MORE WORK FOR HOME SERVICE IN PEACE TIME

Red Cross Department Enlarged to Handle Problems of Community Life.

Red Cross Home Service is to continue and to expand. This decision was reached by the Red Cross after a very thorough and searching process of stock-taking as to what Home Service has been doing and can do and after numerous conferences of Red Cross officials representing all parts of the Red Cross organization and all parts of the United States.

At a recent conference of Division Directors of Civilian Relief impressive evidence was offered on the desire of Home Service Sections to extend to any family the same kind of neighborly service and counsel as they had been extending to soldiers' and sailors' families.

There were also numerous requests to branch out on many other kinds of service. This desire to go on was particularly characteristic of those Home Service Sections in places which have no other social service agencies.

Demand for Extension.

For the first time these people had realized what it means to rally all of the community's forces for well-being and to bring them into operation for the benefit of families in difficulty, and they see no reason why this should be confined to the families of soldiers and sailors. This demand from the country at large constituted the determining factor in the decision of the Red Cross officials to continue Home Service.

In putting this decision into effective practice the Red Cross officials are especially concerned to see that the service to soldiers' and sailors' families shall in no way be impaired.

The Red Cross is committed to complete responsibility for the welfare of those families; they are regarded as a primary patriotic obligation upon its resources of service and of funds. These officials are, therefore, asking such Home Service Sections as desire to expand their service to put their cases before their Division Director of Civilian Relief.

He will then pass upon their applications to make sure that each one is meeting every reasonable expectation with regard to its present responsibilities and is equipped to perform additional service in a creditable manner.

When a Home Service Section is authorized to enlarge its work it will be given authority to use for the enlarged Home Service any funds in the Chapter treasury, now set aside for Home Service, and the Chapter Executive Committee may also appropriate for this purpose any unnumbered funds which it has.

These funds will be available for financial assistance and any kind of service for families and for operating expenses of the Home Service Section. Home Service funds will not be available for building or operating hospitals, orphanages or other institutions or for subsidizing the work of other organizations.

To Act on Invitation.

In widening its clientele at home the Red Cross will adhere strictly to its policy of extending service to a family only in response to an invitation from it. It is not contemplated that the Red Cross will of itself originate contact with any family or go where it is unwelcome. The same principles of service found so successful in helping the families of soldiers and sailors will be applied.

Division offices and National Headquarters will go on helping Home Service Sections to develop and to maintain a high standard of work. Accurate information will be furnished by them on all governmental activities. Advice and guidance will be accorded with the clear understanding, however, that the fullest measure of local autonomy is always necessary and desirable.

There is so much to be done in every community that they are especially cautioned against duplicating activities which other organizations are carrying on, even though in a small way. It is anticipated that Home Service Sections will study the local conditions rather thoroughly before they make application to extend their work.

The whole attitude of the responsible Red Cross officials is to go slowly and surely and to build on a solid foundation of past experience. Before any Home Section will be authorized to proceed on an enlarged program they will want to know how permanent and genuine is its desire and how able it is to swing the new job. A passing enthusiasm will not be sufficient to convince them.

CANTEEN WOMAN GETS HONORS FROM FRANCE.

Miss Margaret O'Mahoney of New York City wears four service stripes on the sleeve of her Red Cross uniform, indicating her two years of canteen service with the American Red Cross. But if she wanted to wear all her rightful service stripes she would have nine.

For her services to the French wounded, she was presented with the highest award of the French Red Cross, L'Insigne d'Honneur, and when she landed in New York, was informed that the French government had given her another decoration, the Medaille de Reconnaissance de France.

MOTOR CORPS GIRLS KEPT BUSY BY WAR BRIDES.

Report Shows Importance of Service at Points of Debarcation—Activities Expanding.

War brides figure conspicuously in the latest report of the Red Cross Motor Corps, which will continue in service indefinitely. Figures given out by the Atlantic Division of the Red Cross shows that 343 war brides were given transportation from piers in Hoboken, N. J., to places of entertainment in New York city and elsewhere in one month. The report indicates that there has been practically no decrease from the average of the previous rush months of troop debarcation.

Casual officers transported by the Corps numbered 1,207; overseas' nurses, 1,438; litter cases, 235, and ambulatory cases, 1,032. Passenger cars used by the Corps numbered 334, and 574 ambulance trips were made.

In its recreation activities the Corps carried 4,218 soldiers. Parties of convalescent soldiers were taken to 51 entertainments, and all of them Red Cross entertainments, in one month.

The work of the Corps, it was announced, will continue even after troop movements have ceased. Discouragement of service of other women's motor corps has no bearing on the work of the Red Cross Motor Corps Service. It was announced. Plans are under way for an increase in the extent and character and variety of the Corps' activities.

SOLDIERS HOME FROM OVERSEAS ENJOY CANTEEN

Newly Invented Red Cross Bun Pleases Capricious Palate of Returning Doughboy.

Whether sea breezes have whetted their appetites or whether overseas experiences have made them hungrier men nobody seems to know, but every canteen worker is ready to bear testimony that returning doughboys do greater justice to the "eats" provided them by the Red Cross than have soldiers at any time during hostilities.

"We've welcomed returning Sammies with 401,156 sandwiches and 3,005,180 cups of coffee during the last five months," a canteen worker said the other day, "and it would do you good to see the way those boys 'fall to' on what they call 'Red Cross chow.' Of course there is no charge—we just give 'em the goodies as they come."

Not only "chow" but stamps and stationery are given away at the canteens to the recently landed soldier, for often the boys have no money and everybody is invariably eager to send a letter to the home folks at the first opportunity.

Introduce New Bun.

Then there are sweets. When a chap hasn't had even sugar for his coffee in many a month, a honest-to-goodness sweet is like a gift from heaven. The Red Cross knows all about this and Atlantic Division canteens have added sugar-coated buns to the toothsome "eats" which they give away.

