DEATH'S MESSENGERS

BEGIN FLY WAR AT ONCE

OW is the time to begin effective warfare on flies. They have not yet had time to breed in great numbers. If we wait until warm weather they will breed so rapidly we shall be unable to cope adequately with the pest.

In order to make the warfare a fight to a finish for the fly we must have the co-operation of the entire community. If only a few intelligent and public-spirited citizens on each street make war on the filthy and dangerous insects their efforts will be practically useless so far as the good of the town is concerned.

The situation would be somewhat the same if a few of the states should wage war on an enemy of the United States and the other states watched the conflict with indifference-even though the fate of the onlookers was quite as vitally affected as that of the fighters. Don't be an onlooker. For goodness' sake, take sides! If you believe the housefly is a harmless little creature, terribly lied about by his enemies, stick up for the fly. Maintain a nice, big, hospitable manure pile where he can breed by the million. See that he has open spittoons, garbage cans, vaults and dead animals handy for feeding purposes. And don't be a piker about inviting him into your home. Have no screens, no swatters, no fly-paper. Give him the run of the place, the food and baby's face and lips. If baby or wife contract disease and die, blame the witches!

Be sensible. Join the army and fight flies with us.

The Gift of God

By REV. W. W. KETCHTM Director of Practical Course Moody Bible Institute of Chicago

TEXT-The gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.-Romans

A gift is something for which we do not work It is something that is ly gives us because he or she is interested in us. This text in the revision speaks of this gift as the free gift of God. Now there are many people who expect to pay their way into heaven -many who expect to compensate God for someone gracious-

eternal life, when the text says that the free gift of God is eternal life. Eternal life-what is it? It is the opposite of eternal death. Not eternal death does not mean nonexistence any more than eternal life means continued existence. God's word teaches that the soul never dies, in the sense of going out of existence. It does say that "The soul that sinneth, it shall die," but we must interpret the words of the Bible by the Bible. The Bible, you know, is not only a book that gives us the truth, but it defines the truth that it gives, and when it talks about eternal death it does not mean the annihilation of the soul. It is a truth that whatever exists always exists, so the scientists tell us, and the Bible says that the human soul lives forever. Well, what is eternal life then, and what is eternal death? Perhaps we might say that eternal life means being born of God, having the life of God. It is not our natural life prolonged into endless duration. It is the divine life imparted to us, the very life of God himself communicated to a human soul. To put it in another way, we might say that eterndeath is wrong existence, or, to put it in still another way, eternal life is living in the presence of God, while eternal death is having the wrath of God abiding on one.

Now, God's gift is eternal life. Our text says that he offers us this life through Jesus Christ our Lord, that is. Christ is the medium through whom eternal life comes. What a wonderful thing it is to know that God has planned to give the human race, dead in trespasses and in sins, eternal life through his son. What is involved in that truth? A great deal, my

First of all, that on the cross Christ died for our sins

Secondly, that there upon the cross God laid upon Christ all our sins.

Thirdly, that all our sins will be forgiven us on condition of our simple acceptance by faith of his Son, and the one who thus receives his Son, we are told, is born, "not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God." I have met many people who were striving to get eternal life. I have even met Christians who have had the idea that eternal life becomes theirs, not through faith, but by works of righteousness which they

I shall never forget preaching in a little church in the Catskills and talking about the way of salvatian, when a brother arose and controve-ted what I said about the simple way of having eternal life through the acceptance by faith of Jesus Christ as one's Savfor. Another brother, thinking he would pour oil on the water, which was very troublous just then, told about two theologians who were crossing a stream. One of the theolog ans was arguing that salvation was by works, and the other that salvation was by faith, when the oarsman, listening to the argument, began to row with one oar, and the boat went round and round, when they said, "What are you doing?" and he replied, "Don't you see, that oar with which I am rowing is works, and I don't get anywhere," and then he took the other oar and rowed with that, and went round and round in the other direction, and he said, "That oar, you see, is faith, and when I row alone with that we do not get That was a good story, but a poor 11lustration, for, while it sounds very plausible, the trouble is it is not scriptural. The Bible tells us that it is "not by works of righteousness that we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us." Change the illustration and have it true to the Scriptures. Jesus Christ is the oarsman, and is rowing the boat of salvation from earth to heaven, and if we would reach the other shore what we must

The simplest feed hopper can be made out of a small wooden box, taking off one side and putting it in slanting, and have the trough arrangement at the bottom similar to the drawing.

