King Ferry.

Oct. 31—Mrs. Husted Brill has been spending some time with her granddaughter, Mrs. Clifford Hand of Genoa.

Mr. and Mrs. Cotton of Savanna were guests of their daughter, Mrs. Perry, recently.

Mrs. Lizzie Jones of Sherwood was a Sunday guest of her brother, Geo. Starns. They also called on their aunt, Mrs. Roote, who is in Dr. Skinner's hospital at Genoa.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Crouch and daughter, Miss Vera of Auburn were guests of A. W. Atwater and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sinclair of Roseville were over-Sunday guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. E. A. Bradley also Mr. and Mrs. Allen Kelsey were guests at the same place. Harvey Smith is now at the wheel of a new five passenger Buick.

Little Eleanor Brill has been quite sick. Her mother, Mrs. Frank Brill, is now on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Shaw and daughter of Ithaca are in town.

Missee Eva and Marjory McCormick of Geneseo have been spending a few days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. McCormick.

Quite a number from here attended the concert at Poplar Ridge Sunday afternoon which was very pleasing.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES.

Sunday morning worship at 10.30. Communion of the Lord's supper. A brief sermon on "Our Christian Opportunity During This Political Campaign and Election."

Sunday School at 12 o'clock.

We have changed our evening service from 5 o'clock back to 7. Subject, "The Consecration of Social Life." Reference, 1 Cor. 9:19-23. Leader, Mrs. Earl Buckhout. Sermon by pastor. Music by the young people's choir. A consecration service.

Prayer-meeting on Thursday at 7 o'clock followed by choir rehearsal. We are very glad that the young people have organized a choir and we believe that they will do much good.

The offering to the Board of Ministerial Relief and Sustentation was $30.86.

The Baraca class has begun basketball practice. All young men are eligible to play on the team who join the class and attend on Sunday. We expect to play many games with other teams.

The present Christian Endeavor is the present society resumed and not a new society as some seem to think. If you were a member, you are now and we want you to be present. Everyone cordially urged to attend the evening service as well as the morning.

No More Free Seeds.

According to Rural Life the United States Senate killed this year's appropriation for the free distribution of seeds, and congressmen will not be able to send their constituents next spring a supply of vegetable and flower seeds.

Ledyard.

Oct. 30—This beautiful weather and fine roads are being enjoyed by the automobilist, judging from the number that frequent the state road.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis also Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Wilbur entertained friends on Sunday.

Miss Nina Gale was an over-Sunday guest of Mrs. Clarence Parmenter.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Coral Brewster, Oct. 27, a son—Everit Coral.

State Public Employment Bureau.

The State Public Employment Bureau at 30 North Street, Auburn, has done business with more than 450 employers of labor in the County and has registered over 700 people for work since it was established in Cayuga County on March 1, last. It expects to continue this work and is in a position to bring farmers and workers together for next season's contract.

Too much importance cannot be placed upon the value of hiring men early for the next year. This is especially true for married men who live in a tenant house. The farmer who waits until the last moment in the spring is bound to be disappointed in finding a satisfactory man.

The Public Employment Bureau, which is located in the same office with the Cayuga County Farm Bureau, is making a special effort to help get satisfactory hands for next year. Farmers who will need tenants beginning December 1, March 1, or April 1 are making their wants known to the manager now and are being put into correspondence with men who will be ready to move at that time. Tenant men who expect to change places at the end of this season are registering at the office and are told of positions for which they are adapted. The end of the present season is near and it is to the advantage of all concerned that workers be hired early for next year. When you are in Auburn drop in at the office and talk over the prospects with Manager Woodcock.

Tribute to Mrs. Atwater.

Again shadows dark and deep rest on the alter of our Chapter room and we mourn the loss of our beloved sister and Past Matron, M. Elizabeth Atwater, a consistent Christian, a devoted wife and mother. She possessed a sympathetic nature and gave to her friends and neighbors the best in her power to give. We remember many kind words and deeds, and as chapter members can say, "She was my friend." We extend to the family our sincere sympathy at this time and may "He whose star we have seen in the East guide and comfort them."

We can strive to emulate her many noble qualities and thus in the truest sense keep ever before us the memory of a life spent in doing good to others.

"It is idle to talk of the future, And the might have been" mid our tears.

God knew all about it, yet took her away from the on coming years. So in the darkness be trustful. One day you shall say, "it is well!" God took from her brow earth's troubles, And crowned her with life's immortelles."

New York State Dairymen's Convention.

The fortieth annual convention of the New York State Dairymen's Association, to be held at the New York State Armory at Syracuse from Nov. 14 to 16 inclusive will demonstrate improved methods of handling milk and of giving cleaner milk and better dairy products to the consumer.

An exhibition of the latest in dairy apparatus, farm barn equipment, motor trucks and dairy products and supplies, will be shown in the Armory.

Prominent speakers will make addresses on questions in which dairymen are most interested. There are now many subjects and questions with regard to dairying which are being discussed by dairymen and which are also of general interest. The officers of the association who are urging all members to attend are: W. E. Dana, Avon, president; George E. Hogue, Arcade, vice-president; S. C. Shaver, Albany, secretary; R. R. Kirkland, Philadelphia, treasurer; L. D. Spink, Attica, assistant secretary.

