Seven hundred million dollars worth of food wasted in American kitchens every year, says Secretary Houston. Yet there is not as much talk about it as about the nine million dollars for relief work sent to Belgium since 1914.

The yield of staple crops per capita has been declining in the United States—does that mean more farmers, better acre yields, or that we are going to depend more and more on imported food supplies?

Estimates on the total production of 35 leading varieties of apples in the United States show Baldwins leading with 13.4 per cent of the total crop; Ben Davis a close second, and Northern Spy third. Fourth place is held by the Winesap and fifth by the Greening.

Resolutions.

Adopted by the Five Corners and West Genoa Woman's Christian Temperance Union in remembrance of our departed sister, Mrs. Minnie Corwin:

As we are again called upon to release from our circle, another charter member of our society, one who was always at her post, efficient and willing to do her part in crushing the great demon of intemperance, and lifting up fallen mankind, we bow in reverence and submission to the will of our divine Master, "Who doeth all things well," and does not willingly afflict."

Her cheerful and sunny disposition, won for her a host of friends, who will miss her presence and her counsel, and she will also be missed in the home circle.

We extend to husband and family our sincere sympathy in their hour of sorrow and request the secretary to send them a copy of these resolutions, record them in our minutes and send a copy to our local paper for publication.

In Memoriam.

The death of Joel Coon occurred at his home at East Genoa, April 3, 1917. He was born in Hoosic, Rensselaer county, N. Y., May 20, 1835. He came to Cayuga county to live with his brother at the age of 14 and spent the greater part of his life in the town of Genoa and vicinity.

On November 7, 1860, he was married to Clarissa V. Smith of East Venice, N. Y., and together they have lived a happy Christian life for over fifty years.

In 1862, when the president called for volunteers, he enlisted and was assigned to Ashby's Light Battery, Company E, 3rd New York Artillery, where he served until the end of the war.

He was just as consistent and loyal a "Soldier of the Cross" and was ever ready to stand in defence of the right. Early in life, at the age of 15, he gave his heart to God and was always happy in the service of his Master. For the past 32 years he has been a member of the Methodist church at East Genoa. He was always interested in the work of the church and every service found him in his place as long as health permitted.

In 1885, he was appointed postmaster at East Genoa, which office he held until rural free delivery was established.

Since a sickness of six years ago, he has been in feeble health. During the past year he gradually grew weaker and two weeks before his death suffered a severe stroke of paralysis. He appeared to rally after a few days and hopes were entertained for his partial recovery, at least. But early on the morning of his death he suddenly became worse and after an hour of suffering passed away.

He was a kind, affectionate husband and a loving father. He is survived by his wife, three children—Lewis Coon of Arlington, N. J., Fred Coon and Mrs. Mary A. Jones of East Genoa—seven grandchildren, two great-grandchildren, and two sisters who mourn his loss.

The funeral services were held Friday, April 6, at 2 o'clock, at the East Genoa church, following a brief prayer at the house. The services were conducted by the pastor of the the deceased, Rev. F. J. Allington, who made appropriate and consoling remarks. Burial was made at North Lansing cemetery.

"Servant of God, well done,
Thy glorious warfare's past,
The battle fought, the victory won,
And thou safe home at last."

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us in any way, during the recent illness and death of our beloved husband and father, especially to those who furnished flowers, the singers, the bearers, and to Mr. Allington for his comforting words.

Clarissa V. Coon,

Fred H. Coon,
Mary A. Jones.

By T. RUSSELL SHELTON in Richmond Times-Dispatch.

EMBLEM of chastity, sweet nun of flowers,
A rosary of dewdrops thou dost wear,
And thy fair head droops gently, as in prayer,
As if thou ever dreamed of Easter hours.
Faith looks at thee, then turns and walks with one
Through the dark garden of Gethsemane,
Hears the deep groan, sees the accursed tree,
And kneels before the sepulcher alone.

Perhaps when Mary trod, at break of day
The path that led her to the empty tomb
Lilies, all white and pure, sprang into bloom
Around the stone which had been rolled away.

Till all about the sepulcher became
A garden where celestial flowers grew,
Sweeter than all the buds that Eden knew
And fairer than the immortelles of fame.

No chimes awoke the scented eastern air
Mankind was dumb, but nature found a voice,
And birds and brooks with angels did rejoice,
While the fair lily drooped her head in prayer.

Today the bells in sweet rejoicing ring,
They tell of him who died to set us free,
They sing: "O grave, where is thy victor?
O death, where is thy sting—where is thy sting?"

Today the lily blooms as sweet and fair,
With drooping head and rosary of dew;
Today Faith turns, her risen Lord to view
And all the glory of his love to share.

Nor sin nor pain nor death can e'er refill
The bitter cup he drank on Calvary.
The voice that groaned in anguish on the tree
Seems evermore to whisper, "Peace, be still."

And sweet it is to feel that nevermore
Shall mortals move like captives to their doom,
For when he rose he triumphed o'er the tomb
And cast aside the cements he wore.

Bloom on, sweet flower, symbolic of that day
And of the resurrection yet to be,
May faith bloom in my soul as pure as thee
Till griefs shall fade and tears be wiped away.

At the Sepulcher.
Was it not most meet that a woman should first see the risen Saviour? She was first in the transgression; let her be first in the justification. In yon garden she was first to work our woe; let her in that other garden be the first to see him who works our weal. She takes first the apple of that bitter tree which brings us all our sorrow; let her be the first to see the Mighty Gardener, who has planted a tree which brings forth fruit unto everlasting life.
—Spurgeon.

Candy For Easter.
Candy for the Eastertide is sent in small wicker hamper, tied with purple ribbon, through which is run a single lily. Where more ornate effects are liked there are satin eggs in all colors, many of them hand painted, some having a monogram in raised gilt.

Angels

GOD hath sent his angels
To the earth again,
Bringing joyful tidings
To the sons of men.

They who first at Christmas
Thronged the heavenly way,
Now beside the tomb door
Sit on Easter day.

Angels, sing his triumph
As you sang his birth,
"Christ the Lord is risen,
Peace, good will on earth."

In the dreadful desert
Where the Lord was tried,
There the faithful angels
Gathered at his side.

And when in the garden,
Grief and pain and care
Bowed him down with anguish,
They were with him there.

Yet the Christ they honor
Is the same Christ still,
Who, in light and darkness,
Did his father's will.

And the tomb, deserted,
Shineth like the sky,
Since he passed out from it
Into victory.

God has still his angels
Helping, at his word,
All his faithful children
Like their faithful lord.

Soothing them in sorrow,
Arming them in strife,
Opening wide the tomb doors
Leading into life.

AS PRICES RISE HIGH COST OF LIVING HITS THE RAILROADS

Service Will Be Crippled Unless Relief Comes Soon.

EXPENSES UP, RATES DOWN

Wasteful and Conflicting Regulations Hamper Railroad Credit, While Advance in Labor and Materials Outstrips Revenues, Chairman Kruttschnitt Tells Congress Committee. Unified Federal Control Will Improve Conditions.

