When hostilities ceased there were in the hands of their Teuton captors millions of prisoners of war of all Allied countries, the terrible plight of whom is well known to all the world. Red Cross workers, carrying relief supplies of clothing, medicines and supplementary foodstuffs, penetrated the Central Powers as soon after the armistice as the military authorities would permit, and the work of getting the prisoners started back to their own countries was soon begun. In this photograph a group of these men are seen packed up and restored to something ilke normal health, awaiting the train that will carry them out of bondage,

COL. HOUSE LAUDS REOSEVELT

Colonel Donovan Leads Movement in Erie County-Dr. Finley Urges Opservance of Roosevelt's Birthday in Schools.

Down at Oyster Bay, Long Island, on a knoll in a cemetery communding a view of the bay and Long Island Sound is a simple grass-covered mound of earth. Here, among neighbors and friends and not far from the home he loved so weil, lies the body of Theodore Roosevelt. Until but a few days ago no stone marked the spot where the great American hes at rest; and the slab which has just been put up by Mrs. Roosevelt is of the simplest character, bearing only her husband's name and the years of his birth and death and her own name with the date of birth.

But the lack of any massive monument over the raised grass plot in Young's Memorial Cemetery has not kept those who loved his personality and cherished his splendid patriotism and aggressive courage in battling for the right from finding the spot where ies all that was mortal of the great leader. Prominent Men to Speak,

In this State men who were always opposed to him politically were among the first to offer their services to former State Senator William J. Tully, of Corning, who is the State Chairman of the Roosevelt Memorial Association. Besides former Judge Alton B. Parker, who was the Democratic candidate for the Presidency against Mr. Roosevelt in 1904, former Governor Martin H. Glynn and Congressman Thomas F. Smith, secretary of Tammany Hall, additions to the honorary State committee during the past week include the names of the Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and Hon. William S. Andrews, Associate Judge of the Court of Appeals. Both are Democrats, as are several of the men who will act as chairmen of the county organizations of the Association during the memorial week.

Among the many men who have offered their services as speakers at meetings during Roosevelt Memorial week are Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, who has issued a proclamation to the people of his own State to join in the memorial movement this week; James M. Beck, the well-known lawyer, of New York City; Major F. H. If Like every housewife, you have be- not, you ought to have on hand a deficome panicky, wondering how you are nite amount of "furniture money," so going to meet the increase. Never you can buy that rug now that you having kept track of your money, you need it and have an opportunity of > such a hole in your income! If you set aside what you do not spend each mouth from your clothing allowance you can cover more easily the cost of your Baster Speries.

> You wish you could put up more preserves this summer, but sugar is so

You wish you could go to the Opera lust once this year!

Keeping accounts and planning a budget is the next best thing to a Fairy Godmother in helping you to meet your needs and realise your wishes. You won't believe it until you've tried it. You've heard before of keeping accounts and judged it a bothersome system too elaborate for the house and dismissed the idea with-

It isn't bothersome when the plan is simple and you do not try to keep track of every penny or balance the account. As the months go by it becomes an interesting game, particularly when you can buy that new rug without sacrificing a summer's vacatien to do It.

Why don't you try it for one month?

In previous installments the budget so just igness those which you person-plan was explained. This gives you an ally have no use for. If you live in an spportunity to decide beforehand on apartment you do not have to buy coal how much of your income you are going to allow under each heading. Have these items. If you own your own you any idea now what you are spending for Becreation and whether the improvements, etc. It must also incost of your food is way out of procost of your food is way out of pro-portion to the amount of your income?

Put down under "Money Allotted" the probable amount you think you will spend next month for Food, Housekeeping and Personal Expenses and the amount you are going to save. Don't attempt to fill in any of the subdivisions except those you are reason-

After keeping track of your expenditures for a month it will be interesting to compare the amounts you actually spent with the amounts you allotted on your budget sheet. You will find a simple form for keeping accounts in later installments. Of course it is impossible to suggest headings that will suit the needs in every household,

Household supplies cover seap, brooms, eliver polish, etc., and the things you are constantly replacing, such as dish towels, china and kitches utensils. Fire insurance and install-ment payments on furniture should, of course, be put under Furniture. Un-der Service you may include maid, gardener, window cleaner and tips. Education and Reading include such items as lectures, music lessons, library dues, tuttion fees and magazines.