PROHIBITION AND PROSPERITY. The city of Wheeling, W. Va., has, under the first year of state prohibition, experienced the greatest building boom in its history. DECREASE IN CRIME.

"Five months under prohibition law have now elapsed and the results are beginning to be very apparent," says the deputy sheriff of Jefferson county, Alabama. "The decrease in crime in Jefferson county is clearly indicated by the fail records, which show a total number of state prisoners now in fail of 160, against 336 December 1, 1914, one year ago today, and this in the face of the fact that no 'straw bonds' are being taken, and that every care is taken to ascertain the absolute sufficiency of every bond ap-closing of its saloons, says:

"The election put out of the liquor trade probably three hundred men, including the employers. Those who were wedded to the business of course had to seek employment elsewhere, but many of them elected to stay and go into other lines of work. BROWNIES' ROLLER SKATING.

"The fairies believe," commenced daddy, "that they should play all the games there are sad have all the fun they can. Strangely enough they had never had a roller skating party until the other day when they gave a huge one-one of the biggest parties ever given, I fancy.

"The ones who did all the planning and had all the schemes about the party were the brownies. Of all the things they like to do, roller skating is almost at the head of the list, and that is why they wanted the fairles to enjoy it, too. You may be surprised to hear that brownles like roller skating, for you would think that they would fall down every moment-they are so round and fat. Well, that is perfectly true. They fall down almost as often as they take a single roller-skating stroke, and often and often they no sconer stand up than they fall down! "But they think that is lots of fun, and as it made the fairies laugh at the party and gave them such a good time watching them, they didn't mind it the very least little bit. "Well, at this party the brownies had arrived first at the Fairles' Moss grove, and had made it look much like a big occasion by having tables spread around the edge of the grove filled with little dishes of brownies' broth, brownies' bread and brownies' biscuits, all ready for luncheon. And in the very center of the grove was a big throne. Around the throne were countless little bright yellow bushes-all in their spring garb of lovely blossoms. The big throne bore over the top of it in large letters, 'For the Fairy Queen,' and the little fairies always rested under the yellow bushes. "Somehow the fairies thought the brownies wanted them to rest almost before they had tried to skate-which was very true, for the brownies were proud of their decorations.

"'Well,' the brownies sald, 'we will now begin the celebration! We will

They would either turn a somersault or do a hand-spring or slide along the soft moss in a very funny way, with their arms and legs flying above, it seemed! How the fairles did laugh, for they never knew what the brownies were going to do next. They were certainly the funniest little roller skaters, and the fairles thought they should just be called 'rollers,' because they rolled more than they akated!

BOY LIFE IN NEW YORK CITY

Lad Has Few Advantages of His Town Brother-Juvenile Freemasonry is Quite Lacking.

New York is not a "boy's town" in the meaning of Mr. Howell's ideal or in the sense that hundreds of smaller communities really are, and being a boy in New York along with half a million other boys is a wholly different thing from being a boy in a town where all boys have the same interests and for the most part know each other and go to the same school, Here there is none of that juvenile freemasonry under which in smaller places the child of the blacksmith or janitor is the playmate and chum of the son of the village magnate, says New York World. Here boys are graded from their birth as respects their playfellows. For all the greater wealth and extent of the city the city

HOW =

To Exterminate Mosquitoes, Flies and Roaches In Summer

OW any householder may exterminate roaches, ants, fleas, mosquiroes or flies is explained by Director Krusen of the Philadelphia department of public health and charities.

Coal oil is Dr. Krusen's recipe for killing roaches. Gasoline or benzine poured into their nest is death to ants. Keeping fleas out of the house, says Dr Krusen, is largely a matter of keeping them out of the cat or dog. As for mosquitoes, apply a match to pyrethrum powder or sulphur, and you will generate a gas bomb that will be most efficacious.

"The approach of warm weather brings a swarm of household insects." Dr. Krusen declares. "I am therefore submitting the following directions, which will prove of great value if carried out persistently and with reason-

"Coal oil is one of the best agents for the destruction of roaches and their eggs. It should be sprayed freely by means of a machine oil can into the cracks and crevices of the floors and other woodwork where they breed. Powdered borax mixed with a little sugar is also a good remedy, but in the presence of other food borax is not very effective. Crumbs should be carefully swept from the floor, all foodstuffs kept covered, and everything about the kitchen scrubbed clean.

