"Let the People Know"
It was an historic occasion when Jeannette Rankin delivered her first public lecture as a United States Congressman-elect at Carnegie hall, New York City, March 2. She improved it to plead with eloquence for voting in the daylight on public questions. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage association, presided over the meeting, which brought together suffragists of prominence in one great gathering to signify approval of the remarkable young woman who is making history for women and for the suffrage of women.

March 20—Fire broke out a little before 11 o'clock this morning in the Beardsley & Mosher mill. It started from the engine and before any one could do much the whole building was ablaze. Some things were taken out of the old blacksmith shop owned by Leo Heffernan. Beardsley & Mosher saved their books and a chest of tools, also some logs that were on the ground outside the building, but about $100 cash in the drawer was burned. The whistles from the milk station and freight train, bells from the church and school and alarms from the phones called the people from the countryside and there was a large crowd in a short time. The wind coming from the southeast saved a number of houses; had it been from the north there would have been a clean sweep of the houses on that street. A "SUFF" COLLEGE

Would Be Voters Will Train Women to Speak.

IS TO BE NO "PINK TEA."

Miss Byrns, a New York Lawyer, is Starting Up State Schools to Teach Women How to Be Spellbinders and Good Canvassers.

A peripatetic suffrage college is the latest move in the 1917 votes for women campaign. The object, says Dean Ellnor Byrns, one of New York's active women lawyers, is to seek out local talent and train it for the task of converting the voters of the districts to woman suffrage.

In January Miss Byrns opened her first suffrage college at Buffalo. The original plan was to devote five days to this institution, but so many of the students were found to be women from the outlying country districts who could not be away from home so long that it was decided to compress the dozen sessions into three days.

"It's no pink tea we are planning," says Miss Byrns, assuming the role of stern schoolmarm.

"There are to be reviews after each lesson and examinations at the end. Nobody need expect just to sit still and be entertained by pleasant speeches. Every pupil will have to learn to make a good speech on every subject studied. Oh, yes, there are to be home lessons also to be prepared outside of this twelve hour day. Each woman will be assigned a certain topic, will receive literature concerning it and fold to prepare a speech upon it for the next day. I'm sure I don't know how they are going to manage it," she added.

"Much of the suffrage work done in the past by untrained workers lost effectiveness because of that very lack of training. Now we are going to find out those who are good at public speaking and train them for that. Those who can't make speeches, but are good at answering questions, are to have their special talent developed. Others who show aptitude for canvassing will be drilled for that particular and important duty."

The "college" will visit all the prominent cities in New York state.

Your Coiffure.

There is no longer any necessity for loading the hair with braids, rats, puffs and curls. The fashions today are so simple that the woman who has only a small crop of hair can easily dress it well. In dressing your hair consider the shape of your face. The back of the head is of importance, but the frame made by the hair must be becoming to the face. Women of severely classic features and fine brows can wear the hair brushed straight back from the forehead and coiled at the back of the head or at the nape of the neck.

Simple hairdressing necessitates cleaner hair, therefore healthier hair. The hair must be thoroughly washed every week or two, especially if one exercises much. Some women boast of washing their hair but once in six weeks. Imagine the scalp, with its myriads of oil glands and its heavy growth of hair to retain the dust, being bathed only once in that long period.

Put Buttons in Salt.

Said an expert waitress lately: "I have noticed in cafes and different homes how angry looking one gets when the salt and pepper shakers don't work and their contents stick inside. Now it will surprise you how this works. Just put two large pearl buttons inside of each shaker, and when you go to shake it it will surprise you how easy it comes out. I also find if you put two spoonfuls of cornstarch to two pounds of sugar and mix together and then put what you want in your sugar bowl it will not lump together, and you will never notice there was starch in it."