Shortly after the bun dispensing was started it was found that the much coveted sugar icing rubbed off the top and so the poor soldier often lost the best part of the treat. For which reason some nimble witted woman decided to put the icing inside the bun—just as jelly is placed inside a jelly roll. It was tried. It worked. And now scores of doughboys daily pass out of Red Cross canteens promising to spread the fame of that bun even unto the remotest parts of these United States. Mothers and wives are to be initiated into the mysteries of its concoction (the recipe having been carefully obtained from a canteen worker) and the doughboy will see his home table graced with the Red Cross bun long after his sword has been bedden into a plowshare.

Besides these things the canteens of the division have given out soap and tobacco, iced drinks and playing cards, cups and all manner of unexpected "sundries" like eye shades and paper towels. In short, the Atlantic Division canteens have stood with open door and well stocked shelves and larders, beckoning in and serving every man from overseas from the time his foot first touches American soil until he reaches home.

The report of the American Red Cross for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1918, has just been presented to Secretary of War Baker in accordance with the provision of the Red Cross charter which requires the organization to make a full report of receipts and expenditures to be audited by the War Department. The War Department in turn transmits a copy of the report to Congress.

The report shows that up to the end of the fiscal year 1918, the Red Cross appropriated $107,716,348 to carry on its work abroad and at home. Of that amount $59,788,672 went for relief work in foreign countries, $7,488,856 for work in the United States, and $4,945,557 for relief work in various countries on work specified by contributors, $26,286,000 was set aside for working capital, and the balance went for other activities of the organization.

ASK TRAVELLING SALESMEN TO AID

U. S. Treasury Eager to Spread Doctrine of Thrift Throughout Country.

America's vast army of commercial travelers are expected to be the latest auxiliary of the peace time forces that will continue to spread the war-taught spirit of thrift. An urgent request has been sent this great organization to join the national thrift campaign for extending the sale of War Savings and Thrift Stamps.

The Savings Division of the Treasury Department has taken the initial step toward enlisting the members of this big organization. In a letter to the head of the commercial travelers the Division urged them to continue their valuable services which during the war proved an efficient means of dispelling enemy propaganda, assisting the sale of Liberty Bonds and aiding in food conservation.

In part the request of the Savings Division stated:

"To give permanent value to one of the great lessons which the war taught us, the Treasury Department is conducting a campaign to make thrift a universal element in American life. In this work, the object is to better the financial condition of the American people. This object is to be reached by teaching the people:

"1.—To put aside, as their first obligation and before they spend at all, part of their income for future use; 2.—To invest the money that they save out of their incomes in some security which pays a reasonable rate of interest, and is absolutely safe, preferably Thrift and War Savings Stamps.

"The more thrifty the people are, the more promptly they pay their bills; and the more promptly bills are paid, the more stable and prosperous are business conditions. It is, therefore, good business for the commercial traveler to join in a campaign to promote thrift.

"We call upon you to perform a great national service by carrying the message of thrift to all those with whom you come in contact, and by ascertaining whether or not Thrift and War Savings Stamps may be easily purchased in the communities you visit and reporting the results of your investigation to us. A few forceful words may win many a man from personal failures to business success, may add one more to the roll of solid citizens of the United States."

STARTED ON ROAD TO THRIFT.

As an evidence of the interest which is becoming more universal throughout the nation, the example of the War Savings Society of the Cudahy Packing Company in Los Angeles, Cal., is an interesting commentary on the enthusiasm of members of such societies.

Proud of its distinction of being the first War Savings Society to be organized on the Pacific Coast, its members are making elaborate plans to exceed their splendid record of sales last year, when they purchased more than $13,000 of stamps. They are endeavoring to eclipse this record and boost to a still greater degree the thrift campaign among the city's growing population.

Something of the enthusiasm of its members may be noted from the following excerpts of a letter to Secretary of Treasury Carter Glass from W. J. Carlisle, an active thrift booster in the society:

"We are the first permanent society to be formed on the coast," writes Mr. Carlisle, "and we are all very proud of this honor. We are now working on a plan which we hope will exceed the sale of Stamps of last year, and always have before us the word Thrift, and I can assure you we have started quite a few on the road to Thrift."

THE FABLE OF THE ANT AND THE GRASSHOPPER?

Remember the story of the ant and grasshopper? The ant worked and saved. The end of each day found him with a little more added to what he had the day before. The grasshopper danced and sang and fiddled his time away. Winter came; the ant had plenty. The grasshopper had nothing; he had not saved. He went to the ant and asked for help. Said the ant: "While I worked, you fooled your time away. You can dance now for all I care."

Are you an ant person or a grasshopper person? Some time are you going to have to ask for help, and will some one tell you to dance, or will you be independent?

If you save now you'll have later on Save and have! Put up something each day. Let the end of every week find more Thrift Stamps on your card. At the end of every month be able to show more War Savings Stamps pasted on your certificate. Buy 1919 War Savings Stamps. Show that you have enough sand to hold on to the slippery dollar. Lend your money to the Government at 4 per cent interest, compounded quarterly, and see it grow.

Take stock of yourself! What are you worth? Will next New Year's day find you worth more or less? Which will you be: An ant or a grasshopper? Save and have!

THAT 2.75 BEER!

Food Expert Says It Is Intoxicating.

Dr. Harvey Wiley, noted food expert, said in an address delivered in Washington only a short time ago: "The alcoholic content of beer is not determined by the name, any more than intoxication is synonymous with drunkenness. The latter is a state of maudlin helplessness, while a man can be intoxicated by the use of alcohol without disclosing the fact to the ordinary sense, but he cannot conceal it from the scientific test.

"Alcohol is intoxicating, no matter how small the quantity. Intoxicating beverages will be defined on the same ground as benzoate of soda was defined as a poison in food and barred from use, and this definition will be upheld by the courts.

"Little or much alcohol is a toxic poison. The theory of government and of law for the preservation of the race is that the thing which is injurious—even if it is not so to everybody in the same degree or quantity—is not to be tolerated. Alcohol as a beverage is injurious, and beer is more harmful than whisky. The insurance companies consider the beer or wine drinker an unwaranted risk. They will not insure employees of breweries."