It is advisable to keep the allotment for your personal gifts separate from that allowed for church and charity is order that you will not, in case of necessity, cut down on your gifts to church and charity, which, after all,

are obligations that ought to be met.
"Husband's and Wife's Personal" should not include anything that can be put down under any other heading. The wife may include in hers such things as car fare, ice cream sodas and manicures. The husband may include lunches downtown, car fare, barber, tobacco and extra newspapers. After you have an idea of what you spend on these items and can limit yourself to it it will not be necessary to keep an itemized account, Keeping the money for personal expenditures in a separate purse might be found helpful.

"Anything worth doing at all is worth doing well." If you keep accounts at all don't let a day go by with out putting down what you have spent. Some things, such as Rent, will only have to be put down once a month,

At the end of the month fill in your hudget under the column "Money fipent" and make comparisons. HOW DREADED SNAKE GETS "RATTLES" THAT GIVE IT ITS NAME. -How old is a rattlesnake? It has always been a source of satisfaction to believe that a rattlesnake's age could be determined by its rattles. The very simplicity of the theory recommended it. What could be easier? A rattlesnake got a new ring on its rattle every year. Count the rings and you have its age. Now the scientists come along and explode the

Raymond Lee Ditmars, curator of reptiles in the New York Zoological park, describes the development of the rattles as follows:

When a rattlesnake is born, it is provided with a small button at the tip of its tall. A few months after birth it sheds its skin. In two months more it sheds its skin a second time, and in so doing uncovers the first ring or segment of the rattle which has been developing under the epidermis. Therefore, every time it sheds its skin it uncovers a new segment. Under normal conditions, a rattlesnake sheds its skin three times a year, but unusual climatic or food conditions may vary the number of molts.

The rattle is a very delicate organ. The make wears out the older rings dragging them around over rough, rocky ground. A rattle seldom attains a length of more than ten or eleven rings, as when that number has been acquired the vibration at the tip, when the organ is used, is so prenounced that additional segments are soon worn, broken and lost."

PROOF OF SAGACITY OF RATS

How Redente Handle Eggs, for In-Ability to Reason.

A careful student of the rodent tribe writes: "No single point better illustrates the sagacity of the rat than the way in which it eats an egg. It bites through the shell and chipe off small a nut, consumes the entire contents without spilling a drop and then sits up and licks itself clean like a cat. Rate will steal the eggs from under a cetting hen. Their method of handling oggs is also characteristic. An egg is as large for a rat as a barrel is for a men, and much more fragile. Yet there is evidence of the fact that they pass eggs along from one to another. although not probably, as has often been reported, by forming long lines, like a bucket brigade. The operation is naturally a difficult one to observe, but apparently it takes two rats to each egg. One holds the egg in its paws, passes it on to the other, and then runs ahead to take it once more in its turn. The same device seems to be employed to carry an egg downstairs, the one that has the egg passing it to a companion standing on the step below."

Why Writer Opposes Display. The great things of the world-men. er women, or mountains, or ideas are simple, declares Angelo Patri in New Red Cross Magazine.

They are easy to understand. They are exactly what they say they are. They do not pretend. They 'come

"The founders of America were simple folk. They landed on a seck that became the corner stone of a great nation. They gave it a simple name— Plymouth Rock. Their dress was very plain. You would know a Pilgrim father and mother if you met them anywhere today. And you would take off your hat to them. . .

"Tee many things, toe many plans, cheke up our lives. You know people who are so busy taking care of their things that they have no time to live. Some folks do not know at the end of the day whether the sky was blue or gray. They did not hear the song sparrow, although he sang brave-ly. They did not glimpse the road border of dusty mullelns and sky-blue chicory and ox-eye daisles. Too busy. Daily they miss the salt and savor of the earth. They have forgotten the simple, beautiful things."

How Dame Nature Cleans House. There is no more particlar housewife than Dame Nature. Every spring she puts down a new green carpet in every room of her great house. But before that she makes all things ready, for she washes and scours the rooms by means of forces that make ordinary vacuum cleaners look like children's

Furthermore, she shakes the very at mosphere with furious winds, as a curtain is shaken to rid it of dust and germs. Then, when the strengous days of housecleaning are over, Nature turns decorator. Every week she paints fresh pictures for us, everywhere we move something new and beautiful prepared by her hands awaits

How Mother Reasoned. "Propinquity is what brings about

marriages," declared Pa in didactic

"It works this way. From among the men who call most frequently at a house the daughter of the house naturally selects a husband."

"In that case," said Ma, "I fear our faughter is doesed in majoy a bill

Mrs. Chas. Coffin Dead.

Mrs. Cornelia J. Coffin, wife of Charles H. Coffin, died at 10 o'clock Thursday night, Oct. 16, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Howard Streeter, in the town of Venice. Mrs. Coffin suffered a stroke of apoplexy two years ago and never fully rallied. She was confined to her bed for three weeks before her death.