Washington, April 2.—The condition in which the railroads find themselves as a result of constant increases in wages, prices of material, taxes and other expenses, while their revenues are restricted by legislation, was strikingly described by Julius Kruttschnitt, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Southern Pacific Company, in his testimony during the past few days before the Joint Congressional Committee on Interstate Commerce, which is making a study of the question of railroad regulation. Mr. Kruttschnitt urged the committee to recommend a plan of regulation which will center responsibility for regulation and its results in the federal government, so that conditions affecting both expenses and revenues may be made subject to a uniform policy instead of the wasteful and often conflicting policies involved in the system of combined state and federal regulation.

Why Roads Need More Money.
Mr. Kruttschnitt's testimony also had a bearing on the reasons for the application of the roads to the Interstate Commerce Commission for a general advance in freight rates. He showed that while the price of transportation has declined in recent years, the cost of producing transportation, like the cost of almost everything else, has rapidly advanced. This he illustrated by showing that if freight and passenger rates had increased during the past twenty years in the same proportion as average commodity prices the railroads of the United States would have received $1,654,000,000 more for transportation in 1915 than they did receive.

This saving to the public was effected, in spite of an increase of 93 per cent in the cost of operation of trains, by a reduction in the average passenger rate per mile from 2.04 cents in 1895 to 1.98 cents in 1915, a decrease of 3 per cent, and by a reduction in the average freight rate per ton mile from 8.39 mills in 1895 to 7.3 mills in 1915, or 13 per cent. During the same period the cost of operation per train mile rose from 92 cents to $1.78, almost doubling. At the same time the average price of 346 commodities enumerated in a bulletin of the Department of Agriculture increased 115 per cent. Transportation is practically the only commodity in general use that has not increased tremendously in price during the past twenty years, freight and passenger charges being lower than they were twenty years ago.

Big Saving to Public.
If rates had risen proportionately to the increase in the cost of other articles of ordinary use, Mr. Kruttschnitt told the committee, the average passenger rate in 1915 would have been 2.95 cents a mile, or 50 per cent higher than it was, and the average freight rate would have been 1.21 cents, or 60 per cent higher than it was. The saving to the public in passenger fares through this difference was $314,000,000 and in freight rates $1,340,000,000.

Universal railroad bankruptcy under this reduction in rates and increased cost of operation, he said, was avoided only by heavy expenditures to obtain increased efficiency in train movement, making it possible to haul more tons of freight per locomotive. This had reduced the average cost of hauling a ton of freight, but the decline in the average freight rate had reduced the net revenue of the roads from each ton hauled. If the operating costs of the railroads, including the prices of coal, labor and material, continue to advance at the present rate a lot of railroads will be in the hands of receivers by 1918 unless some relief is afforded, Mr. Kruttschnitt told the committee.

"Owing to the rise of commodity prices," he said, "the purchasing power of the dollar has fallen 55 per cent and the railroads are in the position of being compelled by law to accept payment for their service to the public in currency worth 45 cents on the dollar."

Public's Chief Interest.
"The public's greatest interest is in adequate transportation facilities and not so much in low rates. As to most commodities freight rates form a very small proportion of their cost. Excluding low grade commodities, the percentage of the freight rate to the cost is so slight as to offer no justification for any substantial increase in prices to the consumer. It may be stated with little fear of contradiction that the consumer seldom, if ever, profits from a lowering of freight rates."

"Extortionate charges are a thing of the past, and under the attempt to cut rates to their lowest possible figure the interest of the whole public in the character and standard of transportation is subordinated to the interest of that part of the public only that profits by lower rates—that is to say, the shippers and their agents and not the general public, the ultimate consumer."

COMMUNITY THOUGHT.

How Live Commercial Organizations Seek Active Help of Members.

Live commercial organizations over the country are striving more and more to serve not only the community as a whole, but to perform this service along the lines of thought of individual members. While all the members are urged to work together for the general good, secretaries more and more are coming to call upon their membership for individual suggestions as to definite lines of work and certain jobs to be undertaken. The means employed to learn the community thought in this way are always interesting and incidentally indicate methods being followed to arouse the active, working interest of members.

Plans along this line have recently been put into effect by the chamber of commerce of Marietta, O., and the Commercial clubs of Boise, Ida. Under the title of "Spend Five Minutes to Help Your City" the Marietta chamber put out a large return postcard. On this card was printed an appeal to all members to give definite thought to the chamber and its work. On the card appeared a list of thirty-five suggestions for work offered by the members' council, and each member was asked to check off what appealed to him as the ten most important of these suggestions. From the result of this referendum the chamber is daily learning just what things along community lines are uppermost in the thoughts of the members.

At Boise a slightly different plan as to details was followed. A large return postcard was sent to each member of the club. Each member was asked to make one or more suggestions for the Commercial club to consider and to suggest a plan to secure a larger attendance at noonday luncheons. In addition the card bore a list of all the committees and departments, and each member was urged to place a check mark opposite the name or names of committees and activities in which he was willing to work.

The Chamber of Commerce of York, Pa., is going into the thing a little more in detail. It has mailed out to its membership a folder urging greater interest in the work of the organization on the part of members and more regular attendance on meetings. On this folder is a detachable sheet carrying a list of subjects for the attention of the chamber of commerce.

These subjects are divided under such heads or departments as municipal administration, traffic conditions and the like. Under each head are numerous subdivisions as applied to particular pieces of work in York. The member is asked to indicate the subjects in which he is most interested and mention any additional matters which should be taken up under the various general heads.—Town Development Magazine.

Beautifulizing the Back Yard.

A city beautiful campaign has been started by the civic art committee of the Woman's Municipal League of New York city, of which Mrs. Frederick C. Hodgdon is chairman. Back yard garden, window and hallway decoration and other features of city improvement will occupy the attention of the league very largely during the current year. In the way of permanent city beautifulizing the committee is urging people to decorate their own windows and doorways with boxes and tubs of evergreens and to interest their friends in similar activities. It is starting a campaign for tree planting and for cooperation with the park department in caring for the trees already growing. It will endeavor to arouse interest in the improvement of back yards and roofs and to obtain a more intelligent regulation of signboard advertising. A "block beautiful" contest will be started this spring and will include an organized effort to improve vacant lots by converting them into playgrounds or gardens.

GIVE FIVE YACHTS

Costliest Craft Offered by Owners to Government.

MRS. HARRIMAN IS A DONOR.

Suitana, Which She Owns, Valued at $138,000.—J. P. Morgan, John Borden, Mrs. John Kennedy and G. F. Baker, Jr., Turn Over Pleasure Boats For Use in War.

Washington.—Five of the best known, largest and costliest yachts under the American flag have been offered free by their owners to the navy department.

The five are J. P. Morgan's Corsair, Mrs. E. H. Harriman's Suitana, John Borden's Kanawha, Mrs. John Kennedy's Cherokee and George F. Baker, Jr.'s, Viking. The Noma, owned by Vincent Astor, has already been offered.

In addition to the yachts mentioned the enrollment includes Daniel Bacon's sixty foot power boat Quest, Frederick K. Schermerhorn's Free Lance, William S. Patten's Wasp, William M. Guthrie's Meuden and George C. Sherman's Wana.

Commodore Robert E. Tod and A. I. Du Pont sent word they were having constructed fast patrol boats, each 110 feet long and built under specifications furnished by the navy department. These boats also will be offered free to the government.