WHY PROHIBITIONISTS MUST KEEP UP THE FIGHT

To prohibitionists who say "The fight is won—why worry?" the Anti-Saloon League commends consideration of a letter sent to thousands of business firms by the Joint Anti-Prohibition Campaign Committee, with headquarters in New York City, asking for funds for "publicity, mass meetings and demonstrations, counsel fees and other campaign purposes" to fight prohibition.

The letter, signed by James Woods, chairman of the committee, states that hotels and restaurants have contributed heavily to the fund and that "other concerns are giving 10 per cent of their profits from hotels and restaurants during the past year."

William H. Anderson, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York state, declares that the fight is not won until enforcement legislation is enacted in state and nation and in successful operation.

"The moral, law abiding element in the state," he says, "cannot lay down its arms while there is in existence a Joint Anti-Prohibition Campaign Committee seeking millions of dollars to finance a campaign to nullify the Eighteenth amendment and to defy the law and make mockery of the Constitution."

"The Allied Citizens of America, the new organization, headed by the Anti-Saloon League to enforce prohibition and uphold the United States Constitution, offers every man and woman in the state a chance to enlist in the fight for law enforcement and to warn the liquor interests that they cannot 'come back!'"

*****

WORKING WOMEN AND PROHIBITION.

An attempt has been made by certain "wet" New York City newspapers to make it appear that the Women's Trade Union League is opposed to prohibition.

Rose Schneiderman, president of the League, was quoted recently by these papers as saying that the League would go on record against prohibition. Denial of the statement attributed to her has been made in a letter sent by Miss Schneiderman to members of the League in which she says:

"No interview was given by me to any reporter and no statement made. I so notified the papers. Their editors promised to retract the statements. The League has taken no action on this question whatsoever. This is a serious matter, but you will readily understand that such things are not uncommon with the present control of our press."

ALLIED CITIZENS MAKE MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Twenty Thousand Have Signed Covenant Cards and Joined New Organization.

The Allied Citizens of America, incorporated last April in New York state to "uphold American ideals and the United States Constitution," already has an enrollment of 20,000 members.

The organization, which is fostered by the Anti-Saloon League of New York to promote the enforcement of the Eighteenth amendment "and of other sound legislation in furtherance of the welfare of the people," is non-partisan. It is designated by those who are backing it as "moral rather than religious—patriotic rather than political." It welcomes members of all creeds, Protestants, Catholic, Jew, as well as those of any other religion.

According to Miss Adella Potter, Superintendent of the Organization, Department of the Anti-Saloon League, who is forming divisions of the new organization throughout the state, the Allied Citizens of America will be a big factor in securing an educated constituency which will make its influence felt for law and order when national prohibition goes into effect next January.

"The Allied Citizens of America," said Miss Potter in an interview on the aims and object of the new incorporated body, "is simply the outward and visible expression of faith in the Constitution and in the authorities designated to carry out our laws.

"The organization has been formed in response to a demand of the people for some articulate form of expressing their faith in the government. Thousands of people in this state and millions in the country are aroused over the defiant attitude of the liquor dealers, and are disgusted with the brewery propaganda which has tried to make the world believe that we as a nation are so self-indulgent and so addicted to our beer that lawlessness and anarchy, defiance and bloodshed would follow in the wake of prohibition.

"These people by signing the simple covenant of the League, which does not entail any expense or call for any dues, can line up on the side of morality and decency and true Americanism. They can band together in local divisions under county and state departments to promote education and to secure the passage of proper laws to enforce prohibition, and then see that these laws are carried out."

Miss Potter declared that the Allied Citizens of America has a definite educational program. It will promulgate the idea that civil liberty is more important than personal liberty, and that personal liberty ends where public injury begins.

It will encourage every resident, native and foreign, to absorb the spirit and master the language of the Constitution.

It will organize in each town, village or city, and in each county a state, without regard to party or creed, a body of citizens both men and women, for effective, co-operative effort for the accomplishment of the above named objects, and for the purpose of encouraging and supporting honest, capable public officials, and making local government efficient and responsive to enlightened public opinion.

UNITED FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT.

Local Organizations Unite With Allied Citizens.

Determined to secure an adequate state law enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, prohibitionists are standing together ready for the fray.

In several parts of the state local law enforcement societies have relinquished their organizations and joined the Allied Citizens of America—incorporated by the Anti-Saloon League to enforce prohibition and uphold the Constitution."

The Law Enforcement League of Staten Island in order to secure majority of organization recently adopted a resolution providing for the continuance of the league and the formation of a Division of the Allied Citizens of America. Similar action was taken by the Erie County Prohibition Council.

The Thrice-A-Week Edition OF THE New York World IN 1919.

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No other Newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price. The value and need of a newspaper in the household was never greater than at the present time. We have been forced to enter the great world war, and a mighty army of ours is already in France fighting great battles and winning magnificent victories. You will want to have all the news from our troops on European battlefields, and 1919 promises to be the most momentous year in the history of our universe. No other newspaper at so small a price will furnish such prompt and accurate news of these world-shaking events. It is not necessary to say more. THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the Genoa Tribune together for one year for $2.25. The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.50.

BOY SCOUTS

SCOUTS ARE NOT FOR SALE

Another letter received at national headquarters suggests a criticism. This letter states: "There is hardly a week that some business house does not have some plan to offer for using our organization to sell goods." It is an unfortunate fact that so many men have failed to understand that the ideal of service wrought into the boy scout movement is entirely free of the spirit of gain. The scout good turn which takes on so many forms and has even risen to the high plane of national service in the time of war cannot be bought. It is not devised to help increase the gains of any person or business or institution. It is helpfulness outside of the field of commercialism. It is true that scouts can work for money. But it is equally true that neither a scout nor a troop should be worked for money. Let no individual and no concern try to break down that fine distinction. If a boy scout does any one of the many honorable things a boy can do for business concerns and for others to earn money, he does it as a boy, not as a boy scout.

SEA SCOUTS IN TRAINING.

BOY SCOUTS TO FEED BIRDS.