Mrs. Coffin was born in Scipio March 14, 1845, the daughter of Janet and Chester Ames. Besides her husband, she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Carrie L. Parsons, Mrs. Etta Arnold, Mrs. Alice Streeter, all of Venice and vicinity, one son, B. F. Coffin, also of Venice, a sister, Mrs. David Dennis of Moravia, and a brother, Eugene Ames of Los Cerrillos, New Mexico.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Streeter in Venice, price wanted. Address Rev. E. E. Warner of Clarkson, N. Y., officiating. Miss Mary Wood of Moravia and B. C. Wattles of Venice Center sang two appropriate selections. Burial in the East Venice cemetery.

HELPFUL HINTS.

To the average cook with little imagination and less ingenuity a bowl of chicken broth, a halfdozen cold bolled potatoes, a cupful of tomato. a wedge of cheese will appear like "the primrose upon the river's brim, a simple primrose it was to him, and it was nothing more." It to

neither possible nor is it wise to carry a large number of recipes or proportions of ingredients in one's mind, but the efficient woman will have a card index, a notebook or a chart on which she notes the possibilities of various small amounts of materials which in other homes are thrown out, left to spoil or are used carelessly in foods so that their charm of flavor is

The pleasant thing about this system is that it is always growing, new dishes will occur to one and the list will grow. Then when going to the ice chest and finding a bowl of chicken broth, visions of all the savory dishes which may be seasoned with that savory food will be realised in some good dish, as it takes but a moment to turn to the recipe.

Another helpful convenience of the card catalogue idea is to have the system carried out in other ways in the household. Under linens put cards labeled "bed linen," on the card numbers of sheets, pillowslips, size and where they are. This is not only a convenience when absent to pass on, but in case of fire loss to give a correct inventory.

Attached to the medicine closet should be a card always where it can be found at once, especially where there are many little people, giving first aids in case of accident and antidotes for common poleons. The older children should be taught how to me this knowledge, as often lives are quickly. It is a frequently noted fact that the people who know what to de er where to go to find out, rarely take time to go into hysterics in an emergency; they are too busy doing things. Start a card catalogue house and see what a pleasure it is to be methedical. It is not necessary to have an expensive fling cabinet, one may use a shoe box and cards to fit M.

The Crown of Thorns

By REV. GEORGE GUILLE Extension Department, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT-And when they had platted a crown of thorns, they put it upon his head .- Matt. 27:29.

No chronicler, left to his own wisdom, would have written this story of the cross as it is

The Spirit of God is the narrator of these events and he has written down just what he designed should become a part of Holy Scripture—nothing more and nothing less—so that, wherever this story should be told, these things that transpired at the cross should be told in connection with it.

And the first thing written here is the epitome of all that follows: A crown of thorns upon that holy head! Last King of David's line to be crownad in Jerusalem, yet no royal diadem adorns his brow; the time for the disdems has not yet come and the thorns are the price he must pay for these.

In a holy symbolism we are to listen to the story our God so joys to tell, and which he takes every occasion to tell, though men are so slow to hear. We turn back to the opening chapters of the Bible and there, in Genesis 3, we learn what the symbolism is. There we hear God pronouncing a curse upon creation because of sin, and this is what he says: "Cureed is the ground of it all the days of thy life; thorns also and thistles shall it bring forth unto thee . . . in the ewest of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground . . . for dust thou art and unto dust shalt thou return." This curse abides upon all ereation still and it is written that "the whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain together until now."

A famous musician has declared that all the sounds of nature are in the minor key and that all the animals so express themselves. We speak of the "sighing" of the wind and the "mouning" of the sea. Ah, it is nature's sad cry because of what sin has wrought in God's fair creation.

But see! that which symbolines the curse is woven into a crown for our lovely Lord to tell us what he has become on our behalf, "for it is written, cursed is everyone that hangeth on a tree," and thus on that cross of awful shame he answered to all the carse of Draining to its bitter dregs the cup of Divine wrath against sin, he has turned it into a cup of eternal blessing and his loving hand presses it to our lips. Drink, oh soul, and live!

Yes, "Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us." While upon creation the curse still abides, and the physical being of the Christian, being still a part of this grouning creation, bears the tokens of the curse, his soul is for delivered. And this deliverance guarantees the deliverance of the very body itself, so that "the sufferingo of this present time" occasioned by the curse, "are not worthy to be compared with the glory that shall be revealed in ma." Pecause the creature shall be delivered from the bendage of corruption," and "this body of our humiliation" shall be changed into the likenoss of Christ's body of glory.

