on the program.

Based on the attendance of previous years it is estimated that there should be at least 3,500 persons present. There will be lectures, exhibits, and practical demonstrations on various farm subjects such as, potato-growing, poultry raising, dairying, forestry, home-making, farm management, insect control, vegetable gardening, and flower growing. Rural schools, churches, and community organizations will also come in for a large share of attention. At the same time there will be held a number of conventions or conferences of societies which deal with agriculture and allied interests. Among others, there will be meetings of the state drainage convention, floral club federations, the state poultry association, rural engineering society, vegetable growers' association, and the country church conference.

In addition to the educational features of the week there will be a large number of social gatherings and entertainments. Three speaking contests for the agricultural students will be held during the week; there will be a number of illustrated lectures, concerts, and an organ recital on the new pipe organ in the auditorium.

The railroads are offering special reduced round-trip rates from all points in the state.

An illustrated announcement giving detailed information about farmers' week may be obtained free by application to the state college of agriculture at Ithaca.

Wyness Conrad Dead.

The death of Wyness Conrad occurred early Sunday morning last at the Masonic Home, Utica, where he has resided for the past fourteen years. The deceased was born and lived for many years in the town of Lansing. He lived at one time in Broomé county, and later in Cortland and Groton. He would have been 92 years old had he lived until February. He was one of the oldest Masons in the state.

Surviving is an only daughter, Mrs. Glenn W. King of King Ferry. Mrs. King went to Utica on Friday last as her father was ill, but he improved rapidly and was so much better that she returned home Saturday night. But death came at an early hour Sunday. Mrs. King went to Auburn on Monday, where the funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Walker undertaking rooms. Services were conducted by Rev. A. S. Yantis and burial took place in Fort Hill cemetery.

Mr. King also went to Auburn on Tuesday to attend the funeral.

Old Summerhill Resident.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mastin, widow of Adam Mastin, aged 92 years, died late Saturday afternoon after an illness of several days of pneumonia. She had always lived in North Summerhill and in former years was an active member of the M. E. church. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Edward Gray of Cortland and Mrs. Hattie Mastin of North Summerhill; four sons, Dr. N. W. Mastin of Wellsboro, Pa., Edward and Orrin Mastin of North Summerhill and Arthur Mastin of Moravia. The funeral was held at the home of her son, Orrin Mastin, Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Rev. O. D. Fisher, pastor of the Methodist church of Moravia, officiated. Interment in Indian Mound cemetery, Moravia.

To the very end Mrs. Mastin enjoyed the full use of all her faculties. She was possessed of a remarkable retentive memory and was interested in the news of the day. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Webster and through her father, she was related to the family of Noah Webster.

State Agricultural Meeting.

The seventy-fifth annual meeting of the New York State Agricultural society will be held at the State Capitol, Albany, on Jan. 20 and 21.

Topics for discussion include marketing of farm products, farm finance, co-operation in agriculture, the township school system, a debate for and against the single tax on land.

Among the speakers will be Hon. James W. Wadsworth, Jr., United States Senator from New York, Hon. Calvin J. Huson, Commissioner of Agriculture, Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, President Iowa State College, Hon. James Wood, former President State Agricultural society, Dr. B. T. Galloway, Dean New York State College of Agriculture, Mrs. Julian Heath, President National Housewives' league.

A banquet will be given Thursday evening, and a reunion of ex-presidents of the society will be held.

Regents' Examinations.

Regents' examinations will be held in Genoa High school next week, as follows:

Monday, 9:15 a. m.—Geography, El. algebra. 1:15 p. m.—Spelling, Anc. history.

Tuesday, a. m.—Arithmetic; p. m., El. English.

Wednesday, a. m.—Biology; p. m., El. U. S. history with civics.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reas will leave Genoa, Feb. 1, for Solon, Cortland Co., where Mr. Reas will be employed on a farm, near his old home before coming to Genoa. Mr. and Mrs. Reas will be greatly missed among the young people of Genoa.