Travel and the Spread of Disease

PUBLIC HEALTH HINTS

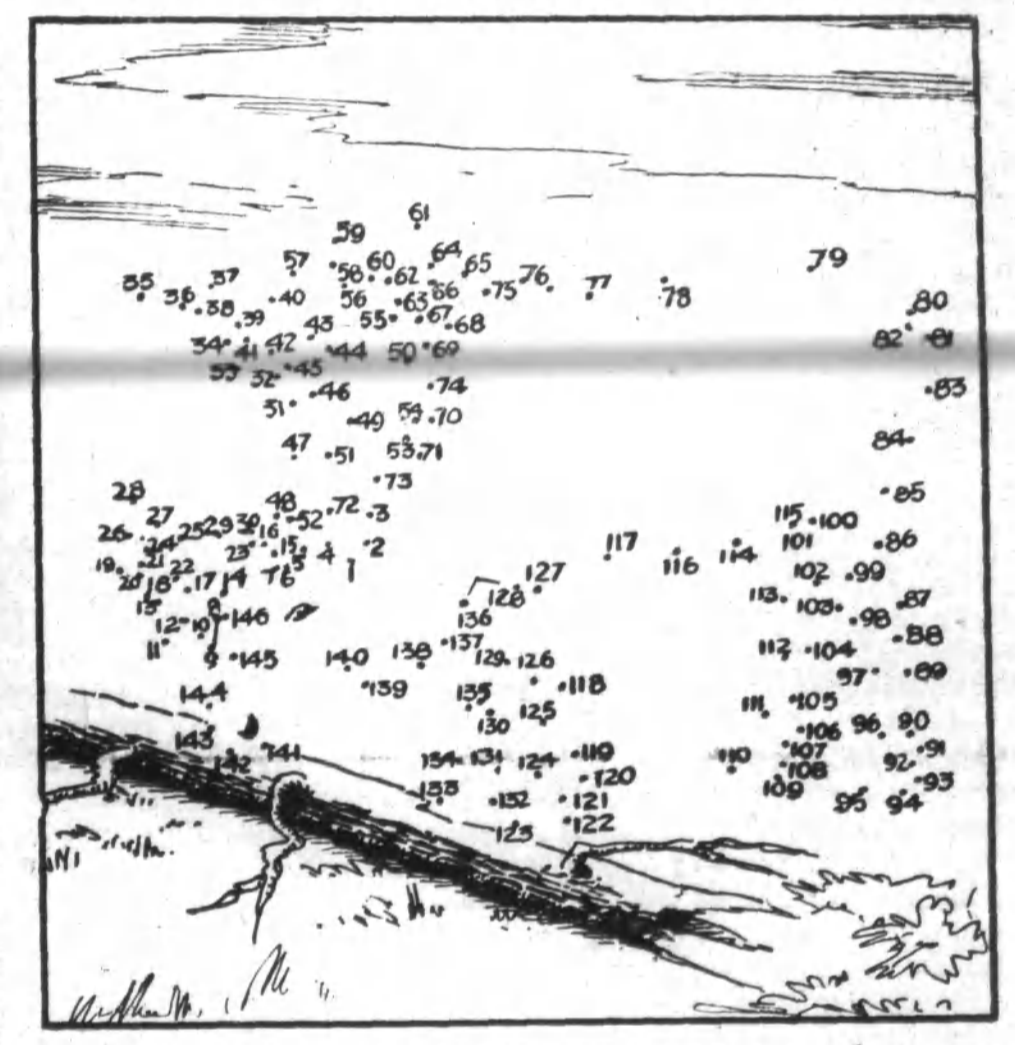

Albany.—The following bulletin was issued today by the New York State Department of Health:

Nothing is more characteristic of modern civilization than RESTLESSNESS. Especially is this true of Americans. The daily increasing use of automobiles, the growth of trolley systems and the facilities for comfortable travel offered by railroad and steamship lines are largely responsible for the apparent inability of all, except the poorest class of people, to remain long in one place, even though it be HOME. Thus more and more the human race tends to form ONE GREAT FAMILY whose numbers share in common both the benefits and evils of latter day progress.

It is for this reason that OUTBREAKS OF THE COMMUNICABLE DISEASES are no longer confined to a small territory, but spread rapidly from the original source throughout the state, nation and even a continent. Great stretches of land and sea no longer form a barrier against the spread of disease, for man, the chief source of his own ailments, is literally in contact with his fellow the world over.