Farm Forestry for Farmers.

A special course on the farm woodlot will be given at the New York State college of Agriculture at Cornell University beginning Nov. 8, and ending Feb. 17, 1917. Like all the other courses offered during the winter this course will be free to residents of New York state, and may be taken in connection with one or more of the regular courses offered by the college at this time.

The object of the course it is stated, is to demonstrate that the farm woodlot may be made a prominent and profitable source of income to the farmer. In addition to the one lecture a week, three Saturday afternoons will be given to trips to neighboring woodlots, or to such places as are of interest to owners of woodlots.

The college announces that this course will furnish, in as condensed a form as possible, the necessary information for the proper care and management of the farm woodlot; special emphasis being placed upon the identification of our native trees, together with a discussion of their different values as producers of timber and woodlot products. Considerable time will be spent upon the various ways of estimating timber in the woodlot; attention paid to the different types of log rules; and also to methods of seeding and planting the farm woodlot.

Information concerning this course, together with application blanks for admission, to the winter courses, will be mailed upon request by the secretary of the College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

Didn't Want Much.

It was in the far South. "How's times?" asked the tourist.

"Pretty tolerable, stranger," responded the old fellow, who was sitting idly on the stump of a tree. "I had a pile of brush to burn and the lightning set fire to it and saved me the trouble of burning it up."

"That was good."
"I had some trees to cut down, but the cyclone leveled them and saved me the trouble."

"Remarkable! But what are you doing now?"
"Waiting for an earthquake to come along and shake the potatoes out of the ground."

He Heard Pa Tell Ma.

"Your hair isn't wet," said little Tommy to Mr. Flyer, who was calling.

"No, of course not! What made you think my hair was wet?" he asked, very much surprised.

"I heard pa tell ma that you couldn't keep your head above water."

Your husband has been ill," said the caller. "Yes," replied the little worried-looking woman, "he has been feeling very badly. I do my best to please him, but nothing seems to satisfy him."
"Is his condition critical?"
"It's worse than critical," she answered, with a sigh; "it's abusive."

—Martin Andrew Malone, who died recently in Ithaca was born at Mobile, Ala., and served throughout the Civil War with the Southern army. After the war he was received cordially by the local Union army posts, in which he had also been a popular and prominent member. He was said to be the last member of the Confederate army residing in Tompkins county. The regard of federal veterans for Mr. Malone is said to have inspired the spirit of the poem, "The Blue and the Gray," written by Judge Francis Miles Finch, a former prominent resident of Ithaca, member of the Cornell University law faculty and the Court of Appeals.

Shoes are now so dear that they ought to have extra care nowadays. If mothers will invest in a second grade of castor oil and grease the shoes often and plentifully and when wet if the shoes are filled with oats and left to stand overnight their resistance will be increased fourfold. The castor oil keeps the shoes soft, and the oats absorb dampness and hold the shape.

RULES FOR DRAGGING.

Concise Advice From an Authoritative Source.

The following rules are given by the Illinois highway commission:

- Use a light drag.
- Haul it over the road at an angle so that a small amount of earth is pushed to the center of the road.
- Drive the team at a walk.
- Ride on the drag; do not walk.
- Begin at one side of the road, returning up the opposite side.
- Drag the road as soon after every rain as possible, but not when the mud

is in such a condition as to stick to the drag.

Do not drag a dry road.

Drag whenever possible at all seasons of the year.

The width of traveled way to be maintained by the drag should be from eighteen to twenty feet. First drag a little more than the width of a single wheel track, then gradually increase until desired width is obtained.

Always drag a little earth toward the center of the road until it is raised from ten to twelve inches above the edges of the traveled way.

The amount of earth that the drag will carry along can be very considerably controlled by the driver, accordingly as he stands near the cutting end or away from it.

When the roads are first dragged after a very muddy spell the wagons should drive, if possible, to one side until the roadway has a chance to freeze or partially dry out.

The best results from dragging are obtained only by repeated application.

Remember that constant attention is necessary to maintain an earth road in its best condition.

NEW YORKERS NEED M'COMBS IN SENATE

Voters of State Have a Chance to Elect Man of Ability.

HE STANDS FOR PROGRESS

Has Had the Training and Experience to Help Solve Big Problems and to Carry Out Wilson Policies—Calder's Career in Congress One of Negation.

It rests squarely with the voters of the State to determine this Fall whether New York shall be represented in the United States Senate for the coming six years by an alert, aggressive man of attainment, capable of impressing upon Congress the needs of the greatest State of the Union, or whether they will have as a representative a silent, vacillating member who, in the past, has been noted chiefly for his failure either to vote or to speak when the interests of his constituents were at issue.

New York State should take pride in the character of the man it sends to the United States Senate. Other States, whose interests are small as compared with those of New York, make brains and character prime requisites in their Senatorial representatives. The election of William F. McCombs will place us on as high a plane as any State of the Union.

