HOW FLOWERS CAN BE KEPT FRESH FOR A LONG TIME.

Flowers should, if convenient, be gathered at some other time than during the heat of the day and be placed in water in a cool place as soon as possible. After this treatment they will keep much better than they would if not induced to fill up with water. Most flowers keep and look better if gathered when in bud, just before opening. This is true of roses, poppies, peonies and others. Double flowers, as a rule, keep longer than single kinds.

CARE OF REFRIGERATORS.

Why They Should Be Kept Clean and How to Do It.
An insanitary refrigerator is dangerous because it means disease and perhaps worse. See that yours is clean and sweet. Keep the door closed; otherwise the temperature rises and the ice melts rapidly. If the box is kept clean it is not necessary to scald it out, but it is a wise precaution to do this occasionally. Remember that ice is more than apt to be dirty, so it is wise to watch the receptacle for the ice, that there be no leaves or anything collected there to decay or to clog the pipe. This pipe or the pan beneath should never be allowed to get slimy, as slime is a danger signal. Once a week wash the walls, sides, shelves and every corner with cold water, borax and any sweet, pure soap. Rinse with clear water and wipe dry. The shelves may be taken out and scalded, but must be chilled and wiped dry before they are returned.

How to Do Your Own Plumbing Without Calling an Expert.

When the sink, bathtub or wash bowl has become clogged one may easily remedy this instead of sending for the plumber. Take a piece of old garden hose the desired length, fit one end over the faucet and the other over the drain, so that no air escapes. Now turn on the water. The great pressure will remove the obstruction within a few minutes.

HOW TO INDUCE SLEEP.

Try to Think of Nothing and Create a Mental Vacuum.
When insomnia is caused by some trifling or temporary disorder of mind or body it can usually be overcome by ceasing to divagate, says a contributor to the New York Sun. So long as the mind chases itself from one subject to another, as a wakeful mind is apt to do in the dark and in silence, so long is it kept active by the very succession of different thoughts, and sleep refuses to come.

HOUSE PLANTS.

How to Take Care of Them When Potted.

To make ferns grow better place some thin pieces of raw beef close to the inside of the pot, between the pot and the soil.

If an asparagus fern turns yellow, report it, giving it a strong loam enriched with one-fifth very old and finely crumbled manure and add a little coarse sand.

To destroy aphids, shower foliage of infested plant on both sides with strong tobacco tea, or, if the plant be small enough, immerse it in this tea.

Insects in the earth of a potted plant may be destroyed by pouring over the soil a glass of water in which a pinch of mustard has been stirred.

How to Keep Plants Fresh While You're Away From Home awhile.

There is a simple way to water ferns and flowers which will be of interest to one who must leave them for a time without care.

Scrambled Eggs With Tomatoes.

Peel and slice thin a large tomato. Add just enough water to cover and a teaspoonful of onion juice.

Roast Ox Tongue.

Rub a fresh ox tongue well with half a pound of coarse salt, and set it aside for three days.

Tomato Rarebit.

Rub one tablespoon of butter smooth with one tablespoon of flour.

Potted Cheese.

Among ways of using cheese that is stale and dry is sandwich filling or potted cheese.

Molasses Cakes.

An egg, a cupful molasses, one-half cupful buttermilk, scant one-half cupful shortening, a teaspoonful soda, two and one-half cupfuls flour (level), a little salt and ginger or other spice if preferred.

Broiled Squabs.

Dress like broiler chickens, split down the back and flatten, butter the broiler, cook over a clear fire until a delicate brown, turning often.

WHITMAN'S WORK FOR THE STATE

He Has Consistently Held to Constructive Methods.

AIDED GOOD LEGISLATION.

A Brief Resume of Some of the Accomplishments of the Chief Executive of the State, Who is Now a Candidate For Renomination and Re-election.

The administration of Governor Charles S. Whitman has been marked by as great advancement & constructive government as that of any other Chief Executive in the history of the State, and this has been accomplished following four years of Democratic misrule, which, with scandals and impeachment, had well nigh demoralized every branch of State activity.

The record of his administration is remarkable for many reasons, the most significant of which perhaps is that, while fully assuming all of the duties and burdens of his office and at no time shirking any responsibility or obligation, he has performed all these duties without a single mistake or error of judgment so far as good government was involved.

A Man of Action.

His reputation as champion of the people and a man who never feared to do right was established by his public acts long before he was chosen as Chief Executive.

He has been content to follow the inconspicuous course of devoting his energies to accomplishments, leaving the results to speak for themselves.

What the Governor Says.

In this connection it is interesting to note Governor Whitman's own point of view with regard to the methods and purposes of his work as indicated by the following extracts from his speech before the Associated Manufacturers and Merchants of New York State, at Syracuse, in which he said:

"I have been criticized, I know, for the lack of the dramatic and the picturesque I have been told that I have not been exciting enough as a Governor. Even while pleading guilty to the charge, in some sort of extension, let me offer the fact that the pursuit of efficiency and of economy does not contain any large amount of drama or of color.