But observe fow tally be has, in his spine of the Surse of sin. In sorrow shalt they sat." But hall: "This " and dies Gents. Misser

In a letter to Henry H. Rosenfelt of the American Jewish Relief Committee he emphasizes this need and refers to the efficiency of the Joint Distribution Committee which directs all American Jewish Relief work in Europe along strictly non-sectarian lines.

"In my travels and observations as chairman of the War Council of the American Red Cross," Mr. Davison writes," I had occasion to study the needs of the peoples within those countries and also had opportunity to observe the excellent work done by the Joint Distribution Committee, the importance of which seems greater today, even, than during the distressing period of the war.

"I hope you will meet with success in any campaign you may undertake, which, I am sure, will be the case if it is possible for you to present clearly the present situation to the

In Twenty Months $154,000,000 Was Spent Overseas and $119,000,000,000 in the United States,

Washington. (Special.)-Through a complete report of the work of the American Red Cross in the war by Chairman Henry P. Davison, on behalf of the war council, the organization on the eve of its annual enrollment of members during the Third Red Cross Roll Call, November 2 to 11, has rendered an accounting of the many millions given it by the American people to help our fighting men and our allies. The statement is, in part, as follows:

"The war council of the American Red Cross is now prepared to make a complete accounting to the American people of money contributed and expended, as well as the work done by the American Red Cross during the period in which the war council was in control of its affairs. The war council was appointed May 19, 1919, and went out of existence February 28, 1919,

"It was the practice of the war council to give complete publicity to its policies and finances, but it is only now that a picture of the war period as a whole can be presented. It is the feeling of the war council that a report in this summarized form should he made directly to the public which provided the money and gave the effort which made the American Red Cross a success.

"A statement of the American Red Cross effort and finances since the war council relinquished its control will be made to the public through the executive committee, and it is important, therefore, that the fact that h's report covers the period only until March 1, should be carefully noted." Following are certain round figures overing American Red Cross partici pation in the war, as revealed by the war council's report:

The American Red Cross conducts its recreational work in hospitals through trained men and women, introducing a multitude of recreations suited to the handicaps of the men. The accompanying view of a hospital ward shows in operation a moving picture projecting machine, developed by a Red Cross recreational director, which throws the pictures on the wall so that the men do not have to stir from their cots.

It does not take a lot of money to start on the road to thrift. Nor does it take a great deal of will

ARMY OF WOMEN ENLIST FOR THRIFT

Members of Women's Organizations Mobilized to Aid in National Thrift Campaign.

Coincident with the demobilization of American troops there is being mobilized throughout the nation another army almost as great in numbers as the A. E. F. Leaders of national women's organizations are being enlisted in the National Thrift Campaign, and the vast army of women who are veterans of two years at various kinds of war work will be placed at the disposal of the Savings Division of the U.S.

In every city and town and village zens found themselves during the war, and it is to their enthusiastic generalship that the Food Administration and the Red Cross owe their far-reaching success. With the new imeptus of the vote the organized club woman becomes still a more important factor. From now on every trained woman and many an untrained one will take a personal and active interest in any national movement, especially those which involve the safety and better ment of the home and living conditions in general.

There could be no more useful nor pertinent nor interesting outlet for the well directed energy of the organized appeal to their newly awakened sense of economic responsibility in the administration of their private as well as their official affairs than the interest bearing, safe War Savings Stamp.

Good housekeeping and thrift have always been synonymous. When the woman citizen takes hold of her national housekeeping she will apply the doctrine of balanced, intelligent, economically scientific thrift to her new task. With the new dignity of a national campaign added to the ancient wisdom of the thrifty woman and a nation-wide call to arms for the redemption of the American reputation for waste organized American women have answered the challenge. The army is on the march and will not rest until W. S. S. certificates are as much a part of every household as the perennial fly-swatter.

American Jewish Relief Committee Enlists Support of Chief Executive of the Empire State In Big Push.

New York. - Seventeen counties, comprising Central New York, will be asked to contribute $300,000 as their share in a nation wide campaign to obtain $35,000,000 for the relief of millions of starving civilians in Central Europe.

If the word of many of the most influential men in the district may be taken as a guarantee, the section will. push way ahead of its quota when the drive is concluded late this month.

The work is one of the most stupendous humanitarian projects of recent years. The campaign, which will open Oct. 20 and continue until Oct. 27 is being conducted by the American Jewish Relief committee. Louis Marshall of New York city, but whose early life was passed in Syracuse and Central New York, is chairman of the committee.