"The best way to destroy ants is to trace them to their nest and pour into it gasoline or benzine. When using these substances remember that they are highly inflammable.

"The young of fleas live in carpets and matting, so the cats and dogs should not only be kept clean, but the sweepings from the carpets in which tney sleep should be burned. A solution of corrosive sublimate, which is a dangerous poison to be handled with care, is the best spray for relief from bed bugs.

"To save clothes from moths pack them in paper bags which have been sealed and made air tight. Moth preventives in flakes or balls should be freely distributed in trunks, closets and the pockets of clothes.

"A good defense against flies is a tight garbage pail lid. Fly paper distributed through the house will also be a great help in destroying them."

The imposition of a tax on mural acvertisements, which Mr. McKenna is reported to be considering, has produced satisfactory financial results for many years past in France. Not a bill can be displayed on any hoarding or in any window in that country without having affixed to it an inland revenue stamp costing at least a penny. Theatrical posters, cards announcing apartments to let and bills offering rewards for the recovery of lost dogs all come under the same law. On printed matter the stamps are usually attached before printing. Frequent inspection renders evasion difficult. In this connection our French neighbors put into operation, just over three years ago, another excellent idea which might well be adopted in this country. This is the plan they adopted to get rid of the hideous advertising hoardings, which then desecrated so many of the national beauty spots. A bill was brought in proposing a tax of £2 a square yard per annum on all hoardings under six yards square, £4 a yard up to ten yards, £8 up to twenty, and £16 on those above twenty. If two separate advertisements appeared on the same hoarding. the fax was doubled; if three, trebled. and so on. The bill was introduced solely on artistic grounds and was pass

The Genoa Tribune NEW AID TO POLICE

Wireless Outfit Installed at New York Headquarters.

HAS A RADIUS OF 250 MILES.

Will Supplant Old System of Wigwagging-Special Motor Cycle Squad to Be Organized Shortly So That Messages May Be Rushed When Urgent.

New York .- A complete wireless outfit has just been installed at police headquarters. Announcement of it was recently made by H. C. Case, sec-Jetary to Police Commissioner Arthur Woods. The station has a sending radius of more than 250 miles. It was installed as an aid to the efforts Commissioner Woods is making along the lines of police preparedness.

The station has sent and received messages from Sandy Hook and from incoming and outgoing vessels and could, if necessary, communicate with the government station at Arlington, Va., near Washington.

Nearly 100 private wireless outfits scattered throughout the city have been listed by the police, and headquarters can get into communication with them at any hour of the day or night. A special motorcycle squad will be organized shortly so that in time of need messages could be borne swiftly from these private stations to any point in the city.

Sixteen men on the force, all of them formerly telegraphers, are working now under the direction of Sergeant Charles E. Pearce, himself the holder of a first grade commercial license as operator. When they receive their licenses in the wireless service they will then be used at headquarters and be ready also to go to any station where they may be wanted.

The wireless will supplant the old system of wigwagging, which was the only system of communication the police had to fall back on if the telephone and telegraph failed. By using tall buildings messages could thus be relayed in a comparatively short time to any part of the city.

Along with the preparation within the force itself the Citizens' Home Defense league has been recruited now to a strength of nearly 20,000 men. The members are organized in twenty companies of about a hundred men each and are drilled by their own officers under the direct supervision of the precinct captain. Their names are on cards kept by the captain, and they may be called out by him at any time. It is expected that they will supplement the regular police force in patrolling the city in times of danger.

Some trouble has been found to obtain suitable drill grounds for the league, vacant lots and public schools now being utflized.

TOYS HIS FIRST GIFTS TO GIRL HE COURTED

Bride, Twenty-three Years Old, Marries Father's Friend, Thirty-nine Years Her Senior.

New York.-A romance that had its beginning in the close friendship between the bride's father and the elderly bridegroom resulted recently in the marriage of Miss Mabel Evelyn Cristadoro of Flushing, N. Y., to Harrison Hodges, purchasing agent for the Long Island railroad. Mr. Hodges, whose home is at 58 West Fifty-seventh street, is sixty-two years old, while his bride is twenty-three.