McCombs has the training, personality and the integrity qualifying him for a place in the Senate. His acumen discerned the calibre of Woodrow Wilson for the Presidency. It was McCombs' persistency that made possible Wilson's nomination. It was McCombs' organization and aggressive ness that carried the first Wilson campaign to a brilliant success.

With McCombs in the Senate there is no doubt that the Wilson policies making for progress, peace and prosperity, with special privilege for none and equal opportunity for all, will be zealously promoted and brilliantly advocated. Independent voters in all sections of the State have rallied to the support of McCombs and are working diligently to bring about his success. Hundreds of Republicans who rise above partisan consideration are also aiding in the McCombs campaign, for they mentally weighed the candidates for the United States Senate and have found that McCombs is the man who measures up and in whose keeping the interests of the State can be safely reposed.

One strong point in McCombs' favor is his advocacy of the Hudson River Ship Channel project. He recognizes what a deeper Hudson means for the important cities and towns of the State along the Hudson and Mohawk rivers as well as the State canal, both as regards commerce and population. A Hudson channel deep enough to permit the loading and unloading of ocean tonnage on the wharves of these municipalities will make every city and town of the Hudson Valley an emporium of world commerce.

Against this high purpose of working for the benefit of the people consider the record of William M. Calder, former Congressman, now seeking election to the United States Senate on the Republican ticket. Mr. Calder served in the 50th, 60th, 61st, 62nd and 63d Congress. During that period he established a record of not voting on the most important legislation that was proposed. When he did cast his vote he usually sided with the foes of progressive legislation by casting his vote in the "No" column on matters concerning the small business man, the farmer and those employed in the shops, factories and mills.

Two instances in particular stood out in which Mr. Calder's failure to vote shows his indifference or antagonism to the welfare of the people. He did not vote on the bill calling for Federal aid in the construction and maintenance of Public Roads, which is one of the greatest achievements of the Wilson Administration. When the bill to provide Federal aid for agricultural colleges came up Mr. Calder is again recorded as not voting.

STUDENTS SUPPORT WILSON.

University of Rochester Has Permanent Democratic Club.

Further evidence that President Wilson has the support of college men throughout the country comes in the announcement that more than two hundred students of the University of Rochester have formed a permanent Democratic organization. This is double the number of those who have declared themselves for the Republican candidate for President.

Unusual interest in the election has been manifested about the college this year, and President Wilson's popularity has been marked in the campaign discussions that have arisen. The Democratic organization was the outgrowth of this strongly expressed Wilson sentiment.

The students elected the following officers: President, Lester C. Shuknecht; Vice-President, Wilbur M. Woodams; Secretary, Donald Marks.

The club will be known as the University of Rochester Democratic Club and will hold meetings twice a week until after election. Prof. Laurence B. Peckard of the History Department is among those to address the organization.

Wilson Kept Us Out of War.

"We are fortunate in having kept out of the present European war, and we ought to support the administration in keeping us out."—Ex-President Taft, Chicago, Nov. 19, 1914.

Peace With Full Honor.

"The United States has won a great diplomatic victory in the square acceptance by Germany of those principles concerning neutral rights on the high seas for which our State Department has been contending. President Wilson has succeeded in this controversy in preserving the peace with full honor."—New York Sun (Organ of Wall Street, Now Notoriously Anti-Wilson), Sept. 2, 1915.

Hughes' Fatal Drawback.

"It should, as I think, be regarded as a fatal drawback to Justice Hughes' nomination that he is a Justice of the Supreme Court. . . . Besides this, Justice Hughes has never had any experience in foreign affairs, which now most critically involve our national honor and safety, and, what is more, no man knows what his views are on this or any other of the leading questions which now agitate the people of the United States."—Joseph H. Choate (Corporation Lawyer, Formerly Mr. Hughes' Partner, Member Republican National Committee) to the New York Press April 9, 1915.

Will Force Wilson's Re-election.

"No words of Mr. Hughes' after nomination can in the smallest degree remove the impression that will prevail that he was willing to win the nomination. . . . The Tribune does not believe the people of the United States will ever accept a candidate nominated under such circumstances. . . . It will force the re-election of Mr. Wilson."—New York Tribune (Consistently Republican, Now Vigorously Anti-Wilson).

WILLIAM F. M'COMBS

President Wilson's Administration in four years has given the nation more constructive legislation than the Republican Party has had the imagination to promise in the last forty years.

President Wilson plans further constructive legislation along safe, sane, constructive, conserving lines, and it is necessary that he should have a Democratic Congress behind him to carry this legislation into effect.

William F. McCombs' record is such as to qualify him as a worthy candidate for the United States Senate. He is a scholar and a gentleman. Educated at Princeton and Harvard Universities, he has practiced law in New York, managed the National campaign which resulted in the election of Woodrow Wilson as President, was Chairman of the Democratic National Committee and was tendered the Ambassadorship to France. He is a trustee of the College of the City of New York and a member of the American Bar Association.

Mr. McCombs is eminently qualified by training, experience and inclination to faithfully serve his State and his Nation along lines followed by this Democratic administration and in accordance with the promises of the Platform of the Democratic Party.