The enrollment list includes 375 other yachts offered the government for sale or charter at the government's own terms. The complete list marks a long stride toward the 500 vessels considered as the minimum needed for the defense of the naval district from New London to Barnegat. Many of the owners have also offered to supply crews at their own expense. In a letter offering the Suitana Mrs. Harriman expressed regret that she could not serve for national defense.

The Corsair probably is the best known yacht of the enrollment. The Corsair yachts have always been in the J. P. Morgan family, the first one having been built in 1880. In 1898 Corsair II, was turned over to the government for service. The present one is 275 feet over all, 248 feet on water line, 28 feet beam and 15 feet draft. In the appraisal of the late J. P. Morgan's estate it was set down as worth $135,000, but its actual value is considerably more.

John Borden's Kanawha was built in 1890 for the late H. H. Rogers and sold finally to Morton Plant. It is 227 feet over all, with twin screws and triple expansion engines of six cylinders. Its beam is 24 feet 5 inches and its draft 10 feet. It has taken several speed cups.

The Suitana has been valued at $138,000. It was built in 1899 for John R. Drexel, who took many long cruises in the vessel. It is 187 feet over all, 28 feet beam and 15 feet deep. Mrs. John Kennedy's Cherokee was built in 1900. It is 95 feet on the water line, 15 feet beam and 6 feet draft. The Viking, owned by Commodore Baker, is a steam yacht with clipper bow.

TRUSTED TAR AND WON.

Night Court Clerk Paid Fine and Got It Back by Mail.

New York.—With the assurance that he "may always rely upon the word of a United States sailor," Chief Clerk Edward T. Tyrel of the men's night court received a letter inclosing $3 from Louis Feldmann, a sailor on the battleship Pennsylvania.

Feldmann was arrested several months ago for disorderly conduct, and when arraigned before Magistrate Ten Eyck in the night court was found guilty, with the alternative of spending three days in jail or paying a fine of $3. He pleaded with the magistrate to be lenient, as it was his first offense, and he was penniless. The magistrate, however, was firm in his decision. Feldmann then asked him for the sake of the navy not to send a United States sailor to prison, but in vain.

Chief Clerk Tyrel, who was listening, dug down into his pockets and paid the fine. Feldmann, upon leaving the courtroom, assured the clerk that he would pay back the money. When Tyrel received the special delivery letter he was much surprised, for, as he said: "I had kissed those three dollars a fond though reluctant farewell."

President Wilson Emphatically Indorses Go to Church Movement. Go to Church.

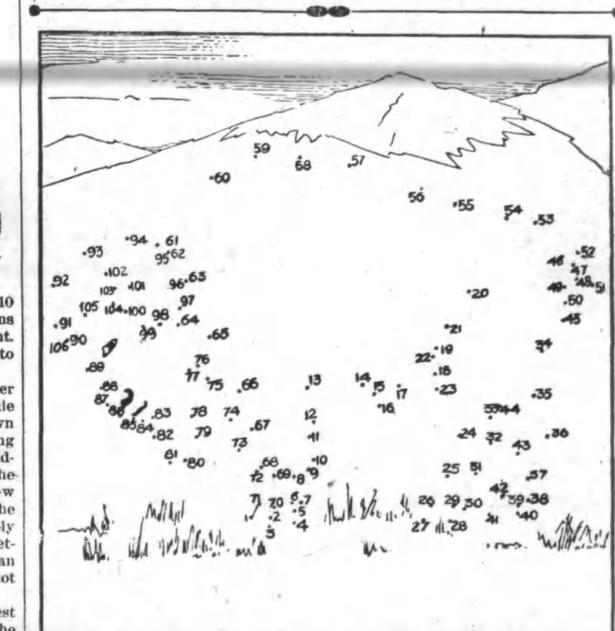

PRESIDENT WILSON emphatically indorsed the GO TO CHURCH campaign in a letter he sent to the Massillon (O.) chamber of commerce. He declared that the habit of church-going LAY AT THE FOUNDATION OF STEADFAST CHARACTER and the MAINTENANCE OF THE STANDARDS OF LIFE. Herewith is produced a facsimile of President Wilson's letter:

I need not tell you that your effort to quicken the church-going habit among our people meets with my warmest sympathy... It has always seemed to me that the habit of church-going somehow lay at the foundation of steadfast character and the maintenance of the standards of life

The seal you drew in No. 8 did make you think of cold weather, didn't it? Seal skin is very valuable. If you don't believe it, ask mamma. The oil of seals also is valuable. There are not many more seals. They are fast ying out. Now, try your pencil on this picture, starting from No. 1 to 2, 3, 4, etc. You'll draw another animal almost extinct. A big city in northwestern New York is named after him. Thousands of these animals used to roam the plains of the United States.

Morning service at 11 o'clock. Message by the pastor. The services last Sunday were among the most largely attended for some time. Every family in Genoa should be in regular attendance at some church in their community, sending any children to the church or the family's choice.

Christian Endeavor will meet Sunday evening at 6:30. Please be on hand promptly. The topic will be: "The Lord's Day the Best Day."

Evening service at 7:30 o'clock. We want you to help make this service even more worth while. Many of the people of the village who might attend the services of the churches in the evening prefer to remain at home. The service will mean less to some one else because you remain at home.

Mid-week service Thursday evening at 7:30. Topic: "Sabbath Blessings." Come and bring some one with you.

Pay Up Now.

If you have $5 or more or less for which you have no pressing need go and pay a debt with it. That is the best use you can make of money unless you are naked or starving. Now is the time to obey the Bible injunction, "Owe no man anything." That is in the Bible, but from the way some debtors spend money they don't seem to know it or care for it. If they have a dollar extra it goes for a pleasure or a convenience. The duty to pay some one they owe never occurs to them. Nor does it occur to them that every unsettled debt is a drag on a community. Everybody has to pay interest on it.

People have to pay more for their sugar and coffee because other people owe the grocer and won't pay. It is one of the items in the high cost of living. And then there is a wholesome public policy in scattering the money around. It will help some other poor man and help some other debtor pay his debt. So pay up now.—Exchange.

Dr. Milton Waldo Dead.

Rev. Milton Waldo, D. D., died at St. Augustine, Florida, on April 3, 1917, aged nearly 95 years. He had been a sufferer from sciatic rheumatism for the past eight months and was a patient in the East Coast hospital in that city during his illness. His mind remained active until a brief time before his death. He was greatly beloved by all the hospital attendants and although separated from his immediate family, he did not die among strangers, as he had hosts of friends in the Southern city who were devotedly attached to him. On account of failing health he had lived in St. Augustine for the past few years.

Dr. Waldo was born in Newark Valley, N. Y., Aug. 28, 1822. He graduated from Hamilton college in 1848 and from Auburn Seminary in 1852. In 1855, he married Maria L. Hardenberg of Auburn, N. Y., a granddaughter of Col. John Hardenberg, one of the first settlers of that city. Dr. Waldo served as pastor of various churches in New York state, and was pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian church of St. Augustine about 30 years ago. A friend of long acquaintance writes of him as "a remarkable man."

He is survived by an only son, Prof. Edward H. Waldo of the University of Illinois, at Urbana, Ill., his wife having died five years ago this month. He was a relative of the Waldo family of Genoa, and last visited here, when he came to Auburn for the burial of his wife.