Mr. Hodges has passed practically his whole life in the railroad business and is very widely known. Many years ago Miss Cristadoro's father, Charles Cristadoro, also was engaged in the railroad business. A close friendship sprang up between the men. and almost from the day of her birth Mr. Hodges evinced a deep interest in the daughter of his friend and com-the other "goodles" usually so acceptable to children. In recent years, however, friends of Miss Cristadoro became convinced that there was something more than casual friendship for the young woman in the attentions bestowed upon her by Mr. Hodges. They were not surprised recently when it became generally known that they were to be married, although Mr. Hodges had been looked upon as confirmed bachelor.

Altoona, Pa.-After preparing to make a coupling in the Pennsylvania yards here, Brakeman H. Ward Hall slipped from his car, and the next in stant his right foot was caught in a switch frog. He struggled to free himself, but could not.

Then he tried frantically to save himself by signaling the engineer, who was pushing a draft of twenty-four cars toward him, but the man on the locomotive could not see him.

When members of his crew found him later his right arm and right leg had been severed and he was pinned under a big steel car, but still con scious. Every car had run over him.

He directed the work of the mer who were rescuing him and was rush ed to the hospital, where he died four hours later.

George B. Ford, consultant to the committee on the city plan, in his paty Life," at the national conference on Pay then or return. community centers held recently in New York city, visioned the following J. D. ATWATER, Genoa, N. Y. glowing picture of the future community center. He said in part:

"Every city is composed of many more or less integrated villages. Each community has grown up by itself and gradually become woven into the neighboring villages. Often with shifting populations their homegeneity and individuality are lost. Consciously they solidarity is re-established through such agencies as the community center. Each function of life in the limited number of places or buildings.

tered here and there. The local fire engine house, police station, dispensary Call, Phone or Write and milk station are located wherever land is cheapest. No two functions of local life bear any consciously conceived geographical relation to one another. There is rarely even a semblance of a concerted plan for effecting co-operation among these various functions. Despite the example of the business sense that has been applied to the co-ordination of functions in ."big business" or in city administration little trace of it has appeared in the way of planning the city or even its local units for efficiency and amenity.

The first constructive step in correlating such activities is bringing the playground and the school together. At first, the bride said laughingly, Mr. According to the Gary idea. they must Hodges' gifts to her were toys and be together. In any case, their uses are so closely related that each is much more effective if they are together, to say nothing of the decided savings in cost to be attained by having common janitor and other service. Only by such co-operation can full value be obtained from the schoolhouse at all hours of day, 365 days in the year.

> The next step is to group near by various other commonly used buildings, such as the public library, the public bath, the public local market, the churches, the lodges and clubs, even hospitals and poor farms.

The following step would be to in duce the local stores and business buildings and the various commercialized amusements to locate along the approaches to the center, and thus virtually all of the common activity of the community would be concentrated in one thoroughly familiar and easily accessible location. The more unconscious the habit the greater the frequency with which individuals or families would foregather. Suggestive plans for such centers were presented recently in a neighborhood center com petition under the auspices of the City club of Chicago and also in the plans made several years ago for the "Soulard civic center" in St. Louis. Such grouping of public and semi-public. buildings is bound to have a marked effect on the individual members of the neighborhood. They become conscious that somehow the district is a distinct entity. A local civic spirit is engendered. A distinct community life takes form.

However, grouping the various buildings and open spaces so that they operate efficiently together is not enough. We must have beauty as well. Our spiritual man craves beauty. It should mean everything to the child as he grows up to have lived in an environment of beauty. If he does not get it during his formative period he will probably never love the beautiful for its own sake. Concretely this means designing attractive yet simple school buildings and setting them in a parklike playground where children can be taught to respect and to love the growing things of nature. Well designed and set public buildings in such p neighborhood center would become ar object lesson for private builders. ('ompetition would set in until all had coutributed to the charm of the district There are few things that foster lo al pride more quickly than do good build ings, well set, among attractive park and streets.

As you let your imagirfation play with the possibilities of the plan there gradually rises up before you the vision of the great city plan of the future -: city of many villages, all woven together, each complete and sufficient unto itself in the everyday things that reaching out beyond for the extraordi

To the Public:

I believe that it pays to advertise, but I do not believe that all advertising pays.

