GRANGE SUPPORT SUFFRAGE SOON, FOR SUFFRAGE SAYS SCHURMAN

Growing Interest of Farmers Leads Party to Appoint a State Chairman. President of Cornell Sees the Fight as a Battle Already Won Rapidly increasing interest of the farmers of New York State in the suffrage movement is the reason given by Suffrage Headquarters for the appointment of a Grange chairman in the New York State Woman Suffrage Party. The chairman of this new section belongs to a well-known Washington County family and has served as president of the Hudson Falls Political Equality Club.

The new Grange chairman of the Suffrage Party, who is Mrs. Willis G. Mitchell, in July, 1916, became assembly district leader for the Suffrage Party in Washington County. In the presidential campaign last fall she took an active part in the work of both the Republican and the Democratic meetings. Suffrage was, of course, her chosen topic, and "almost without exception every speaker who followed me spoke for suffrage also," recently declared Mrs. Mitchell, in recounting her experiences.

"There has always been a close association between the Grange and the suffrage movement," said Mrs. Mitchell recently, upon taking her office of chairman. "The Grange was the first organization of its kind to admit women on the same footing as men. We feel therefore that we are staunch allies working for the same principles of equality, equity and fairness. The National, State, and many subordinate granges have passed resolutions endorsing suffrage."

"We hold the Grange up as having a truly democratic form of government, which seeks the 'greatest good for the greatest number.' We say further that if you want the best argument we can show for woman suffrage, look at the successful work of the Grange."

"Appreciating the splendid support given us in the last campaign by the Grange, we have, for our work in 1917, organized the Grange Committee of the New York State Woman Suffrage Party, and this committee, we hope, will have charge of a very important branch of our campaign, leading up to election day, November 6, 1917."

MRS. WILLIS G. MITCHELL, of Hudson Falls, Washington County. Recently appointed Grange Chairman, New York State Woman Suffrage Party.

The Genoeise in Rochester.

Greetings from the Genoeise who reside in Rochester to the old friends in the home town:

"'Twas the night after Christmas" and such a night, a prolongation of Christmas fun and festivity, when former residents of Genoa, who now reside in Rochester, responded to an invitation from Mr. and Mrs. George Miner and gathered at the hospitable Miner home in Crosman Terrace.

Fun and jollity! Any of the old-timers would have recognized that crowd as hailing from Genoa. "Do you remember" was oft repeated. Each had a Genoa story, all most interesting and reminiscent. They even indulged in old-time charades, one hinging on the word "Armstrong" which recalled old Genoa.

The Miners have a beautiful glass-enclosed porch, long and spacious. The guests were excluded from this. When supper was announced, the porch doors were opened and the guests with one accord exclaimed "Fox's rink"—a plain board table, a wonderful basket of Spitzenberg apples, a tin pail of hemlock water and dipper for serving. At each place most decorative white caps and flabbergasted aprons that rivalled Joseph's coat, no cutlery. How to eat and why? Well, the high cost of living or cost of high living had made necessary a reminder of the simple life, but the supper would have compared favorably with a Genoa spread in the late 80's "before the war." Oysters on the half shell, saltines served as conveyors of these, though one man was observed surreptitiously drinking his. Then an aluminum kettle of delicious tomato bisque. Fortunately Dame Fashion did permit drinking this from the bouillon cups; then a salad, and—praise be—more saltines, and a final course of ice cream; but really, you know, spoons are superfluous for ice cream, nabiscoes answer every purpose, and the angel cake, fried cakes, kisses, etc., needed no fork. They "got there" all right.

Well, it was a most happy occasion and all hope to enjoy more of them. Among those present were Rev. and Mrs. James M. Hutchinson, (every one forgot the "Rev." that night) Ash Miller and wife who recently came to Rochester, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Armstrong (and being a superintendent of the big Taylor Instrument works has not lessened Fred's fun-loving propensities). Alice Shurger and her husband, Mr. George Bumpus, who is one of the big peach growers of Irondequoit, the host and hostess and their daughter Margaret, a senior at Columbia school for girls, and Mrs. Cadmus who has recently received a high honor as she is now a grandmother.

A GUEST.

First Wide-Spreading Machine Ever Built. and depth across three corn rows. This makes driving over spread manure unnecessary.

