Letter from Frank W. Hendrick.

To the "Republican Electors of Cayuga County:"

FRANK W. HENDRICK

I am taking my last opportunity, through the Country press, to ask your support for the nomination of Sheriff in the Republican primaries to be held upon Tuesday next, Sept. 2 from seven o'clock in the morning until nine in the evening.

I am making this appeal as much in the interest of a time honored custom in the politics of this County as I am in my own behalf.

For over 50 years the office of Sheriff has been conceded to the Country towns of Cayuga County, a large majority of the Republicans of the City of Auburn having joined in this custom.

Among the many reasons that the loyal Republicans of Auburn who are interested in the Republican Party of this county have always supported this principle, is one that stands out very forcibly and must appeal to every Republican voter, viz: To recognize the Country towns for the magnificent majorities they always give to the Republican Ticket, for example—

In 1916 the City of Auburn went Democratic for President by over 500 plurality. The towns went Republican by over 1800 plurality. In the same year the City of Auburn went Democratic for Governor and every Election district of the 35 in the Country towns, went Republican.

In 1918 the City of Auburn went Democratic for Governor by about 500, and the Country towns went Republican by over 3500 plurality.

In the city in 1918, even with the Prohibition vote added to the Republican Governor, he only received about 500 plurality, while in the Towns with the Prohibition vote added, he received 4850.

If this custom is to be sustained, it is necessary that every Republican vote which favors it should be cast upon Primary Day.

Please make a special effort to go to the Polls and your assistance will not only be appreciated by myself personally, but will result in making the party in our County as united as it should be for our next Presidential and Gubernatorial Elections.

Yours Very Truly,
Frank W. Hendrick.

ABOUT TO PASS FROM PLANE TO PLANE

Lt. Ormer Locklear, the most intrepid flyer aviation has ever produced, calmly awaits the coming of the second plane, to which he will pass by means of the hanging ladder. He will feature the New York State Fair, Syracuse, September 8 to 12.

LOCKLEAR, THE KING OF THE AIR

To Appear in Thrilling Feats at the State Fair.

AN AMAZING EXHIBITION FOR STATE FAIR CROWDS

Miracles of Daring and a Mock Battle in Midair.

State Fair patrons will this year enjoy such a thrill as few experience in a lifetime. They will see Lieutenant Ormer Locklear, in some respects the most skillful of living aviators, performing high in air the sensational feats that have made him world famous.

The State Fair management could have secured no better attraction than this, in a line of heroic achievement in which the whole world is now keenly interested.

Lieutenant Locklear is an American, and he won his shining laurels by a wonderful record of service in the great war. His specialty as a birdman is of the breath taking variety, and in his chosen field he has no superior. Far above the fascinated spectators he executes miracles of daring which would be deemed incredible if he had not exhibited them over and over again to the delight and amazement of many thousands of witnesses. To this intrepid wizard of the air ordinary aviation is a commonplace pursuit. His real courage and almost superhuman proficiency are shown when he lets himself out to accomplish the seemingly impossible.

The surprises Lieutenant Locklear will have in store for the State Fair throngs cannot all be suggested in advance. He likes to whet the edge of public curiosity. But some of his most startling aerial coups may be described.

He apparently rides at will on any part of his biplane where a foothold can be found. Standing on top of one plane, he swings off by a rope to another plane speeding overhead. This passage from one machine to another in midair is unsurpassed by any feat of its kind. In turn, he climbs to the tail and to the end of the wings of his high flying biplane. Then, to vary his thrilling acrobatic ventures, he hangs by his knees from the under-carriage. It is needless to say that the pilots in charge of the Locklear machines are masters of their art. With their aid he will stage a mock combat in the skies, giving the beholders a vivid glimpse of the meaning, method and fearful risks of aerial warfare as it was practiced in the late conflict. This will be found realistic in a phenomenal degree.

While the Locklear exhibitions will be exciting beyond the past experiences of State Fair crowds, they will differ from such exploits as tightrope walking, parachute jumping and the like in point of educational value, because they mark a great advance in the development of aerial navigation. With apparent ease and safety Locklear performs marvelous feats in an element which was but recently closed to man, excepting the rare and comparatively prosaic invasions of the old time balloonists.

In Locklear's prodigious feats State Fair visitors have an unprecedented treat coming.

THE SPACIOUS GRAND STAND

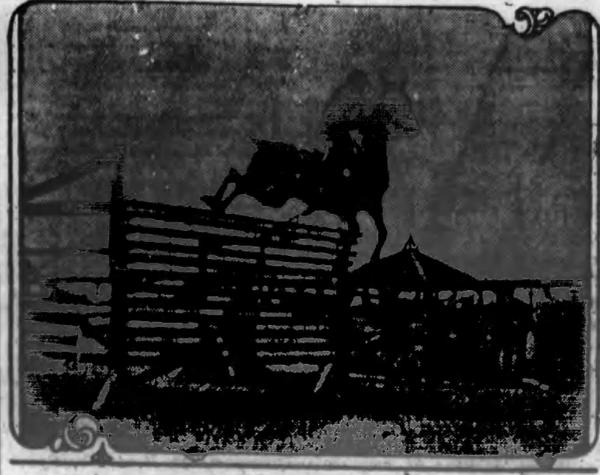

An Inviting Place for the Gathering of the Turf-Loving Clans.

It is claimed by competent judges that the race track of the State Fair has no superior of its kind in the country. The grand stand which overlooks it is worthy of the track.