To make advertising pay it must attract customers to the store---the best attraction is proof---proof that it is to the customers advantage to trade at this store--this I am going to try and do by a series of adds in The Tribune each week.

These adds will be called "Store News" and will be changed each week in an effort to prove that our advertising is of mutual advantage.

The arrival of new goods---Addition of new lines---Facts about quality---Change of prices---Special sales to clean up stock---Why we carry certain goods and Why they are better than others---That's what we call store news.

By JOSEPH E. DAVIES,

Chairman Federal Trade Commission. Not long ago two young men who had saved some money out of their wages, embarked in a small manufacturing business themselves. They found difficulty in procuring certain raw materials as advantageously as their former employer could. The party furnishing the raw materials, they said, had an understanding with their former employer. This, they claimed, was unfair competition.

They filed complaint with the federal trade commission. After investigation it was ascertained that the reasons assigned for refusing to furnish the raw materials were that the young men did not have credit or cash to buy. When this fact was made clear, the young men arranged to pay cash. Thereupon the party complained against agreed not to discriminate against them further in any way but to furnish them raw materials on an equal basis with their competitors. There was no formal hearing, no long drawn-out litigation; the young concern could not have stood it. The whole matter was adjusted within a few weeks and the small industry afforded a chance, on the rights of the smaller as well as an even footing, to work out its sal-

HOME AFTER 21 YEARS.

Kansan, Long Thought Lost at Sea,

Ends His Roaming. Pratt, Kan.-Charles M. Short, who has been mourned as dead by his mother, Mrs. M. A. Annett of St. Joseph. Mo., has been found in this city and is alive and well.

Short tells a peculiar story of a roaming life, which he has at last decided to stop and go home to his mother. About twenty-one years ago Short left his home at Excelsior Springs, Mo., and started out for himself. He went to San Francisco, where he went on the seas as a sailor. He never wrote his mother, but a word to a cousin in Nebraska gave the information that he was a sailor on a certain boat. This boat was reported sunk, and there was no report of Short's name in the list of survivors.

His mother then mourned him for dead until recently a flash came over the wire from the cousin in Nebraska that Short had been found.

Variety The Spice Of Life

No one problem is daily more vexatious than "What shall we have to eat?" Not only once but three times a day does the same plaint arise. Most families are in a peculiar rut as to their eating and manner of cooking. For instance, in one family there is a too frequent appearance of pot roast, mashed potatoes and brown gravy. Another family will not tolerate anything but troiled meat and runs up expensive ills for chops and steaks. A third amily never has soup, and still anothr has every dessert a pudding.

Is it not possible and easy also to vary more greatly our American menus? Is not this just the time of year to install some new methods of cooking the old familiar dishes? Why must rice always be used as a cereal or as a basis for tasteless rice pudding? Other countries use it with meat, with a spiced gravy, and make it the basis of a meal either as a curry

Ostrich novelties effectively change an ordinary hat into one of unusual effectiveness. Wing shaped are some of these ostrich novelties, which may be bent into any desired shape, for the quill is easily persuaded to assume any shape or position.

Many straw ornaments are used on the Paris creations, and most of them are formed of the modish shiny straw. Appliques of fruit are most popular, and all the small berries are to be had as well as the larger fruits. Quite as unusual are the flowers that are seen in profusion, and after a period when flowers were not considered smart we find that the designers have turned out more beautiful and original models than have ever been seen before.

U. S. EXPORTS FOR ONE MONTH SET WORLD MARK

More Goods Shipped Abroad Than Were Ever Dispatched by Any Nation in Same Period of Time.

The foreign trade of the United States which has been growing in leaps and bounds since the European war began at last has broken all records of the world, according to Uncle Sam's official figures. Statistics made public by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, department of commerce, show that $410,000,000 worth of goods was exported from the United States in March, 1916-more than any nation in the world ever exported before in any one month. The exports in this one month were $113,000,000 greater than in March, 1915, and nearly double the average for that month for the preceding five years. For a period of nine months the exports exceeded by more than $1,000,000,000 the record for the corresponding period of any preceding fiscal year.

WILL HUNT "MAD" COYOTES

Uncle Sam to Spend $75,000 in Campaign Against Pest.