Twenty-eight troops of boy scouts were assigned in Minneapolis by L. S. Dale, scout executive, to take care of the bird-feeding stations in 14 parks. "Feeding of birds usually should only be done after storms or during severe weather," says Mr. Dale. "The idea is to keep the birds with us, but not to overfeed them. During mild weather they are generally able to make their own living, but this has been an exceptional season, and the natural food supply for birds has about been exhausted. "There are 1,800 boy scouts in the city, and every one of them is interested in the protection of birds. It is hoped that the scouts will open the eyes of the public generally to the necessity of co-operation in affording this protection to bird life in our parks."

MARK ROOSEVELT TREES.

The city parks of Los Angeles will in the future bear living testimony to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt in the form of trees to be furnished and planted by troops of boy scouts. These trees will be 36 in number. The first 36 troops (there are 129 troops under the Los Angeles scout council) to sign up at headquarters will each have the honor of planting an oak tree, at the foot of which will be placed a bronze tablet inscribed as follows: "Planted Arbor day, 1919, by Troop No. —, Los Angeles Boy Scouts of America, in honor of Theodore Roosevelt."

SOME STUNTS BY THE SCOUTS.

Wheeling, W. Va., has approximately 150 scouts who successfully cultivated war gardens. One-fifth of the total subscriptions for Liberty bonds in Ohio county, were secured by scouts. Scouts distributed 7,500 copies of the president's flag day address; were active in the book drive and found over 2,400 black walnut trees and two carloads of clothing for the Belgian relief. During the influenza epidemic scouts worked with the Red Cross.

Comforts and Recreation for Patients in Public Health Service Institutions.

The American Red Cross, acting on the request of Surgeon General Rupert Blue of the U. S. Public Health Service, has agreed to provide supplemental comforts and recreations for persons under treatment in 32 hospitals operated by the service throughout the country.

The arrangement is primarily in the interest of discharged soldiers, sailors and marines, who are being cared for at the U. S. Public Health Service hospitals, institutions to which Red Cross Home Service work will be extended under this arrangement have a total bed capacity of about 10,000. Three of these hospitals are in the jurisdiction of the Atlantic Division of the Red Cross, these being situated in New York city, Buffalo and Danville, N. Y. In addition to the sick and disabled American fighting men who will enjoy the benefits of the latest activity of the Red Cross are patients from the following branches of government service, only persons in the employ of the federal government being admitted to the hospitals of the United States Public Health Service: Army and navy nurses, male and female; patients of the War Risk Insurance Bureau; merchant marine seamen; seamen on boats of Mississippi River Commission; officers and enlisted men of the United States Coast Guard; officers and employees of the Public Health Service; keepers and assistant keepers of the Lighthouse Service; seamen of the Engineer Corps of the United States Army; the personnel of the Coast and Geodetic Survey; civilian employees entitled to treatment under the United States Employees Compensation Act; employees on army transports not officers or enlisted men of the army.

Red Cross workers with long training in home service work in army cantonments will endeavor to bring all the sunshine possible into the lives of patients, supplying them with additional comforts, such as bath robes, pajamas, socks, sweaters, etc., and arranging for ward entertainments for those unable to get about; and more lively entertainment for those who are convalescent. Moving pictures, vaudevilles, band concerts and motor rides will make time hang less heavily on the patients' hands.

Through co-operation with the American Library Association the Red Cross will see to it that none of the patients lacks reading matter.

PEACE BRINGS INCREASE IN RELIEF WORK

6,000,000 Articles Received by Atlantic Division of Red Cross Since Armistice Day.

That the activities of the Atlantic Division of the American Red Cross in hospital and relief work actually increased after the signing of the armistice is shown by figures in a statement issued by Albert W. Staub, Acting Manager of the Division. More than 6,000,000 finished articles for distribution among European refugees and convalescent American soldiers have been received in the Red Cross warehouse of the Atlantic Division since Armistice Day, according to the records on Chapter Production.

Of the total collection, large quantities have been in the form of hospital supplies, garments and accessories for the hospitals which have received wounded American soldiers as they arrived here from overseas.

The greatest increase has been in clothing for refugees, for which the record has been raised from 105,385 in November to 22,482 in February. From November until April, 1,133,513 individual garments were received in the warehouse for shipment overseas in the boats of the European Relief Administration. These figures do not include the 10,000 tons of used clothing collected by the American Red Cross in its nationwide campaign during the last week in March. The Atlantic Division, comprising New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, contributed 622 tons as its quota in this drive. Brooklyn Chapter led the division with 90 tons. In addition to their contributions in the campaign, Atlantic Division workers made a record of 174,097 new garments for refugees in April.

Atlantic Division chapters in April distributed 86,647 articles of comfort to soldiers and sailors in addition to those supplied to the hospitals. These included comfort bags, helmets, mufflers, socks, sweaters, aviators' waistcoats, wristlets, scrub cloths and dust cloths. In March the figures were: Hospital garments, 130,627; hospital supplies, 85,526; refugee garments, 226,943.

"TANKERS" SHOW THANKS FOR RED CROSS SERVICES.

Boles-Carson.

A pretty wedding took place Wednesday, July 23, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carson of North Lansing, when their oldest daughter, Pearl M., and Clarence L. Boles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Boles of Five Corners, were united in marriage by Rev. F. J. Allington.

At 4 o'clock as the wedding march was played by Miss Helen Townley, the bridal party took their places in a bower of evergreens and flowers and beneath three white bells, where in the presence of about seventy friends and relatives of the parties, the ceremony was performed, the ring service of the M. E. church being used.

The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carson, Mr. Carson being a brother of the bride. The bride was becomingly gowned in white satin, under georgette, and carried bride's roses and sweet peas and her attendant was gowned in old rose silk chiffon and carried sweet peas.

After congratulations had been extended a bountiful supper was served, the table decorations being pink and green.

They received many gifts, including silver, cut glass, china and linen. The company included guests from Shortsville, Rochester, Cato, Ithaca, Groton, King Ferry and nearby places.

Amid a shower of rice and good wishes, they took their departure for a brief wedding trip including Rochester and LeRoy. After Aug. 5, they will be at home to their friends at Lansingville.

Death of Lansing Woman.