Last year Fair patrons had an opportunity to inspect the improvements which the grand stand had undergone since the preceding season, and many newcomers will note them with satisfaction at the coming Fair. For the benefit of those who did not attend the Exposition of 1918 it may be stated that the grand stand accommodations and conveniences have been substantially increased. For example, the number of boxes has been increased from seventy-five (the 1917 quota) to 225, and as a result the seating capacity of the boxes has been augmented by about nine hundred. By this expedient the task of caring for ten thousand spectators on the stand has been facilitated.

Outside of the grand stand, frequenters of the track will find a welcome convenience in the shape of a subway for pedestrians to the track enclosure, which was opened for use last year. This, added to the two subways for vehicles, affords easy access for all inside the track.

HIGH JUMPER AT THE STATE FAIR

A High Jumping Contest Always Features the Horse Show at Syracuse. Here, is Shown Jumper Clearing Bars at 8 Feet.

BANNER WEEK FOR LIVE STOCK

A Great Array of Treasures in the Cattle Building, With the Horse Exhibits a Close Rival.

It can be said with absolute confidence that State Fair week at Syracuse will be a red-letter week for cattle and horses.

At the Fair of the two war years there was a natural reluctance on the part of not a few cattle breeders and owners to exhibit their choice stock at the Syracuse Exposition. But now the hesitant ones are manifesting an accumulated interest in the Fair, to make up for lost time. As a result, it can safely be said that the cattle display at Syracuse will not only excel easily every previous exhibition of its kind at the State Fair but will surpass anything in the same line ever presented in the eastern states.

The list of entries, never before equalled, will severely tax the capacity of the cattle building, though it is matched by no other existing structure of its class in the country. Housed amid these fine surroundings, the bovine aggregation at Syracuse will be an exhibitional triumph worth traveling many miles to see. It will be learned with interest that the State Fair array will be recruited this year with some particularly choice specimens entered by cattle raisers and fanciers in New York city and the metropolitan district. This proves that the fame of the State Fair as a resort of cattle aristocracy is spreading.

Rivaling the cattle display in interest and importance will be another record-breaking exhibition in the Horse Exposition building. This will be especially timely in view of recent statistical revelations showing the draught horse is more than holding his own, notwithstanding the steady increase of auto-truck and tractor competition. Evidently, the tractor is the friendly aide of the horse rather than his destructive rival. Some of the noblest draught and farm horses in the United States will be seen at Syracuse.

SYRACUSE DAY.

What the Exposition City Proposes to Do on Fair Monday.

The approach of the first post-war State Fair has aroused an exceptional degree of interest among citizens of Syracuse, who are accustomed to take the lead in local civic movements. They have already formed an organization with the purpose of arranging a Syracuse Day for Fair week which will be at once worthy of the city and enlist a large measure of popular support within its boundaries for the Exposition with which its name is now associated.

Monday, September 8, has been set aside for Syracuse Day. Every effort will be put forth to make it an unofficial fete day for the entire city. Although it is a local enterprise and chiefly intended as a demonstration of Syracuse interest and good will, it cannot fail to react favorably upon the Victory Exposition as a whole. It will encourage a large attendance on a day which does not appeal to outside visitors like the mid-week days; it will stimulate exhibitors to have all their offerings in "apple pie" order on the opening day, and it will tend to attract the attention of other cities and the larger villages of what may be called the State Fair zone to the Syracuse movement, with good exemplary results. Indeed, Syracuse's public spirited example should have a contagious effect upon the people of other sizable communities in Interior New York. The Victory Fair of 1919 should be a city and village Fair as well as a rural Fair.

The program for Syracuse Day has not as yet been completely worked out, but it is in the hands of experienced projectors, and there is every reason to expect an enthusiastic response from the people of that city. A big Syracuse Day will be an almost certain prelude to a record breaking State Fair in the matter of attendance.

MIDWAY DELIGHTS.

Some Fine Chances for Diversion During the Intermissions.

There is something lacking in a State Fair without a Midway of the right sort. With this proposition in mind, the State Fair Commission has successfully offered inducements which will insure an excellent cluster of side-shows of clean, wholesome and entertaining character at the coming Exposition.

The Fair Midway will be a center of human interest and innocent pleasure. From these exhibits everything objectionable will be excluded. The aim has been to provide entertainment of an original, up-to-date kind for men, women and children who desire a little change from the customary round of sightseeing. Diversion of this kind will be welcome seasoning for the solid meal of enlightenment to be supplied by the Exposition proper.

Stick a pin in this prediction: The Midway will be a mighty popular corner of the Fair Grounds this year.

THE GLORIES OF THE RACE-TRACK

Biggest One-Week List of Entries in Grand-Circuit History. A Review of Brilliant Trotting Events—Turf Sensations Galore Promised.

With war anxieties removed, this should be a banner year for horse racing. Turf enthusiasts are now, if ever, in a mood for the keen enjoyment of their favorite pastime. To meet their high expectations a State Fair series of racing programs, brilliant beyond precedent, has been planned. Last year it seemed impossible to surpass the array of equine stars then assembled for the State Fair meet. But this is a record breaking era, even in sport, and 1919 will outshine 1918 in the wealth and variety of the attractions for all visiting turfmen and horse lovers in general.