Associated with Mr. Marshall are some of the most widely known men in the country. The list includes Henry Morgenthau, Jacob H. Schiff, Nathan Straus, Oscar Straus, Felix M. Warburg, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and many others.

In Central New York, because of his many intimate friends Mr. Marshall has obtained for his state committee a roster of names of foremost men in gian delegates at the women's con-

Such a conference had been previously discussed by women's labor organizations of various countries and would have been held in a European city probably had not the League of Nations society decided upon Washington as the meeting place for an international labor conference.

> The committee on international relations of the Women's Trade Union league, which is in charge of the congress, has as its chairman Mrs. Raymond Robins, president of the league; Miss Mary Anderson, chief of the women's bureau of the United States department of labor; Miss Agnes Nestor, vice president of the International Glove Workers' union; Miss Julia O'Connor, president of the Telephone Operators' union, and Miss Rose Schneidermann, president of the New York Women's Trade Union league.

> In discussing the congress, Mrs. Robins says: "Women must come forward now and accept their responsibilities. They can no longer have their affairs attended to by proxy. Men cannot bear the entire responsibility for the world. They must be assisted by women, and the women should come forth willingly, prepared to take up their share of the burden of seeing that things go right with the world. At the Congress of Working Women we will discuss problems affecting women which we, as women workers, are particularly able to consider, that we may recommend how conditions of the labor of women and children can he improved."

Knettles Barns Burned.

The main barn, cow shed, wagon house and horse barn on the farm of the Misses Emma and Elizabeth Knettles, situated about a quarter of a mile north of South Lansing, was destroyed by fire Monday, of last week. How the fire started is a mystery. The theory is advanced that it may have been started by a tramp sleeping in the barn.

The farm implements and a large one-story tool shed were saved by the aid of neighbors, who quickly gathered at the scene of the conflagration. The Ludlowville fire department responded promptly to the call for aid, and gave valuable assistance in the saving of the implement shed. The loss of the buildings and contents, which consist of the entire season's crops, was partially covered by insurance.

USING OLD SHIRTS FOR NEW NEEDS

A War-Time Activity That Helped Materially and Is Now Vigorously Pursued.

An old custom, regenerated and actively pursued during the stormy days of the war, that has blossomed forth, particulary in rural districts, and bids fair to occupy a dignified place in domestic affairs is the utilization of the tails of shirts. These castoff garment ends find many more uses today than they did before the war.

Careful housekeepers, of course, always have utilized the tall of the shirt-for dusters, cleaning clothes, patching, bandages, cut fingers, carpet rags if they lived in the country. But war-time conditions, relief societies, etc., have taught the average woman many new things in regard to the shirt tail, so long and often held to contumely or coldly ignored.

Many Belgian, Serbian, French and Armenian youngsters are comfortably clad in skirts, underwear, aproos, all sorts of garments made from the castoff skirts of American citizens. And other American citizens, of opposite gender, having learned to make use of the cast-off shirt are occasionally tempted to make use of shirts not properly classified, at least by their late owners, as such.

Silk shirt pieces are made into outing hats, vestees, neckties and collars, Linen shirts contribute handkerchiefs made from tall pieces, and, if of the plaited or pin-tucked bosom variety, charming vestees for new feminine suits. Good, strong shirts are turned into aprons, while two or three alike may be made into summer suits for little children. Sofa and porch pillows, rag rugs, rompers, wash cloths, all sorts of nice things are made from used shirts, nowadays, and more ways and means of shirt usefulness are being discovered every day.

"I make a lot of use of the worm shirts of my husband and sons," said a clever housewife. "Having four of the latter, you see, I have a good opportunity. During the war I worked hard on the proposition for patriotic reasons. Now, for reasons both personal and patriotic, I'm more than ever anxious to waste nothing. My profit by what might be called my shirttail propaganda, and I'm getting more ingenious steadily. Studying just how economical one may be without letting anything suffer, adds a real new interest to life."

Ready for Fall Business

¶My stock of Suits, Overcoats and Mackinaws for Men, Young Men and Boys is now complete. The very latest models and best tailored garments are the only kind I sell. My stock of Underwear, Sweaters, Gloves, Mittens, Hats and Caps are in a great assortment and of the best makes and I also have a big line of sheep lined coats and chore coats.

TWe all know that merchandise is higher but the standard of quality and make are the most important to look after. You all know that every Suit, Coat or any garment I have sold in the past were satisfactory and I am bound to maintain the same standard of quality as I have in the past. My prices are very reasonable and I will guarantee that any purchase that you will make at my store, will be satisfactory to you. I would advise all my friends and customers to purchase early as my present stock on hand could not be duplicated at the same prices and most of the goods are getting scarce.