Mrs. Erminda Bloom, aged 75 years, died Saturday morning at 3:45 o'clock at her home in the town of Lansing. She was the widow of the late Lewis Bloom, a life-long resident of Lansing. She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Oliver Manning and Mrs. Ernest Hagin of South Lansing. Mrs. Bloom resided at the Bush homestead near South Lansing, where Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wattles have been living since last spring. Mrs. Bloom was cared for by her grand-nieces, Mrs. Wattles and Miss Anna Hagin.

The funeral was held on Tuesday at 2 o'clock at her late home. Burial was made in Willow Grove cemetery.

ARMY CHAPLAIN COMBINED PREACHING AND BOXING

Boxing, as a side line to the ministry, is a professional combination that Earl A. Blackman has found works very well in his job as chaplain in the United States Army. Blackman was a person before the war, in a Kansas church, and became a chaplain in 1917, before the United States had a boxing instructor.

EARL A. BLACKMAN.

and now as an active champion of the Y. M. C. A.'s athletic program for the A. E. F. he has come to be known as the "Fighting Chaplain." Every now and then he demonstrates his enthusiasm for the sport by a little bout with a picked army man, and all the doughboys admit that he is as good in the ring as he is in the pulpit. Blackman encourages athletics and particularly boxing, because he holds that the sport develops a man mentally as well as physically. The "Fighting Chaplain" is extremely popular with the army men abroad, and has been of material assistance to the Y. M. C. A. in its organization of the great athletic program which it provides for the American army.

MILES OF FILM FOR SOLDIERS.

Paris, July 2.—More than 1,000 miles of film were used by the Y. M. C. A. during the month of April, in France and the Rhineland, to provide picture shows for audiences of more than 1,000,000 doughboys a week. More than 1,000 projection machines were required for giving these performances and over 1,500 employees were engaged in the work of the Cinema Department. The Y. M. C. A. commenced its cinema work with the A. E. F. just one year ago the last of April. Then 358 showings per week was a record, and these showings were given principally in the labor battalion camps. But the popularity of the shows and the demand for them was so great that the work had to be extended until now there are more than 4,322 showings per week. During this twelve months more than 50,000 shows were presented to audiences totaling more than 50,000,000.

How Tin Cans Are Salvaged.

The Providence Journal says perhaps we shall not see, in the future, vacant lots covered with rusty tin cans. The conservationists are after the householder who throws away the cans, and it may become a regular practice to save them for reclamation. The city of San Jose, Cal., has made a contract with a San Francisco company to remove from 300 to 500 tons of the refuse which has been accumulating at the incinerator plant for months, and the cans will be taken to San Francisco, melted down and put back as "new" metal into use. As the junk is worth $20 a ton, there is a particular reason why other communities should look into the possibilities of the plan.

Why Town Claims Honor.

The quaint little village of Goldsple, in Sutherlandshire, is pressing its claims upon the British people for the distinction of being the "bravest village in the empire," because in proportion to its population, it received more military honors than any other community. The village sent one-fourth of its 1,050 inhabitants into the military and naval service, and of this number 30 were decorated for some form of "conspicuous gallantry" or "devotion to duty." Among them were two members of the family of the duke of Sutherland, whose ducal home, Dunrobin castle, is near the village.

Why Soldiers Honor Dogs.

Dogs were used in the army in various ways. The sentinel dog accompanies an advanced sentinel; dispatch dogs carry dispatches between commanders; patrol dogs range ahead and about the patrol looking for the enemy; ambulance dogs search the battlefield after the ambulance men have picked up all the wounded they can find; draft dogs are used to bring up munitions and food; listening dogs are highly trained animals used in the front trenches, where their keen sense of hearing enables them to detect sounds inaudible to the men. The dog in many places in Europe is a working animal, and has been readily adapted to war work.

How Scrap Iron Is Recovered.

Magnetic separators are now being used for the recovery of scrap iron from many kinds of waste material and rubbish. By the aid of such apparatus a great deal of refuse commonly discarded in the neighborhood of steel and iron works can be made to yield a considerable amount of iron—as much as 50 per cent, being obtained from refuse from steel works in some cases. Cupola furnace slag is said to give 5 to 15 per cent, and ordinary workshop rubbish from 2 to 10 per cent.

No Camouflage in This Price

We have reduced the Titan 10-20 price $225. You can now get the world's standard 3-plow tractor for $1,000.

Titan
$1,000

Cash F.O.B. Factory
$1,050 on Time

Friction Clutch Pulley

A large, wide friction clutch pulley, made in five sizes, equipped with safety shield, is mounted directly on the crank-shaft of the low-speed, steady Titan engine and delivers the full power to the driven machine. The Titan 10-20 can be quickly backed into the belt because of the location of the pulley and the belt clears the front wheels and other parts of the tractor by a generous margin. It is not necessary to dig holes for the front wheels to get belt clearance. The Titan pulley was not put on as an afterthought. The designers did not overlook it in the first place. Some tractor builders committed this very serious error, due to lack of farm knowledge and experience. To remedy this error, they designed a small make-shift pulley, in one size only, attached it in an awkward place, and charge you $35 to $40 for it. The Titan 10-20 friction clutch pulley is furnished without extra charge.

Throttle Governor

Some tractors are sold without governors because, perhaps, the designers did not know that one was needed. Which is the best economy—to pay an operator a salary just to sit on the tractor and adjust the fuel to the load variations when engaged in belt work or let a throttle governor do it without extra cost?—do it automatically, perfectly. The Titan throttle governor saves fuel, prevents grain losses by delivering uniform power to your thresher and lengthens the life of both tractor and driven machines. You get this governor without extra charge.

Drawbar

Some tractor builders put a hook and eye affair on the tail end of their tractors—and call it a drawbar! They seem to have overlooked the fact that a farm tractor not only pulls plows but also mowers, hay loaders, grain binders, harvester-threshers, etc., each requiring different hitch adjustment. Perhaps they didn't know about these other machines. Look at the Titan drawbar. Note the provisions for a wide range of adjustment both up and down and sidewise. The Titan drawbar fits every need and it is furnished without extra cost.