It is interesting to note that in 1915 there will be the least number of eclipses possible in a year. Two is the least number possible in one year and when this occurs both must be of the sun. There will be two eclipses this year but neither of them will be visible here. One occurs on Feb. 14 and the other on Aug. 10.

"Stormy Nights are Now Delights"

That is what every one who owns an Edison Phonograph says—do not delay, just come at once to my store and allow me to demonstrate this king of all machines. I take particular pride in the fact that every phonograph I sell is absolutely perfect. I examine every reproducer as carefully as I do the watches I place in stock. I never rent machines. You get the first use of them also all my records are new. An Edison Phonograph is an unending source of delight, it never tires.

—One of the first cases which we have heard of in which an automobile owner seeks damages from the driver of a carriage, who was violating the state law in regard to carrying a light, was started in Geneva recently, when an autoist sued to recover $175 damages which he claimed his automobile sustained from a collision with the defendant's rig, on one of the city streets last October, because the latter was proceeding without a light. A few cases like this may convince those who drive horse-drawn vehicles at night that it is for their interests to comply with the law.

ONION IMPORTANT STAPLE.

Adaptability to Storage in a Mature State Enhances its Value.

The onion is one of the most important vegetable crops grown in the United States, says a bulletin of the agricultural experiment station of the University of Illinois. It is used in both the immature and mature stages and can be found in all large markets in one or both forms throughout the entire year. tively imperishable nature also adapts it to long distance shipment, rough handling and keeping for a considerable time even under unfavorable conditions.

The onions may remain in the curing shed until there is danger of freezing. Then they must be either marketed or placed in winter storage. In the absence of a curing shed and onion crates, a considerable quantity of onions could be cured in a corn crib if one were available. The onions should be spread over the floor of the crib in a layer not over three or four inches deep. If there are more onions than enough to cover the floor false floors about one foot apart could be put in and thus the capacity of the crib greatly increased. On a small scale onions may be spread out in a tub level to almost any dry place where the air will circulate freely throughout them. Unless thoroughly cured onions will not keep.

STORING VEGETABLES.

The Best Way to Keep Them and Apples Through the Winter.

Only good, sound heads of cabbage should be selected for winter storage, says a contributor to the Wyoming Farm Bulletin. An loose leaves should be removed and the heads placed on shelves, if possible, in a cool cellar. Apples also should be sound and kept in a cool place. They should be sorted from time to time and any that are beginning to decay taken out.

Beets, parsnips, carrots, turnips and such vegetables contain a large percentage of water. Consequently when stored any length of time they lose a good deal of their water and shrink and wither up. For use in a small family, where only a bushel or two of each kind of vegetable is used during the winter, storing in sand is the best way of keeping them. A layer of sand is placed in a box, then a layer of vegetables, and so on until the box is full. The sand keeps the moisture in the vegetables, and they will remain fresh and plump until spring.

A part of the crop of parsnips should be left in the ground until spring. The ground should not be plowed until the ground is in the spring than in the fall. Vegetables that have become shrunken through the loss of their moisture can be made plump and moist again by soaking for half an hour in cold water before paring.

Winter Squash

The squash is not fully appreciated by a great many housekeepers. It should occupy a prominent place in the diet of every family. The winter varieties are easily kept all winter. They should be harvested with care to avoid bruising and stored in a warm, dry room.

FLOWERS IN WINTER.

Flowers, like people, require fresh air. Ideal conditions of temperature and ventilation for human beings will be found satisfactory for flowers.

It won't hurt plants to have a dust occasionally to remove the dust from the leaves and open up the pores. This is best done by placing the plant in the sink or a tub and spraying the leaves with water. A damp sponge can be used for this purpose. If necessary a little soap may be used.

If the leaves are yellow or yellowish, it is a sign that you have been overwatering the plant or possibly have been drowning it. Sometimes ants and other insects will get on the plant and ruin it. If you see any signs of insects, use a little kerosene or other insecticide.