VOTE for WILSON and MARSHALL, SEABURY, and M'COMBS, and the entire Democratic Ticket so as to insure Peace with Honor, Prosperity, Economy, Efficiency, and Justice for the State and Nation.

Adequate Merchant Marine Will Avert National Crisis.

AUGUST BELMONT TALKS

Says That When Peace is Declared All Forms of Industrial Enterprises Will Suffer if We Cannot Ship Our Goods to Foreign Markets—Transportation Vital.

Mr. August Belmont, in a recent address to the Ways and Means Committee of the National Marine League in New York, predicted that this country is facing a commercial crisis as great as the financial crisis that confronted it in 1896 and 1909 when the gold standard was threatened. That crisis was averted by popular education and by popular action and the present crisis, he said, can be averted only by providing for this country an adequate merchant marine of its own to meet the conditions that will exist when peace is declared.

"When peace is declared," he said, "the first shock will strike the ocean carrying tonnage of the world and especially that of America. Each nation will unquestionably conserve its own tonnage, and when we want to trade freely we shall find that we cannot. The ordinary conditions of supply and demand will not obtain. Not having adequate shipping facilities under American control, the situation will act like a stricture on all forms of industrial enterprises, with consequent sympathetic shrinkages in values of investment securities held throughout the country.

"These shrinkages will necessarily extend to all classes of the people. If the manufacturer cannot maintain his output either because of industrial disturbance or through inability because of lack of facilities of his own to market his goods in competition with his foreign rival, the livelihood of every employee will be in danger. Ocean transportation is so vital to the welfare of the nation that no laboring man, whether he be an industrial worker or a farmer, is free from its direct effect upon him.

Bound to Be a Drop in Values.

"At the end of the war there is bound to be a drop in industrial values, inflated by the abnormal conditions of war, unless some stabilizer is found. The one dominant thing that will cut an important figure in allaying public apprehension as to the stability of industrial securities is the certainty of large orders for many years to come from the shipbuilding industry. The creation of new, the enlargement of old shipyards and the building of an adequate American mercantile fleet will act as an underlying prop to all American industries.

"For twenty years to come, with the average increase in our foreign commerce, as shown in the twenty years gone by, seven million additional tons of ships will be needed, costing about $500,000,000. The present conduct of our foreign commerce under normal conditions costs $500,000,000 a year. In twenty years it is not extravagant to place it at a billion dollars. The yearly average will thus approximate $750,000,000 yearly, or a total of $15,000,000,000 for twenty years. Shall this stupendous sum be all spent outside of America or shall its proper quota be spent here?

"The mere announcement of these, which may practically be called certainties, together with the fixed determination of the American people to build their own ships, would be enough to bolster public faith in all descriptions of industrial investments. Moreover, the stimulus of excessively high ocean freight rates which has drawn so much of our capital into shipbuilding since the war began, will be replaced by the knowledge of a steady demand for years to come instead of the hectic gambler's risk which has started the present rush orders for new ships.

Must Prepare Now.

"Prevention is always less costly than any cure—in money, time or work. We must not wait until our maritime ills are so acute that they cannot be cured. We must prepare through education for the upbuilding of our merchant marine. Now is the time to spend money wisely in a campaign of education and organization through the medium of The National Marine League, and the active help of every citizen is needed, since all citizens are directly affected.

"The so-called 'capitalistic' classes can not provide the remedy. It is the vote of the average citizen, the 'average voter,' multiplied many million times with his recurring vote, that can bring to pass permanent legislation that will create such conditions as will encourage American citizens to invest their lives, energies and some portion of their savings in maritime activities."

Genoa Presbyterian Church.

Morning service at 11 a. m. A large attendance is expected at this service. The quarantine is now removed so that parents are urged to come and bring their children. Let us make this a sort of thanksgiving service that none of the children of our immediate neighborhood have thus far been seized by the prevalent disease.

Sunday school at close of morning service. A large attendance is expected. Parents are urged to bring their small children for the primary class.

Christian Endeavor at 6:30 p. m. Last Sunday was one of the best meetings we have ever had. This week is Consecration service, when we each are to reconsecrate ourselves to God. The roll will be called and each one is urged to come, prepared to answer to your name with a verse of scripture. The society is to send a box to one of the schools in the South. Every Christian Endeavorer and as many of the older ones of the church as wish, are urged to bring some small article of clothing, or some small plaything that would help to gladden the life of some poor child, who probably will have no Christmas if we do not help. These gifts are to be brought to the church some time on Sunday.

Evening Service at 7:30. If you do not now attend these services you are invited to come this week.

Thursday evening service at 7:30. Topic: "The Blessing upon Abstinence." Men of the congregation are especially invited.

The offering last Sunday for the Armenian relief was $24.40.

FARLEY COMMENDED FOR OFFICIAL DEEDS

Democratic Candidate For Attorney General Won High Praise As Excise Commissioner.

William Wallace Farley of the city of Binghamton is not only the unanimous choice of a political party for the important office of Attorney-General, but he is recognized by leading men of all parties and civic organizations as competent, capable and trustworthy. He was first honored by the people of his home city and proved his quality as School Commissioner. Soon after Governor Hughes placed in his hands a commission as Trustee of the Binghamton State Hospital. The endorsement of his public service in such capacity is a matter of public record.

