Agrigraphs.
More and more are farmers making their homes attractive by maintaining well-kept lawns. Some have found the New York state college of agriculture bulletin on "Lawns and Lawn Making" helpful. You can have a copy by writing to Ithaca and asking for B. B. 7.

The farmer who provides places for the native birds to build their nests will find the birds will pay good rent in the destructive insects they devour.

Every farmer can render a real service to agriculture of New York by being on the watch for the destructive European corn borer pest.

The county sheep growing associations of the state have federated.
Evidently the sheep men feel that wool and mutton production is practical in New York.

Do you know what is meant by "quality" in milk? Extension Bulletin 25, which the New York state college of agriculture at Ithaca will send for the asking, explains.

Record in Trapping.

The Cazenovia Republican thinks it has located the champion trapper in that place. It says: "Mr. R. N.
Sherman, the caretaker at the Hazard Camp, south of the village, has caught fifteen red foxes since the trapping season opened the 10th of last November. And all the fifteen were caught within two miles of the village of Cazenovia. Seven were caught in one trap.

In addition to the foxes he has caught 35 skunk, 4 weasles, 5 coons and 2 muskrats. He has sold so far this season $333.50 worth of fur and still has seven fox pelts left which he hopes will bring $16.50 each."

Entertainment at King Ferry.

An entertainment under the auspices of the King Ferry Intermediate school of agriculture will be given in the Presbyterian church of King Ferry, Saturday, evening, March 29. The entertainment will consist of wit and humor and will be social and intellectual. Lottie L.
Tillotson of Hawaii is to be the entertainer. Her extensive travels and pleasing way of relating them assures a pleasant evening for those who attend. Local talent will assist in the entertainment. A large attendance is expected and desired.

Durable Clothes Made of Waste

At last! The high cost of dressing is to be brought to its knees. It has been proven that new clothes can be made from the odds and ends of whatever you may have around the house. Such are the allegations of the Longwood War Relief Unit of Boston, which is busily engaged in making garments for refugees. More than 1,500 garments are made weekly and at the great cost of—nothing. Miss Bonnie Belle Smith, daughter of Mrs. Eugene Smith, secretary of the Longwood unit, is shown with some of the clothes she wears, all made from salvaged waste materials.

What Chevrons Mean

Guide to Different Stripes Worn on Soldiers' Sleeves

"You can't tell the players without a score card," the familiar cry at the baseball parks, could almost be applied to soldiers returning from France, according to army officers. To aid the public in determining a man's time in the war zone and the number of times wounded, the following has been prepared:

War Service Chevron—A "V"-shaped bar of gold lace, worn on lower part of left sleeve of all uniform coats, except fatigue coats, by officers, field clerks and enlisted men who have served six months in the war zone. This chevron is worn point down. An additional chevron is allowed for each six months service.

Wound Chevron—Also a "V"-shaped bar of gold lace, worn point down, on the right sleeve. Not more than one wound chevron can be worn if two or more wounds are sustained at the same time.

Silver Chevron—For officers, field clerks and enlisted men who served six months outside the theater of operations a silver chevron (worn the same as the gold chevron) is allowed. For each additional six months another chevron is worn.

Scarlet Chevron—Soldiers honorably discharged wear a scarlet chevron, point up, on the left sleeve above the elbow. These are in addition to the usual service stripes.

Service Stripes—Enlisted men who served three years will wear service stripes of the corps or department of service. The stripes are worn diagonally on both sleeves of the dress coat below elbow.

Sky-Blue Cloth Chevron—Service of less than six months in theater of war is indicated by a sky-blue cloth worn as the gold war service chevron.

Half-Inch Spider Is Victor Over Fish Two Inches Long

The amazing strength of spiders is shown in a number of instances. Thus we have an instance of a half-inch spider catching a two-inch fish. It was of the ground or wolf family. A scientist came upon it struggling with a fish on the edge of a little pool. Its claws were buried in the fish's tail; it had the tail out of the water, but the head still remained underneath. The spider struggled to pull the fish up to the bank and the fish struggled desperately to pull the spider into the water. For ten minutes the scientist watched this silent and deadly fight. Then he hurried away for a bottle in which to put the combatants when he captured them. He was gone about half an hour, and on his return the end had come. The fish was dead and the spider was slowly dragging its victim away.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

When it comes to saving pennies a woman will save a dollar before a man has saved ten cents.

When you see a pretty maid in a home it's a sure sign that the head of the house is not henpecked.

Occasionally a barber combs a man's hair the way he combs it himself, but a tonsorial artist never does.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE ONION'S INSULT.

"I have been insulted," said the onion.

"Oh, cheer up," said the carrot. "I can't cheer up," said the onion. "I feel like crying."

"Well," said the carrot, "I never heard of an onion crying, but I have heard of people who were cutting up onions crying. I have heard of that often."

"Why do they cry?" asked the onion. "Have they been insulted? I don't see why they should cry when cutting me up, or when they were cutting up any members of my family. I'm sure we've never insulted them. Won't you explain, Mr. Carrot?"

"I will indeed," said Mr. Carrot. "Let me come to think of it, perhaps I won't."

"Oh, why won't you?" asked the onion. "Please tell me."

"I am afraid I might insult you. I am afraid on you now that you tell me you have been insulted. I feel that you must be full of silly pride in order to be insulted. I can't believe that you are a sensible vegetable any more. Why, I am almost afraid that you may think the ground is too good a nursery for you and that you feel you shouldn't be eaten, but that you should be put in a glass case with the best silver."

"Ah no, I don't feel anything like that," said the onion. "I like to be a vegetable. I'm proud of being a vegetable. I love to have the ground for my nursery. I can't think of any nicer one. Ah, I had a fine time playing with my little sisters and brothers in the onion bed in the garden."

"Now I am old, too old to be cut up and eaten with salt. But I am going to be useful for frying. And I'm going to meet Mr. Beefsteak for the first time in my life. The cook said they were going to have fried onions and beefsteak for dinner tonight, though perhaps she said 'beefsteak and onions.'"

The carrot smiled. It knew that the onion was trying to have more pride than ever now that it had been insulted. It felt sorry for itself and so it praised itself up.

"Please tell me why people cry when they cut us up? Have we ever done them any harm?" asked the onion.

"No," said the carrot, "you have never done them any harm. And they do not cry tears of sadness or of sorrow or of worry or of anger."

"What in the world do they cry for?" asked the onion.

"Because you make their eyes fill with tears. They can't help it when they cut you up, but they aren't sad in the least."

"Oh," said the onion, "if they don't cry tears of sorrow it doesn't matter at all. I'm glad none of us have ever hurt their feelings and I am glad none of us have ever insulted them, for it is dreadful, quite dreadful, to be insulted."

"Poor onion," said the carrot, "you really must cheer up. Think of the meeting you're going to have with Mr. Beefsteak. Think of that and cheer up."