Once again the Syracuse meet challenges comparison with any in the Grand Circuit. This is saying a good deal when the famous tracks competing with the New York State Exposition are considered. Look at the list—Cleveland, Kalamazoo, Toledo, Columbus, Philadelphia, Boston (Reedville), Hartford, Lexington and Atlanta. Two of these are two week meets. In the quality and speed-promise of the entries none will surpass Syracuse. What is more, the State Fair stands at the head of the list with its total of 406 entries for a one week program, including no less than ten class races.

The completed schedules for the early closing events of the coming State Fair, arranged under the competent direction of Racing Secretary George L. Blodgett, follow the same general order of previous Syracuse meets. This means that major interest among horsemen and spectators will center in the contests for the Empire State purse and the Governor's purse on Tuesday and Thursday of Fair week, respectively. For the first of these celebrated events, the 2:12 trot for $10,000, there is a grand total of forty-five entries. In this wonderful aggregation some sensational feats are looked for. There are so many candidates for first honors that it is no easy task to make selections for special mention. But, by way of illustration, attention may be directed to Lockspur, b. g., owned by former Governor Horace White and Ernest I. White of Syracuse, which has covered a mile in 2:07 1/4; Magnolia, which boasts a private record of 2:03 1/4 and was driven in 2:05 by the fourteen-year-old daughter of J. C. McCune of Pittsburgh, and Mary Coburn, from the Pastime stable, Cleveland, credited with a mile in 2:06 1/4. Among the contestants for the Governor's purse four of the most famous are Alma Forbes, Busy's Lassie, Easton and Prince Loree. The last named has a mile in 2:05 1/4 to his credit and carried off the honors in the Empire State event last year. For the Governor's race (2:06 class) there are eighteen assured entries and a finer collection of fliers could not be found in the country. Of the other events, that for the Syracuse purse (2:10 class for pacers) will bring to the track such celebrities as Amardale, Direct G. Burnett and Frank Dewey, the last named having a mile record of 2:08 1/4, and Peter Look, credited with a heat in 2:01 1/4. Peter Look also figures in the Chamber of Commerce contest (2:06 pacing class), where Red Bearer, Symbol Baron and Young Todd will be among the most formidable of his eleven competitors.

A liberal share of interest will be reserved for the "added money" events, the Onondaga, the Ka-Noo-No and the Juvenile. In the inducement added to the entrance fees is $750, and the comparative novelty of the prize conditions will add to the attractions of the three races. The class races, for which the entries are necessarily deferred to the eleventh hour, will be contested by kings and queens of the turf, and, as usual, they will crown the sensational offerings of the State Fair meet.

It is well to remind horse lovers who missed the exciting program of last year that the grand stand facilities have been so bountifully enlarged that the box accommodations are now three times as ample as formerly. As a result of progressive improvements the Fair track is now everywhere admitted to be a model of its kind. Among the new conveniences race patrons will especially value the subway entrances to the track enclosure, which does away with the necessity or temptation of crossing the track at grade.

OF INTEREST TO FAMILY PARTIES.

The management has specially aimed to make the State Fair popular with family parties. For this reason every possible provision has been made for the comfort and convenience of women and children.

It cannot be too often repeated that, owing to the presence and service of Major Chandler and his state troopers, the policing arrangements are virtually perfect. Such has been the verdict ever since the State Police were charged with the task of preventing disorder and confusion on the grounds. They are as vigilant as they are courteous, and visitors to the Fair in family groups are always sure not only of protection, but of considerate treatment at their hands.

In cases of accident or sudden illness, medical and hospital attention is always promptly forthcoming at the Fair.

The Thrice-A-Week Edition OF THE New York World IN 1919.
Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No other Newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price. The value and need of a newspaper in the household was never greater than at the present time. We have been forced to enter the great world war, and a mighty army of ours is already in France fighting great battles and winning magnificent victories. You will want to have all the news from our troops on European battlefields, and 1919 promises to be the most momentous year in the history of our universe. No other newspaper at so small a price will furnish such prompt and accurate news of these world-shaking events. It is not necessary to say more. THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the Genoa Tribune together for one year for $2.25. The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.50.

THE RED PERIL WHICH THREATENS FREE AMERICA

Senator Lusk Explains Dangers Imperilling Church, Home and Government as Revealed by His Famous Committee.

Manitou Beach, N. Y., August 21.—The really perilous social and industrial conditions existing in this country were epitomized in a speech here today by the one man who knows them better than any other—Senator Clayton Lusk at Cortland, N. Y.

In this address at the annual field day and picnic of the Monroe County Pioneers' Association, many new revelations were made by the now nationally famous head of the New York State Joint Legislative Committee to Investigate Seditious Activities. This body, known the world over now as the Lusk Committee, already has revealed extraordinary and startling facts with regard to organized disorder during its sessions in New York City, and has by no means finished its work.

"If six years ago," said Senator Lusk, "any man had stood here and told you that within the next few years that all the great nations of the world would be engaged in war, that millions of men would be killed, that great numbers of women and children would be destroyed, that large areas of populous lands would be wantonly devastated, that our own country would be forced to take up arms to insure its existence as an independent nation, you would have called that man a lunatic.

"If three years ago any man had stood here and told you that within the next three years organized government would break down and constitutional and legal protection to life and property would be withdrawn in over half the civilized world, you would have called that man a lunatic; yet these events have occurred.

"Little do we know what the near future has in store for us. This we do know; that the American people are today in a condition of discontent and unrest which is increasing and which is causing grave apprehension to men who are giving serious consideration to the future.

"Unmistakable evidence exists in different parts of the world of lost arts and civilization of a high order; of the overthrow and complete destruction of highly organized and efficient governments.

