The Most Popular Sin.

The most popular sin, according to high authority, is selfishness. At least this was the conclusion reached by a number of prominent public men, including lawyers, editors, religious workers and others in response to an inquiry of Rev. Dr. Reisner of Grace Methodist Episcopal church, in New York, "What is the most popular sin and the best method to offset it?" Of all the ignoble traits of humanity selfishness works the greatest evil. It finds its root in envy, malice, extravagance and its fruit in sin. If we could analyze the causes of crime, of poverty, of wretchedness and of war itself we would find at the bottom of them all the evil spirit of a selfish purpose. The best text for the preacher today is "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's."-Leslie's.

Edward Everett.

Edward Everett was one of the most purely literary of all American orators. Among the more eminent scholars and statesmen of our land no one has ever been more deservedly honored for intellectual power, purity of character, public and private, and for clearness and perception of judgment than Everett. To the efforts of Edward Everett more than to any other one person is to be credited the raising of funds sufficient to purchase the home of Washington at Mount Vernon. He delivered a lecture on the character of that great man more than a hundred times and gave the proceeds to the Ladies' Mount Vernon association. He personally placed over $60,000 in the treasury. It is probable that his oratory won for benevolent purposes at least $100,000.

Photography.

The earliest experiments in the direction of photography were made by Wedgwood and Day, but the first photograph was actually produced in a camera made by Daguerre and a parther about 1839. In 1840 the first photograph portrait was made by Professor John W. Draper, an American. Progress was made in the work of Fox Talbot, 1841, and Scott Archer. 1851, with the glass plate. The gelafin bromide dry plate was invented in 1871 by Maddox and greatly improved by Bennett in 1878. As in many other inventions, it is practically impossible to lay one's finger on one man and one date for the specific "invention" of photography; it has been so largely a work of experiment and improvement

Legal Necessities.

FEED PRISONERS AS SCIENCE SAYS

Germans Evolve Great System For 1,000,000 Boarders.

EACH FOR 16 GENTS A DAY.

Expert Has Figured It Down to Last Calorie-Ten Per Cent More Required For Men Who Are Forced to Work There Are Eighty Regular Prison Camps In Germany.

The government of Germany oper ates, among other things, a boarding house with a million guests. This institution offers one of the most complicated problems that Frau Germany, the model housekeeper of the world, has had to solve, for her boarders are not "paying guests," yet they have the boarding house temperament of a nervous bachelor. They are Germany's war prisoners. They must be fed, though the German nation is blockaded and is itself confronted with a food problem, writes a Berlin correspondent of the Chicago Daily News.

Frau Germany in this case has worked through a German professor, Alexander Backhaus. Nothing could be more German than the manner in which he has worked out a food minimum in albumen, carbohydrates, fat content and calories, and with the 66 pfennig (16 cents) appropriation for each prisoner's daily food provides enough to keep his boarders afive and well. He has his buyers in neutral Europe and throughout Germany and his laboratories at work grinding and testing and tasting, and as a result he has evolved a war prison menu that is a model, not only for economy, but for scientific exactness.

Gives More Than Minimum.

The human body requires to sustain life about 60 grams of albumen, 30 grams of fat, 380 grams of carbohydrates and 2,000 calories. The minimum set by Professor Backhaus for prisoners is greater. He requires that each prisoner shall get daily 85 grams of albumen, 40 grams of fat, 475 grams of carbohydrates and 2,700 calories. In working camps the supply must be increased 10 per cent. Complaints may be made that prisoners in Germany are not getting sufficient food. Professor Backhaus can dispute them with this scientific evi-

When Professor Backhaus took over the boarding house work he fitted up a laboratory in a building near the war ministry, where he experimented with foodstuffs and human appetites. He first called in Russian prisoners and set before them food. This form of experiment did not succeed because the Russian prisoners immediately and without "batting" the proverbial eye consumed three times the food they needed.

Instead of prisoners now he feeds his own staff of workers on the camp diet I had such a lunch. It consisted of one-third of each of the three prison meals of a day made together into a three course luncheon. It was a pleasant enough meal, though I should prefer my own cook, who has less science and a greater budget. But I must honorably testify that the food was edible, even palatable. And to emphasize the point again, it was scientifically nourishing. Many experiments were made with new foodstuffs. The soja bean, a product of Manchuria, was purchased in large quantities, and it was found that by grinding and pressing it a useful table oil and a palatable flour resulted which contained the highly nourishing substance sought. The horse bean, formerly used only for cattle food, was similarly adapted for soup flour. Quantities of food captured in the Russian advance were turned over to prison uses, always first tested and applied to the "scientific" diet.

Buying on a Vast Scale.