Their Eyes Fill With Tears.

"I do," said the onion, "but still I can't forget the insult."

"Would it make you feel any better to talk it over with me?" asked the carrot. "Sometimes that does help—to talk the thing over which is making us unhappy."

"I think it would help," said the onion. "Then tell me what the insult was," said the carrot.

"Some one was going to help the cook get the dinner—some one who knew little about cooking but less about how to fix vegetables, and this person said she would peel the onions. 'She began to peel me first as though I were a potato and then she kept on peeling until the cook suddenly noticed what she was doing and said:

'Stop peeling that poor onion. It's all good to eat, and we will just cut it up in smaller pieces for frying.'

"Imagine," said the onion, "to hear of anyone so ignorant about onions. That was said before you were brought out, Mr. Carrot. I was insulted! To think of not being understood better than that. Oh, it is sad, it is insulting, not to be understood."

"Cheer up, I say again," said the carrot. "It is not an insult when a creature is ignorant. You should just feel sorry for ignorance, and feel proud and happy that you were saved in time so you could do your part when the great meeting takes place between you and Mr. Beefsteak tonight at the big dinner."

"That's so," said the onion, "I will cheer up. It has made me feel better to talk to you. I don't feel insulted any more."

HOME TOWN HELPS

MADE WAR ON TUSSOCK MOTH

Excellent Work of Boy Scouts in New York Town Should Furnish an Inspiration.

On October 1, 1915, all the boy scouts of Mount Vernon, N. Y., assembled at the Presbyterian church and heard a detailed account of the life history of the Tussock moth, one of our worst shade tree leaf feeders. This insect overwinters in the egg stage and from fall till spring the eggs may be found in small white clusters firmly attached to the bark of trees and protected places along fence rails and under the house moldings. Each troop was assigned a definite section of the city and each section was further subdivided for the individual scouts, so that the entire city might be covered. For nearly three weeks the boys scouted around gathering the egg masses and then the territory of each troop was shifted so that the work might be checked up, triple credit being given for eggs collected during this checking period. Upwards of a quarter of a million eggs were collected by the scouts during the contest, and it would be difficult to state in dollars and cents the value of service so rendered to the city.—American Forestry.

BEST TYPE OF STREET LAMP

Eight-Panel Idea Has Many Advantages Over Single Globe Which Is So Generally in Use.

The especially attractive street lamp shown herewith is preferable, it is claimed, to the usual types of globes, for when one of the latter is broken, to replace it costs several dollars, in addition perhaps to the cost of another light bulb, while injury to this lamp usually involves but one or possibly two of the eight panels, which can be replaced for about 50 cents each. The top, which slopes slightly toward the center, serves to reflect the light downward, while many globes tend to throw more light upward than down.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Selecting Site for Home.

As the prospective home builder usually has a general idea of the type of house to be erected, this preference will have a bearing upon the site to be selected for it. For example, a lot totally unsuited for a formal structure might be an ideal setting for a bungalow. Yet in a neighborhood of old-fashioned homes the bungalow might appear so incongruous as to depreciate by contrast both its own value and that of its neighbors. In any event, the land and the building should produce a harmonious effect. Moreover, if a lot is of unusual shape or is not level, a home may be so designed that these defects are converted into advantages. The sources of light, shade and nearness of surrounding buildings also have a bearing on building plans.

Untidy Streets.

The New York Merchants' association has an antilitter bureau, that is now engaged in a campaign against dirty streets. The cost of cleaning up the refuse that should have been dropped into the very convenient containers, but is just dropped in the street instead, is enormous. School-children are reported as serious offenders, for they bring paper from the schoolroom and tear and scatter it upon the streets. That isn't patriotic—not a bit.

A Tree for a Tree.

The wood supply of the United States is becoming low. Trees are being cut down ruthlessly and a large part of them are allowed to lie on the ground and rot. People who do such things should be dealt with severely by the government.

The United States should establish a system such as that in Norway and Sweden, where for every tree cut down another one must be planted.—Exchange.

Value of Decency.

Cleanliness in body and camp, in kitchen and hospital, made all the difference to our soldiers and sailors between sickness and health, even between life and death. Will they as citizens be as tolerant toward dirty streets and alleys, dirtier vices and habits and still deadlier disorderly reverts and crime-breeding, disease-spreading districts?

North Carolina Forests to Be Tapped for a Supply of Ties for Railroad Tracks

How many ties in a railroad track? Did you ever ask yourself that question while riding on a train? North Carolina forests are to be tapped for a new supply, says Crete Hutchinson, who writes in American Forestry Magazine of Washington, as follows:

"At the present time the railroad administration is facing a shortage in tie production. West of the Mississippi 50,000,000 cross ties are required annually for replacement; east of the Mississippi 80,000,000 with approximately 20,000,000 additional ties for street railways and other industrial needs. A grand total of 150,000,000 cross ties or 4,500,000,000 board feet of timber.

"Against a shortage of 65 per cent six months ago the present shortage is only 40 per cent and probably will be reduced to 30 per cent by the end of the year, due to better understanding of specifications. Thirty-four per cent of the timber used by the railroad purchasing committee is white oak. Large areas of the forested section of North Carolina in Transylvania, Jackson, Graham and Clay counties contain this timber and a road 40 miles long is being put in to get this timber out.

Large numbers of farmers have more money in their business than the business men in their county seat towns have invested in their stores. Farmers are slowly coming to realize the truth of this comparison and that farming is a business, in connection with which business methods must be used.

Rules With Business Instincts.
At the outset of his imperial career the grandfather of the former German kaiser, Frederick William, owed his accumulation of money to his commercial dealings. One of his commercial undertakings was to start milk-roads, which did exceedingly well, in spite of being carried on sub rosa, for the German courtiers found that the imperial favor was dependent upon their patronizing the imperial dairy. In this way the old emperor created a huge milk monopoly in various cities, and reaped a correspondingly large profit. Kaiser Wilhelm himself had been commercial instincts, and had a finger in most of the big German undertakings. In Germany it was currently reported that Ballin was merely the figure-head of the North German Lloyd line of steamships, and that the kaiser was the real man at the helm, and the same thing was said of many other money-making concerns.

NATION'S YOUTH TO SELL NOTES

Great Record of Pauline Henkel 13, Results in Forming Junior Auxiliary to Aid Victory Loan.

Little Miss Pauline Henkel, thirteen years old, of 107 West Forty-fourth street, New York city, is the champion juvenile bond seller of the United States. Of course, her bond selling has been done for Uncle Sam. In each of the four campaigns for Liberty Loans she made a record, but in the fourth, when she sold $1,250,000 worth of securities, she made the record almost unassailable.