"Is this history to be repeated in our own country and in our own day? It seems to me that the time has come for an appeal to the sound common sense and patriotism of the American people for the preservation of representative government and free institutions.

"Information was laid before the state legislature last winter that there were many disloyal elements in the state, and that these different elements were organizing and combining and were extensively circulating propaganda calculated to set in motion forces to overthrow the government of the state and nation.

To Search Out Treason and Seditious. "In order that the extent of this seditious movement might be known and necessary steps taken for the protection of the citizens of our state, a joint committee of the legislature was appointed and has been engaged in the active investigation of this subject. The difficulties confronting this committee are obvious. The activities of this disloyal element are criminal in their nature and necessarily largely carried on in secret. The usual method of subpoena would mean the destruction rather than the production of the evidence necessary to make a real investigation of the matter.

"For this reason the committee adopted a method of first obtaining evidence enough to indicate that criminal anarchy was being committed by an organization; then placing this evidence before a magistrate and having all material of the organization of a seditious nature taken under a search warrant, so that it would be in the custody of the court where it could be used in criminal prosecutions, and would be protected from destruction, and would be accessible to the committee.

"It is not the purpose of the committee to investigate or interfere in any way with social reforms or with political reforms, however radical these may be and however much they may disagree with the individual views of the members of the committee. We are only concerned with the organizations which advocate the forcible and violent overthrow of our established form of government. Many Disloyal Elements in America. "The different disloyal elements in this country have been uniting and working for a common purpose. Their purpose is to establish an 'International Socialist State' of which the United States of America shall be a part. The status of the Soviets in Russia is entirely different from the status of a nation. The nations of the world send their representatives to the United States to promote the interests of the citizens of these different countries at home and here. "Soviet Russia sends its representatives here for the purpose of circulating propaganda intended to convert American citizens to the International Socialist State and to cause them to renounce their allegiance to the American Government and the American flag and give their allegiance to the International Socialist State and the red flag. This was clearly proven by the documents seized in the raid upon the Russian Soviet Bureau operating in New York City. The Russian Soviet Ambassador and one of his representatives swore that their purpose was solely to establish trade relations with the United States. It was admitted that they had purchased nothing and the evidence was conclusive that the Soviet Ambassador and a large number of employees were actively engaged in circulating and promoting propaganda of the International Socialist State.

"Among the documents seized were lists of radicals in the District of Columbia and the different states of the Union and a large quantity of messages addressed from Lenin 'To the Workers of Europe and America,' in which he said, 'Only the overthrow of the bourgeois parliaments, only Soviet rule and proletarian dictatorship, can put an end to imperialism and safeguard the victory of socialism.'

"It was evident from correspondence seized at their headquarters that the people in this country to whom their propaganda was addressed understood well its import. The evidence obtained by the committee under the different search warrants clearly proves that it is not the intention of these disloyal agitators to bring about reforms in our country by means of the ballot, but that the International Socialist State is to be accomplished by violence and bloodshed and by the revolutionary overthrow of our government.

With as Little Bloodshed as Possible. "Among the papers seized at the so-called Rand School was a copy of the New York Communist of June 14, 1919. It declared as follows: 'The Left Wing hopes that the proletariat will conquer its enemy, the capitalist class, with as little bloodshed as possible.' The same article explained why it was impracticable to accomplish this by the ballot, giving among other reasons that the people might vote one way one election and the other the next and that such instability could not be tolerated.

"Another paper seized in a raid upon one of the radical organizations said: 'To hell with the peaceful teaching of revolution. The only possible seizure of power by the working class is bloody, because as long as our enemy is able to raise even one sword a bloodless fight is a day dream.'

"Copies of a form letter which were taken out of the files of the Rand School said: 'There is only one thing to do; take over the state. . . . Are you ready to meet the militia when the powers of the state and courts are against you? In a large part of their propaganda, the advocacy of force and bloodshed is thinly veiled for the purpose of avoiding the statute against criminal anarchy. Its meaning is, however, too obvious to be mistaken.

"The documents seized under the search warrants set forth the conditions which are to exist under the International Socialist State. The state is to be run by the so-called proletariat in their interests. The Bolsheviks are to be armed. The bourgeoisie and the rich are to be disarmed. Property is to be confiscated. Not only the property of the rich, but the farm, the stock and tools accumulated by a lifetime of toil are to be confiscated.

Mate Religion, Scorn Marriage. "The attitude of these radicals towards religion and the institution of marriage is set forth in many articles. Clergymen of all kinds are condemned as tools of the capitalists. It is no longer to be taught that there is any reward for virtue or punishment for sin. Moral conduct is to be guided by passions and desires. Marriage ties are no longer to be sacred. The advent of the International Socialist State would sound the doom of the Church and of all the finer rules of moral conduct which are the product of a high civilization.

"The propaganda of the radicals is largely conducted by men and women whose activities for years have been inimical to our government. We shall that many of these leaders were, before the World War, organizing societies to promote the so-called German Kultur. Between the time that the World War began and the participation of our own country, these same persons were engaged in organizing so-called peace societies for the purpose of stopping the shipping of munitions and supplies to the enemies of Germany. When our country entered the war, they busied themselves in forming other organizations for the purpose of defeating the enactment of a conscription law and for the purpose of creating and defending conscientious objectors and other traitors to our country.