Fenders

The designers of some tractors evidently did not know that the drive wheels throw dirt, dust or mud over the operator and machine unless fenders prevent it. The Titan 10-20 has such fenders. They are also a "safety first" feature. The State of Michigan has passed a law prohibiting the sale of fenderless tractors. Titan fenders are furnished without the $40 to $50 extra charge made by the "low-price" manufacturers.

Platform

Some tractor designers apparently never sat in a tractor seat ten hours a day or more, jolting over rough fields, so they can't appreciate what a relief it is for the tractor operator to rest himself now and then by standing up, without loss of time. You will appreciate the Titan 10-20 platform that enables you to do this. It is a comfort feature furnished regularly with every Titan 10-20 tractor—no extra cost.

Tools

A complete set of sixteen tools is furnished with every Titan 10-20. This handy tool-kit is provided in spite of the fact that Titan 10-20 tractors get out of order less frequently than any other tractors in the world. Some tractor concerns whose tractors really need frequent adjustment and repair, furnish nothing but two or three wrenches. They tell you that their product is so good that it doesn't need adjustment. Do you believe this? As a matter of fact, they omit necessary tools for the same reason they omit the essential features described above—to make a low "camouflage price"! The Titan 10-20 complete tool kit is furnished without extra charge.

THERE is no "joker" in this price. We are not telling you one story in this advertisement and then leaving it for our dealers to break the sad news that the advertised price won't buy a tractor unless you pay extra for a lot of necessary features. The Titan dealer won't charge you extra for "starting and service" before he can deliver the tractor. He won't show you a machine stripped of many essential parts—belt pulley, fenders, platform, governor, drawbar, tools—and then tell you that you can have these things by paying extra for them. The Titan at this advertised price is a complete 3-plow kerosene tractor.

Then there is another thing. We are not experimenting at your expense when we sell you a Titan 10-20. There is real farm machine and tractor manufacturing experience back of it. We have been in the farm machine business for 88 years and have been supplying tractors for 14 years. Not another company in the world knows the farmer's power and machine requirements as the Harvester organization does.

Would you entrust your bank account to a man who had never had any experience in handling money? Will you risk your farm profits in a tractor built by designers whose knowledge of farming is limited to books and a drawing board? It will pay you to think about these things when you buy your tractor.

Starting and Instruction Service

Another "joker" of some tractor concerns is to charge you a large "starting and service" fee—extra. This is another way of getting a low price for advertising purposes. But you can't get the tractor without paying this charge. They make it compulsory. The International dealer gives you this service without asking you to pay extra for it when you buy a Titan 10-20. Free tractor schools inaugurated by us, also benefit Titan purchasers in all parts of the country.

WHY

Britishers Envied Teeth of American Soldiers

We have had many tributes of admiration paid to our fighting men in recent months. Most of them have been of a military character. Here is one a little out of the ordinary that probably deserves as high a place in our appreciation as those of a more martial nature. It concerns the homely theme of teeth. Says the London Daily Mail: "One thing about the American soldiers and sailors must strike English people when they see these gallant fighters, and that is the soundness and general whiteness of their teeth. It is all the more striking in that it is such a contrast to the teeth of the British people." We may take just pride in this praise, because there is no doubt whatever that we deserve it, Brockton Times states. We have probably been born with no better teeth than our British brethren, but our teeth are better simply because we have taken intelligent and laborious care of them. There is still plenty of room for improvement, however. Any army medical examiner will tell you that there is a shocking amount of defective teeth trouble among selective service men. Our dental standards are high, but we are not yet living up to them.

Piecing Out Wool Supply.

All the wool grown in the world every year, if made only into clothing for people living outside the tropics, and not into horse blankets, carpets, etc., would provide fourteen ounces per person. That is enough to make one lightweight pair of bathing trunks extending from the waist to the knees. "Then, uncle," asked Rollo, "where does the rest of the wool we wear come from? Our coats and overcoats and blankets and woolen stockings?" "That," replied his uncle, "is reworked wool, or shoddy." "But surely, uncle," exclaimed the boy, "we do not wear shoddy, do we?" "No," said the honest uncle, "you and I do not, but everybody else does."—The Little Jour-

WHY

How Music Affects Cows.

Phonograph music, occasionally supplanted by orchestra music, has become a regular milking-time feature in the dairy barn on a large stock farm in Ohio. Commercial, rather than artistic, reasons have prompted the introduction of this feature, it having been found after repeated tests that the yield of the cows is greater when milked to the tune of some soft, melodious selection. On several occasions an orchestra has played for the cows with the same result, namely, an increase over the previous normal yield of milk.

WHY

One's Walk Gives Indication of Character

No two people walk alike, and by watching persons as they move about a true estimate of their character can be gained. The man who walks easily and naturally is the successful man, but the easy but careless walker is easy-going, unaffected, and cares nothing for public opinion or appearances. People who walk easily but ungracefully are efficient, and possess strength of character, but are lacking in polish. A springing step denotes an alert mind, and a dragging step the apathetic temperament. A mincing walk shows a mincing nature. It is the walk of the self-attified, artificial person who rarely accomplishes anything. A short, quick step, however, denotes businesslike qualities, and an active mind which lacks originality, while a long, quick step means a long head and an ability to "make good." A long slow step, on the other hand, shows a certain slowness of mind. A rolling gait denotes the uncertain mind of the person ruled by circumstances, while those who walk stiffly and unbendingly are firm to obstinacy.

THRIFTY DUTCHMEN TURNED INTO THIEVING DESPERADOES BY WAR

Genuine Shock Has Come to Those Who in Old Days Admired Industrious Hollander Whose Only Occupation Now Is in Deeds of Daring and Robbery—Country Is Now Paradise for Thieves.

The Hague.—To those who knew the Hollander before the war as a quiet, well-behaved, thrifty and industrious soul, content to pursue the even tenor of his way and sticking religiously to orderliness and good behavior, his transformation since the signing of the armistice last November will come as a genuine shock.