Now, that her work for the nation may have permanent value and that a whole army of young folk may be inspired to regard work for their country as their greatest satisfaction she has founded an organization known as the Junior United States Auxiliary. The members of the auxiliary mean to perpetuate the spirit of patriotism, teach the excellence of American ideals, organize war savings societies, extend comforts to the wounded and to such soldiers who are detained in camps awaiting demobilization, and otherwise assist the Government.

The membership of the auxiliary is open to girls and boys from six to sixteen years of age. No dues are asked, but to qualify, the applicant for the privilege must obtain five Victory Loan subscriptions, or sell $11 worth of Thrift Stamps, or $25 worth of War Savings Stamps. Already applications for membership have been made by 1,200 children in New York. The sales will be made through the school which the girl or boy attends, or through some other organization with which the child is affiliated, and not directly through the auxiliary.

Pauline, who is honorary colonel of the Third Pioneer Infantry and of the Boy Scouts and American Cadets, will speak in a number of public schools, explaining the plans of the auxiliary.

A certain number of adult members, whose duty it shall be to assist in the work of organization, will be received. Fifty men and women have already associated themselves with the undertaking.

SAVINGS BANKS WILL LEND CASH ON LIBERTY BONDS

A ruling made by George I. Skinner State Superintendent of Banks, that savings banks in New York State may lend money to depositors on notes secured by Liberty Bonds is going to have a decided influence upon the success of the next Liberty Loan. This ruling affords the savings banks the opportunity of lending money for Liberty Loan subscriptions.

M. W. Harrison, secretary of the Savings Bank section of the American Bankers' Association, recently wired to Superintendent Skinner to ask whether this practice would be permitted. Mr. Skinner's reply was as follows:

"Paragraph A, subdivision eight, section 239 of the Banking Law authorizes savings banks to make demand loans on promissory notes specified secured by Liberty Bonds up to ninety per centum of the cash market value thereof."

PARIS GIRLS WANT YANKEE HUSBANDS

Newspaper Investigates and Finds That Americans Are Greatly Admired.

To get an American husband seems to be the aim of more than 40 per cent of the Parisian young women. At all events, that is the result of an inquiry conducted by L'Oeuvre, a Paris daily newspaper, which publishes a series of letters setting forth the reasons that have guided the writers to give preference to Americans over their compatriots.

Those who would rather be married to Frenchmen base their predilection largely on patriotic grounds, but a large percentage of young French women confess to a whole-hearted admiration of the average American's breezy good humor and courtesy of manner toward the other sex. Several French girls who have had an opportunity to observe American home life appreciate the easy camaraderie between the sexes, and they come to the conclusion that a good comrade must make a good husband.

Some fair writers say that French Romeos are given to talking overmuch and are too fussy about their personal appearance. The question as to whether a man ought to shave or not seems to agitate the French feminine mind considerably, and the voting is about equal between the smooth-shaven American and his French brother with a mustache.

One girl raises the curious objection that "Americans eat too much," while another disapproves of "the heavily framed American spectacles with the huge round lenses which so many Americans affect."

WAR SHRINES SOON WILL HONOR HEROES

Beautiful war memorials have been proposed in many cities to honor the American soldiers who fought overseas. A great campaign has been designed by Architect Robert C. Lafferty of New York city. The magnificent shrine would include a clock, chimneys and pipe organ, and the lofty tower would be surmounted by the figure of democracy. Lafferty's plan is to have one of these erected in every large city of the nation as a war memorial.

TELLS OF RESCUE AT SEA

Shipping Board Apprentices Prove They Have Hero Stuff.

How United States shipping board apprentices furnished the sailing ship Arapahoe by the sea service bureau at the San Francisco station participated in the rescue of the crew of nine of the derelict four-master, Ethel Zane, has become known in San Francisco with the return of the Arapahoe from a voyage to Manila.

"On the thirty-second day out of San Francisco we were in the northeast trades. We ran into the tail end of a typhoon, which brought us to the southward. On the night of July 22, at 11 p. m., a light was sighted by one of the cadets on the starboard quarter. A man was sent aloft with flare and signals. It proved to be a derelict four-master ship, the Ethel Zane, bound from San Francisco to Manila, 52 days from San Francisco.

"A boat was lowered, manned by the second mate, a boatswain, a carpenter, and a 17-year-old shipping board cadet by the name of James Craik. Quite a heavy sea was running at the time. All of the men in the crew of the Ethel Zane were brought aboard the Arapahoe. They had almost given up hope of being rescued. Our ship was the only one in those waters at that time."

WHERE TO KEEP LIBERTY BONDS

450 Banking Concerns in This District Will Hold Them for You in Security.

To show the public how Liberty Bonds may be safely kept is the purpose of a booklet now being distributed by the Government Loan Organization of the Second Federal Reserve District. It is intended for the people who have no safe deposit boxes and who have wondered where else they could keep them.

The booklet, called "Safe Keeping of Liberty Bonds," contains a list of 450 banks, trust companies and safe deposit companies in the Second Federal Reserve District that have agreed to accept Liberty Bonds for safe keeping. The amount accepted is not to exceed $500 from each individual depositor.

Most of these institutions have agreed to take care of the bonds without fees. The others charge only small amount, much less than the cost of a safe deposit box. All assure absolute safety for the bonds.

The banks are listed in the booklet under subdivisions of the Federal Reserve District. All the banks in New York City are in one group; those in New York State outside of the city in another; the banks in the twelve northern counties of New Jersey in a third, and the banks in Fairfield County, Connecticut, in a fourth. Each list is made up alphabetically by towns so that the proper bank can be found conveniently.

The 450 institutions that have patriotically agreed to offer the use of their safe deposit vaults to small holders of Liberty Bonds are about one-third of the total number of such institutions in the Second Federal Reserve District. This number represents an increase of 280 over the number that had previously agreed to act as depositories for Liberty Bonds.

HAVE YOU A HOBBY?

IF NOT, GET A PROFITABLE ONE BY BUYING WAR SAVINGS STAMPS AND THUS REGULARLY CONTRIBUTING TO THE SUPPORT OF YOUR COUNTRY'S NEEDS.

Carter Glass Says—
"I am told in a rather disconcerting way, by men of steady judgment and tested patriotism, that we must approach the problem of future loans in a distinctly cold blooded mood. Some men tell me it will be impossible again to appeal to the patriotism of the American people. Frankly, gentlemen, I should despair of my country if these things were true."
"Men and women with spirit to sacrifice stand to the highest peaks and bring heaven down upon earth."

New Worlds for Old

WE ARE facing opportunities for a new world today—a better world for you and me to live in.

Now that we have turned from making guns to making steel rails and office buildings, and from making soldiers to making self-supporting American citizens, we have a chance to build our lives anew.

It rests with us whether we shall go forward—or go back to "before-the-war."

If our dreams for a new America are to come true, we must finish the job we have on hand—and lend our dollars gladly to do it.

We must stick to the sensible living, the wise spending, that makes a strong, prosperous, forward-looking nation. We must keep on buying War Savings Stamps.