The fight against epidemic disease must be made at the SOURCE, promptly begun and carried on with the greatest possible vigor by the use of every weapon that science has made available, but in order to be successful there must be the CLOSEST POSSIBLE CO-OPERATION between the people at large and PUBLIC HEALTH OFFICIALS, together with a spirit of SELF SACRIFICE in the interest of the general welfare. Only thus may "lines of travel" cease to be "lines of disease."

Fill In Picture Puzzle No. 7

The rhinoceros you drew in No. 6 is fierce, isn't it? It is one of the most dangerous beasts when attacked. It charges like a bull, with its head down. Its horns are very strong. What chance would an unarmed man have against him, children? Still, man captures him, and the horns are useful. They are carved into whip handles and other articles. The next picture that you will draw, starting from No. 1 to 2, 3, 4, etc., will make you think of cold weather.

There Is a Devil

By REV. J. H. RALSTON, D.D.
Secretary of Correspondence Department,
Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—And bring us not into temptation, but deliver us from the evil one.—R. V. Matt. 6:13.

The Paternoster, or what we commonly, although erroneously, call the Lord's Prayer, is used by multitudes of people in all lands where the Bible is read, but in that prayer there is a petition that is used by those familiar with the English Bible, whose meaning is not at all grasped, and that is, "deliver us from evil." This would seem to mean that all about the petitioner there was some atmosphere or influence that might contaminate him, and he is praying that he might be delivered from that contamination. The revisers of the Bible have rendered splendid service in correcting the translation at that point, and in the petition we read, "deliver us from the evil one." Certainly no scholarly interpretation of that passage in the original language would make it mean less than "deliver us from the evil"—the definite article indicating that personality is in mind, and the translation is therefore, as we find it in the revised version, fully justified.

If we would give any honor to the Scriptures that give us the Lord's Prayer, we must give honor to the Scriptures also that teach most clearly concerning the existence, the character, the work and the destiny of the devil. In the scripture devils, or demons, are spoken of very frequently. We find also that there is a prince of the demons, who is called the devil, or Satan, or, as in the Greek of the New Testament, diabolos, the latter word occurring 33 times. The use of the term devil, or Satan, is very frequent, as if there was no question of the reality and the personality referred to, as, for instance, in the first chapter of Job, in the Gospels, in the Acts of the Apostles and in the Epistles.

While the field of operation of the devil is largely in the heavenly or upper regions, it is also on this earth, as is proved by Job 1:7 and I Peter 5:3, the latter passage reading, "the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour." It is appropriate, therefore, that men pray, "deliver us from the evil one."

