Death of Mrs. J. H. Cruthers.

The death of Mrs. Hector Cruthers occurred in Auburn City hospital early Saturday evening. She failed to rally from an operation which was performed between 6 and 7 o'clock in an effort to save her life. Mrs. Cruthers was taken to the hospital from the home of her sister in Niles where she went on Thursday for a short visit. She was not feeling as well as usual when she left home, and upon arriving at her sister's home was very ill and a physician was called at once. She did not improve and it was decided that an operation was her only chance. Mrs. Cruthers had not had good health for several months, but last week was able to go to Locke and on to Cortland, and was anxious to make the visit at Niles. The disease was diagnosed as intestinal nephritis.

Lucretia Marston was born in the town of Venice May 26, 1850. She was united in marriage to J. Hector Cruthers in Moravia, in 1873. They first came to this town to live in 1888. Later they purchased the place on the Indian Field road where they lived for 16 years, and nine years ago moved to the present home about a mile east of this village. Besides her husband, she is survived by two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Ella Forbes, Mrs. Sarah Jayne and Chas. Marston, all of the town of Niles.

Funeral services were conducted at her late home on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and were largely attended. Rev. F. J. Allington of North Lansing officiated, using the words, "I know that my Redeemer liveth" as the basis of his remarks. Three favorite hymns of the deceased were sung by Mrs. Mastin, Miss Mastin and Mr. Foster. There were quantities of beautiful flowers, sent by the I. O. O. F., Grange, neighbors, friends and relatives. Burial was made in Genoa cemetery. The service at the grave was in charge of the East Venice Grange, of which the deceased was a member. During the existence of the Methodist church in Genoa, Mrs. Cruthers became a member of that church.

Relatives from out-of-town who were present at the funeral were Mrs. Ella Forbes, Mrs. Lela Cuddeback and Chas. Marston of Niles, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Finch of Little York, Mr. and Mrs. Fay Cruthers and Mrs. Mackey of Locke, and Mrs. John Crandall of Moravia.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to express thanks and appreciation to friends and neighbors for all assistance rendered during my recent bereavement, especially to the Stevens, Leeson and Lester families; those who sent flowers, the singers and Rev. Mr. Allington. J. Hector Cruthers.

Mrs. Sarah Avery.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Avery, widow of Orlando M. Avery, former residents for many years of Genoa, and later of Earlville, was held in the Baptist church of this place on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The pastor of the church, Rev. R. A. Fargo, conducted the service with Scripture reading, prayer and remarks, using Romans xiv: 12 as a text. Mrs. Mastin, Miss Mastin and Messrs. Foster and Springer sang "Lead Kindly Light," "Crossing the Bar" and "Abide with Me," very effectively.

A number of beautiful floral pieces rested on the casket, and there was a profusion of flowers and plants arranged about the platform.

Burial was made in the family plot in Genoa cemetery, by the side of the husband whose death occurred just eight weeks before.

Mrs. Avery died Thursday morning, Sept. 11, after an illness of more than two months, which began with an attack of pneumonia.

Sarah Miller was the last of the family of eight children of William and Eliza VanWyck Miller, and was born in Chautauqua county March 18, 1835. She came to Scipio with her parents when a small child and lived in that town during her girlhood days. She was married when very young to William Harris whose death occurred about a year thereafter. On Nov. 14, 1859, she was united in marriage to Orlando M. Avery of Genoa. Their married life was spent here, with the exception of a few years, until their removal to Earlville in 1902. During her residence here, Mrs. Avery became a member of the Baptist church and was one of its most loyal and active workers.

Surviving are the daughter, Mrs. Eugene M. White of Phoenix, and a son, Vance E. Avery of Earlville. Mr. and Mrs. Avery will be missed by many relatives and friends, outside of the immediate family.

Those from out-of-town in attendance at the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene M. White of Phoenix, Vance E. Avery and Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Earlville, John Snyder and Jerome Howell of Merrifield, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hoskins of Auburn, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith of Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. VanMarter of Moravia, Mrs. Millard Green and two children of Groton, Miss Mary White, Miss Stilwell, and Charles and Fred White of Cortland.

Opening of Genoa Theater.

On Wednesday evening occurred the opening of the Genoa Gem theater, which has been in process of building for several months. The weather was fine and the attendance was very large, about 500 people being present in the hall. It seemed to be the unanimous opinion that the hall and all its equipment are first class, and it is pronounced by some as equal in every way to any in larger towns. It has one distinction at least; over many of them, as it is brand new and perfectly clean. A very fine electrically-operated piano has been installed at a cost of $1,600, and this with the large Power 6B picture machine makes the theater equipped to produce the best and most up-to-date plays. The folding theater chairs are very comfortable and everything has been done to make the hall attractive in every way.