When Mr. Farley was appointed to the position of State Commissioner of Excise, it was a just recognition of faithful work in the interest of the people of the State of New York.

At the head of one of the most important departments of state government, he administered affairs so well that during his term many letters of approval were received from officers of organizations and from prominent men, in position to pass righteous judgment.

The following excerpts from commendatory letters on Mr. Farley's administration of the Excise Department are submitted:

T. DeQuincy Tully, Secretary Law Enforcement Society, N. Y. C.—"I commend the interest, if not zeal, you manifest in sustaining the majesty of the law by its enforcement."

Thomas P. Burke, Organizer of the American and Irish Society, formed to reduce Intemperance—"Mr. Farley, keep up your crusade against the saloons that manufacture drunkards, paupers and prostitutes and you will do an immense amount of good. You are the first Commissioner that has ever brought such an action. Reputable saloonists will endorse your act."

Fred J. Tower, Anti-Saloon League of New York—"I wish to express my appreciation of your efforts in the particular line of prosecution of illicit traffickers in dry towns."

F. D. Blakeslee, District Department, Anti-Saloon League of New York—"I rejoice that you are determined to suppress illegal liquor selling so far as possible. All good citizens will sympathize most heartily with you in this endeavor."

F. L. Frazer, Anti-Saloon League of New York—"Am delighted to note, from week to week, of the good work you are doing. Let the charter roll on."

Fred C. Iglehart, Superintendent Anti-Saloon League, New York City—"Many, many thanks for the splendid, high-minded and honest administration of your office and your uniform courtesy and kindness in looking after the violations which we have called to your attention."

The Rev. Dr. Chas. H. Parkhurst, New York City—"It is to you doubtless that I am indebted for a statement of the amounts recovered in actions brought against liquor tax certificate holders. I am obliged for the information which is certainly to the credit of your Department considering the relatively small force that you have at your command."

Louis Van Loosen, Mayor of Hudson—"I desire to express my personal thanks, and the appreciation of the citizens of Hudson in general, for the assistance of your Department in ridding our city of several disreputable and dangerous saloons."

Dr. Albert Vander Veer of Albany, one of the State's foremost physicians and for many years a member of the Regents of the University of the State—"I want to express to you my earnest congratulations upon your work as Excise Commissioner. Your administration was clean, business-like, and I feel sure that, like others who have watched the excellent results you have obtained for the state, you have left this department with the good wishes of all."

The Rev. A. J. Chapman of M. E. Church of Union—"I wish to commend and congratulate you for the several good decisions you have gotten from the courts, as well as the many bonds and judgments collected. This is very commendable, as some of them were masterstrokes."

The Rev. William Wells Wolfe Wilson of Brooklyn—"It is very evident to us all that you are the right man in the right place, and we look to you for relief not only at these points, but at all others in our immediate vicinity and elsewhere. Success to you in all your laudable efforts."

Not only did Commissioner Farley's work meet with the approval of the citizens and various law enforcement organizations of the State, but it satisfied the liquor interests, which is shown by the following letter from William H. Neuser, one of Albany's wholesale dealers:

"I must congratulate you for your efforts in bettering conditions in the liquor business. Being in the business myself as a matter of fact rather than choice, I admire the stand you take and appreciate what good results could be obtained had we more officials of your caliber."

With such a brilliant record and high-class endorsement his candidacy is presented to the voters for their approval. Honest and efficient work may carry its own reward, but it is also entitled to support. If you believe in voting for a man who has made good you will vote for William Wallace Farley for Attorney-General.

Virginia is now among the Prohibition states. The law became effective Nov. 1 and is one the most stringent yet enacted in the United States. The legislature made ample provision for seeing that the measure be enforced as rigidly as is called for by the statute. The office of state commissioner of Prohibition was created. The commissioner has broad powers to make investigations, hear complaints of non-enforcement of the law, and take steps toward the removal from office of officials who fail to enforce it in every phase. His salary is $3,500 a year.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Driscoll and Earl Dwight Wood of Syracuse, N. Y., occurred Oct. 19, 1916, at the home of Rev. E. A. Burnham, D. D., who performed the ceremony. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Jarvis. Mr. Wood was formerly of Cortland, N. Y., and son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Wood of Cortland.

Milan Ray, one of the best known residents of Auburn and for many years connected with the firm of Ernberger & Ray, photographers, died Sunday evening, Oct. 29, in a peculiar manner. He entered a restaurant and while eating choked on a piece of lobster and expired before a physician reached him. He was a well known Mason.

Installation of Stellar Rebekah Lodge, No. 535, was held at their rooms on Tuesday evening, Oct. 24. D. D. President, Pearl Hart and suite of Auburn, N. Y., were the installing officers. A large number of members and visitors had the pleasure of witnessing the degree work by Stellar Rebekah degree team, after which occurred the installation of officers. A fine banquet was served in the dining room after the work of the evening.

Good Roads increase the value of the 22,000,000 acres of Farm Land in New York State

That's one big reason why the work of your State Highway Department is so important, and why you should see to it that an efficient administration is kept in office.