The buying system for this million guest boarding house is on a befitting; large scale. Men who bought for bust ness houses before the war now are making government contracts. Nearly 1,000,000 marks ($250,000) a day are spent and no market open to a German which has anything to sell at a reasonable price can escape these zealous prison food buyers. The spirit that has made army food scandals possible in other countries cannot be found in this ardent economy organization. Occasionally Professor Backhaus' buyers find themselves competing with the buyers for the army or for the garrison kitchen. But this happens only oc-

Touchy About Their Rank.

No ambassador can be arrested or sued for debt. However much he may get credit, or even defraud a tradesman, he cannot be prosecuted. It isthe same with an ambassador's wife. ODD MEMORY TEST.

A Bit of Nonsense Literature Whose Author Is Unknown.

There is an odd bit of composition that has figured in nonsense literature as follows: "So she went into a garden to pick a cabbage leaf, to make an apple pie of, and a she bear, coming up the street, put her head into the shop and said, 'Do you sell any soap?' So she sied, and he very imprudently married the barber, and the powder fell out of the counselor's wig, and poor Mrs. MacKay's puddings were quite entirely spoilt, and there were present the Garnelies and the Goblilies and the Pickaninnies and the great Panjandrum himself, with the little round ancient game of 'catch who catch can' till the gunpowder ran out of the heels

The origin of the passage is obscure. Maria Edgeworth (1767-1849), quotes it in one of her stories, attributing it to Samuel Foote (1720-77). The British wrote it in order to test a certain lec-One of Professor Backhaus' greatest turer who claimed that he could learn Farmers' Week at Cornell.

Farmers' Week at Cornell will be from Feb. 7 to 12, according to an announcement just made by the state college of agriculture, which has provided for 5,000 visitors.

The college invites the farmers of the state with their families, and the railroads will give reduced round trip rates. Aside from the cost of traveling, the college authorities estimate that a farmer, his wife and four children can attend at an expense not to exceed $30 for all six to cover a week's stay in Ithaca.

During this week the college endeavors to condense into practical form all of the information which it has on better farming and the J. R. Teall management of the farm home.

BIG IMPETUS FOR ESTABROOK BOOM

"Dark Horse" For Republican Presidential Nomination.

NATIONAL DEFENSE PIONEER

Known as Fearless Advocate of Traditional Republican Principles-Also Recognized as One of Ablest Campaigners In United States.

Far and away the most interesting hase of the national political situaion is the movement that has brought Henry D. Estabrook, of New York and Nebraska, so prominently to the front is a candidate for the Republican presdential nomination. First spoken of is a possibility in connection with the residency less than six months ago, Mr. Estabrook is today one of the leadng candidates, with evidences of strength that are a source of concern o the friends of the other aspirants. He has made speeches in every important city in the East, Middle West, and Far West, an arduous campaign experience that has put him in good condition to meet the rigorous demands made on the head of a party's national icket, and his friends in Nebraska and other States have formed Estabrook organizations and are going after national lelegates in the most vigorous fashion. Impartial observers agree that this levelopment of the Estabrook boom nas no parallel in the political history of the last 25 years, and they are beginning to inquire whether the popuar demand for new leadership is actually so strong as to give this new man the greatest political prize over which men struggle.

An All Around Big Man.

Estabrook is a big man physically, mentally and politically. Quite six feet in height, erect, rugged, he would be a man of commanding presence in any gathering. His mental attainments are attested by his signal success in the practice of law and by the widespread interest in his every public utterance on governmental, economic and social problems. He has always been a student and when he discusses a subject he speaks with the authority of one who has mastered it. His conclusions are invariably sound, and, once he has arrived at them, they are proclaimed frankly and fearlessly, for he is essentially a man with the courage of his convictions For instance, he has been one of the most drastic critics of President Wilson and the present Democratic administration, arraigning them for their tariff law which bankrupted the federal treasury and which places the American farmer, the American manufacturer, and the American laborer at the mercy of foreign competition, and for a foreign policy which has destroyed the respect that the American flag and American citizens once commanded in every quarter of the globe.

A Preparedness Pioneer. Likewise Mr. Estabrook was the first man prominently before the public to outline a concrete program of national defense, which he presented in an address before the American Bankers' Association September 8th last at Seattle, characterized by the Seattle Times as "one of the most remarkable ad dresses ever delivered in the Northwest," and he was the first Republican leader to point the way to the reunion and harmonizing of all elements of the party, his "Get-Together" plea before the McKinley Club of Omaha, Nebraska, last October, having attracted widespread attention.

From the time Mr. Estabrook opened the Republican National campaign in Chicago in 1896 he has been recognized as one of the ablest campaigners in the United States, and there have been few speakers in greater demand. The issues in the great contest of 1916, which is to restore the Republican party to the administration of national affairs, will be Protection, Prosperity, and Preparedness, in Mr. Estabrook's judgment, with "Get-Together" shade of opinion. He has been preaching this gospel in all sections of the country, and has met with enthusiastic AT THIS OFFICE receptions everywhere he has gone.