The play presented Wednesday evening—William Farnum in "The Man Hunter"—was fine, and the pictures were very clear. Following the play and a short comedy, dancing was commenced, and supper was served at the hotel adjoining for all who wished. An excellent menu, including chicken, salads, and so on, was served, and pronounced very fine by all. The floor is said to be in splendid shape for dancing and the dancing must have been an enjoyable feature as 32 dances were played. Manager Smith states that he was disappointed in not having a special operator for the piano for the dancing. Altogether the opening events were very successful.

Mr. Smith announces for Saturday evening Peggy Highland in "Cowardice Court" and for next Wednesday evening, Mae Murray in "The Scarlet Shadow" followed by "The Lure of the Circus," a serial play. See adv.

Ordination of R. A. Fargo.

The Cayuga Baptist association met in council at the Genoa Baptist church to ordain their pastor, R. A. Fargo, on Tuesday. The council was called at 10:30 a. m.

Rev. Geo. J. Scobey was elected moderator and Rev. L. C. Bennett as clerk of the council. They proceeded to examine the candidate. At the close of the examination the council had a private meeting. They announced that the candidate passed an unusually good examination for a young man and possesses a clear knowledge of Scripture.

Dinner was served by the ladies on committee and much credit is due them for their work.

The afternoon session was called at 1:30. Brother Scobey of Moravia had charge. After songs, Scripture reading and short prayer, Rev. L. C. Bennett of the Immanuel Baptist church of Auburn, delivered the ordination sermon, from the text found in I Timothy iv:16. The message was given in the power of the Holy Spirit and well delivered in the evangelistic way, that only one like Brother Bennett can do.

Rev. T. F. Butler of Fleming offered the ordination prayer.

Rev. E. L. James of the Second Baptist church of Auburn gave the charge to the candidate.

Rev. Scobey of Moravia gave the charge to the church.

Rev. Sirrell of the First church of Auburn gave the right hand of fellowship.

Everyone joined in singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." Brother Fargo gave the closing benediction.

The services were very interesting and highly appreciated by all present, fine addresses being delivered by all the pastors who had a part.

Mrs. L. Allen, clerk.

URGE SENATE TO HASTEN PEACE

Leaders in Forty States, Regardless of Party, Sign Ringing Appeal.

TREATY WITHOUT AMENDMENT

Every Day of Delay Puts the World in Imminent Peril of a New War — Points to National Unrest.

New York—(Special)—Two hundred and fifty leading Americans, Republicans and Democrats representing forty different states and every prominent activity have joined in a non-partisan effort to bring about the ratification of the Peace Treaty "without amendment and without delay." Their names are attached to an address to the United States senate, which was made public today, through the League to Enforce Peace, after it had been sent to every member of the senate.

The signers, almost without exception, are men and women of national reputation. They include such prominent citizens as ex-President Taft, George W. Wickersham, Attorney General in the last Republican administration; A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard; Charles C. Moore of San Francisco, president of the Panama Exposition; Judge Geo. Gray of Wilmington, Del.; President Samuel Compers of the American Federation of Labor, Harry A. Wheeler of Chicago, retiring president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States; Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association; Cyrus H. K. Curtis, the Philadelphia publisher; President Heber J. Grant of the Mormon Church, and John Spargo, leader of the Socialists who supported the war.

The signers declare that every day of delay in ratifying the treaty puts the world in "imminent peril of new war."

Their statement follows: In the senate at Washington, now that the committee on foreign relations has reported the treaty, the lines are sharply drawn between the immediate ratification of the treaty of peace with Germany, and its amendment with a reassembling of the conference and a reopening of negotiations that would bring great delay and prolonged uncertainty in settling the great issues of the peace. No partisan plea can be made. Party lines are already broken.

Standing at a distance from the conflict in the senate chamber, we plead for immediate ratification without delay. Our land requires it. A state of nervous strain, tension and unrest exists manifesting itself in disturbances, which in some cases have no self evident connection with the war, but which are, in fact, its aftermath. The world is put in imminent peril of new wars by the lapse of each day. Dissensions between us and our former allies are being sown. We firmly believe and solemnly declare that the states and cities in which we dwell desire immediate peace.