Flax for Christmas.

Any woman who cares for flax will like a set of flax for Christmas.

According to the Dry Goods Economist, natural blue flax and dyed blue flax are much in vogue. As the real blue flax is so high in price that it will not become a big factor in the smaller stores, the dyed flax, which closely imitates this coloring, are mostly shown, as they are offered in medium priced qualities.

As these flax are quite as suitable for the matron as for the miss, they will doubtless be an important item in the Christmas showings. Other flax in novelty sets which are in good demand are fitch, skunk, beaver, ermine, the variety of foxes, civet cat, Hudson seal, etc.

The cosack, the zouave, the grenadier, the Hussar, the dragon, the ulian, the cuirassier uniforms have all been scrutinized for style suggestions. The costume pictured here is a novel development of the fad. It is in the new zouave effect, carried out in a draped tunic with hip pockets. This suit, which is for afternoon wear, is of noturine blue broadcloth and velvet. The shirt jacket, with thin side pockets at the waist line, is fastened with gun metal buttons. It has a collar and cuffs of white caracul. The close fitting tunic, with its band of metallic trimming, also carries out the military idea.

PAYROLL OF CIVILIZATION MET BY FARMER

WANTS NO 'DEADHEADS' ON LIST OF EMPLOYEES.

BY A CALL UPON THE LAW MAKERS TO PREVENT USELESS TAX UPON AGRICULTURE FROM

By Peter Radford, Lecturer National Farmers' Union.

The farmer is the paymaster of industry and as such he must meet the nation's payroll. When industry pays its bill it must make a right draft upon agriculture for the amount, which the farmer is compelled to honor without protest. This check drawn upon agriculture may travel to and fro over the highways of commerce; may build cities; girdle the globe with bands of steel; may search hidden treasures in the earth or traverse the skies; but in the end it will rest upon the soil. No dollar will remain suspended in midair; it is as certain to seek the earth's surface as an apple that falls from a tree.

When a farmer buys a plow he pays the man who mined the metal, the woodman who felled the tree, the manufacturer who assembled the raw material and shaped it into an article of usefulness, the railroad that transported it, and the dealer who sold him the goods. He pays the wages of labor and capital employed in the transaction as well as pays for the tools, machinery, buildings, etc., used in the construction of the commodity, and the same applies to all articles of use and diet of himself and those engaged in the subsidiary lines of industry.

There is no payroll in civilization that does not rest upon the back of the farmer. He must pay the bill of all of them.

The total value of the nation's annual agricultural products is around $2,000,000,000, and it is safe to estimate that 85 cents on every dollar goes to meeting the expenses of subsidiary industries. The farmer does not work more than thirty minutes per day for himself; the remaining thirteen hours of the day's toil he devotes to meeting the payroll of the hired hands of agriculture, such as the manufacturer, railroad, commercial and other servants.

The Farmer's Payroll and How He Meets It.

The annual payroll of agriculture approximates $12,000,000,000. A portion of the amount is shifted to foreign countries in exports, but the total payroll of industries working for the farmer divides substantially as follows: Railroads, $1,252,000,000; manufacturers, $4,365,000,000; mining, $655,000,000; banks, $200,000,000; mercantile $3,500,000,000, and a heavy miscellaneous payroll constitutes the remainder.

It takes the corn crop, the most important of our crops, to pay the employees of the railroads; the money derived from our annual sales of livestock of approximately $2,000,000,000, the yearly cotton crop, valued at $920,000,000; the wheat crop, which is worth $610,000,000, and the oat crop, that is worth $440,000,000, are required to meet the annual payroll of the manufacturers. The money derived from the remaining staple crops is used in meeting the payroll of the bankers, merchants, etc. After these obligations are paid, the farmer has only a few bunches of vegetables, some fruit and poultry which he can sell and call the proceeds his own.