This is your chance and mine to help build our world anew—not only for our own sure progress, but for the progress of a better, happier, richer America in which all of us may share.

Hold the War Savings Stamps you already have—and keep on buying more

M. M. Bancroft Dead.

Marshall M. Bancroft, for several years a resident of Genoa, died at his home in the town of Locke, on Saturday last, after a week's illness. He was 71 years of age.

Mr. Bancroft was formerly in the ice business in Auburn. He moved from that city about 10 years ago to Genoa, where he purchased the farm now owned by Thos. Nolan. Five years ago, the family moved to their present home in Locke.

He is survived by his wife; two sons, Ray and Ward Bancroft; two daughters, Miss Edith Bancroft and Mrs. Lewis Shimer.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the undertaking rooms of Gross & Mosher in Auburn. Burial in Soule cemetery.

—According to reports, a tractor for small farms, selling for $400, is to be the product of a new manufacturing concern of Rochester.

The Thrice-A-Week Edition OF THE New York World IN 1919.

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No other Newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price. The value and need of a newspaper in the household was never greater than at the present time. We have been forced to enter the great world war, and a mighty army of ours is already in France fighting great battles and winning magnificent victories. You will want to have all the news from our troops on European battlefields, and 1919 promises to be the most momentous year in the history of our universe. No other newspaper at so small a price will furnish such prompt and accurate news of these world-shaking events. It is not necessary to say more. THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and The Genoa Tribune together for one year for $2.25. The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.50.

Benjamin L. Avery.
Benjamin L. Avery died in Rochester Friday morning last, following a long illness. He was found dead in bed. He had been employed for many years at the Selden Motor Vehicle works in Rochester. He was a fine vehicle painter and also painted landscapes and portraits, having graduated from the Philadelphia Art school.
Mr. Avery was born in Morris, Otsego county in 1853. He spent a number of years in Genoa with his uncle, the late B. L. Avery.
His home had been in Auburn and Rochester for many years.
He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Charles Amastor of Pittsburg, Pa., and a son, Frank A. Avery of Auburn.
Funeral services were held Tuesday from the family residence at 10 Holley St., Auburn. Rev. C. C. Roszell of the First M. E. church officiated and burial was made in Soule cemetery.

Sudden Death of Old Resident.

The death of Mrs. Helen Hall, widow of Edmund Hall of Genoa, occurred on Tuesday after a short illness. Mrs. Hall suffered a shock on Sunday morning, from which she did not rally, and death resulted about 1 o'clock on Tuesday. The deceased had been in quite good health during the winter, being able to assist in doing light work about the house. On Friday afternoon before she was stricken, she was a guest at the meeting of the woman's class which met at the home of Mrs. R. W. Hurlbut, a near neighbor. She spent a very enjoyable afternoon with the ladies, and conversed in her usual witty manner. There was no indication that day of the fatal illness so soon to come.

Helen Wade was born in Moravia, May 25, 1838. After graduating from the old Moravia Academy, she went to Michigan to teach school. There she met Edmund Hall, to whom she was married Oct. 18, 1857. Their home was in Genoa and vicinity for over 50 years. Mr. Hall's death occurred here about 28 years ago. A son, Charles, died at the age of four years.

Surviving are a son, George W., with whom she made her home, and a daughter, Mrs. May Dodd of Syracuse. There are also four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Mrs. Hall was a member of the Presbyterian church of this place.

Funeral services will be held to-day (Friday) at 1:30 o'clock at the home. Burial at Indian Mound, Moravia.

SEEK REVENGE ON GERMAN GUARDS

Tortures in Salt Mines Stir Returned Captives.

HATRED WILL LAST LONG

Boy of Twenty Relates Story of Wrongs and Sufferings at Hands of Hyphenated American Who Had Charge of American Prisoners—Makes Yankee Get Down on His Knees and Beg for Water.

Since the boys who have come back from captivity in Germany arrived the tone of our ward out at Tottenham, London, has changed, writes Margaret Walter in Chicago Evening Post. Before that it was the rarest thing that any boy showed a desire for revenge when he spoke of Fritz or Jerry. Even those who have suffered most in battle have been frank in their admiration of the German as a fighting man. But when the prisoners began to come in and tell their stories last month things changed, and now the boys have conceived a personal hatred for Kultur which will not be cast off with hospital blue and the return of these boys to civil life.

One boy of twenty, who spent the last four months working in the salt mines of Germany for three pennings (prison money) a day, tells a story of wrongs and sufferings at the hands of a hyphenated American. This German-American, who happened to be in the fatherland when war broke out, enlisted in the German Red Cross, became a sergeant, and during the last months was put in charge of all American prisoners in his camp.

Tortures of "Kultur." As our boys were brought in he at first treated them with the greatest consideration and gained their sympathy by telling them all about his life in America and bemoaning the sad fate that destined him to be fighting on the wrong side. In this way he disarmed the Americans, got their confidence, and in some cases, no doubt, obtained information. When, however, he had got all that he could from the boys he would begin a system of torture which in the end either killed them outright or reduced them to a state of abject slavery that has left its marks on every one of those who have survived to come back.

"But I've got his name, you bet, here, written down in my secret book, that they never got away from me, and just as soon as I get back home I'm going to the town where that sergeant's family lives and I'm going to show them what hate is."

The white-faced boy raised himself on his arms and two red spots burned in his cheeks. The other boys drew round aghast. They had evidently heard the tale before.

Will Make It Hot for Him. "We're going to join him, too, all us fellows; when we get back home we're going to that town in Iowa where that German Red Cross sergeant came from and make it too hot for him ever to dare to show up there again. It sure isn't going to be a healthy place for him to come back to. We don't want any more of that kind of citizens in America."

The boy on the cot told me that even now he can't sleep at night for thinking of the horrors that took place deep in the bowels of those German salt mines.

"The thirst torture was the worst," he said. "When all the boys are asleep here at night I get to thinking how that sergeant made me go on my knees and beg for water, and then threw it on the ground in front of my face. I see as plain as if it were right here, and the sick boy bent double, shoved along in the working gang and never allowed to fall back till they dropped in their tracks, all beaten up with rifle butts."

"But I've no complaint of the fare we had; miserable as it was, I believed it was as good as some of the Germans had themselves. The little children of the poorest class used to hang round the barbed wire inclosure begging for scraps. We used to throw things over to them, especially the British Tommies, when they got their Red Cross prisoners' packages. It's no use—us men couldn't bear to see little children starving, no matter whose children they were."

PUT HER FOOT IN IT

Firemen Release Little Girl From Frozen Milk Can.