Crime, in the pre-war days, was at its minimum in Holland. Her standing army of some 50,000 was composed of young men who served their allotted time in the military service of their country with the minimum of arduous training, cheerfully to the end of the duty, or the frontier, as was their term of army service was over.

Except for an ever watchful eye on her frontier, Holland lived a calm, contented existence, turning out her world-famous cheeses and her citizens secure in the feeling that theirs was a land where the law was observed, where their chattels were safe even though their front doors remained unlocked and where the infrequent offender against the penal code could not hope to get his full rap in the papers, much less his photograph with a pretty border around it.

Today all this is changed. From a land of safety Holland has been transformed into a land of danger and the Hollander—that is, he who is represented in the ranks of the plow boy, the driver of the horse or donkey along the tow path, the churner of the butter and the cream, the farm hand or the miller's assistant—has been transformed into a shiftless, lazy, disorderly ne'er-do-well, whose principal occupation is burglary.

It Is a New Crime.
Burglary in Holland was not a usual crime in the pre-war days. That fact makes the present wave of lawlessness all the more striking. The great truth that has dawned upon the country is that the 800,000 Hollanders who have been doing military service as non-combatants since the beginning of the war have come to hate work and to hate having to provide for their own living, after enjoying food, clothing and shelter at government expense for nearly five years.

When Holland mobilized her young manhood, middle-aged manhood and full-grown manhood during the first six months of the war, when there was momentary danger of Germany suddenly getting it into her disordered brain to invade and despoil the Netherlands as well as Belgium, the Dutch government provided for the support of the families of the soldiers whom she mobilized as well as for the support of the soldiers themselves.

In her well-ordered house, Holland could not see 800,000 families in want because 800,000 male supporters were taken for the defense of the fatherland. She provided this support as punctiliously and as carefully as she provided for the thousands of Belgian and French refugees, who have lived on the country's bounty from the day of the siege of Antwerp to the day that Marshal Foch handed his fountain pen to the German armistice commissioners and said: "Sign!"

With the demobilization that began during the latter days of last November the discharged soldiers found it irksome to resume their duties as family providers instead of "letting Wilhelm do it." The plow did not appeal nearly so much as the light field equipment along the frontier. The long hikes along the towpaths were not nearly so attractive as the short stretches between sentry posts on the border between Holland's eastern provinces and the Westphalian or Prussian country. It was found a hard matter to get the Hollander back into a civilian job, not because the job was not there but because the erstwhile thrifty Dutchman no longer cared for the job.

Food Shortage a Cause.
For many months now life for the law-abiding Dutchman and his family has been anything but a paradise and the shortage of food has been but a small matter in the grand total of this general unhappiness.

The principal thing that has been worrying Holland has been the burglar, who has since before the Christmas holidays become a sort of national institution, like the cheese and the gin. Acts of violence are of daily, in fact, of hourly, occurrence in the country districts as well as in the cities. Not alone must doors be securely locked and bolted at night, but if during the daytime the householder turns his back to look over his chickens in the barnyard without first closing his front door he will most likely return to the "pronk kamer" (parlor) only to find every article of intrinsic value has disappeared.

The theft of silverware, jewelry, clothes and even pots and pans from the kitchen is reported to the police in every town and hamlet on an average of once every four during the 24 hours of the day. The flow of complaints is so steady that in most places one man is assigned to do nothing but record these reports of bur-

While, of course, it would be unfair to say that every one of the demobilized soldiers has turned burglar after receiving his discharge from the army, it is safe to say that one-half of the 800,000 troops has turned its attention to either burglary, petty or grand larceny or highway robbery as a means to keep the wolf from the door without an undue amount of physical exertion.

The visitor in Holland, although he is still much in the minority because of the passport restrictions, has learned to keep his hand on his wallet pocket and his fingers firmly around the end of a stout cane whenever he ventures out into the street or along a country path, once Holland's delight and the safest promenade in the wide world.

Daring Highway Robberies.
The "kwaajongens," who used to stand in proper awe of the well-dressed man or woman in the public thoroughfares of the city, now openly and brazenly snatch at watch chains, ladies' bags or pocket books that are carried in the hands by the ladies. Nine times in ten the culprit manages to make a clean getaway in the crowd of sympathetic ruffians, who gather quickly in the first sign of disorder in the street.

Children sent to the stores by their mothers are often the victims of the thieves, who take away their pennies, and market baskets on the way to the expectant housewives very often go astray and ultimately reach the dens of the underworld, now a real menace in the economic and civic life of the Netherlands.

The same spirit of disregard of the conventions that obtains throughout the country, as far as the rights of others is concerned, obtains in the nation's parliament—the Staaten-Generaal. Ultra-bolshevistic members occupy seats in the lower chamber and openly advocate doctrines which, a year before the war began in 1914, would not have been listened to by any self-respecting Dutchman. The self-respecting Dutchman must listen to these doctrines now, for they are preached on every street corner, from the forums and from the platform of the governing body, whenever the radical wing gets a chance to give voice to its sentiments.

Blocked at the Frontier.
The government does everything humanly possible to prevent the influx of the radical element from Germany and every day dozens of would-be intruders, be they bolshevist or Spartacist, are turned back at the frontier with the admonition to go East. But many slip through, with the result that this formerly quiet, orderly land is fast being poisoned by the seed of violence that has been planted in its fertile soil from the very day that the one-time kaiser entered the country as a refugee and the one-time crown prince took up his involuntary abode on the Island of Vlieringen.

There is enough of the regular army left to prevent any serious concerted movement by the forces of the malcontents, especially as they are not organized and no leader has yet put in an appearance. The police in the various districts, too, still observe the street discipline of the pre-war days, although they have not been very successful in stamping out the lawlessness that is everywhere evident, they are, at least, holding the unruly element in check and, to a certain degree, holding it in awe of municipal authority.

The principal hope of the better educated class of Hollanders lies in an early restoration of the regular channels of food importation.

Now Land of Unrest.
Just now the Hollander is anything but tractable. He will drop his hammer, his shovel, his hoe or his churning handle at the drop of a hat or the whisper of a labor agitator. He imagines that he is the under dog of every man who possesses a nickel more than he does.

