—Earl and Floyd Kenyon were given a surprise party Tuesday evening at the home of Geo. Stevens, east of the village. Eighty-five people were present, including three classes of the Sunday school and a few others. A fine time is reported.

—The war has been a great thing for Glenn Curtiss of Hammondspoint, the aeroplane maker—but a few years ago struggling to get money enough to build one little flyer. The new syndicate, which has purchased the Curtiss business, gave Curtiss five millions in cash and three and one-half millions in preferred stock.

—Twenty-seven applicants for enlistment in the new Third Regiment band, which is composed of members of the Salem Town Commandery band of Auburn, have passed the physical examination and received their first inoculation for prevention of typhoid. Dr. H. E. Stone of Port Byron is director of the band.

—Married, Feb. 22, 1916, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. R. D. Hulstader, in Dryden, George D. Hubert of Locke and Miss Bertha M. Matison of Dryden. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Seth Cook. Mr. and Mrs. Hubert left the same evening for a visit to New York City and other places. They will reside at Locke, where Mr. Hubert is in business.

—It is announced that Rev. W. J. Reagan, pastor of the Friends church at Poplar Ridge, has been tendered the principalship of Oakwood Seminary at Union Springs and will accept the position. His resignation as pastor of the church will take effect June 1. Mr. Reagan is a graduate of Earlham college in Indiana, and has formerly been a teacher in the West.

—Greetings to all friends in this vicinity have been received from Rev. and Mrs. Robert Ivey of Atlanta, Georgia, formerly of King Ferry. The winter in Atlanta has brought them no snow and but little frost. They have a great many sunny days. Flowers have bloomed out of doors each month through the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Ivey are enjoying their Southern home and would be pleased to see their friends of the North when in that part of the country.

—We observed the other day in the local postoffice a lady addressing a letter, write "In Haste" on the lower left-hand corner of the envelope. That's proper. When these magic words appear on the envelope dropped into the local government shop everybody connected with the department jumps around lively. Jim Doyle dances a jig, the mail carrier whips up his horse into a brisk trot and the postal clerk on the train rushes to the engineer and tells him to pull the throttle wide open and let her go—and eventually the letter gets to its destination.—Nunda News.

Mrs. Hannah S. Tighe.

Mrs. Hannah Shields Tighe, widow of Hugh Tighe, died in Moravia Friday morning last at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Michael Nolan. She had been ill for some time with pneumonia.

Mrs. Tighe was born in Ireland 74 years ago, the daughter of Hugh and Margaret Shields. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Nolan and Mrs. Charles Pendleton of Moravia, and four sons, Hugh Tighe of Genoa, Jeremiah of Auburn, Robert of Michigan and Thomas of Poplar Ridge.

The funeral was appointed for Monday morning at Our Lady of the Lake church at King Ferry, but owing to the impassable condition of the roads, it was not held until Wednesday morning. Burial at King Ferry.

—Cap Skipper says he isn't going to prognosticate about the weather any more—this winter is too much for him. Wind shifts before you can regulate your main sail, and you're liable to get befooled.

—The ideal American man at the age of 25 should be: Height 5 feet, 8 inches, weight 148½, and he should buy plenty of clothes and pay his tailor, according to the National Merchant Tailors in convention recently in St. Louis, Mo.

THE WHIP IN RIFLE BARRELS.

It is Caused by the Pressure of Modern High Power Powder.

The use of high power powder in rifles has given rise to a phenomenon which did not exist in black powder days. This is known as "whip" and is due to the pressure and vibration set up by the powder. It is constant with given loads and is always in the same direction.

Sights are aligned by the manufacturer to compensate for this whip in proportion to the powder charge used. In firing auxiliary cartridges it will often be found that the rifle shoots off center. As a matter of fact the bullet from the auxiliary is traveling in a true line with the bore, and it is the sights that are wrong. The lighter charge of the auxiliary does not produce the usual whip, with the result that the line in prolongation of the bore of the rifle along which the bullet travels is not the line given by the alignment of the sights.

Two other rifle terms that must not be confused are upsettage and keyholing. Keyholing is the tendency of the bullet to turn over in flight, while upsettage is the slight shortening of the major axis of the bullet due to the force of the charge. It was peculiar to black powder fired behind lead bullets and does not exist to any appreciable extent in metal jacketed bullets with smokeless powder. In the latter case the charge burns more slowly and the jacket stiffens the bullet against the sudden blow from behind.—Outing.

ORIGIN OF THE PERISCOPE.

The Reflecting Spyglass Used at the Siege of Sebastopol.

Speaking of the origin of the periscope, the following extract from the writings of the well known inventor of "Pepper's Ghost" gives the credit to the clerical profession. Pepper wrote soon after the Crimean war:

"During the siege of Sebastopol numbers of our best artillerymen were continually picked off by the enemy's rifles as well as by cannon shot, and in order to put a stop to the foolhardiness and incautiousness of the men, a very ingenious contrivance was invented by the Rev. William Taylor, the coadjutor of Mr. Denison in constructing the first 'Big Ben' bell. It was called the reflecting spyglass, and by its simple construction rendered the exposure of the sailors and soldiers who would look over the parapet or other parts of the works to observe the effect of their shots perfectly unnecessary, while another was constructed for the purpose of allowing the gunner to 'lay' or aim in safety.