"It is easy to distinguish between the loyal and the disloyal. In the month of April, 1917, two organizations adopted resolutions in reference to the war. One was an organization of radicals at St. Louis. They deplored the war and said: 'We, therefore, call upon the workers of all countries to refuse support to their governments in their wars. . . . The only struggle which would justify the workers in taking up arms is the great struggle of the working class of the world to free itself from economic exploitation and political oppression, and we particularly warn the workers against the snare and delusion of the so-called defensive warfare.'

Gets Working Class at Enmity Against All Others.
"As against the false doctrine of national patriotism we uphold the ideal of international working class solidarity."

"The other was the American Federation of Labor at Washington. 'They also deplored the war and expressed the hope that it might be avoided and said: 'But despite all our endeavors and hopes, should our country be drawn into the maelstrom of the European conflict, we, with these ideals of liberty and justice herein declare as the indispensable basis for national policies, offer our services to our country in every field of activity to defend, safeguard and preserve the republic of the United States of America against its enemies whomsoever they may be, and we call upon our fellow workers and fellow citizens in the holy name of labor, justice, freedom and humanity, to devotedly and patriotically give like service.'

"Last but not least, conditions which make possible plausible arguments against our institutions should be remedied. The President, who has the benefit of access to all data of all departments, recently said that the present cost of living is not justified and is in many cases artificially and deliberately created by vicious practices. It is clear that, if this is so, necessary laws should be enacted and summary action should be taken on the part of the federal government. The people of the country are in no mood for protracted litigation with the meat packers or any profiteers. Measures should be adopted which are summary in their execution. The federal laws should be promptly supplemented by state laws of a similar character.

"Another matter which should receive prompt attention is the question of the decent division of the dollar. Has labor received its fair share of the earning of the combined efforts of capital and labor? In the early days of our country when labor conditions were simple, many problems would solve themselves. The complications arising out of the combinations of capital and the employment of labor in a large way in the different branches of industry has created a situation which apparently requires the adoption of new relations between employers and employees.

Progressive Employer.
"As chairman of the committee, I have recently been in conference with some of the large employers in the country who have been trying to work out this problem. Some of them have adopted a system of profit sharing. Others have given labor representation in their industries by selling stock to the employees on favorable terms. Many believe that the time has come when labor should have some representation in the management of the different industries to the end that it may know whether it is receiving its fair share of the earnings of the industry in which it is employed and to the end that mutual interests and endeavors will promote the harmony between capital and labor which seems to be lacking under present conditions. We have drifted far away from the conditions of equality upon which our nation was founded. The problem of the proper adjustment of the relations and earnings of capital and labor is one beset with difficulties. If, however, it is essential to the perpetuation of representative government and free institutions that this problem be solved, it must and ultimately will be solved in a legal and orderly way.

"It is the purpose of the committee to hear representatives of all classes and by means of publicity and by such legislation as may be effective to give its assistance in an effort to do away with profiteering and bring about a just and friendly relation between capital and labor. We are fully aware of our limitations; but we feel that as a representative public body we would be remiss in our duties if we failed to render every possible assistance in the solution of these questions which are of such vital importance to our country. A solution which clearly lies in the active and unselfish co-operation of public and private leaders and organizations. It is easy to criticize the efforts of the committee. Loyal citizens should appreciate the difficulties which confront us and give us the benefit of their full support.

"Above all, we should not lose faith in the ultimate justice of our government."

Friday Morning, Aug. 29, 1919

Reeves-Lewis.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lewis of Genoa on Wednesday, Aug. 27, when their only daughter, Nina, was united in marriage to Lee Reeves, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Reeves, also of Genoa. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being yellow and green.

The ceremony was performed at 12 o'clock, Rev. L. W. Scott of Auburn officiating. To the strains of the wedding march, played by a cousin of the bride, Miss Stella Bishop, the bridal party took their places. The bride was attended by Miss Mildred Counsell of Union Springs, and the groom's brother, Clayton Reeves, acted as best man. The bride was attractively gowned in white georgette crepe and carried white bride roses. The bridesmaid wore a gown of white and carried pink roses.

Following the ceremony, a fine wedding dinner was served under the direction of Cateress VanAllen of Moravia, the cousins of the bride and groom acting as waiters, the guests being seated at tables.

The company numbered about forty-five, and included guests from Auburn, Seneca Falls, Binghamton, Union Springs, Venice Center, Locke, Atwater and Genoa, all being relatives of the two families.

The young couple were the recipients of valuable gifts, including silver and other articles and over $200 in cash.

Mr. and Mrs. Reeves left by auto for a week's trip to the North Woods.

Vote for Hager.

The following editorial from the Port Byron Chronicle is addressed to all voters for consideration:

"Every thinking man must appreciate the fact that this country is facing a crisis of serious import. Industrial and economic conditions, legislative and executive procedure of the highest order is imperatively demanded if we are to come out of this testing time with credit, honor and safety. It must be evident to all observing persons that the clash of classes, the readjustment of conditions so ruthlessly disturbed by war, shall be settled equitably and that American ideals may survive. Under such conditions it is not imperative that men with the greatest experience, of the highest character, of the best ability be elected to representative office? Political expediency should not have a place in the scheme of things in this critical period in local or general government.

Because of this we urge the nomination and election of Assemblyman L. Ford Hager to succeed himself. For these reasons we ask with more than usual earnestness that he be elected. He has the experience, he has the ability which is born of experience, he has been tried and not found wanting. Why, under such conditions, should he be replaced by an undeveloped candidate?