From a land of calm, peaceful, soothing quiet, Holland has changed into a land of unrest. It oozes out of the very ground at every step one takes. Lack of grains keeps the grist mills idle which consequently fail to provide work for those who might be induced to take up the broken strands of their tasks and don the snow white of the miller for the blue of the soldier.

Stagnation in shipping, owing to the restrictions placed upon the country by the allies, has had its natural effect upon Holland's inland waterways commerce, with the result that thousands of men who were employed along the numerous canals, both as boatmen and tow drivers, before the war, now find their vocations gone. This is another important industry which, if it could resume its normal proportions, would greatly reduce the number of the unemployed.

Over everything, however, looms the one large fact that the formerly correct Hollander could so readily be changed into a man with criminal instincts and to such an extent as to make the entire country, practically, a burglar's paradise.

$3.13 for August Milk.

League milk for August has been sold for $3.13, or about 6¢ cents per quart. This price is for 3 per cent milk at the 200 mile zone with the usual differentials for freight and butterfat. The August price is 12 cents a hundred more than was paid producers for July milk. It was determined by the price agreement now in force between producers and dealers which takes both market conditions and cost of production into consideration.

The average market price of butter for the thirty days ending with July 20 was $5.198. The average market price of cheese for the same period was $3.131. To the average of these prices together with the average price of skim milk and whey is added thirty-six cents to allow for costs of production. The result is the August price.

Honeybees Making a Record.

The honey crop of the United States was 92.1 per cent of normal on July 1, according to the estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture. Reports to the Bureau of Crop Estimates warrant the estimate that the yield of surplus honey per colony was 25.8 pounds and that about one-half of the annual product per colony was realized by July 1. At the same date in 1918 the estimated surplus was 21.4 pounds per colony. At the same date in 1917 it was 13.5 pounds. The high condition of 92.1 per cent of normal on July 1 this year compares with 86.7 in 1918 and 86.3 in 1917.

Dies in Cortland.

Dennis Hartnett died at an advanced age early Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Daniel Sheehy, in Cortland. Mr. Hartnett was a native of Ireland. He had lived in Cortland 15 years, going there from Venice. Mr. Hartnett was a retired farmer. He leaves two sons, Jeremiah Hartnett of Hempstead, Long Island, and John Hartnett of Cortland, and two daughters, Mrs. William Ferguson and Mrs. Daniel Sheehy, both of Cortland.

The funeral was held in St. Mary's church, Cortland, Tuesday morning. The body was taken to Moravia for burial.

—Just now when much is being said about high grade men it would be well to remember that a good address and a stylish suit of clothes are not all that are necessary. Integrity still counts even if it is in homespun.

—G. M. Goodspeed of Skaneateles is making a success of growing goldenseal, the root of which sells at from $4.50 to $5 a pound. Golden-seal has been plentiful in the beech and maple woods of Onondaga, Cortland, Madison and Chenango counties.

—Commissioner of Highways, Frederick Stuart Greene, has awarded the contract for completing road No. 1317, Weedsport to Auburn, 8 miles, to Brayer Bros. of Auburn for $6,300. Work on this contract was abandoned at the opening of the war and the contract ordered relet by the last Legislature.

—Birth registration in New York state should soon be made practically perfect by a new legal provision passed by the last Legislature. This law requires that every registrar must send to the parents of a newborn child, within ten days after its birth is reported by the physician or other person, a notice certifying that its birth certificate has been filed.

—Farmers of Cayuga county are congratulating themselves that there has not as yet been found any trace of the European corn borer, the most serious plant destroyer ever brought from Europe to this country. Evidences are for the greatest corn crop in Cayuga's history and the farmers are more than pleased to learn that the corn borer has not put in an appearance in time to stop the materializing of this record crop.

—Not in years have prospects been so poor for a fruit crop in this state as this summer, according to the annual report of Edward Gillett, secretary of the combined New York State Fruit Growers' Association and the New York State Horticultural Society. Winter apples, 41 per cent. crop; fall apples 41; cherries, 24; pears, 35; plums, 38. Grapes will be a big crop, Columbia reporting a 122 per cent yield, the State average being 87 per cent.

If Not We Make Right

2300 Lives Lost.

In a single year, diphtheria and typhoid fever claimed 2300 lives in New York state, according to a recent issue of the Health News, the monthly publication of the New York State Department of Health.

Had these deaths occurred at one time as a result of a fire or explosion, the fact would have been headlined from one end of the country to the other, yet these deaths were just as needless, just as preventable, and just as much due to some one's carelessness.

It is high time, according to the state health officials, that the people awake to the fact that diseases like typhoid are a discredit to the community in which they occur. Purified water supplies can be rendered safe by filtration and chlorination, while the danger of infection from milk can be overcome by pasteurization.

Don't Begrudge Birds.

Birds work 365 days a year, the country over, to rid orchards and fields of noxious insects, and few people ever give them a word of praise, but let them eat a few cherries, and the whole countryside is up in arms, say the ornithologists at the state college at Ithaca, N. Y.

But for the birds, the college workers say, the crops would, in many instances, be total failures. Grasshoppers, grubs, caterpillars and locusts would have free sway if their natural enemies, the birds, did not intervene to save the crops.

In some communities the birds are coming to have proper recognition as friends of man. They are being provided with safe nesting places and supplies of drinking water and with food in times of stress.

Noise or any talking at milking time may not reduce the flow of milk, but it may make the job last longer.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK.—To John N. Georgantonis, Katherine Georgantonis, Christ Georgantonis, and the American Surety Company of New York.

Upon the petition of Frank A. Eldredge of the city of Auburn, N. Y., you are hereby cited to show cause before the Surrogate's Court of Cayuga County at the Court House, in the City of Auburn, on the 2nd day of September, 1919, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, why a decree should not be granted judicially settling his accounts as Administrator of etc., of George N. Georgantonis, late of the town of Moravia, N. Y., deceased.

In Testimony Whereof, We have caused the seal of our said Surrogate's Court to be hereunto affixed.