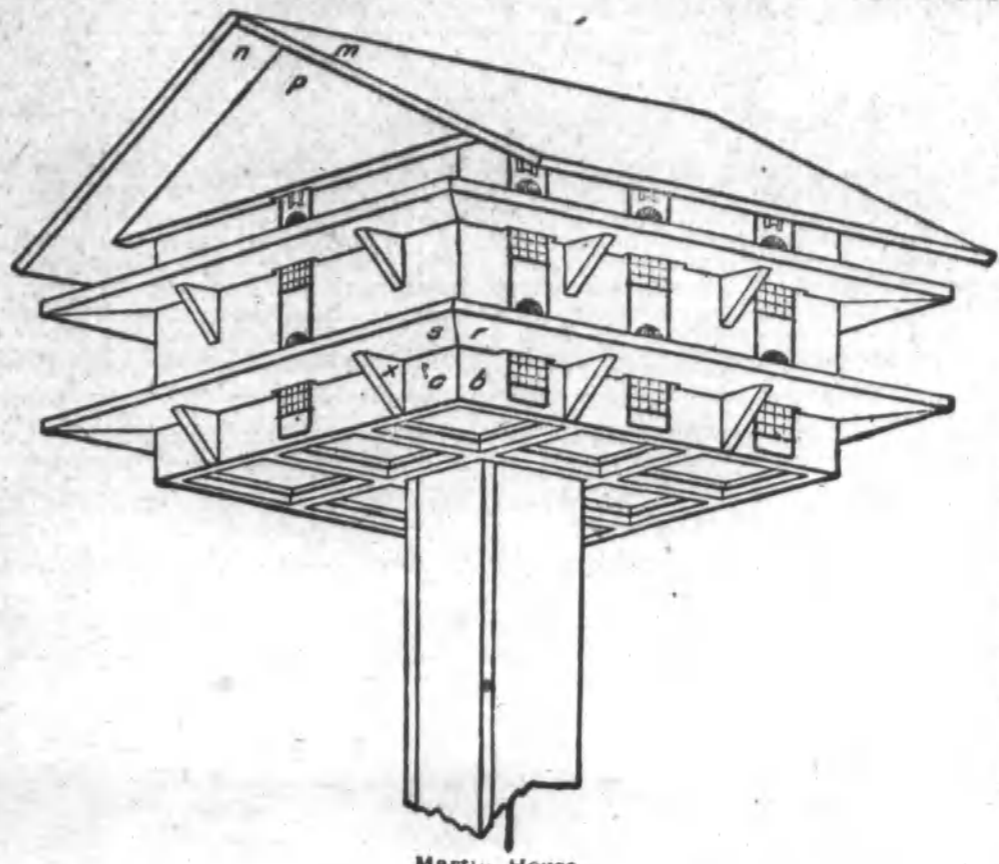

Granting that there is such a being on the earth, is he in a dormant or active state? The words just used, inferring that he is walking about seeking whom he may devour, would prove that he is very alert. He is busy every moment, and does not hesitate to enter the most sacred places to do his diabolical work. If a man is not stirred up to the commission of some God or man-offending sin, the devil is just as busy when he keeps him from being interested in some positively righteous action. The present slumber of God's people in all lands and churches, is just as much the work of the devil as his activities in countries ravaged by war. The devil takes myriad forms in his operation, now blinding the eyes of men lest the light of the glory of the gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them; or, when he sees the truth drop into some needy heart, he at once takes it up as the bird takes up the seed, fallen on the beaten pathway; or, when he knows a man is receiving the truth, he immediately comes to that man and sows the seeds of error in his heart, so that he cannot bear the proper fruit; or possibly, he finds one of God's children, most active and efficient, and he gets in his way as he did with Paul and his companions on more than one occasion.

Few of those who are in the Bible called the children of the devil appear to recognize their father. They constantly do his bidding and afterwards reap the reward of his deception and malice. Those who have become the children of God by faith in Jesus Christ, are aware of the personality of the devil, and are given certain specific instructions as to how to deal with him. They are told to be vigilant and that they are to resist him; when he oppresses them sometimes very hard in order to crush them, they are told, not to yield to him; and as he sometimes appears before them in a fighting attitude, they are told to fight him.

Probably it may be well to consider the devil as concerned in the affairs of men generally. All the evil in the world—war, cruelty, oppression, dishonesty, unkindness, graft, suspicion, jealousy, etc.—directly come from the devil, who is a powerful, personal being hating God and man. His chief spite is vented against Jesus Christ. It is most delightful to know that a day is coming when the devil will be bound, when Jesus will reign on the earth. After that day he will be utterly cast out, and this world, now cursed with the result of man's sin, will be a place of delight, not only with men but with beasts of the field as well as with all the creation as we know it.

INVITE the BIRDS to be NEIGHBORS

PREPARED BY THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

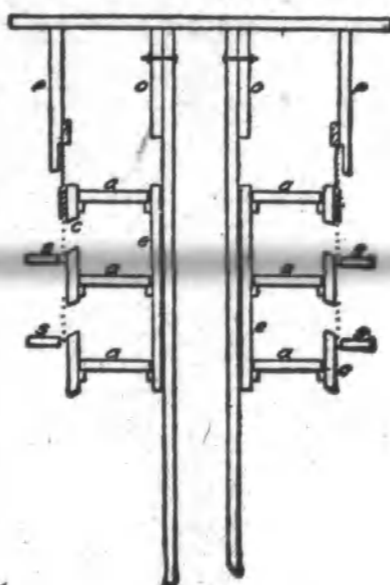

Martin House.

APARTMENT HOUSES FOR BIRDS.