"The two-year precedent," as it is termed, has cost Cayuga county too much to take a chance in this critical time. Bolshevism has reared its ugly head in our state; aye, in our county. To combat it successfully is needed the best we have and it is an uncontradictable fact that Mr. Hager is the best available man for the place."

The Shepherd of the Hills.

Harold Bell Wright's novel has made a great photo-play. The story is filled with dramatic situations and scenically the magnitude of God's own handiwork is ever before us. The woods and the hills always appeal to a real man or woman and in this play the really great things of life are brought to the understanding as clear as the water from the mountain springs which are ever before our eyes. It is a virile play and yet one that carries with it a deep message. It is full of wholesome philosophy and has many unique characters. Mr. Wright has directed the work of this photo-play which has been a year in the making. It is shown in ten reels and forms an evening's entertainment. At Lyceum theater, Ithaca, Sept. 1, 2 and 3, afternoon and evening.

Final Summer Cleanup

After my sale which ended on the 23rd, I find I have quite a few odd suits of each lot. Everything has been bought since May. I am bound to keep new stocks every season. I will make a still further cut in the price in order to sell them out before my fall stock comes in.

Although the goods on hand have raised in value since I bought them, I am willing to sacrifice price in order to make a clean sweep.

Big line of gents' furnishings at a special price all this month.

Every purchase you make at this present cut price will mean a big saving to you as the present prices on the same merchandise are worth a third more since I bought them. I like to see all my old friends at my store and give them the best values I can.

—The fire bell sounded in this village Saturday night shortly after 10 o'clock, and a bright light could be seen in the eastern part of the village. The fire department with the two chemical engines were soon on the way to the Atwater plant, where the fire was discovered in the engine house of the sawmill. The work of the chemicals again demonstrated their worth, as the blaze was soon put out. Frank Sellen discovered the fire, the mill being back of his residence on East hill. Had it not been seen just as it was, it would probably have proved a more serious matter. As it was, the damage was confined to the engine house, the roof being entirely destroyed. A large crowd gathered in a short time, and great excitement prevailed for a few minutes.

—After dinner, Prof. Geo. H. Rea of the extension department of Cornell University was the leading speaker of the day, assisted by the president of the society, N. L. Stevens, DeRoy Taylor of Newark, N. Y., E. C. Weatherby of the County Farm Bureau and S. D. House of Camillus. A very instructive meeting was held expressing the different ideas of keeping bees and explaining how to handle bee diseases. Instructions were given in many ways for the management of the bees while getting the honey crop.

—L. V. Main, daughter Miss Alberta Main and sons Raynor and Ronald, of Myers, were Sunday guests of Mrs. C. E. Raymond and daughters. Mrs. Main, who had been visiting her sister the past week, returned home with them.—McGraw News, Cortland Standard.

—The Venice picnic was very largely attended last week Thursday at the new grounds recently purchased by the association, just north of the church at Venice Center. The picnic was one of the most successful ever held. Dancing to the music of "Happy Bill" Daniels' popular orchestra was the chief amusement. This gathering is always a mecca for the politicians, and several were present and made addresses.

Bee-Keepers Hold Picnic.
Cayuga County Bee-Keepers' society held their annual picnic at the home of Geo. L. Ferris and son at Atwater, on Tuesday, Aug. 26. Although the day was cold, the welcome was warm and an enjoyable as well as profitable day was spent. 75 people interested in bees were present from New York City, Utica, Camillus, Borodino, Venice Center, Ledyard, Newark, Moravia, Troy, Weedsport, Poplar Ridge, Ithaca, Groton and Tioga, Pa., with their families and dined under the large tent where long tables were spread for the occasion.

Birthday Gathering.
On Aug. 27, a pleasant gathering took place at Century Homestead, Poplar Ridge, in honor of Allen Landon's 70th birthday. At about 4 o'clock the guests began to arrive. As they passed through the doorway, their attention was drawn to the lettering "70 To-day" which was suspended over the entrance. The house was very prettily decorated with bright autumn flowers.

After the guests from King Ferry, Ledyard, Poplar Ridge and Genoa, numbering about thirty, had all assembled and a hearty welcome had been extended, a delightful program consisting of music and original verses was enjoyed by all. A fine supper was served, the guests being seated at five tables. A social hour followed and the event was a happy one for all.

King Ferry Vocational School.
King Ferry Vocational school opens next Tuesday, Sept. 2. The plan of the courses has been revised so that Agriculture and Homemaking are no longer required subjects as heretofore and a foreign language may be taken instead. To make this possible a new teacher has been added to the faculty and a three-year High School course will be given in place of a two-year course. Next year a fourth year work will be added which will make it no longer necessary for our boys and girls to go away to school in order to complete a high school education. The interest that is manifested this year and the support and co-operation that is given, will determine the future policy of the school. It is hoped that the plan will meet with favor with every good citizen of the community.

ADVANCE SIGNS ALL POINT TO A RECORD EXPOSITION

The Victory Fair of State and Nation and the Promised Response to Its Appeal.

As the date for the State Fair of 1919 approaches, evidences are reaching the Fair commission from all sides of the liveliest interest yet manifested in the annual Exposition, either by exhibitors or intending patrons.

This was to have been expected. The return of peace has cleared the track, so to speak, for what is now certain to be the greatest of our State Fairs. In the two war years the farmers of New York responded nobly to the appeal for their aid in making the Fair a success, in spite of all the formidable handicaps. Considering the serious difficulties of the situation, the Fairs of 1917 and 1918 were astonishing successes. Hence, one does not need to be a prophet to predict with confidence that in the first year of restored peace the prosperous farmers of the State are not only ready but eager to visit the Fair in unprecedented numbers and benefit by the combined opportunity for study and recreation which the Exposition beginning September 8 will present on an unequalled scale of magnitude.