For example, the value of farm land in New York State increased three hundred and eighty million dollars from 1900 to 1910 during the era of highway improvement under Republican administrations, as compared with a decrease of eighty million dollars for the ten years' preceding highway improvement.

Such an important department of your State Government must be efficiently conducted. It has been efficiently conducted during the past two years under the leadership of Governor Charles S. Whitman, in striking contrast to the conditions that were present during the three preceding administrations.

How this important department has "made good" is of immediate interest to every citizen who desires and supports GOOD GOVERNMENT.

Governor Whitman's appointee to the head of the department, acting with the administration made it possible for engineers and real road builders to get employment and promotion based on MERIT.

Expensive advisory boards and so-called experts were dispensed with. Unnecessary and useless positions were abolished.

A plan of efficiency rating was adopted which forms the basis of advancement instead of personal influence.

Savings of more than two hundred thousand dollars were made in the first year by a more careful scrutiny of plans before final adoption and by adaptation of the type of construction best suited in each particular case.

During 1915 approximately 1,100 miles of first class roads were constructed as well as 1,070 miles of town macadam and gravel roads.

As a result of the careful study of the problem of maintenance and repair, the appropriation asked for maintenance during 1916 was $30,000.00 less than the appropriation for 1915, notwithstanding the fact that the additional mileage of roads to be maintained during 1916 exceeded those of 1915 by a total of between 700 and 800 miles.

Use your vote to support the administration that has brought back your State Government to a sane, businesslike basis.

SCHOENECK WON AN UPHILL FIGHT

Typical American Pluck Figured in His Rise in Life.

LEARNED BLACKSMITH TRADE

Advanced to Front Rank of Bar and Became Mayor of Syracuse—Public Service Characterized by Sound Business Judgment and Rugged Honesty.

The rise of Lieutenant Governor Edward Schoeneck to a powerful position in the state Legislature, to the executive chair of one of the state's largest cities and finally to his present office in the state government furnishes a striking example and at the same time a strong incentive to the ambitious young man struggling under the handicap of poverty.

One of the breadwinners of a large family as a newsboy at the age of 10, doing a man's work in a blacksmith shop at the age of 14, active in the practice of law and an important figure in the New York state Assembly at 27, mayor of Syracuse at 35 and lieutenant governor at 39, Mr. Schoeneck's career shows the success which rewards a clean, healthy mind, a strong body, a head full of brains and American pluck.

Mr. Schoeneck's parents were among the early settlers of Syracuse and, although poor, were of the substantial class that helped to build up that thriving city. His father, Henry Schoeneck, left the blacksmith trade to serve his country in the Civil War. Peace restored, he again took up his leather apron in his little shop located at the dry dock on the Erie canal, now very near the geographical center of Syracuse. Ever since the war Mr. Schoeneck's family has been prominent in G. A. R., Sons of Veterans and Relief Corps circles.

Gaining a common school education until the age of 10, young Schoeneck, called upon to assist in the support of a large family, sold newspapers on the streets of Syracuse. His route took him to the Court house, and there an association with leading lawyers and glimpses of court rooms fired an ambition to become a lawyer. He entered high school and prepared for the study of law, but at the age of 14 the circumstances of his parents seriously threatened his plans. Confronted with these conditions, the boy found it necessary to enter his father's shop, and there he mastered the trade. For ten years he worked before the anvil, spending his nights in study, often in the blacksmith shop, and mastering the languages and mathematics and gaining his first knowledge of law.

Enters Law School.

Realizing that, in leaving the shop for the law school, he would have to be self-supporting, he took a course of stenography at night school. When 23 years of age, the time he had fixed upon for entering law school, his father died and he was compelled to remain another year at his trade in order to help his brothers.

It was not until 1901 that Mr. Schoeneck, then employed as stenographer by a leading Syracuse law firm, was able to enter the college of law at the University of Syracuse. Two years later he was graduated and at once entered upon the practice of law, becoming in the same year a member of the firm of White, Bond and Schoeneck.

The Early Swat Wins Against the Deadly Fly

At the first approach of cold weather the flies seek warmth and protection in houses and stables. From cellar to garret they hide in nooks and corners. Keep them out, if any succeed in getting in kill them. Swat every one that shows itself and be sure to burn their bodies.

He served upon such important committees as general laws and judiciary and as chairman of the committee on taxation, and retrenchment and was regarded as one of the powerful members of the lower branch of the legislature.

Mr. Schoeneck declined re-election in 1907 in order to devote his time to the practice of law.

Mayor of Syracuse.

In 1909, however, the Republican party served notice upon Mr. Schoeneck that it proposed to draft him for further service. He had advanced to the front rank in the Onondaga bar, both in the preparation of cases and as trial lawyer, and was reluctant to leave his practice to re-enter active politics, and only consented when his friends insisted that his presence at the head of the ticket as the candidate for Mayor of Syracuse was necessary to Republican success.

Mr. Schoeneck entered the campaign with George W. Driscoll as the Democratic candidate and with two independent Republican candidates. The common opinion at the time was the latter insured Democratic success. Mr. Schoeneck, however, with a vigorous canvass, carried the party to victory, winning, in a four cornered fight, by 1,047 votes over his Democratic opponent.