Uncle Sam is going to spend $75,000 in an effort to kill off the "mad" coyotes in the Western states. The appropriation recently made has enabled the bureau of biological survey of the United States department of agriculture to put five inspectors and 190 hunters in the field, in addition to its existing organization. These men are to serve in Oregon, Nevada, California and Idaho, and along the border in Dtah.

The coyote has always been a pest to stockmen, but with the advent of rables it has become a serious danger to persons as well as to stock. In many sections of Oregon, Idaho, Callfornia and Nevada, parents are afraid to send their children to school unless they are well guarded, and there is their owners.

Soldier Use Umbrella? Well, This One Didn't.

T. T. Wallen Come to think of it, now, did you ever see one of Uncle Sam's soldiers in uniform carrying an umbrella?

Residents of a certain street in Brooklyn caught a glimpse of a marine recruit carrying a "bumbershoot" during a recent rainstorm, but it was only a glimpse. Two older marines met the recruit, took the umbrella from him, and broke it up. paying not the slightest heed to his plea that he had purchased the thing just ten minutes before. Then the older marines gave the recruit a lecture on military proprieties. There is no service regulation against the carrying of umbrellas by uniformed men, but there is an unwritten law of the Marine Corps which classifies the umbrella as a piece of feminine finery and its use is taboo with old heads who know

The bicycle has come into its own again, according to Uncle Sam. Director Sam L. Rogers of the bureau of census has issued a report showing that the output of bicycles in the United States increased 70,7 per cent in number and 66.1 per cent in value from 1909 to 1914. In 1909 233,770 btcycles, valued at $3,228,189 were produced. In 1914 the production reached 398,899 bicycles, with a value of $5,-

At the same time the production of motorcycles increased in still greater proportions. In 1909 only 18,628 motorcycles were produced, having a value of $3,015,988, while in 1914, the output had increased

Upon the medal is inscribed the sentence. "Now let us conserve human life." This seems to all suffragists most appropriate. It stands for what has already been done for decreasing infant mortality in suffrage countries. It also stands for efforts to protect childhood, to inspect food, to safeguard homes, efforts which have been carried on wherever wives and mothers have a voice in making laws. The design of the medal is also a happy interpretation of the woman suffrage cause It shows a woman's figure trampling a serpent under her feet and bearing in her hands the scales of justice.

THE GARDENER'S FRIENDS.

Why Birds as Well as Toads Should Be Guarded and Encouraged.

All successful gardeners know that toads are their best friends, but all of them do not know the value of birds as insect destroyers. The department of agriculture has reported that the annual crop loss to the United States from insect pests is over $795,000,000 An expert has estimated that certain grvac will consume 200 times their riginal weight in twenty-four hours If an infant did as much as some caterpillars, he would weigh forty tons at maturity.

and game birds are the best of agents for destroying insects. One authority says that it is more than likely that successful agriculture would become impossible, if all the birds were to be exterminated. The work of the friendly flicker, who likes the city almost as well as the country, is a good example of what an energetic bird will accomplish if unhindered. Certain flickers. that were subjected to a survey were found to devour 5,000 ants a day while two orioles feasted on 3,500 plant lice at a single meal. The amateur gardener usually comes to his first grief in consequence of his ignorance of the ways of plant lice. By encouraging birds as well as toads to live in his garden he can reduce his troubles with insects to a minimum.

WEEDS IN THE GARDEN.

Why You Should Destroy and Not Board Them.

Without weeds the kitchen gardener's life would be a much easier one. but he would not get as much exercise. A weedless garden is usually profitable. That is true not so much because the weeds have not eaten the plant food which should go into vegetables, but because it shows the gardener has spent a lot of time digging in his garden. Don't wait until the weeds get a start, for then the exercise you can get pulling or hoeing them is hard work, and that takes a lot of ambition out of the gardener. Do a little weeding every time you get near the garden.

Chopping off weeds is one way, but the better way is to pull out roots and all. A hoe may be used between rows in digging up the weeds, but the hand is necessary to get at weeds growing in between the plants in the row, for a

DON'TS FOR BUYERS.

Some Restrictions Valuable For Those on Shopping Bent.

Don't buy a suit with a plaited skirt unless you have an electric iron and lots of time or else a good maid.

Don't buy one that is a bit too small, for the present style coat, with its flaring hem, looks especially bad in a size too small.