His remains were placed in a receiving vault at St. Augustine, and will later be brought to Auburn for interment in the family lot in Fort Hill cemetery.

The roads furnish a yardstick to measure the value of any community. A settled country that is not worth a good road is not worth living in.

Virtue never lacks consolation.

Aged Resident of Scipio.

Edwin Groom, aged 85 years, died Tuesday evening at the home of his son, Fred O. Groom, in the town of Scipio, after an illness of two years from paralysis.

The funeral will be held this (Friday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the M. E. church in Venice Center. Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Thos. Husk, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. Harry Stubbs, pastor of the Methodist church of Scipioville. Prayer will be offered at the home of his son at 1:30 o'clock. ## Frowns the Cause of Deep Wrinkles.

The girl or young woman who frowns even though slightly, to see well is starting wrinkles which will mar her good looks seriously a few years later. She should secure properly fitted glasses at once for frowning to see is a result of eye strain—not just "a bad habit." Glasses secured at Hoyt's will correct eye strain and maintain normal vision. Don't frown, consult Hoyt, the optometrist.

SAFETY IN A DRY STATE.

Ragged and unkempt, George Mertz, miner and self-styled prey of liquor, walked into the office of the Associated Charities in Pomona and begged for a pair of shoes so that he might walk to Arizona and "get into a dry state."

Questioned by Mrs. W. J. Rogers, in charge of the office, Mertz brokenly told her that he had gone to Los Angeles from Globe, Ariz., and a few days ago was sent to jail here for drunkenness. Released, he started to walk into a "dry" country.

"Everywhere I turned in Los Angeles a saloon reached out for me," said Mertz. "They took every cent I had. I simply could not resist."

"Why don't you take a cure?" asked Mrs. Rogers.

"There is no cure for a man whose will is gone," replied Mertz. "Just give me a pair of shoes so that I can get to Arizona. I was all right there. I had not had a drink since prohibition became a law."

He was furnished with the shoes and resumed his journey.—Los Angeles Express.

WASTING FOODSTUFFS.

The following editorial recently appeared in one of the leading dailies of the middle West under the caption of "Foodstuffs."

"The time is here when farm crops must be used for food; when the products of the land will not suffice to feed the people of the world. To use for making liquors the grain which is needed to feed the people is an economic crime and an offense against humanity. This is the broad view of the beverage liquor question. It is outrageous to think of hundreds of thousands of human beings being insufficiently nourished, scantily fed, while the crops are being taken for the manufacture of booze. If the people will think of the liquor question from this point of view there will be small delay in bringing about the adjustments which shall not only cut off the evils of the liquor traffic, but also will stop the misappropriation of the foodstuffs of the people to stock the saloons with poison."

PRIVILEGED.

While some boys in Somerville, Mass., were playing in a vacant lot, one of them found a splendid place in which to hide from his companions.

It was an old boiler, and in it he scrambled. But more quickly he scrambled out and ran to give an alarm, for in that hiding place he stumbled over something that had been a man.

Beside it was a whisky bottle. If it had been a thug or a gunman that had done the killing, with what zeal would the officers have pursued him, and how securely the authorities would have locked him up!

But a whisky bottle—that is a privileged slayer! That is permitted to go scot free, although its killings many times outnumber those of all the thugs.—Exchange.

ALABAMA BANKER'S OPINION.

J. B. Wadsworth, a banker of Gadsden, Ala., gives the following testimony to the success of prohibition in his state:

"The common masses of the people are the beneficiaries of prohibition. They have the money that formerly went for liquor to pay rents, buy clothes, shoes and groceries, send their children to college, etc., etc. Thousands of wage-earners now have them who formerly had no bank accounts. The economic feature is marvelous. Cost of officers, police, judges, etc., is reduced to a minimum."

FOR WORLD WEAL.

"I am more an American than I am a southerner," said Dr. Ira Landreth in a recent speech, "and if you aren't more of an American than you are a northerner, you are an undesirable citizen. This is no time to be southerners and northerners, Englishmen or Germans—this is the time to be unadorned and unapologetic, but unboastful, Americans, personally true and upright and internationally unafraid, but fraternal. America first, but America sober; America first, but America for the weal of the world."

A PAT STATEMENT.

One of the dry campaigners in Michigan struck the keynote when in addressing the employees of a Detroit automobile factory he said: "If the saloon tends to make men and women and boys and girls better citizens and more efficient and capable, then no decent man will vote dry; but if the tendency of the saloon and the liquor traffic is to make them less capable and destroy homes and ruin character, then every clean, decent man will vote dry."

SIDE LIGHTS ON PHILADELPHIA.

The Local Option League of Pennsylvania has issued a bulletin entitled "John Barleycorn in Account With the City of Philadelphia." It contains many very interesting items bearing on the rum question. It goes into statistics extensively and shows that Philadelphia spends practically twice as much in taking care of the victims of drink as the city receives from liquor revenue. The revenue is $1,919,105. The estimated cost of caring for rum victims reaches the enormous total of $3,838,210.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

The inner side of every cloud is bright and shining and I therefore turn my clouds about and always wear them inside out to show the lining.

WINTER VEGETABLES.

Most vegetables that have been kept in the cellar are improved by soaking a short time in cold water. They will take up some of the water and become more crisp and fresh.

Turnips, Eastern Style.—Wash and pare turnips cut in half inch slices, then cut the slices in half inch cubes; there should be three cupsful. Cook in boiling salted water until soft. Drain and add a third of a cupful of melted butter. Season with salt and pepper, turn into a hot vegetable dish and sprinkle with a half table-spoonful of chopped parsley.

Curried Vegetables.—Wash potatoes, pare, cut them in one-third inch slices and the slices into cubes; there should be one and a fourth cupsful. Cut carrot in same manner; there should be one cupful. Cook the potato and carrot in boiling, salted water until soft. Drain and add one cupful of canned peas. Add curry sauce prepared by cooking two table-spoonfuls of butter with one-half an onion sliced, until yellow, stirring constantly. Add two table-spoonfuls of flour mixed with three-fourths of a table-spoonful of salt; one-half table-spoonful of curry powder, and a few dashes of red pepper. Pour on, stirring constantly, one cupful of milk. Bring to the boiling point and strain.

Lima Beans in Casserole.—Soak two cupsful of dried lima beans overnight in cold water. Drain and put them in a casserole, sprinkle with a half table-spoonful of salt and one-eighth of a table-spoonful of pepper. Cut a two-inch cube of fat, salt pork in dice, try out and remove pork. To fat add a small onion, half a cupful of carrot cubes, and stir until well browned. Add beans, dot with two table-spoonfuls of butter, the pork dice and water to half the height of the beans. Cover and cook slowly until the beans are soft.

Molded Potatoes.—Press left-over mashed potatoes into baking powder cans and chill. Slice in neat rounds, lay on a buttered dripping pan in the oven and bake until they become puffy, and a delicate brown. Serve with broiled steak.

GOOD THINGS FOR OCCASIONS.