The purple or house martin is not only one of the most valuable destroyers of insects, but also is a lovely bird, with most graceful flight and interesting habits. Martin houses are built on the apartment plan to satisfy the social instinct so marked in martins—but so conspicuously lacking in most other birds. They usually contain not less than ten nor more than twelve rooms, pole shown here is made from hardwood boards put together with screws. The concrete base has a core of two-inch iron pipe which extends upward far enough to make a firm connection with the upper part on which the house slides. A heavy weight is employed to hold the house hard against the roof. By passing the cord around the hook of the weight exactly as shown and pulling it upward until the weight is clear of the ground, it can and for this reason are relatively complicated, especially if they are miniatures of elaborate buildings, as is often the case. Like the single-room houses, they should be easy to inspect and clean from top to bottom, and, if possible, should be made proof against the English sparrow. A combination of these essentials in a plain house has been worked out by the United States bureau of biological survey as easily be held without slipping while a more secure knot can be tied. A hook less wearing to the cord and fully as serviceable may be made from an acute natural crotch of oak or other hardwood instead of iron. Where this house is exposed to strong winds it may be advisable to attach guy wires to corners of the roof. The pole may be made of a single piece of four-inch galvanized pipe, set in a concrete Slap at College Professors.

Crawford—You seem to think that a college education doesn't fit one for the problems of life.

Crawshaw—I judge by the mess the average college professor makes of it when he undertakes to discuss public questions.—Life.

Silenced Admonition.
"Has your husband told you you will have to economize?" asked one woman. "No," replied the other. "Instead of its being my wardrobe that requires economy, it's now his dinner."

Temperance Notes

JOSH BILLINGS ON BEER.

"I never drank but three glasses of beer in my life, and that made my head untwist ez tho it wuz hung on the end of a string. I wuz told it wuz owing to my bile being out of plum. I guess it wuz, for I never biled over wuss than I did when I got home that nite. My wife wuz afraid I wuz going to die, an' I was afraid I shouldn't, fer it seemed ez everything I had ever eaten wuz coming to the surfus. I believe if my wife had not pulled off my boots just ez she did they would have cum up, too. "Oh, how sick I wuz! Fourteen years ago, and I can taste it now!"

"Some people say beer is not intoxicating. But if I wuzn't drunk that nite I had sum of the most natural symptoms a man ever had and kept sober.

"It wuz about eighty rods from where I drank the beer to ml house. I wuz just two hours on the road, and had a hole busted through each of my pantaloons neez, and I didn't hev any hat, and tried to open the door by the bell-pull, and hiccupped, and saw everything in the room trying to get around on the back side of me. I sot down a leetle too soon and missed the chair about twelve inches. My wife said I wuz az drunk ez a beast, and ez I said, I began to spit up things freely.

"If beer is not intoxicating it used me almighty mean. If ever I drink any more it will be with my hands tied behind me and my mouth pried open."

SOME FACTS ABOUT BEER.

A pint of beer contains eight-tenths of an ounce of alcohol, equivalent nearly to a tablespoonful of whisky.

While cold beer tastes cool and pleasant to a hot man, it does not cool him off.

It heats him up. The alcohol and solids are burned into heat.

The effect of alcohol is to send an excess of blood to the skin. Whenever a large amount of blood goes to the skin it causes a feeling of warmth.

When a man drinks beer he causes himself to feel hot.

He also actually increases his body heat.

He increases his chances of sunstroke at least 100 per cent.—Dr. W. A. Evans, Chicago.

WHAT SCIENCE SAYS.

In appearance the beer-drinker may be the picture of health, but in reality he is most incapable of resisting disease. A slight injury, a severe cold, or a shock to the body or mind will commonly provoke acute disease, ending fatally. Compared with other inebriates who use different kinds of alcohol, he is more incurable and more generally diseased. It is our observation that beer-drinking in this country produces the very lowest kind of inebriety, closely allied to criminal insanity. The most dangerous classes of ruffians in our large cities are beer drinkers. Intellectually a stupor amounting almost to paralysis arrests the reason, changing all the higher faculties into a mere animalism, sensual, selfish, sluggish, varied only with paroxysms of anger, senseless and brutal.—Scientific American.

NO UNEMPLOYED IN COLORADO.