Once more emphasis must be laid upon the partnership between the State and the Federal government in this undertaking. Because of this co-ordination of effort and enterprise, in commemoration of the close of the war, the coming Fair has been fittingly called a Victory Exposition.

Let it be repeated that the Washington exhibits alone will constitute a big show by themselves. This department of the Fair could have been possible only on the heels of a great war, for its most striking attractions will be its multiplicity of war souvenirs and memorials. It will surpass the similar exhibition at Syracuse last year, notably in its novel assortment of trophies captured from the German enemy by American troops. This may be called the human-interest, sentimental side of the federal government's offerings. More serious and educational will be its exhibits and demonstrations of the work of the cabinet departments, particularly the Department of Agriculture. Here the wide-awake observer can obtain a valuable insight into the mechanism and processes of the nation's executive branch.

It is of the first importance that the Federal authorities should be encouraged to continue the co-operation which they first gave to the State Fair last year and will continue, on an enlarged scale, this year. It may be assumed that the one decisive way to insure their future participation will be through the proper manifestation of public interest and appreciation—in other words, by a record attendance at the coming Fair.

STATE IS BAD BUSINESS BOSS

By EDWARD N. HURLEY
Chairman United States Shipping Board.

"THE thing that has impressed me most in my war work has been the efficiency of private ownership and operation as compared with public ownership and operation. I believe that this lesson, as it is brought home more emphatically to the American people, is to prove one of the greatest benefits we derived from the war. As new facts about the conduct of the war come out, as our experience in many fields of production is appraised, they will point, I predict, more unerringly to this same conclusion—the superior efficiency of private ownership. All production centers on the cost—you can't get away from that. Shift the responsibility for the cost, for the best possible result under a given set of circumstances, and you shift the responsibility for efficiency. That is what we did on the Shipping Board, under the pressure of the war's necessity, when the question of cost was forced into second place. We shifted the responsibility of the cost from private shipbuilding concerns to the government.

"The responsibility of cost was, as I have said, shifted to the government. That keen interest in results which follows private initiative was gone. There you have the whole problem as between government ownership and private ownership stated. No way has been found to instill in government ownership the incentive that possesses private ownership, to improve conditions of production. Under government control I found the spur of highest endeavor was taken off the private concerns, and that the slowing up spread inevitably to the employees."

The farmers market, held twice a week in Olean, is in disfavor with residents. Protests are being made to the common council, and action by the aldermen is expected. Farmers are charging more for their products than the grocers, it is claimed.

The Salamanca and Cuba cheese market has been suspended for five weeks owing to the small amount of cheese that is offered. Only a very small proportion of the cheese sold is put through the market and sold at prices fixed by the market.

Although the average weekly earnings of factory workers in the state increased 82 per cent from June, 1914, to July, 1919, food prices were 92 per cent higher during the same period, according to an announcement by the state industrial commission.

The joint legislative committee investigating the highway situation in New York state in connection with the federal offer of aid to state road building, met in Syracuse and made a study of maps for proposed highway systems. The committee will meet in Buffalo, Sept. 4.

To promote rural truck lines for quick delivery of perishable foods from farms to markets, Governor Smith has appointed a temporary non-salaried state highways transport committee at the request of the state reconstruction commission, according to the commission's announcement.

B. F. Trescott's grape vines at Pavillion will yield more grapes this year than they have in several years. He estimates the crop at 40 tons. His vineyards cover eight acres and the prospects indicate that the vines will yield five tons to the acre, providing they are not damaged by storms or frosts.

The Central New York Volunteer Firemen's association at Syracuse elected John Ilston of Ithaca to the presidency and named Ithaca as the convention city for 1920. The association is composed of 32 counties and held its meeting this year in connection with the New York State association's convention.

Lafayette Post, No. 37, American Legion, has gone on record as opposing the return to Poughkeepsie of aliens who were interned during the war. The members of the post say they do not believe it proper that these aliens should enjoy the fruits of victory which they, the ex-service men, won. There were three aliens interned from that city.

Officers elected to the 47th annual convention of the New York State Volunteer Firemen's association at Syracuse are: President, Archer B. Wallace, Freeport; first vice president, William R. Gendey, Nyack; second vice president, R. F. X. Dooley, New Rochelle; secretary, Thomas Honohan, Franklin; treasurer, John J. Powers, Westchester.

Grasshoppers are destroying the farm crops in the vicinity of Sherman. It is estimated that the damage already done by the pests, is $20,000. In some sections whole fields of buckwheat have been destroyed. Many farmers have been obliged to cut their oats before they are ripe to save the fields from destruction. Reports from the nearby towns are that the crops have been badly damaged by grasshoppers.

William M. Torrance, Genesee county superintendent of highways, and the various town highway superintendents are sending out cards to owners of property along country roads, who have not cut noxious weeds, briars and brush growing within the bounds of the highway in front of their premises, calling attention to the highway law which makes it compulsory for the owner of such property to remove growth of this sort before Sept. 1.

Twelve hundred delegates attended sessions of the grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of New York state at Utica. The following grand lodge officers were elected: Grand master, P. M. Hazleton, Glens Falls; deputy grand master, William Koehimetz, Rochester; grand warden, Edward C. Conway, Albany; grand secretary, Harry Walker, Brooklyn; grand treasurer, John S. Bullenkamp, Brooklyn; grand representative, George B. Judge, Buffalo.