A filling for patty shells may be cooked chicken, veal, sweetbreads or mushrooms, cut in small pieces of even size. Oysters are also good and if large should be cut in halves. For each cup of filling use a cupful of sauce. Melt two table-spoonfuls of butter; add, when it is bubbling hot, two table-spoonfuls of flour, one-fourth of a table-spoonful each of salt and pepper, then gradually stir in a cupful of thin cream or rich milk or chicken, veal or oyster broth, or half cream and half stock. When the sauce boils add the cooked ingredients, heat over water if not used at once. Fill the shells which have been heated in the oven for a few minutes to make them crisp.

A most delicious brown sauce to be used with the same filling as above is prepared as follows: Melt three table-spoonfuls of butter in a saucepan; to it add a slice of onion and two slices of carrot, cook until the vegetables are softened, remove them and let the butter brown lightly, then add four table-spoonfuls of flour with salt and paprika to taste, a fourth of a table-spoonful each, will be sufficient; cook until the flour is brown, then add one cupful of beef or game broth and cook until smooth. Add the cooked material and fill the patties.

Emergency Dessert.—Take pieces of stale cake and let them soak in any fruit juice like strawberry, cherry, plum or pineapple. If none of these is at hand a little orange juice with the grated rind will be satisfactory. Arrange the soaked cake in a pretty dish and pour over it a custard made by using a pint of milk, a pinch of salt, four table-spoonfuls of sugar, and two beaten eggs; flavor with any flavoring which combines well with the fruit juice used. Cover with a meringue or with whipped cream.

Cheese Pudding.—Take grated dry cheese or finely cut cheese and use it in alternate layers with crackers or bread, slightly buttered; fill the dish with milk and bake until the milk is absorbed.

WHY RED LEAD IS SUPERIOR

Its Fineness Makes It One of the Surest Preventives of Corrosion That is Known.

The average thickness of a coating of paint for iron and steel may be one two-hundredth of an inch, states an authority on the subject. In many parts, however, the coating may easily reach a thinness of one six-hundredth of an inch.

If, therefore, a paint contains particles whose smallest dimension is one four-hundredth of an inch, it is obvious that the particles will stand out in a paint coating where the thickness of the paint coating is only one six-hundredth of an inch. Many particles of pigment classed as coarse or sandy lead are considerably larger in size than the size indicated by one four-hundredth of an inch diameter, and these will project still farther through the paint film. Such coarse particles become, therefore, the weak point in the film, and corrosion may start around such particles.

The paint film itself is weak at such points, as the coarse particles may not be completely encased in the oil of the film. For these reasons, concludes the authority, the superiority of a highly oxidized red lead is really due to its fineness. It is a better pigment, its superiority, however, lies not only in the more continuous paint film it produces but in its producing a better working paint—a paint that flows out well but will not run, sag or weep.

FIRST "TANKS" IN WARFARE

Romans Found a Means of Stopping the Hitherto Deadly Persian War Chariots.

Apocryph of the armored automobile of the British, the Figaro of Paris remarks that the first model of this kind of war automobile is found illustrated in the bas-reliefs of Khorsala and Nineveh; armed chariots used by the Greeks and the Trojans in the days of Agamemnon, and which were introduced by Cyrus in the armies of the Persians. Having at hand no gasoline, Cyrus had his chariots or his cars drawn by horses. Sylla at the battle of Cheronae found means of defense against those armed chariots which for centuries had spread terror on battlefields. He armed his soldiers of the second line with poles divided into four sharpened points. These poles were planted on the ground on the advance of the armored chariots, launched in an assault by Archilanus, Mithridates' commander. The first line of the Romans retired in the rear of this barrier against which the armed chariots in their impetuous assault were broken to pieces. Suddenly the light forces of Sylla hurled themselves forward; they surrounded the armed chariots, covering them with a cloud of arrows and a shower of stones. Few of these chariots could escape, amidst the cries of mockery of the Roman soldiers.

Invited to Doom.

Before the cold weather set in a certain South side matron had so much trouble with flies in her kitchen that she decided to make a supreme effort to rid herself of the pests.

After carefully fastening the screen doors she placed saucers containing fly poison on the table and on top of the refrigerator and went into another room to await developments.

Soon afterward the matron heard her little daughter in the kitchen. Investigation showed the youngster at the kitchen door, carefully holding the screen wide open.

"What in the world are you doing?" cried the housewife.

"Why, mamma," the youngster replied, "I am holding the screen door open so the flies can come in and get the poison."

Tired of His Solitude.

Many years ago my aunt taught a country school. One cold, snowy morning only one pupil, a little boy, showed up at the schoolhouse after a walk of two miles from his home. My aunt decided to reward the boy for coming on such a stormy day when all his mates remained at home, so she told him he might sit down and read a story book for a while. He did so; but alone as he was, the minutes seemed like hours, and he became tired. Soon my aunt heard a tiny voice say earnestly, as if she had forgotten the time, "Ain't it most time to go home?"—Chicago Tribune.

Spaniel That Likes to Fish.

Francis Gilpin, sportsman and pioneer of the Pike's Peak region, is the owner of a dog whose greatest joy is to go fishing. Mr. Gilpin believes that his animal is the only dog in the world that will retrieve fish.

When on his trout fishing trips Mr. Gilpin never carries a net with which to land his catches. As soon as he has made a strike his dog runs into the water and maneuvers about the fish until it is within distance to pounce upon. The fish is then brought ashore in the dog's mouth and laid beside the master. Not a blemish is ever found on the fish as a result of the dog's teeth.

How Many Had She?

A newspaper man of Columbus was walking through the corridor of the second floor of the Bartholomew county courthouse when a woman approached him. "Say, mister," she began, "mebbe you can tell me something. Where is it you go to prosecute your husbands?" The newspaper man directed her to the office of the prosecuting attorney, and has been hanging around there ever since to learn how many husbands she had to prosecute.—Indianapolis News.

State Leader Appeals For the Enrollment of Women

DUTY OF NEW YORK STATE

Women Important Factor in Crisis, Says Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse—Able to Fill Ranks at Home on Many Phases of Industry.

"New York State women are in a position to be of great service in the present National crisis, and I am confident that every loyal American woman, suffragist or anti-suffragist, socialist or pacifist, in time of need will serve her country. Just how can this service best be rendered? Perhaps we can best answer this question by seeing what has been accomplished by the women in the warring countries of Europe today."

So says Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse, leader of the New York State Suffrage Party, on the field of opportunity now offered New York State women. Continuing, she remarks:

"Today all over Europe women are proving that without their war service, both at home and in the field, men would be so handicapped in their fighting that it is questionable if the war could go on. The women of England, France, Russia, Germany and Italy are sowing and harvesting the crops that are feeding the vast armies at the front. They are taking up the anvil, the hammer, and the spade that men threw down for the sword. All the huge industries that were once considered men's jobs are now in the hands of the women. The New York State women today can be of service, now, by enrolling in the New York State Suffrage Party, whose offer of service has been accepted by Governor Charles S. Whitman.

"On February 25th, the Executive Council of the National American Woman Suffrage Association made an offer of service to the President and the Government. In behalf of the Government of the United States, the Secretary of War has accepted the offer made by the Association. As a result the National American Woman Suffrage Association is now issuing a nation-wide appeal for the enlistment of all women whose opportunities permit the increasing of the national food supply by gardening and farming and the elimination of waste."