The Arlington, Mass., fire department, which has been called out for practically everything under the sun, including fires, had the surprise of its life the other day when it was summoned to extricate a girl's foot from a frozen milk can. M. Clare Whitaker, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Whitaker, discovered a large milk can frozen in the ground. Childlike she put her foot in the can. Then, exercising the privilege of her sex, she changed her mind, and decided to take her foot out. She found it wouldn't come, and began to scream. Neighbors, unable to help her, called the police. The police, finding themselves baffled, called the fire department. The fire laddies dug the can out of the frozen ground with pickaxes, and then cut the can away from the child's foot.

FLIGHT OVERSEA IS NAVY ORDER

Government Aviators Lay Plans to Be First to Cross in Air.

PLANES TESTED ON COAST

Picked Men and All Material Are Being Chosen for Attempt at Record—Conditions Will Be Ripe About June.

Washington—Navy aviation experts are planning a flight across the Atlantic. Commander John H. Towers was ordered to take charge of "the development of plans and assembly of material and personnel for the proposed transatlantic flight."

Commander Towers has been in charge of the naval reserve flying corps and is considered an expert of the service in this branch. Much attention has been given to the project by the navy and recent reports of similar plans by the British naval aviation service have lent great impetus to the work on this side.

The navy department during the war developed a monster seaplane equipped with three Liberty motors, giving it about 1,200 horse-power. This machine has as its body a substantially built boat and has carried as high as fifty-one persons in flights of considerable length. It has been tested out along the Atlantic coast with great success within the last few weeks.

Land to Land Trip in 20 Hours.

When the project of a transatlantic flight was urged here by Major-Gen. Branker of the British air service last year it was brought out that the shortest distance would be from Newfoundland to the Irish coast. This is approximately 2,000 miles, and given a plane capable of a sustained speed of 100 miles an hour it could be made in twenty hours. So far as known, however, no plane has yet been built which could make the trip without stopping for refueling.

The route most generally favored in naval circles, however, is by way of the Azores, with a stop at these islands for fuel and oil. This would make the first leg 1,300 miles and the final lap 700. Some officers favor a halfway stop at sea to refuel from a destroyer if it is considered impossible to make the trip in a single flight.

In a general way it has been said heretofore that the crew of any plane attempting to cross the Atlantic would be composed of at least five men, two pilots to provide relief at the levers, two mechanics to care for the engines and a navigating officer to chart the course.

Conditions Ripe About June.

As to the weather it was said that probably not before June would conditions become stable enough to warrant an attempt. Another quiet period occurs in early fall. It is regarded as doubtful that all preparations could be made by the summer period, although this is one of the things Commander Tower will have to determine by careful study.

While there is a good deal of friendly rivalry with the British government over making the first transatlantic flight, it is said that either nation could count upon the co-operation of the other. As the prevailing winds are from west to east in the Atlantic the chances favor an attempt from this side.

SAVES COST AND MATERIALS

Method of Making Laminated Gunstocks Has Been Developed at Madison Laboratory.

Madison, Wis.—A method of making laminated gunstocks was developed at the forest products laboratory here, which would, without reducing the strength, permit the use of the small pieces of walnut not suitable for single piece stocks. This would facilitate production and result in appreciable saving in costs and material.

The application of laminated construction to many articles of trade is a development worthy of close study. Shoe lasts, billiard balls, saddle trees, oars and paddles, tanks, barrels and kegs, and various parts of vehicles and agricultural implements may possibly be constructed with laminated wood.

RESURVEY MAY BRING RICHES

San Antonio, Texas, Man Finds Oil on Inaccurately Measured School Lands.

San Antonio, Texas.—Inaccuracies in the measurements of school lands in Texas may bring a fortune to A. P. Barrett of this city, who has filed for oil and gas leases on 2,000 acres in the Ranger and Burkburnett districts, it became known today.

Mr. Barrett has arranged with a development company of Oklahoma City to take over the leases when they are granted for the purpose of developing them.

When the surveys were made many years ago rawhide tape lines were used in measuring them and in wet weather the line stretched with the result that tracts described as containing 200 acres really contain as high as 300 acres.

How Poor People Can Make Others Rich

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE
Moody Bible Institute,
Chicago

TEXT—God is able to make all grace abound toward you.—II Cor. 9:8

Doubtless many poor people suffer positive pain when appeals for help are made and they feel compelled to refuse. Most people are fairly generous, and would like to help every good cause that presents itself if they could. Some, however, have so little money above their actual expenses that they have to say "No" often, or rather they think they must.

If, however, they would read their Bible more carefully, they would find that it is quite possible to help any good cause if they so desire. Paul was a poor man, and yet he had learned the secret of making many rich, even in his poverty. So can you learn the same secret, if you will. Read over that verse again in II Cor. 9:8, which says, "God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound unto every good work." Such was this grace that out of their deep poverty they raised a contribution so large as to be noted through all the region round about.

When, then, God calls upon us to exercise the grace of liberality, let us not excuse ourselves because we have not the means, but remembering his promise, ask him to supply the means, that we may "abound in this grace also." In some way, we may be sure, he will enable us to respond to every appeal which deeply touches our hearts, for why should he awaken these strong desires unless he has somewhere the means of gratifying them?

There are certain things, however, which even the poorest of us can do to help fill the Lord's treasury; and these require neither time nor money in large quantities, but thoughtful minds and loving hearts. In the first place, we can make ourselves intelligent. Study the missionary movements of the day, the wants and woes of the heathen world, the Macedonian calls for help. By the time you have become intelligent you will also be enthusiastic, and you now have two rare qualifications for raising money. Evince your own interest, and you will be sure to interest others. Teach your children the duty of stewardship and the blessedness of systematic giving. Carry it into your Sunday School class and the Christian Endeavor Society. Remember that every child or youth trained in this way will help the Lord's treasury for a lifetime.

Do not make yourself obnoxious, but hold it up as a blessed privilege which no one can afford to lose. Secure some good leaflets setting forth the idea of stewardship, and distribute them wisely with prayer that God will add his blessing. And we can pray. Here, after all, is the mightiest weapon in the church's armory—a weapon greatly relied upon in the conversion of souls, but too little esteemed in the taking up of collections. Is it not possible that the church is relying too much upon stirring appeals and fresh information? By all means make the appeals stirring, scatter fresh facts and figures, but do not forget that "power belongeth unto God." Why should we not pray that God will bless those who make a good use of their money, and entrust them with more; that he will influence those who are about making their wills, and persuade them to remember their "elder brother" in their bequests? Christians frequently unite in prayer for the conversion of individuals; why not also select men of means and pray that God will bestow upon them the grace of liberality? Are there not some undeveloped resources in that direction?

Years ago the church began to pray that God would open the doors of the heathen world to the gospel. The prayer was answered. Then the cry was, "Lord, send forth laborers into the harvest," and thousands of youths have responded to that prayer. The urgent need of the present hour is money. Could not this want also be met by the power of united prayer?