The big Chicago packers have over 300 carloads of meat stored in the cold storages in and around Medina, according to admissions made from reliable sources. The 300 or more cars are divided up as follows as to individual storage locations: Austin & Rowley's, Medina, 26 cars; Reed's, Medina, 33 cars; Lyonville, 53 cars; Waterport, 85 cars; Middleport, 50 cars. About 95 per cent of this meat is sold by the storage men to be pork, and they also say that 5 per cent of it is treated with borax, thus making it unmarketable in the United States.

The monthly report of the New York state department of foods and markets shows that there is a considerable increase since the first of last month in some commodities and also in the amount held at present in comparison with the stocks in storage a year ago. Particularity is this true of butter, eggs, pork, lamb and mutton. The greatest increase is shown in the amount of butter in storage. This is 5,000,000 pounds more than a year ago and 5,000,000 pounds more than a month ago. The largest decrease is in pickled pork.

INTEREST IN THE TRACTORS.

Every farmer, rich and poor, is watching keenly the development of the tractor. The most enlightening display and demonstration of tractors yet presented at a given time and place in this State will be witnessed at the approaching Exposition in Syracuse.

The best workable devices in this marvelous class of time and labor savers will there be open to close inspection. A spacious demonstration field near the Fair grounds will be used for practical tests of the utility of a number of these ingenious machines in preparing the soil for cultivation. This year thirty-five different tractor models will be on exhibition.

Of all the educational features of the fair none will surpass this one in usefulness, at a time when all the progressive husbandmen are fully alive to the possibilities of tractor development in expanding production and simplifying the labor problem. It will be a veritable school in tractor economy.

Incidentally, it should be observed that, aside from the benefits derived from the tractor demonstrations, the exchange of experiences among the farmers present who have already tested this new-found mechanical friend should prove a valuable source of timely information.

The State Fair is, in truth, a great clearing house for new ideas in scientific agriculture. Its advantages in this direction will be especially observable in the spread of tractor knowledge.

PROBING STATE POWER PLAN.

Tax Body Starts Inquiry Into Injustices to Taxpayers.

Albany.—Following the receipt of inquiries and appeals from taxpayers in every section of this state concerning the proposed state water power plan, a searching investigation into every phase of this matter has been authorized by the Home Rule Tax Association in the following resolution:

"Whereas, Taxpayers throughout this state have appealed to this association for information as to the source of taxation that must support the proposed production of electricity by state water-power plants, and

"Whereas, It is alleged that a gross inequality and injustice may lie in the taxation of all of the population of the commonwealth for the problematic and sole benefit of the less than million consumers who can use electricity, and

"Whereas, The rural sections can use practically no electricity generated by such state water power for which it is proposed to tax the people of the whole state, while almost all urban laboring classes use gas exclusively; be it

"Resolved, That the Home Rule Tax Association hereby authorizes and instructs its Secretary to thoroughly inquire into the state water-power project as proposed in the state as well as the hydro-electric commission of the province of Ontario, Canada, and to compile all available data on this subject for the information of the members of this association and of other taxpayers of this state."

AMPLE ROOM FOR AUTOS.

Large Additions to the Parking Space On the Grounds.

It is probably a safe guess that on the big days of the State Fair of 1919 more automobiles will be in evidence on the Fair grounds than were ever assembled at a given point or in a single enclosure in Interior New York.

But nobody need hesitate to motor to the Fair on that account. The Fair management has foreseen this extraordinary demand for parking accommodations and taken all the necessary steps to satisfy it.

Last year the patrons of the Fair who came in automobiles found a greatly enlarged parking space at their command, which included special reservations back of the grand stand for the holders of box tickets and also separate allotments in front of the race horse stalls and near the Horse Exposition building. The parking space then furnished for the general public afforded ample room for no less than three thousand cars.

For the coming Fair the parking space has been generously expanded by utilizing the race track enclosure, which has been suitably graded for the purpose. This will, of course, be more than adequate to meet the maximum additional demand of motorists and to obviate uncomfortable crowding.

An ideal automobile jaunt will be a trip to the Fair. A special inducement to such a trip will be the admirable parking and policing arrangements.

Debts have a way of keeping ahead.

NIAGARA FALLS PROTESTS

Brands State Hydro-Electric Plan as Extravagant Socialism.

Niagara Falls.—In response to inquiries from the Home Rule Tax Association, Mayor George W. Whitehead of this city has forwarded to this organization a copy of resolutions recently adopted by unanimous vote of the mayor and councilmen, which read as follows:

"Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Niagara Falls hereby expresses its opposition to any hydro-electric commission bill pending before the legislature of the state of New York which proposes to commit the state to the policy of hydro-electric development and distribution.

"In the last few years the state of New York, which was formerly free from debt, has incurred an indebtedness of approximately $200,000,000, and to embark in the work of hydro-electric development will involve the state in an additional indebtedness probably in excess of $800,000,000.

While the development of the water powers of the state is highly desirable, their development by the state is an experiment in state socialism, which, so far as we can judge the future by the past, will result in extravagance, the use of the commission as a political organization and inefficiency.

"We respectfully urge the Hon. George F. Thompson, Senator from this district, and the Hon. N. V. V. Franchot and the Hon. William Dewey, assemblymen from this county, to oppose the Graves and McGinnis bills as adverse to the interests of the state and the interests of Niagara county."