"In orders just issued by the Secretary of the Navy, we find instructions given to Naval Recruiting Officers to be prepared to enlist women in the Naval Service in case of emergency. It is not proposed to detail the women enlisted to ships, but to employ them ashore as stenographers, clerks, typists, radio-telephony operators and possibly in munition plants. The War Department has already considered them for the munition plants."

Woman Representatives

When the Congress convenes on April 2 there will be scheduled for early action the introduction of the federal suffrage amendment in the House. Honorable Jeanette Rankin of Montana, will introduce the amendment and it will be the first time in the history of the nation that a woman has been the sponsor of the long-standing bill to emancipate her sex. It will also be the first time in history that a man and a woman will both represent women in the appeal to Congress. Judge John Raker, of California, will sponsor the bill from the Democratic side, while Miss Rankin attends it on the Republican side.

IN MEXICO, TOO.

Recent dispatches from Mexico announce the election of Miss Herlinda Galindo, a suffragist, to the lower house of the Congress of Mexico.

State Senator Predicts a Big Majority This Year

"SPIRIT OF THE TIMES"

Democrats and Republicans Champion Legislative Action in Giving New York State Voters Chance to Adopt Suffrage Measure.

"Victory for Woman Suffrage in New York State by a big majority," is the prediction made in the Senate at Albany by Senator George H. Whitney of Saratoga County, sponsor of the Suffrage Amendment just passed by the New York State Legislature.

"My prophesy of success for suffrage," said Senator Whitney, "is based not only on the increased ability and strength of the suffrage organization but also upon the many indications which come from the spirit of the times."

"As an indication of the increasingly favorable sentiment at Albany this year, Mrs. Helen Leavitt of Albany, who has been representing the State Party at the capitol, points out that of the 41 newly elected Assemblymen this year, 37 voted Yes, only one No, leaving three not voting or absent.

"Not one man in either House," said Mrs. Leavitt, "this year changed his vote from Yes to No. Both the men who introduced the bill in Legislature last year were re-elected and one of them offered a strong fight in the primaries. 14 members of the Assembly who voted No one year ago, voted Yes, while of the 15 newly elected Senators 14 voted Yes. At the same time, 5 Senators who voted No last year, voted Yes this year."

"In fact the general sentiment in the Legislature was so overwhelmingly in favor of suffrage that men of both parties agreed that suffrage was coming."

"Finally the majority leaders of both Houses who last year voted No, this year voted Yes, as naturally they should have voted, since suffrage is now an important plank in the platforms of both the Republican and Democratic Parties."

HERBERT PARSONS

Legislative Victories

A suffrage amendment passed the Iowa Senate March 21 by a vote of 35 to 13. On the same day a presidential suffrage bill passed the Senate in Michigan. On March 16, Oklahoma's Legislature passed a concurrent resolution to submit a woman suffrage measure to the voters in 1918.

Easter Happiness

AT no time except at Christmas is the world so happy as at Easter. The universal observance of these two festivals is a witness to the vitality and power of the truths for which they stand. The Christmas truth is that God has revealed himself in human life; Easter expresses our assurance of immortality.

These truths in combination and the consequences that follow from their acceptance may be said to equal the sum total of human happiness. Banish brotherhood and the result is social chaos. Conceive of death as the end-all and we are of all creatures the most miserable.

It is true that here and there a brave man marches breast forward, doubting whether, after all, there is a hereafter, yet grimly determined to play at all hazards a noble part. All honor to him, but his philosophy will not suffice for the rest of us.

"If the dead rise not," most of us will say, "let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die." We crave certainty as to the future, and nothing but such a certainty can influence our present conduct. In the search for certainty some of us are able to find in the voice of authority the assurance that we need.

Some of us can hope so intensely for immortality that we give substance to the thing we hope for, and this becomes our faith. Others of us, however, cannot believe merely because we are bidden to believe or because we wish to do so. We are eager of assurance, but to be satisfying it must be a reasonable assurance.

How to Dye the Eggs.

The best method is to dye your eggs just before breakfast or before you want to serve them. If your dyes are all ready and you have read over your directions beforehand you need allow only ten or fifteen minutes for the task. Have your dyes ready in old teacups. Green, light blue, orange, rose red, purple, pink, yellow and scarlet are the usual colors. Cook your eggs to the desired degree of hardness and then quickly drop them from the boiling water into the hot dye and as soon as they have taken the desired hue remove them from the dye and place in the dish from which they are to be served.

Blessing the Fire at Easter

IN an account of Easter in Rome published in the New York Evening Post mention was made of the curious ceremony of blessing the fire in the famous church of St. John Lateran.

All lights having been extinguished on Thursday evening, new fire is struck on Saturday by means of a flint and a colossal brazier filled with charcoal. After this is done the bishop, accompanied by his ministers with the cross, holy water and incense, in his miter and magnificent vestments, blesses the new fire and the five grains of incense that are to be fixed in the paschal candle.

Two long lines are formed of young deacons, students and monks waiting for ordination. They stand face to face with the bishop, looking down the line and stationed at the church door. After sprinkling the five grains of incense, which are large silver cones, and fanning them with the censor, one of the deacons puts on a white dalmatic and, taking the rod with a lighted candle fixed at the top, the officiators fall into procession and return to the tribune.

The lighting of this new fire represents the rising of Christ and his victory over sin. From the spark obtained the paschal candle is lighted, and this, according to St. Anselm, signifies three things: The virgin wax typifies the body of our Lord, the wick the soul, while the flame is the symbol of divinity. The use of the Easter taper is very ancient in the Roman church, dating back as far as Pope St. Zostimus, who at the beginning of the fifth century ordered that it should be made in the shape of a column, on which the order of office was inscribed. The dimensions of the Easter candle were enormous at the beginning; the largest one of the kind is now the papal candle, measuring four inches in diameter and about two yards and a half in height.

After the return of the procession to the chancel the blessing of the candle takes place, and it is decorated by the deacon with the five balls of gilded and silvered incense, which he thrusts into the wax in the form of a cross. These are symbols of the wounds and perfumes with which the body of our Lord was covered; it is lighted as a symbol of the resurrection and burns during high mass and veapers until Ascension, forty days after Easter.

The first Easter

ROSLY dawned the day in the far east. On the shore the cool waves broke gently, fluttering foamy drops on the yellow sand. Away from the water among the rocky stretches of green, lilies bloomed slender and tall, white with cups curving to catch the effraut little breeze which carried their sweetness beyond the hills. In the stony crevices wild flowers glistened out from dew wet leaves. Half hidden by pale lily blooms, a dark stone guarded the entrance to a cave among the rocks.

Early in the dawning Sabbath glow, two women, gentle voiced and sorrowing, came slowly down the flowered path, bearing in their arms perfumed napkins and precious spices in carved boxes. They were clad in flowing gray garments, and their heads were bent in meek weeping.

"FLOWER OF PURITY AND SPIRITUAL BEAUTY."

As they drew near to the fly sentinelled tomb, the one who walked ahead raised her eyes, dark with pain, to the open doorway, and quick wonder lighted their depths, and she turned, whispering: "Ah! Mary Magdalene, the stone already is rolled away. He hath done this thing."