A reference to the "army of unemployed caused by prohibition" would subject one to ridicule in Colorado. Not for a score of years, says the Denver Times, has there been such a shortage of men in Colorado's many lines of industry. Every mining camp in the state is said to be short of help, and the same is true of the farming communities, and when the mines and farms send to the city for help they find the same situation. "Labor in Colorado seems to be very generally employed," says W. L. Mansfield, who is in charge of the free employment bureau conducted by the United States immigration service. "We are getting very few applications for jobs."

SEND HIM TO KANSAS.

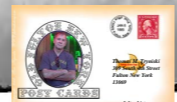

Gov. E. L. Philipp of Wisconsin, in the course of an address before an audience in a Milwaukee church, was asked, "What would you do with a man who had been a drunkard for sixty years?" The governor's reply as quoted by the press was as follows: "There surely would be a course that would bring out the man in him after all. There is one man whom I have pardoned from prison whom I feared would go back to drinking so I sent him into the center of Kansas. He can't get liquor there and he is living a straight, clean life. I believe he is a credit to the community in which he lives."

MADE IN AMERICA.

Uncle Sam does not hesitate to interfere with the personal liberty of paupers, criminals and lunatics from other countries who want to come to this country to make it their home. He puts up the bars and refuses them admittance. Is it right then to license saloons to manufacture these paupers, criminals and lunatics here at home and out of our own people?

WHY LICENSE IT?

If alcoholism is a disease, why license a trade to propagate it?

assurances of the continuation of this success.

In addition to this we give you a thoroughly progressive and complete financial and business service.

This service means personal attention to your banking needs whenever you wish it, as well as the prompt and efficient handling of that portion of your financial affairs which you intrust to us.

We invite you to become a customer of this bank; to make use of the safety and service we offer.

Have made this company a success with nearly two and three quarters millions of deposits and more than three millions of resources.

Turning Time Into Money

EVERY day should represent some money saved—no matter how small the amount. Every week should leave behind a sum that can be deposited in the bank.

Minutes and seconds have no "quitting time." They work twenty-four hours a day, every day of the year. This unending procession of minutes and hours and days can help you get comfortably established with a good balance to your credit at the bank and money working for you in safe investments, or it can pass you by, leaving nothing to show—no protection against the future, nothing to fall back on in case of misfortune.

Turn your time into money by building up an account at the Ithaca Trust Co.

An interest or commercial account affords a safe, convenient means of handling your accumulated savings. By putting your money into a commercial account you can enjoy the convenience and protection of paying by check—of getting an automatic receipt for every payment and having besides a record for every amount paid out. Or you can accumulate your money in an interest account drawing interest.

Talk over the matter of opening an account with us—ask our advice on financial and business problems. Personal service of this kind is one of the advantages of making this your banking home.

—Charles Rattigan, former warden of Auburn prison, has been appointed collector of the port of Rochester.

—Contracts for improving the county jail at Auburn are ready to let. A steel partition separating the lower floor into two sections is one of the greatest changes. New ventilating systems will be installed, some changes will be made in the cells and bathrooms added.

—Plans are being made to enlarge the Harriet Tubman Home for aged negroes in Auburn, so that it will accommodate aged ministers of the African Methodist church, who are no longer able to perform their duties. The Auburn Home was founded by Harriet Tubman, a former slave, who during her life time did much for the negroes of the city.

SCRAP THE TABLECLOTH!

How to Make Attractive Luncheon Sets to Replace a Burden.

Many of the new luncheon sets are square instead of round. Whether it is merely a passing fad or a fashion here to stay remains to be seen. These square sets have a wide hem and a decorative border three-quarters of an inch wide, and a feature of this new design is the introduction of colored threads.

Swedish weaving is another form of handwork being revived and is applied to household linens. It is really a pattern on drawwork, but is slightly different, worked in color and quite elegant. The delightful part is that after one has acquired a working knowledge of the few stitches used one can create one's own design.

How to Pack Books So the Covers Won't Rub.

To pack books in small packing cases stand the parcels on end with the edges next to the sides of the cases and the back of the bindings pointed toward the inward, and pack them with crumpled newspapers to ease the pressure on the round part of the books, which may otherwise be pressed flat. Line the case with wrapping paper. Lay a thickness of wrapping paper over the top and fasten on the cover with screws in preference to nails.