I know of a country lad twenty-three years of age who was working on a farm for twenty dollars a month. He had received little education, and had no rich friends, and yet inside of two years he was supporting six native preachers in the foreign field, and had persuaded forty-four other people to support a substitute, making fifty preachers of the Gospel that he was instrumental in putting into the foreign field inside of two years. Oh, for ten thousand congregated souls who will make this a theme of daily and special prayer, that God will cause the grace of liberality to abound among his people! Will you be one! And will you show your sincerity by giving as you pray?

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Every man takes care that his neighbor shall not cheat him. But a day comes when he begins to care that he does not cheat his neighbor. Then all goes well. He has changed his market cart into a chariot of the sun.

THE WELL-STOCKED EMERGENCY SHELF.

In every well-ordered home an emergency shelf is an indispensable adjunct to the equipment. With a well-stocked shelf the housekeeper goes calmly on, even with an inroad of four or five unexpected guests. The variety of shelf foods will depend largely upon the taste of the family. It is a good plan to have two jars or cans of each article in case one is not sufficient. Be sure to replenish any cans used at the first order, so that the shelf is always ready for any emergency.

The average family will use several cans of condensed milk, two or three kinds of soup, two cans each, two cans of salmon and two of tuna fish, one package of codfish, two cans of clams and two of crab meat, a glass of dried beef and sliced bacon, a jar of cream cheese, a bottle of parmesan cheese, a few cans of corn, peas, string and lima beans, two cans of asparagus, tomatoes and spinach, one can of stuffed olives, one of ripe olives and a can of pimentos, two jars of peaches, pears and sliced pineapple, one bottle of salad dressing, a glass of peanut butter, two bottles each of ginger ale and grape juice, a package of crackers (sweet), and salted wafers, mixed nuts, a few choice raisins, figs and dates, with a small tin of marshmallows.

A most attractive dish, and one quickly prepared, is the following:

Salmon With Riced Potato.—Take a good-sized platter, heap the salmon in the center, if the ordinary kind, removing skin and bones; if it is a filet of salmon place it unbroken in the center of a chop plate or platter. Cook potatoes to serve the number of guests, put through a ricer and arrange as a border to the fish. Prepare a rich white sauce, using a cupful of milk and two tablespoonfuls of butter and flour cooked together, then add the milk. When thick and well-cooked pour around the potato and place the platter in a dripping pan of hot water; place in the oven and heat until hot all through. Serve garnished with a bit of parsley.

Never be mean in anything; never be false; never be cruel. Avoid these three vices.—David Copperfield.

Some defeats are only installments of victory.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

A hot soup, cream, clear, or a bisque, is favored these chilly evenings. When one has dinner at night a light dinner may be preceded by a cream soup, as most soup is most nourishing. Canned soup is a most convenient form to keep on hand, as a few minutes' heating will make ready a wholesome and appetizing dish.

Hashed Brown Potatoes.—Chop two cupfuls of cold boiled potatoes until fine. Season with onion juice, salt and pepper and turn into a frying pan; add a quarter of a cupful of milk and cook without stirring for ten minutes. Fold and roll like an omelet on a hot platter when ready to serve. Garnish with parsley.

Beef With Raisins.—Cut a quarter of a pound of salt pork into strips and fry in a hot frying pan until crisp with a sliced onion. Lay a compact ring of beef on, then add a pint of water, cover and cook for ten minutes, turning the beef three times during the time. Take up the beef and lay it in a dripping pan, dredge with flour and baste with the gravy from the frying pan, thicken with flour, season with salt, a teaspoonful of sugar, and two tablespoonfuls of chopped raisins and the same of blanched and shredded almonds; cook five minutes, then pour around the meat.

California Salad.—Cut a large, firm, ripe apple into cubes, add half as much finely minced celery, one orange thinly sliced, with the juice. Spread on lettuce and slice ripe olives in bits, add oil from the olives, the chopped apple and orange with the celery and mix well. Serve garnished with sliced olives. Add a little lemon juice and let stand a half hour to season.

Salmon or Tuna Fish for Sandwich Filling.—Take a can of either fish and make into a paste with the oil in the can. Chop a small onion, a half a clove of garlic and a quarter of a green pepper, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley and water enough to cook them, drain and mash, add salt and pepper and mix with the fish. Pack in glass jars and cover with melted butter.

RESOLVED

That peace will find us backing Uncle Sam as strongly as we backed him in war.
That between now and April we will lay every possible stone of the groundwork for the Victory Loan and leave no act undone which will tend to keep us alive and if possible quicken the consciousness of the nation that Saving and Thrift are Peace essentials as well as War essentials.
That we will exert our every effort to stop trafficking in bonds of the first four loans and will keep our War Savings Stamps.
That we will carry out our War Savings pledge if that is unfulfilled and make and keep new Savings pledges this year.
That we will work tooth and nail from now till the last day of the April drive to oversubscribe the Victory Loan.
That we will FINISH our Job.

WHEN RAILROADS WERE NEW

Engineers in Charge of Construction Work Had Ideas That Now Seem a Little Peculiar.

Light on strange ideas of pioneer railroad builders was thrown by Edward S. Joutet, general solicitor of the L. & N., in a talk before the Rotary club at Louisville.

"The Lexington-Frankfort line," said he, "was built with longitudinal stone sills capped with a strip of iron, and the numerous curves, which you have all noted, are said to have been purposely introduced upon the theory that they were an advantage in enabling the conductor the more easily to see the rear of his train. The coaches were two-story affairs—women and children below and men above—and the motive power was mules to the top of the hill above Frankfort. The train was let down the hill into the city upon an incline operated by a stationary engine."

"You may be interested, in passing, to learn that with the exception of a few miles near New Orleans, which antedated it about a week, this line from Lexington to Frankfort is the oldest railroad in the United States south of the Ohio and west of the Alleghenies. It was chartered in 1830—very early in railroad history, when we remember that the first railroad in the United States was built in 1826, and the first locomotive engine was operated in 1829."

U.S. Forces 4,791,172 at End of War

Reserve of 2,340,000 Class 1 Men Waiting to Be Mobilized When Armistice Was Signed

The United States was ready to increase its fighting force to 1,311,172 men during 1919 if the war had continued, Provost Marshal General Crowder stated in his annual report to congress.

A reserve of 2,340,000 class 1 men was waiting to be mobilized when the armistice was signed, the report stated, the armed strength of the nation then being 4,791,172 men. When war was declared the armed strength was 378,619 men.

Two out of every three men in uniform were raised through the draft, Crowder stated, the total number inducted during the war being 8,810,296. Every one was taken from class 1.

Only 18 per cent of the men of military age, 18 to 45, were in the service, the report stated, while England contributed 62 per cent of her available fighters.

In all 24,234,021 men were registered by the great draft system for military service.

Seven per cent was the maximum percentage of men taken from any one industry.