When the farmer pays off his bill he has very little left and to meet these tremendous payrolls he has been forced to mortgage homes, work men in the field and increase the hours of his labor. We are, therefore, compelled to call upon all industries dependent upon the farmers for subsistence to stretch in their expenses and cut off all unnecessary expenses. This course is absolutely necessary in order to avoid a reduction in wages, and we want, if possible, to retain the present wage scale paid railroad and all other industrial employees.

We will devote this article to a discussion of unnecessary expenses and whether required by law or permitted by the management of the concerns, is wholly immaterial. We want all waste labor and extravagance, of whatever character, cut out. We will mention the full crew bill as illustrating the character of unnecessary expenses to which we refer.

Union Opposes 'Full Crew' Bill.

The Texas Farmers' Union registered its opposition to this character of legislation at the last annual meeting held in Fort Worth, Tex., August 4, 1914, by resolution, which we quote, as follows:

"The matter of prime importance to the farmers of this state is an adequate and efficient marketing system; and we recognize that such a system is impossible without adequate railroads. The farmer is entitled to the greatest amount of service at the least possible cost. We further recognize that the farmers and producers in the end pay approximately 95 per cent of the expenses of operating the railroads, and it is therefore to the interest of the producers that the expenses of the common carriers be as small as possible, consistent with good service and safety. We, therefore, call upon our law-makers, courts and juries to lean the foregoing facts in mind when dealing with the common carriers of this state, and we do especially reaffirm the resolutions of the last annual convention of our State Union, opposing the passage of the so-called 'full crew' bill before the thirty-third legislature of Texas.

The farmers of Missouri in the last election, by an overwhelming majority, swept this law off the statute book of that state, and it should come off of all statute books where it appears, and no legislature of this nation should pass such a law or similar legislation which requires unnecessary expenditures.

The same rule applies to all legislative measures which increase the expenses of industry without giving corresponding benefits to the public. There is oftentimes a body of men assembled at legislatures and they have a right to be there, in their zeal for rendering their fellow associates a service, sometimes favor an increase in the expenses of industry without due regard for the men who bow their backs to the summer's sun to meet the payroll, but these committees, while making a record for themselves, rub the skin off the shoulders of the farmer by urging the legislature to lay another burden upon his heavy load and under the lash of "be it enacted" trace him on to pull and surge at the gears of civilization; no matter how he may sweat, foam and gall at the task. When legislatures "cut a melon" for labor they hand the farmer a lemon.

The farmers of the United States are not financially able to carry "dead heads" on their payrolls. Our own hired hands are not paid unless we have something for them to do, and we are not willing to carry the hired help of dependent industries unless there is work for them. We must therefore insist upon the most rigid economy.

Legislative House-Cleaning Needed.

While the war is on and there is a full in-business, we want all legislative bodies to take an inventory of the statute books and wipe off all extravagant and useless laws. A good house-cleaning is needed and economies can be instituted here and there that will patch the clothes of indigent children, rest tired mothers and lift mortgages from dependent homes. Unnecessary workmen taken off and useless expenses chopped down all along the line will add to the prosperity of the farmer and encourage him in his mighty effort to feed and clothe the world.

If any of these industries have surplus employees we can use them, on the farm. We have no regular schedule of wages, but we pay good farm hands on an average of $1.50 per day of thirteen hours when they board themselves; work usually runs about nine months of the year and the three months dead time they can do the chores for their board. If they prefer to farm on their own account, there are more than 14,000,000,000 acres of idle land on the earth's surface awaiting the magic touch of the plow. The compensation is easily obtainable from Federal Agricultural Department statistics. The total average annual sales of a farm in the continental United States amounts to $340.00, leaving the farmer $176 per annum to live on and educate his family.

There is no occasion for the legislatures making a position for surplus employees of industry. Let them come back to the land and share with us the prosperity of the farm.

Lazy farmers are just as useless as dead ones and take up the same room.

When the soul communes with the spirit of nature, the back to the farm movement prevails.

The Rowdy of Advertising.