The waging of war steadied and united the American people. Peace will bring prosperity, and prosperity content. Delay in the senate postponing ratification in this uncertain period of neither peace nor war has resulted in indecision and doubt, bred strife and quickened the cupidities of those who sell the daily necessities of life and the fears of those whose daily wage no longer fills the daily market basket.

We beseech the senate to give the land peace and certainty by a ratification which will not keep us longer in the shadows of possible wars, but give the whole world the light of peace. Reservations in the nature of clarifications in the meaning of the treaty, not inconsistent with its terms, will not require the reopening of the negotiations with Germany and with our associates in the war, which we all and each united to win. But there is no possibility of doubt that amendment of the treaty, as is now proposed in the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, would require negotiation and a reopening of all the questions decided at Paris. Months of delay would follow. The perils of the present would become the deadly dangers of the near future. All the doubt engendered would aid the plots for violent revolution in this and other lands. The issues here and elsewhere between capital and labor, the conspiracy of speculator and profiteer, would all grow and become more perilous. This cannot be. The American people cannot, after a victorious war, permit its government to petition Germany, which has accepted the treaty, for its consent to changes in the treaty. Yet if the United States should amend the treaty for its own purpose and policy, Germany would have full right to ask for concessions. Germany has agreed to make no claim in regard to enemy property seized in this country to an amount of seven hundred million dollars. Our recent foe could ask for a reopening of this issue and of the Lusitania claims. It could raise every question open before hostilities in regard to submarine warfare and the treatment of its nationals in this country. All the provisions for our trade in Germany raised by the economic clauses of the treaty, many of them vital to our industries and our farms, as in dye patents, dye supplies and fertilizers, the working of the Reparation Commission, which superintends the trade of all with Germany, could all be brought up by Berlin for readjustment by our negotiators, acting for the United States alone and no longer associated with other victorious powers or supported by a victorious American army on the German border.

Peace itself, the peace of the world, is delayed until ratification comes. And any amendment postpones peace. Germany and England alone of the principal powers have ratified. The other principals necessarily await our action, influential and powerful as we are today in the world's affairs. The ravages of war on more than a score of fighting fronts are continued by any needless delay. Let the senate give the world peace by ratification without amendment.

Even the amendment for which most can be said, the provision in regard to Shantung, will secure nothing which cannot be gained if China, backed by the powerful advocacy of the United States, addresses itself to the machinery for righting international wrongs and meeting just claims created by the league between nations. China, after eighty years of oppressive treaties and despoiled rights, by which all the great powers have profited directly or indirectly, has for the first time, in this covenant and treaty, the means and method to secure justice and the removal of the oppressive economic interference of stronger nations whose citizens are within her gates, protected by a long succession of international agreements. Moreover, it should be remembered that the clause regarding Shantung was made upon the statement by Japan that she will return the territory to China and, therefore, upon that condition, compliance with which promise the league can require.

The peace of the present and the righteousness of the future can be best secured by the ratification of the covenant and treaty without amendment. Let the senate take no action that will give any party to the treaty, and especially Germany, ground for maintaining that the ratification of the United States is not complete and that changes requiring a resumption of conference and negotiations have been made in it.

TELLS HOW OTHER PEOPLE GET AHEAD

Pamphlet Issued by U. S. Treasury Answers Question "How Can I Save Money?"

As an answer to the question, "How Can I Save Money?" the Savings Division of the Treasury Department has compiled an interesting and helpful pamphlet entitled "How Other People Get Ahead."

For individuals and families whose incomes are less than $5,000 a year this pamphlet offers a number of enlightening suggestions as to the disbursement of incomes of various amounts from $15 a week upward. Not only does the material furnish a ready answer to the problem of expenses, but it affords an authentic source of information as to present living costs. The figures were compiled from records of official government investigations into the several subjects and may be regarded as up to date and accurate.

This material makes possible a new attack in the campaign to make thrift a national characteristic and to foster the habit of "Save First—Spend Afterward." It will interest people in saving more money by showing them how much other people find it possible to save and also by showing them how they can cut down the cost of living by comparing their costs with average costs at the same income.

The Savings Division suggests that an excellent way to drive home the truths of the budget system is to have the schedules discussed at school and taken home by the children for consideration by the families. Another method is to organize a house-to-house canvass through committees of women who will bring the budgets to the attention of families and secure their agreement to study their own situation.

Saving and spending budgets have been prepared to meet local conditions at a number of points, and much interest in the application of the budgets to the campaign is being manifested in sections of the country where the National Thrift Campaign is being carried out successfully.