The farmers were treated better than any other workers, 69 per cent of those registered being granted deferred classification. Comparatively few married men were taken, the records showing that 89 per cent of them were deferred.

Physically the nation is 70 per cent perfect, according to the draft examiners. This is the percentage of the men found fit. This does not include the limited service men or those whose defects could be remedied.

The highest percentages of physical fitness come from the middle West. Oklahoma led the nation with 82 per cent, closely followed by Arkansas, Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming, Texas and North Dakota. Rhode Island and Arizona show the largest percentages of physically unfit, with Connecticut, Massachusetts, Vermont, New York and Washington close. Rhode Island had only 53 per cent fit and New York 60 per cent.

Liquor was the smallest factor in causing physical rejections, the percentage being only one-tenth of 1 per cent. Heart troubles, eyes, tuberculosis and mental defects brought the largest number of rejections, each claiming more than 19 per cent of the total disqualified. Flat feet took only 1.3 per cent.

Gen. Crowder's "work or fight" order forced 120,000 men either into the army or useful work and his drive on the slacker marriages added 123,000 men to class one. Eighteen thousand waiters alone changed their work, as did 17,000 clerical workers. More than 295,000 are still classed as deserters by the provost marshal general's office, having failed to answer calls or register. About 67,000 have been apprehended.

Eight thousand convicts or ex-prisoners were inducted and their records show they have made fine fighting men.

Gen. Crowder closes his report with a tribute to all who helped make the draft a success. The total cost of the draft was only $16,000,000 and Gen. Crowder had $38,000,000 in appropriations waiting to go back to the treasury. The per capita cost of the inductments was $6.52, as compared with $217 in the '60s. The cost of enlisting a volunteer was $28.95 during the operation of the draft.

PROBRIETY AS WAR'S BY-PRODUCT.

Two men were seated together at a Long Beach lodge meeting. One was in uniform. The other was not. He in uniform, pointing a remark, tapped the other on the arm and as a result discovered that the other man had been "shot" for service overseas.

"Why in thunder are you entering the service?" the volunteer sailor asked. "You have a wife and kid to take care of and you are doing your level best here at home, as much good as you could do in France. Why you?"

"I'll take my answer out of your own mouth," replied he of the sore arm. "Why you?"

"Well, if you must know the whole truth," replied the navy volunteer, "I enlisted partly on the same account as you, patriotism and the desire to do my very best for Uncle Sam; but I must confess an ulterior motive. I wanted to stop drinking. I tried, over and over again, in civilian life, but I couldn't get away from the gang, so I failed as often as I tried."

"I took my soaked carcass over to the training station and they have made me over. I'm sober and safe, with no more desire for the red stuff or even the hops. It's worth it all to me, aside from my satisfaction at being privileged to serve Old Glory, that I have escaped the fate of a chronic booze-fighter. This is going to be a great country, when this war is over, with another sort of manhood at the helm, manhood that is loyal to the core and sober."—Long Beach (Cal.) Press.

PROHIBITION IN UTAH.

Salt Lake City's chief of police, J. Parley White, says:

"From my own observation I can truly state that employers, employees and the community have benefited immeasurably from prohibition. Hitherto, important business interests have been handicapped by the apathy and negligence of their employees. A state of indifference, due directly to indulgence in liquor, prevailed. All that has disappeared and instead we find the workmen today in a brisk frame of mind, eager to perform their work and thoroughly capable of doing so."

"But the best results obtained from prohibition are observed in the children of the city. School teachers with whom I have conversed on the situation tell me that a large percentage of their pupils formerly considered themselves to be the leaders of their class. The reason for their poor work and lack of application was attributed directly to under-nourishment and an absence of the little things of life that make children happy and contented. With prohibition in force the children are receiving more care from their parents, and as a consequence devote themselves to their school tasks with more energy and derive greater pleasure from their work."

IN DRY MICHIGAN.

"Evidence of the great social uplift that has resulted since May 1, are apparent everywhere. Prohibition has so materially reduced the number of arrests that peace officers can no longer live on their fees," said Sheriff Charles Berry in his address before the Michigan Association of Sheriffs, chiefs of police and prosecuting attorneys, as reported in the Christian Science Monitor. He further emphasized his remarks by pointing out that last year his county, which includes Grand Rapids, had 150 prisoners; this year it has 15. With this statement as a basis, the convention adopted a resolution to urge the legislature to grant increased fees. It is only a few months ago that all state institutions in Michigan were overcrowded; now they do not know what to do with the empty jails.

The people agree with Sheriff Berry that "The adoption of prohibition is the greatest single accomplishment that Michigan has to her credit."

JUDGE QUITS LAW FOR MILLINERY.

Gary (Ind.) men are getting so good since the town went dry that they are giving their money to their wives instead of paying the customary fines after the regular Saturday night celebrations.

At least Justice of the Peace John A. Gross has so figured it out. For four years Justice Gross had a lucrative business in dispensing the law and collecting therefrom. But most of his business was wiped out along with the liquor.

Recently he opened a millinery establishment. "Guess the women must have the money now that used to go for fines and I'll have to get it away from them," he mused.—Exchange.

PROHIBITION DECREASES DIVORCES.

According to Judge Ben M. Terrell of the Sixty-seventh District court, the number of divorces being granted in the district courts in Fort Worth has diminished fully 50 per cent since prohibition has been in effect. He adds: "At least two-thirds of the divorce cases are attributable either directly or indirectly to whisky. The decrease shown would be greater were it not for the fact that we have to deal with many hasty and ill-considered soldier marriages."

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SCOUTS AS "VICTORY BOYS"

There are many ways in which scouts can earn their "Victory Boys" $5, and be doing something very helpful at the same time. Some of these are as follows: Digging gardens, planting bulbs, cleaning silver, washing windows, scrubbing floors, waxing floors, varnishing chairs, running errands, picking fruit, husking corn, gathering nuts, picking cotton, cleaning yards, cleaning sidewalks, caring for furnaces, mowing and raking lawns, sifting and dumping ashes, making maple syrup, decorating show windows, tutoring backward students, beating carpets and rugs, sawing and cutting wood.

Collecting old boxes and lumber and cutting them into kindling. Collecting and selling old metal and bottles.

Running a stand at the fair and selling ice cream and popcorn and candy. Collecting and selling waste paper and rags.

Giving moving picture or minstrel shows.

Shoveling snow from walks. Helping to harvest ice. Working about a dairy.

Cleaning cellars and attics and barns.

Painting houses and barns and fences.

Painting and putting away screens. Raising guinea pigs and white mice. Raising chickens and pigs and squabs.

Selling butter and eggs and vegetables and fruit. Trapping fur-bearing animals which injure crops in season.

Washing automobiles and carriages. Waiting on table as "extras" in boarding houses.

Making needed household articles, such as coat racks, chairs, andrions, umbrella racks, etc., that sell at reasonable prices.

GENERAL WOOD TO SCOUTS.

Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood in addressing a meeting said this of the boy scouts:

"There is one cry, one slogan common to all tongues, and just about as old as the human voice, and that is: 'In time of peace prepare for war.' You hear people talking of their money and of their resources, but remember always, and don't let us ever again forget that you can't buy time. Now all that you can do while we are training is to help the other fellows who are doing the fighting, and help through the Red Cross all you can."

"Encourage your boy scouts. Put an end to this sickly and immoral twaddle with reference to not raising your boys to be soldiers. We are all raised to be soldiers, if we are decent men and women—soldiers for the right, throughout our entire lives. Our motto must be the old motto, 'I serve.' We all serve somewhere. We are soldiers of right, soldiers for good government, soldiers in war, if need be."

WILLS SCOUTS $300,000.

By the will of Capt. George Bucklin, the boy scouts in Rhode Island are left a trust fund of $300,000.

Captain Bucklin was a Civil war veteran. He was never connected with the boy scout organization, but found in the fundamental principles of the movement characteristics which impelled him to leave practically his entire estate to that cause.

He believed that the early training of the boy, as given through the boy scout movement, would be to the great advantage of both the boy and the country. His friends state that his interest in the work was unlimited and unswerving.

TORRENT OF ENERGY WASTED.

"The central powers admit defeat, and we can therefore see that America has made the world safe for democracy, but if democracy is to be made safe for the world, it can only be by that preparation in citizenship which the scout movement provides," says a leading citizen of Memphis, Tenn.

"Boys are ready and anxious to serve, but they have no leadership. They constitute a perfect torrent of energy going to waste, if not threatened disaster."

"The scout movement provides a method of known success of harnessing that torrent. Surely the funds can be found for this great piece of human engineering."

SCOUTS HELPED RED CROSS.

Following the practice instituted in 1915 by Dr. Frank Proomins, president of the local scout council, the boy scouts of Battle Creek, Mich., have made their third annual collection of paper and rubber.

Through advertising and systematic organization, together with the real scout spirit of good cheer and enthusiasm, this resulted in a net collection of 48,000 pounds of paper and magazines in about six months of work. Friends of the scouts loaned 18 automobiles.

TIPS FOR THE POULTRY GROWER

That laying hens will increase their production if fed a properly proportioned ration has been demonstrated in Missouri this winter. And the ration costs no more than some of the carelessly compounded rations many flocks receive. Here is the ration expressed in quantities sufficient to feed 100 hens one day:

Scratch Feed—Ten pounds shelled corn or kafir and 5 pounds thrashed oats or barley. Feed in deep litter morning and evening.

Dry Mash—Three pounds bran or 3 pounds cornmeal, 3 pounds shorts or 3 pounds ground oats, and 1½ pounds beefscrap or 1 pound tankage. Three gallons of milk may be substituted for the beefscrap or tankage. Keep this mash before the birds at all times.

In addition to this feed, supply green feed in some form, plenty of fresh water and grit and shell.

The use of the foregoing ration has been advocated by the extension service of the University of Missouri college of agriculture.

Ten communities have reported results for 30 days which shows a percentage increase of 173. This means that all communities reporting are receiving a double return in number of eggs laid, and one community reports that the yield has been increased seven-fold. This is conclusive evidence that the ration is practical, and that a laying hen, well fed, will respond to good feed.

First Discovery of Gold in California Was in 1848

The first gold in California was discovered 71 years ago, on January 24, 1848, by James Wilson Marshall. He was a native of New Jersey who had gone west and settled on the site of Sacramento. Blasting away some rocks to make a foundation for a building, he observed grains of what seemed to be gold scattered about in the excavated earth. A test revealed that it really was the precious metal. Wild excitement followed the discovery, and the immortal rush of the "forty-niners" brought thousands of miners and adventurers to the golden state. Marshall, the discoverer, did not profit from his find and would have spent his last days in poverty except for a small pension granted him by the state of California.

Immense Food Supplies for Brave Yanks Across Seas—The Daily Stocks in Hand

Whoever goes hungry in Europe this winter it will not be the American soldiers, notes a correspondent. The daily stocks in hand reported by the quartermaster's department of the American expeditionary forces gives an idea of supplies only when it is remembered they represent reserves held between daily consumption and arrivals known to be en route. Potatoes furnish a striking example. The stock in hand at the last report was 8,200,000 pounds, and yet the American forces are receiving 30,000 tons of potatoes a month, which makes 60,000,000 pounds, chiefly from Ireland. Potatoes being perishable, it would not be wise to keep double the daily stocks in hand. Others were as follows:

Fresh beef, 16,600,000 pounds; tinned beef, 23,700,000 pounds; tinned bacon, 26,300,000 pounds; tinned salmon, 9,440,000 pounds; flour, 166,000,000 pounds; oatmeal, 2,000,000 pounds; cornmeal, 6,000,000 pounds; dry beans, 25,900,000 pounds; baked beans, 27,000,000 pounds; rice, 8,000,000 pounds; onions, 1,000,000 pounds; tomatoes, 36,000,000 pounds; jams, 2,000,000 pounds; prunes, 2,000,000 pounds; sugar, 28,000,000 pounds.

This list does not include other foods running beyond a million pounds, like dried vegetables, syrup, bacon in bulk, hardtack, hominy, dried and fresh fruits, as well as cheese, macaroni, butter and lard.

U. S. January Expenses Totaled $1,962,350,000

Big payments to allies under credits previously established, as reported by the treasury, raised the total of allied advances in January to $290,250,000, and aggregate government expenses for the month to $1,962,350,000. This is $97,000,000 less than the record of December. War savings sales reached $70,906,000.

Case Tractors

$850

Complete, Freight Paid

This kerosene burning tractor is especially well adapted to a large variety of operations, both traction and belt work. It is practical for small, medium or large farms.

This size is rated at 9 H. P. on the draw bar and 18 on the brake, but it will develop much in excess of that.

In developing 9 H. P. on the draw bar, with the traveling at a rate of 2 1/4 miles per hour, a pull of 1500 pounds is delivered. This is more than is ordinarily required in pulling a two-bottom plow 7 or 8 in. deep. This tractor is capable of exerting a pull of 2100 pounds which at 2 1/4 miles would be over 12 H. P. This represents the overload capacity which is so essential for the successful operation of a tractor.

It will pull with ease, under ordinary conditions, the following implements, a two-bottom 14-inch plow, 8-foot binder, 24-shoe grain drill, 6 sections spike tooth harrow, 8 or 9 foot disc harrow, and all other implements that require four to six big horses to operate.

In hauling it will handle 5 to 6 tons on ordinary roads.

The Case 9-18 tractor is equally satisfactory for belt work. It will handle the ordinary 20-inch cylinder grain thresher, with hand feed and common stacker, and will operate feed mills, hay presses, small ensilage cutters, etc.