The influence of advertising is clearly visible in the homes and habits of the farmers, and the advertising columns of the press are making their imprint upon the lives of our people. The farmer possesses the things that are best advertised.

The farmer is entitled to all the advantages and deserves all the luxuries of life. We need more art, science and special facilities on the farms, and many homes and farms are well balanced in this respect, but the advertiser can render a service by teaching the advantages of modern equipment, through the columns of the rural press.

The farmers are in need of personal leadership. They have political leadership, but they need local industrial community and educational leaders.

ATTACK BRITISH PRESS CENSOR

London Papers Reason Suppression of Audacious Loss GERMAN TAUNTS ANNOYING.

The Morning Post, it is said, has published an editorial renewing the attack on the British press censorship, with particular reference to the secrecy enjoined on the British press regarding a certain naval mishap now nearly a month old; the particulars of which have appeared in American and other papers.

"We should like to speak plainly on this subject," says the Morning Post, "yet the Tower may wait as we do. The British press is, in fact, forbidden to mention a mishap to the British navy of which the press of the whole world is speaking. The German press has for some time been in full possession of the facts, which they gathered from America, and are gloating over them, not so much because they relate to a material loss, but because their suppression in England seems to them to offer evidence that the British nation is in a state of panic and is not to be trusted with the truth."

Thus, for example, the Koelnische Zeitung says: "The British government did not dare to communicate this serious loss to the nation because it feared universal excitement. A very low estimate of the news by its own government on the nerves and character of the English people, which gives one cause to think."

"We are bound to say that for once we agree with a German newspaper. It does give one cause to think. There is involved a mishap of considerable material dimensions, no doubt, but nothing to cause anything more than a national sigh of regret, and it is treated by the government as if it were some appalling catastrophe, so dark that merely to read about it would throw the nation into a state of frenzy. It is ridiculous, but it is also humiliating. We say plainly that it is an insult not only to the British press, but to the British nation."

The Morning Post attributes the blame for the censorship to Winston Spencer Churchill and again demands that the control of the admiralty be left in the hands of experts.

"Taunts Annoy the Times," says the Times says in an editorial on the same subject:

"The government have received and still enjoy the full confidence of the nation, irrespective of party, but they are not rewarding adequately the trust reposed in them. On Tuesday we drew attention to the fact that a piece of news, which the whole world outside of these islands is acquainted with, still being concealed. At first there were excellent reasons for concealing it, but these reasons no longer obtain. Members of any club which receives American newspapers may read it, and even see pictures of the (deletion by censor). The entire German press has known of it for many days, and we have numerous German newspapers in our possession in which it is discussed with exaggerated excitement. We have no sympathy whatever with the efforts made in the newspapers to base a general attack on the admiralty policy upon this isolated incident. We believe that in all essential matters the royal navy is in skilled and competent hands. We are, however, very much concerned about the taunts now being leveled at the British government by the press of the United States and America, and we are unable to see how any such taunts can be answered, the charge that our government is afraid to trust the British public and will not tell them the truth. The government has placed the press of this country in an exceedingly difficult position. We receive hundreds of letters asking us whether there is any foundation for various stories, which are more often than not are false. It is almost a point where we are unable to reply, for the assurance of the government that it would deal with the country frankly. At present we cannot make this reply, but the results are deplorable."

"A catastrophe not, however, involving loss of life, is said to have occurred some weeks ago, and complaint has been made that the public has been kept in ignorance. It is reported that the newspapers have appeared in American newspapers and that the news has even been published in the German press. Are we sure that the enemy does not know more than something of the incident but everything before us is based on the rather vague and particular items of news."

"The certain naval mishap referred to by the Morning Post is undoubtedly the loss of the battleship Audacious, which was sunk off Lough Swilly in Ireland in Oct. 27."

WHEN TO CUT SCIONS.

The Best Results Are Found to Follow a Little Freezing.