People interested in preparing either individual or family budgets may obtain copies of the pamphlet upon application to the Government Savings Director, Second Federal Reserve District, 120 Broadway, New York.

THE WEST IS IN THE SADDLE

WILL IT CAPTURE THE REPUBLICAN NOMINATION IN 1920?

"The political center of gravity in the nation has shifted . . . to the states that lie between the Mississippi River and the Pacific Coast."—New York Times editorial.

This opinion is typical of an idea which is rapidly spreading throughout the country. There is a feeling that "the West is in the saddle for the presidential nomination in 1920."

The fact that the West decided the last presidential election has made it a potent factor in future calculations. Moreover, the politicians know that in case the woman suffrage constitutional amendment does not become operative in time for the next national election there are, nevertheless, 18 states west of the Mississippi which have already given their women the franchise, adding an increment of some six million votes, which might easily turn the election one way or the other. Hence, the Republican leaders of the East as well as of the West are seriously considering whether it would not be good politics to take a western candidate.

It is significant that three of the most generally talked about presidential possibilities for 1920 come from the Far West. They are United States Senators Poindexter, Borah and Johnson.

The first mentioned, about whom considerable discussion is now centering, is from the state of Washington. Though a native of Tennessee and graduate of a Virginia university, Poindexter chose the Pacific Northwest as his field for life work, opening a law practice in Walla Walla, Wash., in 1891. Later he was judge of the supreme court, and attracted much favorable attention by his judicial ability. In 1908 Poindexter was elected as a representative from the state of Washington to the Sixty-first Congress. He soon became known as an able, progressive Republican. In the senate, to which he was elevated in 1910, he was a staunch advocate of measures favoring the control and restriction of big corporations, especially of the railroads. He sought the conservation of all natural resources of the country, including water power, coal and oil lands. Before the war he stood strongly for preparedness, and later he vigorously supported all measures of the administration for the protection of American rights. He advocated throwing the whole power of the nation into the successful prosecution of the war.

Mr. Poindexter believes that Bolshevism and all other movements destructive of representative government and national spirit should be strongly taken in hand and that leaders in attempts to overthrow our institutions should be severely punished. He is opposed to any scheme for creating a hybrid government of the world whereby Europe and Asia, in his opinion, would inevitably dominate this country and control its policies.

Hiram Johnson, a native of California, was governor of the state before he was chosen senator. He is extremely popular in that commonwealth and will be strongly backed in his fight for the Presidential nomination. Johnson was successful, after a long struggle, in ridding California of the domination of the Southern Pacific. For years the political machine of the railway held the state within its hand, and without the sanction and support of this great power candidates for state or judicial offices could not be elected. Johnson, first as counsel for interests opposing the railroad corporation and later as governor, waged a bitter and unremitting warfare against railroad domination. His final victory was a potent factor in his election to the senate in 1916. Johnson is a Republican, but generally regarded as one of the radical type. He has, like Poindexter, strongly opposed the League of Nations.

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho does not differ greatly in the degree of his achievements from the two other westerners. Born in Wayne county, Ill., Borah was educated in the common schools of that state and at Kansas State University. He was admitted to the bar in 1890 and devoted his time to legal practice until his election to the senate in 1907. Borah is one of the most active figures in the United States senate. His efforts largely have been directed toward the proper development of the great natural resources of the country, especially of the West. He is known as a progressive Republican, fearless in fighting for what he believes to be right and like the others included in this presidential group, has opposed from the start the League of Nations covenant.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast is a long jump for national politics to take. However, all precedents both in business and politics, seem to be vanishing in these days of remarkable readjustments, and the old theory that a Presidential candidate necessarily come from east of the Mississippi is no longer tenable.

ALIENISTS CAN BE WRONG

Ample Proof That Even Most Able of Psychologists Are by No Means Infallible.

You will not find the word "moron," as used by psychologists and alienists, in many dictionaries, for it is a word coined only very recently to describe a certain type of person who is mentally defective although not insane. Col. T. Easby Smith of the selective service board, Washington, made a little speech at the Atlantic City meeting of the American Medical association in which he rather "guyed" his professional associates on the way they judged a man to be a moron or sub-normal in intelligence.

After relating how the board of psychology had set a certain soldier down as having the mind of a five-year-old child, he drew a hearty laugh at the expense of his colleagues by adding that this same board had analyzed the intellect of a certain member of President Wilson's cabinet and had pronounced it to be on the level of a twelve-year-old, and had in the same way set down an eminent general in command of one of our armies abroad as a ten-year-old in intelli-