With eager steps they left the growing day and entered the darkened sepulcher. But as they went they saw two angels seated at the tomb, two men with strong, glorified faces and glad, bright eyes, and their robes were bright as if the sunlight were shining through. The two Marys paused, startled, awed by the great light.

Then the mother of Christ knelt low and wept, but a voice thrillingly tender called to her saying, "Woman, why weepst thou?"

And she lifted her eyes at the words and answered softly, "Because they have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him."

But the voice came again, glad and full of rejoicing: "Fear not ye, for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here, for he is risen!"

Wondering, the mother gazed, her starry eyes searching the brightened sepulcher. Then she rose and walked with Mary Magdalene from the place.

Descending the path in the golden sunlight, her gray robes brushed against the uplifted flowers, dew flecked, wondrous sweet. Stopping, she bent her head to the shining lilies. "Live," she murmured, "as expression of the divine beauty of the Son of Man, as examples of his wondrous mercy and boundless love and as the symbol of his resurrection. Henceforth you shall be the flower of purity and spiritual beauty of the holy Easter day, of the great new life which floods the earth through the power of the Son of God."—Patricia Gray in Philadelphia North American.

Easter Egg Game.

When your friends come to play with you during the Easter holidays select a leader. The leader stands in the center of a circle. Each player holds out his hands, palms upward, and upon each of them the leader places an Easter egg. The leader then goes around the circle, catching up the eggs in turn and trying to strike them upon the hands that hold them.

Each one tries to withdraw his hands before they are struck. The same leader continues until he is able to strike some one's hands, whereupon the victim must take his place. If one's hands are withdrawn and the egg falls to the ground because of a feint on the part of the leader it is as if his hands received the blow. At the end of the game the eggs can be eaten.

Easter Morning.

O'er all the earth the Easter bells are ringing.
From arctic snows to tropic isles so fair,
Where Easter lilies, their white censers
swinging, swing,
Rich fragrance pour upon the balmy air.

O'er all the earth a myriad happy voices
With joyous greetings hail the Easter morn.
"Death reigns no more," the chorus glad rejoices.
"The Lord hath risen! Life the grave doth open."

JITNEY OF SEAS TO DEFY U BOATS

Motor Ship of 1,000 Tons to Be Built of Wood.

WOULD BE SPEEDY AND AGILE

Submarines Could Not See the Vessel at a Distance of More Than Ten Miles—Insurance Rates Would Be Lower and Cost of Erecting Vessels Reduced.

How to beat the submarine? That is the question which now confronts the shipping world. The destruction of U boats is a naval problem, to be dealt with so far as possible by naval forces, but naval measures are either unable to cope with the situation or are inadequate to meet the emergency, and it is necessary for shipping men to consider how commerce may be continued in spite of the menace.

The answer as conceived by F. Huntington Clark, mining engineer, of New York is that the only way to overcome the U boat is to defeat its object.

Germany is now sinking tonnage faster than all the marine yards of the world can build it. This is the conclusion to be drawn from the February reports, say those who have studied the question.

The Clark plan is to build a new type of ship, one which can evade the submarine. "The American motor ship" is the name suggested. It would be a vessel of 1,000 tons burden, extraordinarily fleet and agile, for the answer to the submarine, says Mr. Clark, "is in a quick helm." The craft would be constructed of wood, fir from the Pacific northwest and Texas hard pine. When construction on a large scale once got under way the pieces could be sawed at the mills and sent to the shipyards to be put together "like a cheap auto." While it might take six months to build the first vessel, in this way they could be turned out in four months thereafter.

Can Build Many "Sea Jitneys."

Modern shipyards that are capable of turning out these "jitneys" exist already on the Pacific coast and in the Beaumont district in Texas, and their present capacity is 250,000 tons a year, easily enlarged.

The cost would be relatively small. A million tons, it is estimated, could be built for $100,000,000, which is equal to one-half of one day's expenditure for the war. Crews would be small and marine insurance cheap.

The one difficulty in construction would be in duplicating the marine Diesel engine, which has made the German submarine a possibility, but it is believed that this could be surmounted by American skill and inventiveness.

The principle of these small freight carriers would be to divide up cargoes into thousand ton units. At the present time a U boat may bag a 20,000 or 30,000 ton cargo at one stroke. Under the contemplated plan the submarines would destroy only a thousand tons with each shot.

If the average U boat leaves port with fifteen torpedoes and makes the high average of 50 per cent of hits—an especially high average against a swerving, dodging mark—a total of freight it could send to the bottom would be between 7,000 and 8,000 tons. In comparison a U boat which has sunk one 30,000 ton ship may now have fourteen torpedoes left with which to pile up a total conceivably of 100,000 tons.

But this is not the only point at which the effectiveness of the U boat would be reduced. The motor ship would be essentially one of low visibility. A steamship with its column of smoke can at present be sighted at a distance of about thirty-five miles.

Invisible at Ten Miles.

The motor vessel, on the other hand—not only because it is small, but because it has no pillar of smoke—could not be sighted beyond the curvature of the earth, or, to make a liberal estimate, ten miles.

Now, the submarine, lying in wait at any given station for a steamship and spotting her thirty-five miles away, would be able to move perhaps twenty-five miles toward the vessel's course to place itself immediately in front of her before she came up. On the other side of its station it would have the same margin. This gives one submarine, therefore, a patrolling radius of fifty miles.

But with a craft that the U boat could sight only ten miles away it is probable that it could not move more than seven miles, or the altitude of a right angled triangle, before crossing her path. This would give the submarine a patrolling radius of only fourteen miles, or a net loss of thirty-six. As a result it would take more than three times as many submarines to establish a tight blockade.

One of the chief objections on the part of shipping men to undertaking this venture, it is believed, is the hope that the U boat war will soon be ended and they do not wish to undertake such a formidable expense and revolutionary expedient if it turns out that normal conditions on the sea can soon be resumed.

Administration of West Indies.

Whether the United States army or navy shall administer the affairs of the newly acquired Danish West Indies is a question now up for consideration.

The Sufficiency of Grace

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE
Moody Bible Institute,
Chicago

TEXT—Instead of the thorn shall come up the fir tree, and instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle tree.—Isa. 55:13.

In this verse we have a striking lesson on the substitutions of grace. It would be a good deal to dig up the thorn, and cut down the briers, but God does far more. He substitutes for the thornbush the tall and beautiful fir tree, and for the hateful briers the graceful myrtle.

Occasionally a student comes to our office after a stay of a few days, and informs us that he is about to leave the school. When we inquire for the reason, he answers that he does not like the teaching. When pressed for an explanation, he says, "Well, you do not teach the doctrine of eradication."

"And what do you mean by that?" "I mean that God removes the roots of sin from our nature, so that one will not sin, and your school does not teach that doctrine, does it?"

"No, but we teach something far better."

"What do you mean? I did not know that there was anything better than the eradication of sin."

"Oh yes, the substitution of grace is far superior. Instead of digging out the roots of sin, God plants in our nature the germs of grace, which over-run, and in time run out the seeds of evil. 'Instead of the thorn shall come up the fir tree, and instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle.'"

Luther Burbank takes the prairie cactus, whose sharp thorns are the terror of man and beast, and converts it into a nourishing food, on which the cattle fatten and flourish. What was once a thing to be dreaded is now a means of support.