In 1910, while Mr. Schoeneck was serving his first term as mayor, he was selected at the Saratoga convention as the Republican nominee for Lieutenant Governor and as the running mate of Henry L. Stimson he carried his campaign to every section of the state.

The Republican ticket was defeated, and Mr. Schoeneck continued to serve the people of Syracuse as chief executive. In 1911 he was re-elected mayor by a plurality of 4,300. In 1913 he declined to allow his name to be considered for a further nomination.

In the primary election of 1914 he won the nomination for lieutenant governor in a spirited contest and in the general election which followed was triumphantly swept into office with Governor Whitman and the entire Republican state ticket.

The lieutenant governor is a commissioner of the canal fund, a commissioner of the land office, a member of the canal board, a member of the state board of equalization of assessments, a trustee of public buildings and president of the state fair commission, in all of which capacities Mr. Schoeneck has rendered valuable service to the State. He also is a member of the Syracuse University Alumni association, by which he has twice been elected president, and has been prominently associated with college affairs.

Lieutenant Governor Schoeneck has been an efficient presiding officer of the Senate and has given the several state boards and commissions of which he is a member the benefit of a trained legal mind and a valuable experience in public life.

HOMEMADE CARAMELS.

No Reason Why One Should Not Be Successful With Them.

To make chocolate caramels take a quarter pound of grated chocolate, three ounces of butter, three-fourths pound of sugar, one gill of milk, two good dessert spoonfuls of syrup, a small dessert spoonful of glucose, half a tea-spoonful of vanilla essence. Put everything except the vanilla into a pan, and dissolve over a slow fire. Boil to 240 or 248 degrees, take off the fire and add the vanilla essence, and turn into a well greased tin. Mark with a knife when set and cut into squares and wrap each in wax paper.

The tin should be greased with oil or clarified butter—i. e., butter that has been put into a pan and heated and the scum taken off as it rises.

Molasses candy (caramel) is made of three-fourths of a pound of sugar, a quarter of a pound of butter, one and a half pints of milk, two tablespoonfuls of molasses. Melt the butter and sugar in a saucepan, then add the sirup and milk, and boil, stirring till it leaves the sides of the pan clear. Pour on to a buttered plate and when nearly cold cut into squares and wrap each in wax paper. If a thermometer is used it should boil to 252 degrees. Ten to fifteen drops of vanilla can be added, if liked, before turning it on to the buttered plate.

Galatea For Frocks.

It is astonishing to note that galatea is being used in dresses for grown-ups. Hitherto it was confined to dresses for the schoolgirl and little tot, but at the present time it is also adapted for mother. It is shown in plain colors, such as blue, green, rose and white, and often trimmed with pique or a combining fabric. Other models are shown in striped effects, the foundation being white and the stripe in color. One particularly attractive dress was seen recently, the colors being blue and white. The arrangement of the stripes affords a novel detail. The odd flap collar with flat satin tie and deep cuffs are of white pique. The broad brimmed hat and high button boots are details of interest. A gown of this type is especially useful for morning and informal wear. Galatea is an excellent fabric for use in middie blouses and sports skirts, because it has sufficient body to avoid getting crumpled. It is also very suitable for simple sports suits, where the skirt is a two pleced model and the coat a box cut, which is belted at the waist line. With appropriate hat and shoes a suit of this type proves an ideal and practical summer outfit. As a "tub" frock, that is so indispensable during the summer months, there is nothing to equal the shirt waist dress of galatea in plain or striped effect.

OUR WATER SHEDS IN GREAT PERIL

Destruction of the Forests Now Going On.

Proposition No. 1 Will Stop Vast Interests Imperiled by Rapid Cutting of Privately Owned Forests—State's Property Menaced—Vitality Important That the Vote on Proposition No. 1 Should Be "Yes."

On election day we are going to decide whether or not the great Adirondack and Catskill water sheds shall be protected and preserved. On that day Proposition No. 1, providing for a $10,000,000 state bond issue, will be voted on. Of this amount $7,500,000 will be used for the purchase of lands now being denuded or threatened with denudation in the Adirondack and Catskill forest preserves, and $2,500,000 will be expended for the extension of the Palisades Interstate Park.

Our Prosperity Depends on Our Forests.

Our forests are not only the source of our timber supply and the resort of the camper with his rod and gun. To more than eight million people who today dwell upon our farms and in our towns and cities these forests have a more vital value, for upon their preservation depends in a large measure the continued prosperity of our agriculture, our industries and our commerce.

The water supply for our canals depends upon our watersheds, and it was our canal system that developed the chain of flourishing cities, with their vast industrial activities, which extend across the state.

Forest Destruction Means Floods.

By the destruction of our forests all of these vast interests are put in peril. Ruthless and unwise lumbering has already diminished the normal flow of our navigable streams, has made the runoff more rapid and caused floods. The mountain soil has been exposed to the sun and the winds and deprived of its moisture, and the ground waters have been lowered to such an extent that the interests of the farmer have suffered.