The main reason for using scions for propagation is to preserve the individuality of desirable varieties, says H. E. Van Demen in the Country Gentleman. This plan has long been in use because of the fact that seedlings are variable and cannot be depended on to preserve or continue the individuality of the parent tree or plant. Nature in some cases multiplies the individual tree or plant by making suckers or layers. The former are sprouts from the roots that grow up and in due time become independent of the parent; the latter are branches that take root by contact with the soil. It was learned centuries ago that cuttings in proper condition and properly treated would also develop roots and thus become independent trees or plants. Making the cuttings at the right time and putting their butts in the soil when the conditions are right for growth are all that is necessary.

If scions are cut from trees that have borne fruit and thus proved their identity they are far safer to use than those cut from trees that have never borne. Making sure of the identity of the variety is a very essential point. The trees from which scions are selected must be free from insect pests and parasites.

It does not matter what tool is used to cut the scions from the tree, provided it is sharp and does the work neatly. The place to make the cut is about the beginning of the current year's growth on fruit trees, bush fruits and grapevines unless the trimmings from the regular pruning are used. In the latter case only large, well developed wood is fit to use.

It has been commonly thought that the best time to cut scions is soon after the leaves drop in the fall or in early winter, but in the light of the present experiments it is better to wait until there has been a little freezing. This has the effect of changing the starch into sugar. But after the desired temperature has once been reached the sooner the scions are cut the better. Early December is usually the right time.

In preparing bundles for storage it is a common practice to put 100 together, but a larger number will keep very well under one tie if the packing material is good. If cord is used as a tie it should be tarred manila or sisal hemp, for ordinary strings are almost sure to rot. Willow twigs are excellent, cheap and easy to put on and will not rot during the winter. Wires are liable to injure the scions.

From what has already been stated it is evident that scions must be kept cool. An even temperature of about 35 degrees F. is best. This is not often obtainable except in cold storage plants, either public or private. Nearly all indoor cellars are too warm. Burying the scions in the earth, with a light covering of straw or sawdust over the place, often affords about the right conditions.

The material with which to pack the bundles in storage may be almost anything that is easily kept moist and that has no injurious qualities. Sphagnum moss, such as nurserymen use, is the best of all. Old sawdust that will not ferment is very good and is rather easily obtained. Leaf mold from the woods is good. Sand is very heavy to handle and necessitates washing the scions in order to get rid of grit.

To sum up, the most important points are as follows:

First.—Good soil and good culture are essential, with plenty of light to produce young wood that is well stored with starchy matter, and that has well developed buds.

Second.—Cut only the most vigorous of the last year's growth. This is found on the topmost and farthest ends of the branches.

Third.—Tie bundles with durable material and label plainly at once.

Fourth.—Do the cutting in the early part of winter, before severely cold weather.

Fifth.—Store in damp material in a cool place.

Cattle Bloat Treatment.

Bloat comes from the excessive formation of gas in the paunch, says Professor C. H. Eckles of the College of Agriculture, University of Missouri. It often results from pasturing on clover, but may occur with any kind of feeding. It is made known by the excessive swelling of the left flank. If relief is not obtained in time the animal dies from suffocation due to the great pressure on the lungs.

In mild cases, driving the animal at a rapid gait for some distance may be sufficient. Cold water thrown in quantities upon the cow's sides may reduce the pressure. In very severe cases the gas must be removed without delay. This is best done by the use of a trocar.

Corn Land For Wheat.

On the North Dakota demonstration farms wheat after corn has averaged twenty bushels per acre, while continuous wheat gave from twelve to thirty-four bushels. This is the result of six years' work. At the North Dakota experiment station a fifteen year investigation gives a yield of nineteen and one-sixth bushels of wheat after corn, while wheat after wheat gave eleven and one-fourth bushels.

In and Out.

The problems of politicians may be grouped under two general heads. How to get money into the public treasury and how to get it out.—Life.

Truly unhappy is the man who leaves undone what he can do and undertakes what he does not understand.—Goethe.