Don't, if you're over five feet six, get up and down stripes.

Don't buy a tan suit if you are sallow. Some of the tan shades are again in fashion, and they are a pitfall for the unwary sallow woman, Don't buy a suit trimmed with a light color if you must wear it constantly, for nothing looks worse than soiled trauming.

Don't, if the family Bible has you down for over forty--you needn't admit it-get a suit because the saleswoman tells you it's girlish. Don't be a flapper at forty.

Don't, if you're under five feet three, get round about trimming.

Don't get a jacket that has sleeves too short or too long, for misfit sleeves spoil what may otherwise be a very attractive jacket.

FOR SPRING WEDDINGS.

One Attractive Way to Give the Bride a Shower.

With spring already upon us, the thought of spring weddings is now in the air. This is the ripe season for linen showers and other showers of household necessaries given to the bride by all her friends. The girl who is to be married in April will be the recipient of many an entertainment before she is safely wedded, but she will enjoy nothing more than a shower if her friends have any novel ideas on

The chief point in a shower must always be its surprise; otherwise it would not be a shower. If you are thinking of giving such an affair for some friend who is soon to be married be sure that every detail is kept a secret from her. That is half the fun.

A novel idea for a linen shower can be executed in the following way: Invite the bride to be to spend an evening at your home with a few old friends. See that she arrives the first and is comfortably seated and chatting when the other guests begin to arrive. Of course the latter are in the secret or else there would be no shower.

Each guest must come in carrying an umbrella. The bride may not notice the first one, but she will certainly remark before long that every one who enters carries an umbrella. She will probably ask before the last one arrives if it is raining, in which case the guest questioned should answer, "No. but it looks like a shower."

When all the guests have arrived each one must gain possession of her own umbrella in case it has been laid aside on her entrance. At a given signal, which should be some such remark from the hostess as "Did you say it looked like a shower?" the guests should all open their umbrellas with the answer, "It certainly does." From the steel ribs of each umbrella should be suspended by a string the parcel holding the piece of linen which the guest intends to give the bride. Any big bundles, like a tablecloth, will make the umbrella a bit bulky when closed, but in such case the guest will have to smuggle her umbrella in unnoticed. But most linen pieces can be done up in such small parcels that they can easily be concealed in a closed

At the signal to open the parcels will all hang down by their strings. The guests must then hold their umbrellas over the bride-ro-be's head. The hostess provides her with scissors to cut down her varions bundles, and the point of the showe; is made apparent.

A Hygiene Note.

When a child begins with a cold iso late it from the other children in the house and do not let it attend school until it is better. Not only is a cold contagious in itself, but in children a cold is often the beginning of a contagious disease, and it is not fair to other children to let them come in contact with a cold until it is proved to be nothing serious.

There is no better gargle or nose douche for a beginning inflammation dominant note of the speakers at the than salt and water: Of course the solution must be weaker for the nose. Nose douches should be taken only on a doctor's advice, as the membrane of the nose is very delicate and the treatment must necessarily vary with the child. Never let the child go out of doors after spraying nose and throat.

It is our am'ition to work shoulder to shoulder with you, supplementing your efforts, undertaking only those things which you are not in a position to do, or which you do not think you can do as well as this independent body."

Chairman Willcox's Letter.

Wm. R. Willcox, National Republican Chairman, sent a letter in which he welcomed the help of the Alliance. The letter follows:

I welcome the Hughes Alliance to the support of the Republican presidential candidate.

It is my feeling and understanding that the work of the Alliance will be in aid and supplementary to that of the Republican organization.

Many men and women who rarely, if ever, have voted a Republican National ticket will this year vote for Governor Hughes. Democrats and Progressives. as well as Independents, without regard to their present political affiliations want to work and vote for Mr. Hughes. I would feel myself a poor sort of National Chairman if I did not candidly recognize this fact, and give all encouragement to any sound means of enlisting and getting in motion this independent support of the candidate nominated by the Republican party in this hour of National 1 Address of F. C. Tanner. .