"People Alone Eternal."

"It is not of myself, however, that I choose to speak, and if in this brief consultation for the common good there is an expression of self laudation, I beg you to believe that my sole purpose is the stimulation of a larger, keener and more continuous interest in those affairs that have to do with human lives and human hopes."

"Another matter, in which I want briefly to refer, is the problem that presents itself to every public servant on the very day of his appointment or his election. Shall he put a party above the people? Shall he contribute his efforts to the upbuilding of the party or the building up of the State? Shall he abide by the oath which he has taken or by the decisions of a few who know what they want and who may have the power to punish when they do not get what they want."

"I am in no sense ashamed of my allegiance to the Republican party, but the man who puts the interest of the party above the interest of the State is working injury in the end to both."

Much of the credit for the accomplishments of his administration the Governor himself insists properly belongs to the department heads whom he selected because of their fitness for the respective positions, but even they would have been powerless without his constant and steadfast support before the Legislature and elsewhere, and the knowledge forced upon department employees that these men represented the policies of the Governor, which policies must be carried out.

Advocated Preparedness.

Several months before the call for troops to the Mexican border, realizing as he did the importance of a test of the ability of the whole National Guard to mobilize at one time and place, he secured a special State appropriation of half a million dollars for a National Guard mobilization, and Camp Whitman was already being prepared therefor when the call to arms came.

He began his campaign for reform of State finances early in his administration, in the face of the most adverse conditions that had ever existed in the State and has carried them well on to completion.

Sound Action on Legislation.

His action with respect to all legislation submitted to him has been sound, judicial and solely in the public interest. There is not one legislative bill which he has signed concerning which there has been a word of just criticism; no veto of his has been criticized except by those whose selfish interests were injured by his failure to approve.

He has fought the battle for prison reform and made secure its future rapid advancement.

He has recognized and strengthened that department of government, the Industrial Commission, the sole duty of which is the protection of the working man and woman of the State, and has stood steadfast against any legislation unfavorable to their welfare.

As to State Debts.

He has insisted that the State must pay its honest debts and must carry to completion those great works, which, whether advisedly or otherwise, have been begun and already represent an enormous investment of public money.

He has taken the Civil Service of the State out of politics and compelled appointments and promotions, under the Civil Service Law, to be made solely on the basis of merit and fitness.

He has driven scandals and crooked contractors out of the Highway Department and established in it an administration which has used fairly and economically the great appropriation of the Department for the benefit of the State as a whole, and not as an instrument for paying political debts.

Gas Frustrates British.

"An attempt to investigate the damage was frustrated by the presence of thick, black gases and about two feet of water, but later expert examination showed that although the submarine had laid no mines two had been released by the force of the explosions and were foul of the bottom of the vessel. Contact between the horns, which jatted out all around the mines, and the plates of the vessel would have exploded enough to sink a battleship, and it was an act of heroism on the part of a young officer that rendered the submarine capable of being brought in as a prize.

Vessel's Ensign a Trophy.

"As a memento of her capture the destroyer now displays her prize's ensign in the officers' mess. U C-5, as she appeared in custody at a naval dockyard, was smartly painted her original German gray, and the white ensign looked appropriately picturesque surmounting the enemy flag on the telescopic mast.

Was Captured in a Hurry.

"The captured submarine appeared to have been one of those transported in sections from Germany and put together on the Belgian coast. Her four sections are plainly marked, the hull being divided into three and the conning tower constituting the fourth part.

GERMANS TRIED TO DESTROY U BOAT

Mine Laying Submarine Taken by British, a New Craft.

ON DISPLAY IN LONDON.

Crew of the U C-5 Set Off Bombs in Her Before Surrendering—Officer of British Destroyer Dived Under Vessel and Detached Detonators From the Mines.

The first complete story of the capture by the British of the German mine laying submarine U C-5 is published in the Naval and Army Record of London. A complete description of the submarine, said to be the first of the kind ever constructed, is also given.

"In April," says the Naval and Army Record, "a torpedo destroyer, cruising off the east coast, captured a German submarine in novel circumstances. When first sighted the enemy was in difficulties. From the deck of the destroyer, then some distance away, a flag could be seen at the masthead of the submarine, and in the mist it was at first taken to be the union jack. Closer inspection proved it to be the German naval ensign, and then it was noticed that the whole of the crew of the submarine appeared to be on deck.

"The comic side of the situation was not lost on the men of the destroyer, and, once apprised of the enemy character of the distressed vessel, they set to work to make her a prize. The commander hailed the crew with a brusque invitation to surrender. The submarine men saw the guns trained on them, and they hauled down their flag and put their hands up. Then at a word from the commander they jumped into the water and swam for dear life away from the submarine. Internal explosions followed, and at the last and heaviest a cascade of hammocks and other debris was shot out at the open conning tower to a height of forty feet. That there was a vent for the explosive forces probably saved the ship; but, as it was, the bottom of the vessel was punctured in two places and rivets were started so that the craft made water quickly.