The New Idea Spreader can't clog and spreads at will, 3, 6, 9, 12, 15 or 18 loads per acre. It has a chain drive—no gears to break or strip from cold or under sudden strain. Wide tires fit the "New Idea" for use on soft soil. The New Idea Spreader is thoroughly well built of exceptionally stiff and sturdy materials, and the makers cheerfully guarantee it for a year against breakage from any cause. With proper care it will last a lifetime.

Now here is a machine that will give you dollar for dollar on a moderate investment in one year's time; because if used regularly it will absolutely save the full fertility value of manure and put it on the soil in such condition that growing plants can get it all.

The New Idea Spreader will save you money. Come in and see it next time you're in town. You'll be interested.

DON'T FORGET TO ASK We've a book here we would like you to read—"Helping Mother Nature." Tells more about the care and use of manure than you ever thought of. Written by an expert and full of right up-to-the-minute scientific data. Don't forget this—it's important.

THOSE HOT CAKES

Are They Not America's National and Best Dish?

HOW TO MAKE ALL BATTERS.

Griddles Are Important, and Cold Weather Demands That a Tablespoonful of Shortening Be Added to Give Richness to Your Flapjacks.

We might call hot cakes an American national dish. The cheapest lunch room, railroad dining room or most expensive hotel serves the omnipresent griddlecake in varying degrees of excellence.

To the woman in the home, especially one who does her own work, all batter mixtures seem to be somewhat of a bother. She dreads the smoke attendant on frying, the long time required to prepare a plate sufficient for the family, appetite, and she is apt to allow the head of the house to seek his cakes elsewhere.

But nothing, if well made, is so wholesome and sustaining as the hot cake on a cold morning. Batters of all kinds are extremely simple if important points in stirring and making them are noted. Contrary to the usual custom, it is better to sift the flour into the liquid than to pour the liquid into the flour. Add the two very slowly to avoid lumps. Beat over and over with a large perforated spoon or whip. Allow the mixture to stand long enough so that the flour may swell and the mixture not be unexpectedly too thick. If we notice the deft hot cake expert in various restaurants we will see that he pours the batter and does not spoon it. Yet few women have followed this common sense plan and stick to the old, inefficient method of ladling the batter instead of pouring it.

The important thing about the mixture is the griddle. Custom has decreed that it should be soapstone, but there are both aluminum and cast iron and iron griddles which give excellent results. The important thing is to have the griddle the right temperature before the batter is laid on it. The griddle should never be washed, but wiped with paper or towel. Scouring with salt will sometimes prevent sticking. From supply stores we can secure a little holder for the fat or griddle greaser which will help us in the somewhat untidy task of greasing the griddle.

While many of the prepared pancake flours on the market are excellent, the addition of a tablespoonful of shortening increases the delicacy of the cake. Mixtures of milk are also more tender, and a griddle cake is like other cakes—if you can't make it of the best material it is not worth while. Eggs will give it more nourishment and make it more attractive looking. Waffles are particularly nourishing because they are a rich egg batter. The hot cake is nutritious because it combines milk, flour, eggs and sugar, especially when eaten with some kind of sirup. As it has a high starch, sugar and fat content it is an excellent food to resist winter cold and keep up the body's energy.

The sour milk mixtures made with sour milk and soda are lighter than those made with ordinary milk because in sour milk part of the protein is already digested. But batters with either sour or sweet milk are wholesome and easy to make if thought and common sense are used.

THE INEVITABLE JAR.

The Kind of Container You Are Always Needing.

For cold cream comes this fetching jar of creamy glaze set off with a band of yellow tulips and daisies growing

ON HER TOILET TABLE.

In a rich green field, however restricted. The design has both beauty and usefulness.

Snowdrop Cake.

Beat three eggs, using lightest colored yolks; add a little cream or milk and flavoring. Rub four ounces of butter into half a pound of flour, stir in four ounces of sugar, mix by adding the eggs and milk and stirring thoroughly, but lightly; then scatter in a teaspoonful of baking powder. Turn the mixture into a greased cake tin, put into a hot oven, reduce the heat after a little while and let the cake bake gradually. When cold coat with sugar icing. Inserting a few snowdrops at intervals just before serving.