Rapid and Complete Destruction of Privately Owned Forests is in Progress.

Proposition No. 1 Will Save Them.

Much of the privately owned land in the Adirondacks and Catskills must be purchased at once if it is to be acquired by the State before complete denudation has arrived. The first lumbering operations were for soft wood only, which was taken out by driving on the rivers. The hardwood was left largely untouched, and thus, where fire has not swept through, a forest cover has been left on the land. But in the last few years the privately owned land within the lines of the State Parks in the Adirondacks and Catskills has entered upon the last stage of destruction. This is the clearing out of the hardwood by large lumber corporations, who are operating logging railroads through their tracts and are making a clean cut of every forest tree which can in any way be utilized. These operations are measured not in acres, but in entire townships.

The State's Property is Menaced by Surrounding Slash.

Proposition No. 1 Will Protect It.

The State's own holdings, totalling in value fully $40,000,000, are menaced at innumerable points by the fire traps created upon the privately owned land that is interspersed with the State property. Some idea of the extent to which State and privately owned land is intermixed, and of the danger from fire which this entails upon the State land, may be gathered from the fact that the State's property lines, because of the many small parcels, aggregate more than 9,000 miles. In the language of the trenches, these salients of privately owned land must be eliminated and the State lines must be consolidated as a measure of protection for the property that the State now owns.

The Bond Issue Will Be Wisely Used.

Proposition No. 1 Guarantees This. That the funds arising from the passage of Proposition No. 1 will be wisely expended is guaranteed by Chapter 508 of the Laws of 1916, under which this proposal is now submitted to the people. The acquisition of lands under the act will extend over a number of years, and it is provided that no proceeds of the bond issue may be used for this purpose until they are first appropriated thereto by the Legislature. For the extension of the Forest Preserve $7,500,000 can be used, but only "under the direction of the Conservation Commission, by and with the advice and consent of the Commissioners of the Land Office."

Proposition No. 1 Should Pass.

The votes that have been recorded on all questions concerning the forests have shown that the people of the State have the welfare of the forests at heart and may be depended upon at all times to vote in accordance with the best interests of the forests whenever they understand true facts.

For the welfare of our agriculture, our industry and our commerce, the vote on Proposition No. 1 should be "yes." It is of vital interest to every man, woman and child in the state that this proposition be approved.

VOTE for EUGENE M. TRAVIS For State Comptroller

A question for serious reflection by the voters

The present State Comptroller Eugene M. Travis, who is seeking reelection on his record, restored order out of chaos after the Democrats were removed from this important department two years ago.

He has won the confidence and respect of the business men by his honest independent and efficient management of the state finances.

The disclosure of the robbery of Stock Transfer Tax stamps, by which the state lost $250,000 annually, is included among his accomplishments. He also restored the credit of the state by insisting on the payment of unpaid bills left over by his predecessor.

He has reduced the expenses of his department $110,000 this year.

He devised up-to-date methods which prevent theft of state bonds.

His amendments to the Inheritance Tax and Secured Debt tax laws will increase the annual revenues $3,500,000.

He re-opened estates closed by his predecessor and obtained additional tax of $400,000.

The way to keep the finances out of incompetent hands for two more years is to vote for the re-election of then spiky greenery. The shading is true to nature and the design as rare as it is beautiful.

Room For Improvement.

There are over 40,000,000 acres of uncultivated land in the United States awaiting development that cannot be developed without improved highways. It has been shown that the value of land is increased evenly with the improvement for the roads, the increase running from $2 to $9 the acre. As the roads are improved there is a corresponding increase in population. In twenty-five counties taken at random which have contained on an average only 1 1/2 per cent of improved roads in the decade 1890 to 1900 there was a falling off in population of 3,000 in each. Undoubtedly the best system of maintenance for all roads is that which provides for the permanent and sometimes continuous employment of skilled laborers who have charge of particular sections of road or who may be assigned to any part of the county or other road unit where there is work most needed.

Collins is charged by fellow attendants with having kicked Bankowski to death.

The Merrill-Soule company of Syracuse have taken possession of the property of the Gainesville Cheese Butter company of Silver Creek, and is receiving milk there. The company has agreed to pay the patrons of the factory on a basis of $2.05 per hundred pounds for three cent milk for a term of three months. This meets the demand of the Dairymen's league.

The Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh railroad has placed with the American Locomotive company for construction at the Brooks plant at Dunkirk, an order for 25 Mikado and mallet type engines for delivery in 1918. A portion of the order will be filled in January. The engines will be very heavy for winter traffic and cost $600,000.

It is reported that infantile paralysis has again broken out in the Shortsville section. District No. 6 of the town of Manchester has closed its school on account of two cases which are claimed to be infantile paralysis. The cases are in the same family, that of David Grimaley. His daughter, Ruth, now ill with the disease. Her three-year-old brother died of the malady.

The Borden Condensed Milk company of New York has sent formal notices to their branch plants in the vicinity of Cuba, where the league has been in operation, not to accept milk that did not enter their condenseries directly after the settlement of the milk war. As a result several farmers with large dairies who have been holding back, had their product refused and were forced to take it to cheese factories or else dump it.