—The death of Mrs. Geo. Atwater occurred Thursday morning at her home near Five Corners, after an illness of several weeks, from a complication of diseases. Surviving are her husband and three sons, E. King Atwater of Auburn, Asa J. of Leavenworth, Kansas, and David T. of Council Bluffs, Iowa. No arrangements for the funeral are completed as we go to press. The date will depend on the length of time required for the two sons to reach here from the West.

—The 31st annual convention of the Cayuga County W. C. T. U., will be held in the Chapter house of the First Presbyterian church in Auburn on Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 26 and 27. The speaker will be Miss Lillian M. Phelps, state lecturer, of Niagara Falls. She will give addresses Tuesday afternoon and evening and a parliamentary drill Wednesday morning. The convention opens at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, with the county president, Mrs. Lillian B. Osborn of Union Springs presiding.

—The death of Miss Ethelyn Buck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Buck of East Lansing, occurred Wednesday, after an illness extending from July 5. Physicians pronounced her disease spinal meningitis, and an operation was performed in hopes of saving her life, but to no avail. A number of doctors were called to see her, but the disease baffled them all. The deceased was 23 years of age, and taught school the past year. The funeral will be held this (Friday) afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. F. Allington, pastor of the Methodist church, North Lansing, will officiate. Burial in the rural cemetery at Groton.

—It is reported that this year's fruit crop is the largest in years.

—The New York Central M. E. conference opens in Elmira on Wednesday next, Sept. 27.

—The Cayuga County Poultry Association will not hold its annual show the coming winter.

—The annual reunion of the 76th N. Y. Regiment will be held at Cortland on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 10 and 11.

—Weedsport is to have a big celebration Sept. 30 in observance of the opening of Seneca street which has been newly paved.

—The Central Association of Congregational churches will hold its annual meeting at the Congregational church in Homer Oct. 4 and 5.

—L. J. Conger of Groton has recently received a letter from Rev. G. P. Conger, who is now in Siberia engaged in work among the war prisoners as a representative of the World Y. M. C. A. The letter was written from Vladivostok on July 3 while he was on his way to visit a prison camp. His headquarters, however, he states are Hotel Esplanade, Habarovsk.

—More than three-fourths of the children who died from infantile paralysis in New York city in the epidemic which has prevailed for the last three months were less than five years old, according to figures issued by the Department of Health. The total number of deaths from this disease for the three months is given as 1,922. Of these 1,499 were children of less than five years old.

—The merchants and dealers who expect to succeed without judicious and timely advertising are laboring under a serious mistake. People rarely trade where they are not invited, nor where they are without knowledge of what merchants have for sale. The village merchant stands in his own light if he fails to appreciate his local paper as a medium by which to keep in touch with his regular customers, not to mention the opportunity of reaching other possible customers in his legitimate trading territory. Good newspaper advertising always pays.

—Don't fail to hear Pugsley & Kurtz at the Baptist church every evening next week (except Wednesday).

—John E. McIntosh, former mayor of Auburn, and member of the firm of McIntosh, Seymour & Co., died at his home in Cayuga Sunday evening, after less than a week's illness. He suffered a stroke of apoplexy early Tuesday morning of last week and hopes had been entertained of his recovery. Mr. McIntosh was 58 years of age, and is survived by four children. His second wife, formerly Mary L. Witbeck of Cayuga, died in April, 1915, from the effects of an accident in New York City. He leaves one sister, Mrs. John Van Sickle of Auburn. Funeral services were held at his late home in Cayuga Wednesday afternoon. Burial in Cayuga cemetery.

No Rear Reflections with Toric Lenses

The curved toric shape does away with the annoyance of rear reflections entirely. Your field of vision is widened and the close-fitting edges can not interfere when you look off at an angle. Come and see us about them.

Genoa Presbyterian Church.

Morning service at 11 o'clock. Everyone in the community who is not attending church elsewhere is invited to be present at any of the services of the day, as next Sunday is to be the annual Rally Day of the church. In the morning service there will be special music and a message from the pastor suitable to the occasion.

Sunday school at close of the morning service. A special printed program will be used for this service. Each class is urged to carry out a rally movement within the class, in order that there may be a large attendance. All visitors will receive cordial welcomes. Come and bring the family or friends.

Christian Endeavor at 6:45 p. m. The young people can be counted on to do their part in making this meeting a success. Topic: "Christianity compared with other Religions."

Evening service at 7:30. Those members of the church and congregation who are not accustomed to attend this service, are especially urged to do so this week.

Thursday evening service at 7:30. Topic for study: "Divine Encouragement Amid Trials."

An effort is being made this week to place in every home where there is a member of the church or congregation a personal printed invitation from the pastor to all the services of the day. If by oversight any family which should have received one of these invitations has been missed, they are urged to be present anyway.

—The peach crop will be nearly as large as in 1915 in Niagara county, with a better quality than in that year.