The apple tree which once bore nothing but sour and bitter fruit, small in size, and rough in appearance, by the simple process of grafting can be made to produce apples which are large, sweet and luscious. It is the same old tree, but a new principle has been introduced, and that new nature dominates and determines the whole output of the tree. I once saw a lemon tree in California which had been grafted until it was bearing 22 different kinds of luscious fruit.

What Burbank and others are doing in the realm of nature, God is continually doing in the realm of grace. He does not destroy the tree which bears bitter fruit, but he grafts into it the grace that is in Christ Jesus, and soon that tree is rich and beautiful with all the fruits of the Spirit.

"Thou art Simon," said Jesus, the first time he met him, and Simon in his circle of friends was a synonym for fickleness, and instability. But knowing what grace could do for that big-hearted fisherman, Jesus added, "Thou shalt be called Cephas," which means "a rock," and is a symbol of firmness. Peter finally reached the point where he could truthfully say that he was kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation.

James and John were so hot tempered and violent that they were nicknamed "Boanerges"—sons of thunder, but grace led one of them to die as a martyr, and the other to be called the apostle of love. What God has done for others, he will do for us. If there are thorns of selfishness and briers of envy or malice in our character, we must not be satisfied with their extermination, but ask God to give us the very opposite of these, the love which suffereth long and is kind, which envieth not and is not puffed up.

Where the thorns of criticism and faultfinding grew, there let us claim a tall and stately growth of generous praise, and hearty appreciation. Let us never be satisfied with overcoming the petty faults and follies of our character, but ask God also to adorn our lives with all the graces and virtues that are in Christ Jesus, instead of the briers, the beautiful myrtle, the graceful smilax, and the sweet-scented arbutus.

It may be that there are some thorns in our own environment, as well as in our character; some things which are hard to bear, and painful to endure. God can change these thorns into roses, these painful conditions into a source of gratitude and praise. Paul had a thorn in his flesh, and so perhaps have you—a disagreeable employer, or an uncongenial roommate. Paul found God's grace sufficient to change that painful thorn into his greatest blessing, and so may you and I.

Christ by his resurrection has even robbed death of its sting and converted it into a gateway to heaven. Yes, grace is sufficient for all things.

Grace, without which as the sea,
Grace flowing from Calvary,
Grace enough for sinners—
Grace enough for me.

It is not enough to do good, we must do it in the right way—by Christ.

Aged Resident of Lansing.

The funeral of Peter V. Egbert, aged 81 years, one of Tompkins county's foremost farmers, who died April 3, was held at 11 o'clock Thursday morning, April 5, at the home of his son, Willis R. Egbert at South Lansing. Mr. Egbert had resided on the P. V. Egbert farm for the past 40 years and had lived in that vicinity practically all of his life.

The decedent had invented and patented a large number of farm implements, among them the Egbert stable scraper which is now in use extensively. He is said to have been the first man to take a threshing outfit into California. It was in 1853 that Mr. Egbert made his first trip to California by way of the Isthmus of Panama. He later went overland to California in 1872. Upon his return he settled in Lansing where he was a successful farmer. Mr. Egbert and family were residents of Genoa for several years nearly 30 years ago.

Mr. Egbert was born at Asbury. He married Elizabeth Peters of Asbury and last Christmas day they would have celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary had not their home been quarantined for infantile paralysis.

Besides his wife, the deceased leaves five children—John T. Egbert of Ithaca; Charles M. Egbert and W. R. Egbert of South Lansing; Mrs. Ciella Raymond of McGraw and Mrs. LaVerne Main of Myers; and 12 grandchildren.

Rev. F. J. Allington of North Lansing officiated at the funeral and interment was made in the family plot in North Lansing cemetery.

KEEPING STREETS CLEAN.

Under the headline "Help Keep the Streets Clean" the New York city board of health in a recent bulletin says:

"In the past much of the rubbish deposited in the streets has come from the careless habits of pushcart peddlers and stand keepers, newspapers and rubbish, banana skins, spoiled fruit and the like being dropped into the street as the readiest means of disposal. Inasmuch as all such vendors are required to obtain a license to operate, a regulation has been adopted by the department of licenses requiring the licensee to keep the space around his stand free from rubbish and litter. He is also required to keep a proper receptacle for rubbish and litter and a broom. Our readers can help in this effort to improve municipal housekeeping by refraining from throwing papers and other rubbish into the streets and by reporting violations of the law covering this subject to the nearest police officer."

All licensees for sidewalk and street stands, as well as pushcarts and wagons, now receive a placard printed in English, Italian and Yiddish announcing that they must keep a broom and a proper receptacle for rubbish. This is signed by the police commissioner, health commissioner, street cleaning commissioner and commissioner of licenses.

With prices of feed at the present levels the dairymen can not afford to feed poor cows, and the man who has purebreds in his barns this year is the only one who gets good returns from his feed, says the state college of agriculture, which advises that in planning the new farm year it will pay to plant plenty of silage crops against next winter's probable high feed prices.

KNOWS MILIUKOFF

Dr. Dutton Says Russian Minister Is Cautious.

PROBED TALES OF ATROCITY.

Worked Quietly For Years to Bring About a State of Mind in Russia Where the People Would Be Ready to Take a Stand—Twice Visited United States.

New York.—Carefulness and caution and a ready sympathy that have made him many friends are the chief characteristics of Paul N. Miliukoff, Russia's new minister of foreign affairs, according to Dr. Samuel T. Dutton, general secretary of the World Court league and chairman of the executive committee of the Armenian-Serbian relief fund in New York. Dr. Dutton had an exceptional opportunity to study the new man in Russian affairs in 1913 during an association of seven weeks.

"Professor Miliukoff is a man who takes exceeding care in getting at the truth," says Dr. Dutton. "He constantly was cautious about accepting tales of atrocity without the most complete verification. For example, I went alone into Macedonia to see a doctor whose son had been killed and whose house had been burned by the Bulgarians. He told me the story of how he had acted as host to a Bulgarian officer for a month and on leaving for a short business trip had trusted the safety of his home to the officer. When the Bulgarian trouble broke out his boy was killed, his house was burned, and his wife shot and seriously wounded by the very officer who had been his guest.

"When Miliukoff heard this account he refused to put it in the record until the woman herself could be questioned. It was thus that, while bold, he has maintained a standing among the bureaucracy.

"Miliukoff was horribly shocked at the atrocities we found in Bulgaria. Even his pro-Bulgarian leanings would not permit him to whitewash any of the record we made. He knows Bulgarians thoroughly, and they know and trust him. The events in Russia will have a tremendous influence in Bulgaria.

"I know as minister of foreign affairs Miliukoff will wield a powerful influence in Bulgaria, as indeed in every other country.

"The new minister has been working quietly for years to bring about a state of mind in Russia where the people would be ready to take a stand. In the duma he has long tried to favor education for the peasantry. I believe the new regime will have especial tolerance for Jews.

"Miliukoff has twice been in this country. He is an expert in international law and politics and always has been a great admirer of the United States and our institutions.

"Miliukoff is a man who has a deep interest in home and family life. He is not a politician by any means."

During his journeyings he ranged the River of Doubt and almost unexplored forests. A longshoreman, glimpsing the collection, took the pledge.