Baked Potatoes au Gratin.

Bake large potatoes until well done, cut lengthwise, scoop out, mash well, add butter, a little milk or cream, salt and pepper and whip until fluffy; re-fill and sprinkle with grated cheese. Put back in the oven for the cheese to melt and brown slightly. These potatoes served with a roast of veal are a real addition to the meal.

HOW TO ECONOMIZE IN THE USE OF COAL.

—If the consumer is not getting his money's worth—and probably he is not—says the anthracite bureau of information, the fault may be with the stove or furnace, the kind of fuel used or the method of regulation. Here are some of the don'ts picked from a pamphlet issued by the bureau:

- Don't put in too much coal or too little. Don't crowd it above the top of the fire brick lining in range, cylinder stove or hot air furnace. Fill the fuel space twice a day in winter weather, heaping the coal slightly in the center.
- Don't add small quantities of coal several times a day, with attendant shakings; that means loss in economy and comfort.
- Shake the grate only twice a day before fresh coal is put in, and stop when a bright light shows underneath.
- Don't leave the feed door open; it cools the heating surfaces. All checking of draft should be accomplished by shutting the ash pit door and opening the check damper in the stovepipe.
- Don't neglect the furnace in mild weather. See that the coal is properly consumed and not shaken through the grate to pass out with the ashes. Keep the ash pit empty. Don't let the ashes bank up under the grate; it not only shuts out air needed for combustion, but tends to warp the grate bars. Remove the ashes regularly once a day, even if only a small amount has fallen.
- Don't use the wrong size of coal. Ordinary domestic ranges require "chestnut;" larger sizes can use "stove" coal, but "chestnut" will give satisfaction. Fairly large steam and hot water boilers are best operated with "egg size" anthracite; larger sizes use "stove" alone or mixed with "chestnut." Hot air furnaces of all sizes generally in use should be fed with "egg."
- If the right size and quality of coal is used no ash sifter is required. The coal should burn to a fine ash, and its first trip through the stove or furnace should be its last. Clinkers are usually a sign of improper use of the poker or improper regulation of drafts. Too hot a fire produces clinkers.
- Dry air is a poor conductor of heat and is also bad for the health. Keep the air in the house reasonably moist. This can be done by placing an open vessel of water on or near each radiator. All hot air furnaces and modern base burner stoves have receptacles for this purpose. They should be refilled every time the fire is replenished.

PIN MONEY.

How a Quaint Explanation of It Became Current.

The term "pin money" dates back to the seventeenth century, when the modern pin was invented. After that time the maker was allowed to sell them openly only on Jan. 1 and 2, so that court ladies and fashionable dames alike were compelled to buy a large quantity to last them over the year. So extremely important was this yearly purchase that husbands gave their wives large sums of money for the pins. By and by pins became cheaper and cheaper, and women spent their allowance on other vanities, but the term "pin money" remained in use for all "spending" money.

The expression "salt money" is another such. This dates very far back when the Roman workers in the salt mines were paid in salt. The salt they got in return for their labors was called in Latin "salarium," or salt allowance. The word salarium later on was applied to the fees men got for odd jobs. For instance, the Roman noble would say, "For patching my toga I will give the fellow a slight salarium—a bit of money to buy salt with." Finally salarium came to mean wages, salary, what it does today. When we say "a man is not worth his salt" we mean that he is not worth his salary or wages.

How to Rid Cats and Dogs of the Pest of Fleas.

Attention has been called to the fact that care must be taken in using tar camphor on dogs to rid them of fleas, not to let them lick their fur before the tar camphor has been brushed off. Tar camphor never should be used on cats, for they naturally lick their fur to keep it smooth, and in this way the camphor will get into the alimentary canal and poison the animal. A valuable cat treated with the camphor had to be killed to put it out of its agony. But in the case of dogs this danger is slight.

How to Keep Roses Fresh in the House.

Cut flowers, especially roses, will stay fresh longer if they are kept in salt water. To get the best results a small piece of the stem should be cut off each day. The stem should then be salt about half an inch and salt put in the slit. Fresh water should be put in the vase each day. Great care should be taken not to drop water in the roses themselves, as it will turn them dark.