How to Treat a Bad Burn Before the Doctor Comes.

The best immediate application for a burn or scald is carroll oil. This preparation of equal parts of linseed oil and lime water should be kept always at hand when there are young children about. When a child receives a scald shake the bottle of carroll oil thoroughly; then saturate the scald, gauze or muslin with it and lay it on the burned surface. Clean olive oil or vasoline are good substitutes for carroll oil.

How to Wash a White Corduroy Skirt at Home.

Wash in warm, soapy water until clean, using a good quality soap, then let soak half hour in soapy water. Then in clean water, hanging the waist over a chair back, wring again in the clean water. Don't wring or wring, but hang to dry dry (in open air if possible). Don't iron.

Breaking on the Wheel.
In medieval days "breaking on the wheel" a most barbarous mode of inflicting capital punishment was often used in France and Germany. It consisted of stretching the victim upon a wheel or upon a wooden frame in the shape of St. Andrew's cross and then breaking his limbs by blows from iron bars. The sufferer was then left to die slowly from fear, thirst and exhaustion.

Sad Proof.
"Yes," said the young wife proudly, "father always gives something expensive when he makes presents."

"So I discovered when he gave you away," rejoined the young husband.

And, with a large, open faced sigh, he continued to audit the monthly bills of his better half.—Stray Stories.

In an Emergency.

Keen Sense of Smell.
The aborigines of Peru can in the darkest night and in the thickest woods distinguish respectively a white man, a negro and one of their own race by the sense of smell.

HOW TO PREPARE FRENCH SOUPS THAT ARE WHOLESOME.

A bowl of good hot soup is very acceptable. But how often is it good?

Soup should never be used the same day, if possible. Allow it to stand one night and all the flavorings will blend together, which makes all the difference when reheated.

It is a great mistake to put odds and ends of vegetables into the stock pot. The pot should be kept for bones and trimmings of meat, your poultry giblets, bacon rind, etc. Vegetables cause fermentation.

The stock pot should be turned out into a clean enameled bowl every third day, thoroughly cleaned and some of the bones removed. Those that have been in longest will be easily recognized by the cook.

The idea of a stock pot is to have a good foundation for any soup you choose to make, tomato, lentil, celery and potato being four most popular and easily made.

If you have no stock the liquor in which fresh brussels sprouts, cauliflower, celery, potatoes and onions are boiled all make an excellent start for a vegetable soup. In France they never throw away such liquors, having been taught that the salts and most of the goodness of the articles cooked in is in the water.

Half a cupful of milk added to most soups just before serving gives them that soft, creamy taste that makes all the difference.

Stock made from mutton bones blends with turnips, onions, parsley, barley, rice, etc.

Leaf stock blends with eggrets, lentils, split peas, tomatoes, celery and green pea flour. Onions, unless disliked, go with everything.

A SPRING REBORNAL

How to Utilize a Castoff Feather Bed by Making Pillows of It.

A few women are fortunate in having inherited a number of old bed pillows and bolsters, and there is nothing like old fashioned feathers for dividing up into pillows for sofa pillows while they last. These feathers can always be put together again for bed use if needed, and meanwhile they might just as well be used for sofa pillows as to be laid away in the storeroom.

However, not every one is so fortunate as to have accumulated the feathered bed coverings of her ancestors, and then it is found that to buy new feathers is expensive. The cheaper pillows bought ready-made are filled with cotton or with soft clippings from linen and cotton rags. And a good home-made filling for a pillow may be made by cutting a roll of cotton into small squares and heating them in a pan in the oven for half an hour, taking care not to let the cotton scorch. Every square will, according to best authority, swell to twice its original size and become as light and fluffy for filling as feathers.

Never Again.

The pretty girl of the party was bantering the genial bachelor on his reasons for remaining single.

"No-oo, I never was exactly disappointed in love," he meditated. "I was more what you might call discouraged. You see, when I was very young I became very much enamoured of a young lady of my acquaintance; I was mortally afraid to tell her my feelings, but at last I screwed up my courage to the proposing point. I said, 'Let's get married.'"

"And she said, 'Good Lord! Who'd have us!'"—Everybody's Magazine.