Frederick C. Tanner, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, also told the Alliance leaders that there was a distinct service which the organization could perform in the cam paign; part of his address follows: "As Chairman of the Republican State Committee, I extend to you, men of all creeds and parties, the warmest co-operation in the election of Governor

Hughes. "I understand that your Constitution provides that the 'Alliance shall take part in no primary or factional con-test shall adopt no emblem and seek no place on the ballot,' but shall give its undiluted strength in a single effort to elect Charles E, Hughes to the Presidency. Your Organization is not in antagonism to the Republican organization, but is supplemental to it. Your purpose, so far as it goes, is the same as our purpose. We are all together in the one fight to elect Governor Hughes. Your Constitution and by-laws provide that the Alliance 'seek to work in entire harmony and cooperation with Party committees in behalf of Charles E. Hughes.' Under those circumstances Chairman Willcox and myself could not but welcome your support."

An Independent's View. The following statement of Mr. George Haven Putnam, one of the vice-presidents of the Alliance, is of particular interest to independents: "Judge Hughes has carried out with exceptional efficiency and assured integrity of purpose and of action and makes a broad appeal to all Americans. distinctive success all of the responsibilities that have been placed upon tions and likewise to the independent him. REJECTED SOLDIERS PHYSICALLY UNFIT

Why So Many Americans Cannot Enter Military Service.

National Liberty Rests on National Vitality - Increasing Sedentary Group Overfed and Underexercised - The Lesson of the Rejected Soldiers Should Not Be Lost on the People. By E. E. RITTENHOUSE, Conserva-

Many Americans are amazed at the extraordinary number of young men who have been found physically unfit for service in the regular army. It is claimed that four-fifths of the applicants for enlistment in the U. S. Marines last year were rejected. According to the press, out of 40,000 volunteers answering the recent call for the regular army but 9,000 were accepted. News accounts show that in some of the militia groups recently called out in the states bordering on Mexico over 50% were below the standregular army. Uncle Sam will, doubtless, be obliged to lower his physical standard to fill the ranks and perhaps he can do so without serious harm to the service.

Does Not Solve the Problem.

But this does not solve the problem of the impaired physical condition of our men. If so many of our young men are below the standard, what must be the condition in the rest of the adult population?

What is the cause? What is to be done about it? The experience of the army doctors but tends to corroborate other evidence of the excessive and ingroup of Americans.

One of the important contributing causes is found in the extraordinary our country. Millions of Americans. mostly bred from generations of outdoor or muscularly active ancestors. are now working in offices, stores, and industries where little or no physical exertion is required. And it naturally follows that these people have soft muscle, short wind and low resisting power to fatigue and disease.

In the general sense, this increasing sedentary group is overfed and under exercised and as a natural consequence we find the degenerative diseases of the heart and other organs in creasing and a very marked prevalence of flabby muscles, bad posture! defetive teeth, diseased gums, impaired vision, weak arches, flat foot, constipation and other impairments due to soft, modern living conditions.

Show Evidence of Organic Disease. Out of twenty-eight million American men, age 18 to 60, at least eight million five hundred thousand will show evidences of approaching or ranic disease. Inasmuch as our militiamen and most of the regulars come not from the farms, industrial plants or the muscularly active group, but from offices and stores and the mercantile class generally, it is interesting to consider the physical condition of this element of our population. The latest evidence we have on this subject is found in the book "How to Live," by Prof. Irving Fisher and Dr. E. L. Fisk. This book was written for and presented to the Life Extension Institute of New York by the authors on condition that any profits from its sale should be used in further health educational work. The mission of this book is to urge healthful living babits and its scientifi value is enhanced by the fact that its contents were reviewed and approved before publication by a large group of eminent American scientists. In urging the practice of personal hygiene, these authorities call attention to the results of the investigations of the Institute among the class of people which happens to be the one from which our soldiers are now being chief

Of the total number examined, in a large group of the mercantile class with an average age of 27, 16 per cent had organic heart trouble, 42 per cent. had impaired arteries ranging from slight to advanced thickening, 40 per and diabetes from slight to serious, faulty vision uncorrected, and so on.

In industrial groups the averages were much the same; 89 per cent. in both groups were unaware of any defects or impairments and were given health guidance or sent to their doc-ments would not keep a man out of battles of peace as well as those of

Neither our liberty nor our race can be protected and developed by weakminded, soft-muscled, low-powered men,

We must learn to eat, drink, work, play and "have our being" with less wear and tear and injury to the body and its organs. This problem of up-building and maintaining the vitality of our people is a national problem. The lesson of the rejected soldler should not be