"The drawings were shown to Lord Denison, who was so convinced of the value of the invention that he immediately commissioned the Rev. William Taylor to have a number of these telescopes constructed, and if the siege had not terminated just at the time the invention was to have been used no doubt a great saving of the valuable lives of the skilled artillerymen would have been effected."—London Express.

Gam's Dry Humor.

When the gallant Welsh captain, David Gam, was sent forward by Henry V. to reconnoiter the French army before the battle of Agincourt he found that the enemy outnumbered the English by about five to one. His report to the king is historic:

"There are enough to be killed, enough to be taken prisoners and enough to run away."

This quaint forecast of the result of the battle at once spread through the camp, and doubtless every yeoman archer of the valiant company felt a inch taller. We know that it was almost literally justified by the event. Poor Gam's dry humor was equalled by his courage. He was killed while in the act of saving the life of his prince.—London Standard.

Distilled Water.

Distilled water after having been exposed to the air is one of the most salutiferous of drinks. Its daily use in measured quantities is helpful in cases of dyspepsia and greatly assists the general functions of the body. Every large steamer carries a water distilling apparatus by which sea water is made fresh. In the days before steamers primitive distilling apparatus was used on warships and vessels carrying passengers.

Well Fitted.

"Yes, grandma; I am to be married next month."

"But, my dear," said grandma earnestly, "you are very young. Do you feel that you are fitted for married life?"

"I am being fitted now, grandma," explained the prospective bride sweetly. "Seven gowns!"—Kansas City Journal.

More Than the Average.

Mrs. Wayup—How much sleep do I need, doctor? Doctor—Well, the average person needs about seven hours. Mrs. Wayup—Then I shall take about fourteen. I consider I am much above the average.—Judge.

A Plain Heroine.

"This is refreshing. The author says his heroine isn't beautiful."

"It will be refreshing to see the picture of the heroine come up to the point."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Many Sided Woman.

Man thinks he is going to solve the mystery known as woman after he is married. And then the plot thickens.— Toledo Blade.

It is bad to work letteringly; it is worse to letter instead of beginning to work at all.

Wanted the Test.

A western professor said one day that he could tell good soil by tasting it, and a man in the east end who saw the statement promptly packed a box and sent it to him by parcel post. He also inclosed this note:

"Dear Professor—I saw what you said about tasting soil and am sending a sample selected haphazard from my back yard. I wish you'd give it the palate test and tell me frankly what you think. I don't seem to have any luck with it myself. My cabbages came up without heads, my potatoes have been mistaken for chestnuts, my onions are scentless, and my corn looks like bird shot. Bite off a chunk and let me hear from you. Never mind about returning the balance. Keep it for dessert. Write soon."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Mystery of the Egg.

An egg for one thing is a succession of bags bagged up in one another, a series of envelopes enveloped in one another, bags and envelopes without joints, seams or openings. Puzzles, ships built up and full rigged in bottles, lies in amber, are simplicity itself as puzzles when it comes to how these bags wrap one another up, bag in bag. In a hen's egg there are eight or nine or ten of the sacks in sacks ensacked. Everybody thinks he knows what an egg is, but after weary reading and study in many languages he begins to learn that nobody knows a tiny fraction of all the world of secrets and mysteries hidden in an egg. "As full of meat as an egg" is not the true comparison but "as full of mystery as an egg" is nearer the truth.—Exchange.

Burns and Fame.

It is amusing to learn that Burns when just emerging from obscurity jocularly anticipated that his birthday would come to be noted among other remarkable events. In a letter to his early patron, Gavin Hamilton, in 1786 he says, "For my own affairs I am in a fair way of becoming as eminent as Thomas a Kempis or John Bunyan, and you may henceforth expect to see my birthday inscribed among the wonderful events in the Poor Robin and Aberdeen almanacs along with the Black Monday and the battle of Bothwell Bridge."

Wild Hogs as Watchdogs.

In some parts of Mexico the wild hogs, which the natives call jabalis, are used as watchdogs. If they are caught young and brought up with goats they will go out into the hills with the herd and fight coyotes or other wild animals. If they are raised with chickens they will protect them. They are as useful as any dog around a house at night and can be trained to follow their master like a dog.

England's "Regicides."

"Regicides" in English history were the commissioners appointed to try King Charles I., 150 in number, of whom seventy acted and fifty-nine signed the death warrant January, 1649. Of these last twenty-nine were tried and executed.

At Her Finger Tips.

Annual Carpet Sale

AT

G. W. RICHARDSON & SON

Richardson Square

We are pleased to announce this, our "ANNUAL SALE" of Carpets, Rugs and Linoleums to continue through the entire month of March. We find an increasing popular interest in our Annual Carpet Sale. This is due to the fact of the splendid bargains which are offered. This is not, in any sense, a profit-making sale, since the merchandise is closed out at slight margin above actual cost. The advantage which we realize out of this sale comes to us in the form of the new friends which we make for our house, and the continued good will of our old customers.

This year we are including as a part of our sale one hundred small size Oriental Rugs. This is an extraordinary offer, as the prices on these will be reduced in the same ratio as the prices indicated on other rugs. Thus many, who desire an Oriental Rug, will be able to own one, as the greatly reduced prices bring them within the reach of everyone. These rugs are among the most beautiful on the market.

We ask you to examine carefully the schedule of price printed below
